VOL. XIII NO. 1

New Public Radio Station at College

By the fall of 1987, public radio service will be available for the first time to more than a quarter million residents on Delmarva.

College President Thomas E. Bellavance announced July 16 that the SSC Foundation will receive a grant of $204,700 from the National Telecommunications and Information Agency of the U.S. Department of Commerce to help purchase equipment for a new public radio station based at the College.

According to Mark Handley who wrote the grant proposal and is Director of the College's Communications Center, the FM station should provide service from New Castle, DE, in the north to well into Virginia in the south and from the beaches on the Atlantic to the western shore of the Chesapeake Bay.

Programming will include classical, jazz, blue grass, folk, international and experimental music, some variety and several hours each day of news-magazine and information programs. The station will be seeking affiliation with National Public Radio, which would allow it to carry NPR's Morning Edition, a two-hour news service, as well as the critically acclaimed, All Things Considered, and evening concerts by some of the world's best musical artists and ensembles including the Philadelphia, New York, Cleveland, Boston and Chicago Symphony Orchestras.

A second affiliation with American Public Radio, which the station also will seek, would allow it to bring shows like Prairie Home Companion, the most listened to radio program in the country, to the peninsula.

"The College sees itself as a catalyst in the process of bringing fine cultural programming to the Delmarva Peninsula," Dr. Bellavance said. "Only through community involvement, however, will the Public Radio Station reach its full potential." Both the College and the SSC Foundation will be supporting the station with space and personnel, but local financial support will be required to make the station a success. The NTIA allocation for equipment is a matching grant. Funds of $68,245 must still be raised from the local community.

"And the grant does not pay for operation of the station," Handley noted. "We're going to be doing fund raising."

The station will hire a small staff for management, scheduling and coordination of programming but, like many public radio stations, rely on student and community volunteers to help operate, Handley added. WSSC, an on-campus student radio station, will continue to broadcast and hopefully provide a fertile training ground for public radio student volunteers.

The 25,000 watt service will have its studio on campus, its antenna in Seaford, DE. The antenna will be approximately 600 feet tall and located on the WDPB tower (channel 64), owned by PBS television station WHYY of Wilmington-Philadelphia.

Plans are to broadcast a minimum of 18 hours a day, 365 days a year. Although the new station is yet lacking official call letters, it will broadcast in stereo at 89.5 on the FM dial.

The College's "Freshman Orientation in the Wilderness" program has received the Maryland Association for Higher Education (MAHE) Distinguished Program Award in Student Services for 1986.

The award is not made every year, according to Jacques Dubois, president of MAHE. But this year the SSC proposal was "head and shoulders" above the other applications in that category, according to Norma Long, dean of the College of Continuing Studies at Towson University and chair of the MAHE awards committee.

All new students at Salisbury are required to participate in an orientation program. An option the incoming freshmen have is to do orientation as part of a wilderness trip. This program is structured to teach the students how to use the skills learned during their wilderness experience in college, and afterwards.

Remarkably, followup on these students show fewer dropping out of college than their classmates, becoming more involved in student life and generally doing well academically. And all freshmen who have taken part in prior SSC wilderness programs state their transition to college life was made easier because of participation.

This year students had the option to go cycling or sailing in Maine or canoeing through the back country lakes of Ontario.

The MAHE Award will be presented at the annual MAHE Conference, to be held October 3 in the Baltimore World Trade Center in the Inner Harbor.

SSC News Deadline

The SSC News is a newsletter for the campus community published each Thursday during fall and spring semesters, unless noted. The deadline is noon on Monday prior to publication. Newsletter items are usually proofed and typeset on a first come, first served basis, so don't feel you have to wait until Monday to get your article to the Public Relations Office (HH 264).

Any story relating to the life of the campus, whether it be of interest to students, faculty or staff, is welcomed. Because we cannot canvass the campus personally, we are grateful to those who keep us current on the activities and issues affecting College life.

'From Here to Paternity'— A Father's Place Is...?

"Due to the rise of female labor force participation which has changed expectations about fathers' involvement in child-rearing, U.S. employers must become more understanding of not only mothers' need for parental leave, but also fathers'," according to Dr. Sue Greenfield, Professor of Management in the Franklin P. Perdue School of Business. "Specifically, as compared to their European counterparts," said Dr. Greenfield, "U.S. employers stand far behind in providing parental leave to their employees."

Dr. Greenfield, who recently joined the Perdue School faculty after seven years at the University of Baltimore, reported those observations at the Academy of Management Centennial and 50th Anniversary Meeting August 13-16 in Chicago. Her presentation was entitled, "From Here to Paternity: What Employers Should Know About Leave for Fathers."

"In Norway, for example," continued Dr. Greenfield, "after the first six weeks of an 18-week paid leave, either the father or the mother can stay home with a child while receiving up to 90 percent of his or her former salary. Either parent can also take up to 10 days for the care of a sick child."

"In Sweden, with one of the world's highest female labor force participation rates (66.5 percent), the encouragement of fathers to care for children is even stronger. Under the Parental Insurance Scheme, the parents of a child can apportion nine months of child leave between themselves with the parent who stays at home receiving 90 percent of his or her salary."

However, according to research conducted by Dr. Greenfield and her colleague, Dr. Susan Zacur of the University of Baltimore, in the United States such extensive leaves for fathers are almost nonexistent.

"To illustrate," said Dr. Greenfield, "of 200 Fortune companies surveyed by the researchers, only seven had any formal leave policy for fathers whatsoever, while only 82 companies reported some type of informal provisions. Not realized by some employees is the fact that through Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 where employers have provided child leave for mothers, the equal amount of time must be allocated to fathers who request it."

Dr. Greenfield is particularly interested in corporate policies and practices which affect the workplace. Before joining the faculty at Salisbury, she previously taught for the University of Baltimore, Texas A & M University and for the Safety and Systems Institute of the University of Southern California.

Delaney Honored

Dr. Edmund T. Delaney, professor and chairman of the Department of Psychology, has been awarded a Certificate of Recognition from the American Psychological Association's Division of Psychologists in Public Service.

The awards program seeks to identify each year a select group of members whose efforts clearly embody the division's intense concern with furthering the public's interest through professional psychological activities.

Dr. Delaney received his award at the division's annual ceremony in Washington, D.C., during the National American Psychological Association's annual convention this month.

Dr. Delaney is police psychologist for the Salisbury Police Department and is associated with the department's Criminal Investigation Division. He also provides services for several other local law enforcement agencies. He was recently appointed to the Board of Directors of the Life Crisis Center, Inc. Dr. Delaney resides in Salisbury with his wife and two children.

One Bright Hope

One Bright Hope, written by Marci Bryant, an Eastern Shore native, with music and song lyrics composed by Bryant and Leander Morris, will showcase for six performances at the Ella Fitzgerald Center starting November 14 at 8 p.m. on the University of Maryland Eastern Shore campus.

One Bright Hope is the story of a young woman's desire to become a successful dancer.

Bryant wants to involve the Eastern Shore community in this showcase production. According to the playwright, "This is an opportunity for me to do something positive in my hometown. I want to inspire the young especially. Someone once asked me, 'Can anything good come from Princess Anne?' My reply, let's show 'em!"

The playwright also will produce the show. In 1985 Bryant successfully co-produced and promoted the hit Off-Broadway musical, Mama I Want To Sing, and has worked in different aspects of the media in Washington and Philadelphia.

Bryant also teaches a business course for women at Delaware County Community College in Media, PA. She resides in Chester, PA.

Della Dameron-Johnson directs One Bright Hope at UMES. Group discounts are available. For additional information call 215-874-4200.

Daly Guest Speaker

Dr. Lou Ann Daly, chairman of the Communication Arts Department, spoke to members of Parents Without Partners on "Problems in Family Communications" at a meeting in the Rebecca Lodge this summer.

Daly is part of the SSC Speaker's Bureau. The bureau offers area organizations several speakers discussing a variety of subjects. No charge is made for the service.

For further information contact the Public Relations Office at ext. 6030.

Sousa Spectacular

National attention is being focused in 1986 toward the official naming of the "Stars and Stripes Forever" as the National March through an act of Congress. Hence, every performing band organization has been asked to sponsor a John Phillips Sousa-style concert complete with an opportunity for the audience to add their names to an appropriate petition.

The College Band in conjunction with the Salisbury Community Band will present their "Sousa Spectacular" on Sunday, December 23. Students who are interested in participating in this event should add Band 1004-101-001 to their schedule or contact Dr. Charles F. Smith Jr. in the Music Department, ext. 6385 or 6387.

Volunteers Needed

Volunteers are needed for the Planned Parenthood of Maryland Clinic in the Health Center on campus. Hours are 4 - 8 p.m. on Wednesdays and 10 a.m. - 3 p.m. on Thursdays. Applications must be submitted by Wednesday, September 10. The training period is September 17 and 18; hours are flexible.

Fellowship—Fellowship

Start your school year off right! Come fellowship with Campus Crusade for Christ. Bring your friends to the Nanticoke Room in the College Center Thursday, September 4, at 8 p.m.. All are welcome.

Symphony Society Begins Season September 10

The Eastern Shore Symphony Society is about to embark on its 31st season with the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra.

For 30 years the Society has sponsored quality classical music in its association with the BSO. This season continues the tradition.

Three concerts are on tap for performance in Holloway Hall. Wednesday, September 10; Tuesday, February 17; and Wednesday, April 1. Concert time is 8 p.m.

The opening concert September 10th features Peter Landgren, the associate principal horn of the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra, in his performance of Mozart's "Horn Concerto No. 4."

Catherine Comet, the BSO's associate conductor, will begin the program with Hector Berlioz's "Roman Carnival Overture."

The final piece performed will be Johannes Brahms' dynamic "Symphony No. 1."

For the middle concert on February 17, the Salisbury Choral Society is performing with the BSO on "Gloria" by Antonin Vivaldi. This will make the third time these two groups will have performed together.

Also slated for this concert is Rossini's "Overture to La Scala di Seta," Faure's "Pavanne" and J.S. Bach's "Suite No. 3." Edward Polochick will conduct that program.

The final concert of the season, April 1, will be selections dear to Comet's heart—classical pieces of light French music, no doubt compositions by Debussy, Bizet, Offenback and other French composers.

The ticket prices for this season are $35 for adults and $15 for students. If you buy a season ticket you will save money compared to purchasing single admission tickets for each of the three concerts.

Tickets are available at the Salisbury-Wicomico Arts Council office, from any Peninsula Bank during their regular lobby hours, or from any Eastern Shore Symphony Society board member.

For more information, contact Peggy Martin on campus or call 543-ARTS.

Small Featured at U-D

Clara Small, instructor of History, was featured speaker at a conference on the Black Family, held this summer at the University of Delaware at Newark. Her paper was entitled "Black Women: Catalyst for Educating Black Youth."

Small is on leave from Salisbury completing her doctorate in American Colonial History and Black American History at the University of Delaware.

McBrien Address Adlerians

Dr. Robert J. McBrien, director of Counseling Services, presented a program on the treatment of depression at the annual Convention of the North American Society of Adlerian Psychology held in St. Louis.

Dr. McBrien's program featured the use of an activity-based counseling based on the practical psychology developed by Alfred Adler.

Dr. McBrien's program was based on his article, "Managing Depression: An Adlerian Approach," which was published in the Journal of Individual Psychology in December. Dr. McBrien is developing a group treatment for depression which he plans to offer in the late fall.

Code of Conduct, Judicial System, Sexual Harrassment Policy

To provide student with information on expectations for responsible citizenship and/or procedures for judicial proceedings, a written Student Code of Conduct now exists along with are revised Judicial System Guide.

Topics included in the Code of Conduct include academic and computer dishonesty; theft; possession; storage; use of firearms; drug and alcohol use; misuse of College property; false information; assault and verbal harassment; violence and extremism; disruptive behavior; sexual harassment; and hazing.

The Judicial Guide explains disciplinary proceedings in residence halls and campuswide; the function of student advocates; procedural and due process; and sanctions and appeals. Copies of both brochures will be widely circulated and available from the Information Desk and Dean of Students office.

The recent developed and approved Sexual Harassment policy will also be available from the Dean of Students office, College Center Information Desk and departmental offices.

Rights and Privacy Act

SSC will assume the right, under the provisions of the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act, to provide student directory information without prior consent of the student. Directory information is defined as a student's name, local address (if listed), date and place of birth, major field of study, participation in officially recognized activities and sports, weight and height of an athletic team member, dates of attendance, degrees and awards received, most recent previous educational agency or institution attended and listing of officers of student organizations (including names and addresses).

In the event a student wants more or less than directory information released, please notify the Office of Dean of students, ext. 6080, or stop by HH 243.

Training in CPR

Short courses in cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) are available every three or four weeks through our Continuing Education program. In three evening sessions, you can learn how to save a life in cases of heart attack, choking, drowning, electric shock, injury and other emergencies where the heart and breathing stop and death occurs quickly. Would you be ready if an emergency occurred in your home, class or work area?

All College personnel and spouses are, of course, welcome in these courses. The next course is scheduled for Friday, September 5, and Friday, September 12, 7-9:15 p.m., plus three hours to be arranged.

Call 742-6635 for further information.

Overseas Study, Research & Training

Deadlines for 1987-88 are approaching fast.

For example, the deadline for some lectureships in France, Germany, Italy, Portugal and Spain is 15 September. Deadlines for graduate study abroad occur a little later.

For more information and applications, get in touch with Dr. Bernard Fusaro, DSH 219, Ext. 6470 (or 6471).

Summer Alumni Celebration A Success

Live baroque music, a splendid sunset view of the Manokin River and Chesapeake Bay, colonial elegance in an historic showplace residence plus a light supper and open bar—all added up to a very special Flag Day observance sponsored by the College Foundation on June 14.

Approximately 125 local residents, friends of the College and alumni attended the celebration, according to Robert Gearhart, director of College Advancement.

The Flag Day celebration, a precursor of this year's historic "Lady Liberty" national birthday party, was at "Clifton," an estate dating back to the Federal period and listed on the National Register of Historic Places.

Dr. and Mrs. Wilcomb Washburn of the Washington, D.C. area bought Clifton about 15 years ago from the Carpenter family, owners of the Philadelphia Phillies. The Washburns graciously opened their house for this special occasion and conducted tours for guests. And the string section from the Salisbury Symphony led by Dr. Thomas Elliot played for the guests.

Wanted: Flag Football and Bowling Supervisor

The Campus Recreation Department is in search of a student supervisor for both the Intramural Flag Football and Bowling Leagues. Up-perclassmen with prior Intramural sports participation are preferred. The rate of pay is $4.00 per hour. For more information, stop by the Campus Recreation office in Maggs Gym or call ext. 6350.

Student Jobs

Work Experience still has job openings in many areas, both on and off campus. Students interested in a position should go to the Work Experience office in the Physical Plant building and complete an application.

Students who have an application on file should also check with Work Experience for new openings. They should also update their records if their schedule or address has changed.

Join the Outdoor Club

The Outdoor Club's introductory meeting will be in the Nanticoke Room of the College Center on Wednesday, September 3, at 6:30 p.m. Activities and trips for the semester will be previewed.

The first trip will be to Delaware Water Gap on September 12, 13, 14 for hiking on the Appalachian Trail and/or white water canoeing on the Delaware River. Sign up at the meeting on September 3 and at the second meeting on Wednesday, September 10, at 6:30 p.m. in the Nanticoke Room.

For further information, contact Dr. William Home at ext. 6445.

Camera for Sale

A 35 mm Nikon FG Camera with a 50 mm 1.8 lens and SB-15 Nikon flash is for sale. The camera has program mode, aperture priority mode and manual mode. The camera is one year old and in excellent condition. The price is $195. For more information, call Rodney Hitchens at 749-2977 after 6 p.m.

European Tour Meeting

Although the school year is just beginning, winter isn't far away. Now is the time to think about something to do during the long January break. Why not Europe? It's a great time to go! Prices are lower, tourists are fewer and a wealth of cultural activities is available. It's an unbeatable combination!

Better yet, why not go in style with a College study-tour to the heart of Europe? Join with the College to learn about the history and culture of the Habsburg Empire and to visit its magnificent capitals, Vienna, Budapest and Prague. The study-tour is open to all students, faculty and staff, and friends of the College wishing to share in this cultural experience. You can earn credit toward your degree, learn about the extraordinary heartland of Europe while enjoying yourself in the rich cultural traditions of the Habsburg Empire!

Beginning on January 9, you can begin a two-week odyssey to view firsthand the rich history and cultural heritage of the Habsburgs. You'll visit the cities where Mozart, Beethoven, Bach, Liszt, Freud and so many others lived, worked and played. In Vienna you'll see such fascinating sights as Schonbrunn Palace, St. Stephen's Cathedral and the Vienna Woods. Go to the other capital on the Danube and see the medieval and baroque beauty of Budapest, including Buda Castle and the Fisherman's Bastion. Tour the beautiful medieval city of Prague with its castle, St. Vitus' Cathedral, the Jewish Quarter; enjoy a special visit to Karlstein Castle, built by Emperor Charles IV!

In all of these cities you'll have first-class accommodations, special dinners and special cultural events with time to explore on your own. You'll be under the guidance of experienced leaders who know the area and the cities. The cost for all this is a low $1375 plus applicable tuition and fees, which includes roundtrip transportation, hotels, breakfasts and dinners, special excursions, scheduled cultural events and all visa fees.

Interested in doing something different this January? Then plan now to attend an interest meeting Thursday, September 11, at 3:30 p.m. in HH 221. If you can't attend, or can't wait, drop by the History Department to get more details. This study-tour is sponsored by the History Department and will be conducted by Drs. Robert and Dagmar Berry. Don't miss this marvelous opportunity to learn more about the heart of Central Europe!

Pi Gamma Mu

Pi Gamma Mu, the International Honor Society in Social Science, will hold its spring initiation on Sunday, September 28, at 6 p.m. in the social room of Holloway Hall.

Pi Gamma Mu requires the completion of at least 20 hours in five social science areas (History, Political Science, Economics, Sociology/Anthropology, International Relations) and in some other Social Sciences courses such as Social Psychology, Criminal Justice and Geography, with an average of B (85 percent). In addition, an eligible student should be in the top 35 percent of his class (senior or junior).

Students interested in qualifying for Pi Gamma Mu should contact Dr. G. Ray Thompson (HH 372) or the History Department, ext. 6245.

Phone Service

A representative from C&P Telephone Company will be located in the College Center on September 9 and 10 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. to answer any questions concerning phone service for residence halls.

Laps for Lungs

The American Lung Association of Maryland (ALAM), with support from the College and SSC's Respiratory Therapy Association, presents Laps for Lungs on Sunday, September 21, from 10:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m. at Maggs pool. Swim laps, win prizes and raise money to benefit the ALAM. Simply obtain pledges for each lap you swim.

To obtain an entry form and pledge sheet, contact Sid Schneider ext. 6410 or Ted Wiberg and Xavier Stewart at ext. 6418.

SICO Scholarships

"We've been growing here and we think that's just fine," Dr. Joseph Moore of the SICO Foundation said, after recently giving the College Foundation a $25,000 check for student scholarships.

This is the largest SICO Foundation contribution to SSC to date. Since the SICO scholarship program began at Salisbury in 1974, Beverly Newnam, College Director of Financial Aid, estimates some $132,000 have been distributed to students here from the Mt. Joy, PA, foundation.

Residents from SICO Company service areas are eligible for the scholarships. This would include not only all of Delaware, but any student attending Del Mar High School, residents of Cecil County, MD, and residents of parts of southern New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

For more information, students should contact their local high school guidance counselor or the SSC Office of Admissions/Financial Aid.

"This is an extremely important gift which students look forward to each year. We are very grateful to the SICO Foundation for their continued support," Robert Gearhart, director of College Advancement said.

Martin at Naropa

Kathryn Martin, director of the College Dance Company, studied at the Naropa Summer Institute in Boulder, Colorado, and with Bill Evans at Colorado College, Colorado Springs, this summer.

This year's Naropa program examined the relationship of dance to theatre. Martin studied both "Movement Theatre" with dance educator Irini Nadel Rockwell and "Presence, Expression and Alignment," a physiological approach to dance movement, with Susan Aposhyan, a movement therapist.

At Colorado Springs, Martin studied "Correctives," concerned with proper body alignment; Laban movement which views movement through the elements of space, time and force; as well as modern, ballet and tap dance.

Pi Alpha Theta

Phi Alpha Theta, the International Honor Society in History, will hold its fall initiation on Sunday, September 21, at 6 p.m. in the social room of Holloway Hall.

Phi Alpha Theta requires the junior, senior or graduate student to have completed at least 12 semester hours in History courses and to have an overall average of B in at least two-thirds of the remainder of his work. In addition, he must rank in the top 35 percent of his class.

Students interested in membership in Phi Alpha Theta should contact either Dr. G. Ray Thompson or the History Department.

Monster Book Sale

Blackwell Library will be holding its 2nd annual monster book sale on Thursday, September 11, from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. on the terrace in front of the Library. (The term "monster" refers to the size of the sale, not to the subject matter or the people attending).

Books will be offered at the scandalously cheap rate of 25¢ each, or 5 books for a dollar; many bargains are to be had. As an added attraction, books will be given away during the afternoon.

Those who missed last year's event still rue the day. Don't miss this one!

The rain date is September 12.

Test, Test, Test

CLEP test will be on Wednesday, October 15. The deadline for registration is Monday, September 15.

GRE test will be on Saturday, October 11, in DH 149. The deadline for registration is Thursday, September 11. The GRE Information Bulletin is available in the Graduate and Continuing Education Office, HH 140.

GMAT test will be on Saturday, October 18 in DH 108. The deadline for registration is Monday, September 15. The GMAT Bulletin of Information also is available in the Graduate and Continuing Education Office, HH 140.

Campus Intramurals—How Do I:

- Find the Campus Recreation Office? We are located in the lobby of the Maggs Physical Activity Center. Stop by the office from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday or call ext. 6350.
- Sign up for intramural sports? Entry forms for all events are available in the Campus Recreation office, Maggs PAC lobby, weekdays 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.
- Check out sports equipment? Basketball, softballs and other sports equipment may be checked out from the Campus Recreation check out window, located near the weight room in Maggs PAC. Equipment also may be checked out between the hours of 4 p.m. and 10 p.m. weekdays in Tawes Gym. A current SSC ID is required to check out any equipment.
- Know when the recreation facilities are open? Call the Campus Recreation office, ext. 6350, for the admission policy and hours for the swimming pool, gymnasium, weight room and racquetball courts. A current SSC ID is required to use these facilities.
- Reserve a tennis court? The tennis courts are available on a first come, first served basis when not used by classes, athletics or intramurals.
- Reserve a racquetball court? Sign up in person in the Campus Recreation office. Reservation hours begin at 8 a.m. on weekdays and noon on weekends depending on class schedule. There are no phone reservations. Reservations may be made one day in advance.
- Swim at the Swimming Pool? Show your SSC ID at the front door. Call the Campus Recreation office, ext. 6350 or the swimming pool ext. 6358 for hours.
- Join an SSC sports club? Call 543-6350 for the name and phone number of the person in charge of the club that interests you.
- Rent campus equipment? Tents, backpacks, sleeping bags, stoves and other camping equipment may be rented for a nominal fee from the Outdoor Adventure Center, located in the Campus Recreation check out window in Maggs PAC. Ext. 543-6350 for the hours of operation. A current SSC ID is required to rent equipment.

Energy Conservation

The College continues to reaffirm its commitment to a policy of energy conservation. To conserve our valuable energy resources every person on campus must do his part. Obvious things, like dressing for the weather; keeping your air conditioner (a/c) unit or wall thermostat set at 78° during the cooling season (governor of Maryland mandate); using your a/c unit only when you need it, turning off your a/c unit whenever your room is going to be unoccupied and taking any other action that will keep you cool and conserve energy at the same time, will enable us to make the most of our energy resources.

The College has purchased and installed a centrally controlled energy management system (EMS). The system has many features that are making our energy management program much more responsive to the needs of the campus community than the old clock and manual system. The new system is in place. Software programs have been checked out. All of the larger buildings on campus are on the new EMS. Dogwood Village, Tawes Hall, Sociology Building, the Musical Arts Center, Devilbiss Hall Annex and Computer Center Annex are on their own individual energy control systems.

Although we have been through the winter, spring and summer seasons with the new EMS, we have yet to use it during the fall season. There will probably be a few problems to resolve.

We will be trying to communicate with all concerned parties whenever we can foresee energy management problems, however, when you observe something you believe to be out of the ordinary in regard to operation of your cooling or heating unit, please advise the Physical Plant office by telephone (ext. 6200), memorandum or work order. Your cooperation and assistance are appreciated.

AAUP Forms SSC Chapter

A chapter of the American Association of University Professors (AAUP) is now forming at the College.

Founded in 1915, AAUP is the only national organization exclusively representing the interests of all college and university faculty members. It serves as the voice of the profession in such matters as academic decision making, due process, academic freedom, tenure and economic matters.

The formative meeting will be in the Nanticoke Room in SSC's College Center from 3 to 5 p.m. on Friday, September 5.

Education Department Competency Tests

Students who plan to apply for the Professional Education Program must pass all competency tests prior to acceptance into the program. The tests are in mathematics, reading, speech, standard written English and essay writing. For further information about the tests, please contact Al Constantine, Caruthers Hall B-153.

It is necessary to register in advance for the competency tests. Sign-up sheets for the fall administration of the tests are located in the Education office, Caruthers Hall B-152.

Students who sign up early in the registration period will have their records checked for possible exemption from some of the tests.

Competency Test Schedule

Monday, September 22
Reading	3 p.m.
Writing Test (Essay)	4 p.m.
Thursday, September 25
Reading	3 p.m.
Writing Test (Essay)	4 p.m.
Monday, September 29
Test of Standard Written English	3 p.m.
Mathematics	4 p.m.
Thursday, October 2
Test of Standard Written English	3 p.m.
Mathematics	4 p.m.

The speech requirement may be satisfied by achieving a grade of "C" or better in Communication Arts 250. All tests will be administered in the Nanticoke Room of the College Center.

Planned Parenthood of Maryland Hours

Planned Parenthood of Maryland announces hours for the 1986 fall schedule: Supply Clinic-Tuesday, 4-6 p.m.; Appointments-Wednesday, 3-7 p.m.; Thursday, 10 a.m.-1:30 p.m.

The services provided include annual gynecological examinations (breast, pap smear and pelvic exam), contraceptive education and supplies, sexually transmitted disease screening and treatment, free pregnancy testing, counseling and referral.

Individuals from the College and from the community may make appointments by calling Planned Parenthood of Maryland at the Health Center, ext. 6265.

*Every Tuesday that school is in session supplies are provided from 4-6 p.m. No appointment is needed.

SSC Tradition for an African Family

When Dorothy Temu came to the College in the fall of 1983, she didn't know she'd be establishing a family tradition. A semester later, her cousin, Joyce Chale, enrolled. A year later, Dorothy's sister, Caroline, was admitted. They were followed by Joyce's brother, Christopher, and Dorothy's sister, Angela, and this fall her brother, Benjamin. Waiting in the wings is Lily Temu, another cousin.

What makes this even more unusual is that none of the Temus had even visited Salisbury until Dorothy started classes. The family isn't from Maryland, but Tanzania, in east Africa.

Much like a typical American parent, Dorothy's father, Peter Temu, went hunting for schools in a handbook of American colleges at the library—the United Nations library in Ethiopia. (He works for the U.N. World Food Council.) He wanted a small school: "That way we get lots of attention," according to daughter Caroline. He also wanted a college near Washington, D.C., and the Tanzanian embassy.

When Dorothy arrived, she had some fears. But she found solace in her studies—and to her surprise, television. "I fell in love with the soaps," she said. (Her favorite is Guiding Light) "I'd never heard of anything like this, the language and story, so much glamorous life." She'd seen Dallas in Nairobi, Kenya, but even that couldn't compare to the daytime dramas.

Moving on campus her second semester and the arrival of family made life easier. Her second year, she led a campus effort to raise money for Ethiopian famine relief, garnering a student Campus Life award as a senior.

Since graduation she has been accepted at four schools and will begin graduate work this fall at Johns Hopkins University in Public Health—specializing in the study of infectious and tropical diseases.

Caroline, the next oldest, is the most talkative of the sisters. Poised and friendly, with a slight English accent from years of British boarding school, she has served as a student orientation leader and worked in the Admissions and Public Relations Offices. Despite her spoken fluency, however, she had trouble with her written English when she first came here. There are "gaps" when you transfer from one school to another, Dorothy noted, and Caroline, who had attended schools in Tanzania, Kenya,

Ethiopia and England, had not been taught some rules of composition as she was transferred from one curriculum to another. "Here, after English 101, I've learned structure, and I've learned to learn, which is more important." Even her father, now in Rome, has noticed a marked difference in their correspondence.

Angela, the youngest daughter, never attended school in England and her accent is the most American of the three. Quiet around her two older sisters, she blossoms when she's alone and talks freely about school and her family. A linguist, she speaks Swahili, English, some Italian and is studying French.

"My father feels his first priority is to educate his children," according to Dorothy. The story his daughters tell of his own struggle to get an education has a Hortio Alger quality. The youngest of six children, he daily walked through the African countryside to the nearest school, literally six miles away. His family—mostly farmers—made tremendous sacrifices for him to study away from his village and he earned scholarships to both Makerere University in east Africa and Stanford University where he earned his doctorate. His doctoral dissertation became a standard text on economics in Tanzanian classrooms and he is listed in Who's Who Among Intellectuals.

Besides having four children in college this fall, he also has two younger ones in boarding school in Malta. He and his wife, Irene, also are helping raise or support three other nephews and nieces.

Since Dorothy enrolled at SSC, he has visited Salisbury. He told both his children and Admissions officials how pleased he is with the growth and learning of his children here. He feels he ought to be congratulated for discovering this school, Caroline said.

After having lived in the Old, New and Third Worlds, the Temu sisters have learned to appreciate the uniqueness of each culture, and themselves.

Benjamin, the oldest son, may have a rude awakening, however, when he joins his sisters in the fall to begin college. They will be sharing an apartment and the women plan to run the household according to American customs. "In Africa, a man would not cook," Caroline said. "Here, he will cook."

I.D. Card Changes

Effective Monday, August 25, the College I.D. Card Office will be moved from the Ruth Powell Dining Hall to its new location, HH 214. With the installation of the Vali-Dine (I.D. Card) System in Blackwell Library this summer, the College has implemented another phase of the proposed campuswide I.D. Card System. It is necessary, therefore, to locate the office in an area which is more accessible to all students. Students on the meal plan will be required to present their College I.D. cards to gain entrance to the Ruth Powell Dining facility, as has been the procedure in the past. In addition, all students, faculty and staff who wish to check out books from Blackwell Library must present their College I.D. cards to take a book from the library. This means that all students, faculty and staff must have I.D. cards, and it is suggested that they be carried at all times as one would carry a driver's license.

Mrs. Mary Weaver, the staff member who has so effectively handled the I.D. Card System in the past, will continue to do so in its new location. Regular office hours will be 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. In order to better serve the needs of the students during the opening of the semester, I.D. card pictures will be taken and I.D. cards dispensed, not from the Holloway Hall location, but from the Salisbury Room of the Ruth Powell Dining Hall during the following times:

August 31	4 - 6 p.m.
September 1	10 a.m. - 1:30 p.m.
	4 - 6 p.m.
September 2	10 a.m. - 1:30 p.m.
	4 - 6 p.m.
September 3	10 a.m. - 1:30 p.m.
	4 - 6 p.m.

Regular office hours will resume after September 3 in HH 214.

There will be no charge for I.D. cards for SSC students, faculty, staff, families of employees, and UMES and WOR-WIC CO-OP students. For alumni and non-students, the cost of an I.D. card will be $10 per person. The replacement cost, should one lose a card, is also $10; this applies to all individuals whose cards must be replaced.

Faculty and staff who have I.D. cards with a gold background do not need to have new cards made. Those with red backgrounds need to be re-done. Only two colors are being used now and in the future: gold for faculty and staff, blue for students. Those with red cards may use their cards, but should have the cards re-done this semester. There will be no charge for this.

If you have questions regarding I.D. cards, please telephone Mrs. Weaver at ext. 6053. If you have problems or questions you would like to discuss, call ext. 6060.

Student Insurance Plan

SSC students and/or their dependents now have an opportunity to enroll in a very flexible and convenient insurance plan—The Sentry Student Security Plan.

Any student under the age of 65 who is registered and attending a state accredited college or university that formally authorizes the Sentry plan is eligible to enroll. There are no restrictions based on the number of credits or non-credit scholastic hours. Coverage may also be maintained during the summer vacations and up to one term after graduation. This program offers several good options. Please stop by the Health Center for a brochure or application. The College has authorized this insurance program.

National '86 Campus Entertainer of Year Performs Here September 7

Hypnotist and comedian Tom De Luca, the 1986 Campus Entertainer of the Year, as voted by colleges and universities across the country, appears at the College on Sunday, September 7, at 8 p.m. in Holloway Hall Auditorium.

Playing nearly 200 campuses a year, De Luca has introduced "Cometism," a unique combination of comedy, suggestion and the audience's imagination, to every state in the continental U.S. He also has appeared in Alaska and throughout Canada.

De Luca earned a master's degree in Psychology from Sangamon State University (IL). While working as a hypnotherapist, he began appearing before local civic groups, where a prominent businessman recognized his talent and encouraged him to become a performer. Refining his act in nightclubs in the midwest and developing it further at Chicago's Second City, De Luca began working the college circuit, quickly establishing himself as one of the most unusual and popular performers around.

"The Tom De Luca Show" features comedy magic tricks, spontaneous repartee and hypnotic insanity.

His appearance is sponsored by the College Program Board. Advance tickets are available free of charge to SCC students, faculty and staff at the CC Information Desk. Tickets for the general public are $3, available at the Information Desk and at the door the evening of performance. Seating is limited.

Molenda Chairs at World Congress

Dr. John R. Molenda, dean of the School of Sciences chaired a section on "Professional Formation and Training in Food Hygiene" at the second World Congress Foodborne Infections and Intoxications in West Berlin, Germany during summer break.

Dr. Molenda, who has been at SSC for 10 years, was invited by Dr. K. Gerigk, secretary-general of the Institute of Veterinary Medicine, the Robert Van Osterlag Institute. The institute, located in West Berlin, is the collaborating center of the World Health Organization for Research and Training in Food Hygiene.

Dr. Molenda's section at the congress, one of 13 topics on the program, focuses on people like chefs and caterers who deal in large quantities of food preparation. The section stresses bacterial causes of food disease, how food should be prepared and stored to prevent food poisoning.

"We must put the information into context," said Dr. Molenda, "so that food handlers can understand the scientific principles involved. We will reply heavily on discussing actual outbreaks of food poisoning that have occurred, why they occurred, and how they could have been prevented."

Dr. Molenda, who is currently compiling a book on foodborne disease, has long been active in the field. In the 1970s, while working with the Maryland State Health Department, he isolated an organism named Vibrio Parahemolyticus from patients suffering from food poisoning. This was the first time this bacterium had been conclusively proven to have caused food poisoning on this continent.

Representatives from some 70 countries will join Dr. Molenda at the congress.

SSC Grads Do Well

Between 1980 and 1983, more graduates from Salisbury gave their alma mater a high rating in preparing them to work than did the average of graduates at all of Maryland's state colleges and universities.

During those four years, SSC students not only performed better on professional licensing and certification examinations, but also had an employment rate which was higher than the state college/university average. These facts are gleaned from four years of Postsecondary Education Research Reports published by the State Board of Higher Education (SBHE).

James Lackie, director of Career Planning and Placement at Salisbury, gives kudos to both students and faculty for their good performances. "I'm convinced we attract a kind of student, a well-qualified student, who is energetic, enthusiastic and personal. A concerned and caring faculty makes sure he is well prepared academically. And their concern carries over even after he graduates. Subsequently he interviews well and does well."

Over the four years, 64.3 percent of the graduates gave SSC a good or excellent rating for preparing them for their jobs. This compared to a 62.3 percent average at all of Maryland's state colleges and universities.

From 1980-1983 84.5 percent of the SSC graduates who needed to take licensing or certification examinations passed, as opposed to the 77.8 percent state college/university average. In 1983, the last year measured by this survey, 90 percent of the SSC students passed their professional examinations.

And graduates of SSC were employed at a rate of 94.35 percent, nearly one percentage point higher than the state college/university average.

According to appropriations request by the SBHE in 1986, however, Towson University and SSC have the lowest average per full-time equivalent student costs of any state college/university. The average amount the state pays for students at all 11 of its campuses is $4,348. At Salisbury, state support per student is $3,420.

SSC ROTC Cadet, Robert "Rob" Frick

Frick Wins Honors At ROTC Camp

Robert "Rob" Frick, an Army Reserve Officer Training Corps cadet at the College, outperformed 3,700 cadets from 118 colleges and universities on the east coast in marksmanship at Advanced ROTC Camp this summer.

Frick, 22, a junior majoring in Geography, was named "Top Gun" of Camp All American at the six-week training program at Fort Bragg, NC, according to Major Thomas Y. Hiter, officer-in-charge of the Salisbury State ROTC program.

Frick and three other cadets qualified for the finals by shooting a perfect score of 40 hits per 40 rounds from downrange at pop-up targets. The four finalists then continued in round robin target shooting until they missed. The last cadet on the range won. Frick's competitors represented North Georgia College and North Carolina State and Drexel Universities.

Frick is one of 18 SSC cadets who attended this summer's advanced camp. Cadets who graduate from the camp will return to the SSC campus this fall as seniors to plan, coordinate and execute activities for cadet underclassmen. Frick also is a member of the SSC Rifle Team, whose membership is open to all students.

Health Center Information

The Health Center staff welcomes new and returning students to the College.

The Center receives many inquiries related to hours and costs or range of services. Information pamphlets are available in the Health Center. These pamphlets cover a variety of topics including hours, services and what to do in an emergency.

Health Center hours are 8 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday. A nurse can be reached for consultation on weekends by a pager system.

Individuals may schedule appointments with Planned Parenthood of Maryland on Wednesdays and Thursdays; Planned Parenthood of Maryland operates a Supply Clinic from 4 to 6 p.m. on Tuesdays.

Services include treatment for injuries, illnesses, gynecological problems, sexually transmitted diseases (STDs), immunizations, allergy injections, miscellaneous laboratory procedures including mononucleosis and pregnancy testing, contraceptive and pregnancy counseling, dental and medical/surgical referrals and Planned Parenthood of Maryland Clinic. These services are available for full-time resident and commuter students.

Students are seen on a walk-in basis by the Health Center nurses. Those students requiring physician evaluation will be scheduled to see the College physician. Urgent problems may be referred to the Emergency Room at Peninsula General Hospital Medical Center.

An $18 per semester health fee is included in the fee structure which full-time students pay at the beginning of the semester. The fee is optional for part-time students, but those who do not pay the fee are eligible for limited services only, such as blood pressure and weight checks, emergency first aid and health education screening programs. Full-time students and part-time students who have paid the fee are entitled to the full range of services.

Off-campus health care providers, including physicians, dentists, hospitals, radiologists and medical laboratories, will bill students for services and supplies. All students are urged to carry health insurance. Insurance information is available in the Health Center or in the Dean of Students office.

The College Health Center nurses are Brenda Hooks, Ann Patey, Rosemary Cupp, Karen Rickards and Barbara Ryan. (Rickards and Ryan share a full-time nursing position.) The College physicians are Dr. Louis H. Himes II and Dr. Paul Bollens. A physician is available by appointment approximately two hours per day Monday through Friday. Terri Mason, previously a full-time secretary, will now be working on a part-time basis. The Health Center staff welcomes Mrs. Jana Long as a full-time medical aide. Hooks is the director and Patey is the assistant director of the Center.

The Student Health Advisory Committee (SHAC), a group of students who provide input regarding student health concerns and also serve as a liaison between the Health Center and the student population, has been in operation for two years. If you, or someone you know, are interested in serving on this committee, please contact Mrs. Hooks at the Health Center by calling ext. 6262.

The Health Center staff wishes every student a happy, safe and healthy College experience.

Ang to Address Fall Convocation

When Dr. Melvin Ang, of the College's History and Political Science Departments, visited China this summer, he journeyed to the village in a southeastern county where his father was born and his grandfather buried. There, at his father's request, he performed the ancient rites of veneration—rites which traditionally allow the spirit of the departed to shower blessings upon posterity. "I teach college so I don't believe in such things," Ang said quietly, "but my father's request was accompanied by a large check to help with expenses on the trip."

Ang tried to be realistic about returning to his ancestor's village. Still, "It's a pretty strong emotional experience when you go back to your roots. But I had images of what it was going to be like and it was just like that: water buffalo, people in (straw) hats, farming. I had no illusions. It's what I might have been."

It's also a supremely modest self-assessment. With degrees from Dartmouth, Michigan and the University of Pennsylvania, he holds a Ph.D. in medieval Chinese history which required him to read classical Chinese, a difficult written language with no grammar. He speaks three dialects of Chinese besides French, German, Japanese, Latin and Greek. Rounding out such linguistic sophistication, he can still slide into a New England accent which becomes more pronounced as he reminisces about his boyhood in Boston, where he was born.

His grandfather emigrated alone to Boston around the turn of the century. (He knew someone from his village there—"First, they established a beachhead . . .," Ang explained.) Eventually, the paterfamilias opened a laundry and prospered. Between the wars he brought over his three sons from China to run the business; he returned to his homeland to retire. World War II, then the Communist revolution there, prevented him from ever seeing his sons or their children again.

Dr. Melvin Ang inaugurates 'China' Series at Fall Convocation, Wednesday, September 10, at 10 a.m. in Holloway Hall Auditorium.

Ang's father married in this country and Melvin Thlick-Len spent his formative years in Chinatown. But his father felt confined by the downtown community. ("He's more American than I am," Ang remarked.) In 1949, when Ang was six, his father broke with tradition and moved the family to South Boston-Roxbury, an ethnically rich neighborhood where he lived for 20 years.

He also educated his children differently. "Everyone in Chinatown attended Boston English or Boston Tech (high schools). I attended Boston Latin School." While his friends were preparing to be engineers or doctors, he studied the classics. At Dartmouth College he pursued philosophy. "It was the 60s," he explained. And his father never pressured him to go into business.

Ironically, philosophy revealed new aspects of his heritage unexplored in the bustle of Chinatown: the world of the Chinese philosophers. Dartmouth also led to an Asian fellowship where he taught at The Chinese University of Hong Kong, and where he met his wife, Wende. He began teaching at Salisbury in 1972.

An intriguing aspect of Ang's typically American pursuit of his own unique interests, is that he has rediscovered his grandfather's culture in ways which might have remained unexplored if he, or his father or grandfather had not broken with traditions of their times. Paradoxically, in doing so, Chinese tradition has been both transformed and reaffirmed. This makes him uniquely qualified to be the featured speaker at this fall's Convocation which officially begins the College's cultural series, "China: Tradition and Transformation." In another sense, the grandfather has again been venerated, and posterity blessed.

'China' Series Begins

The most comprehensive cultural events program ever presented at Salisbury State College is "China: Tradition and Transformation," which begins Wednesday, September 10, on campus.

"We wanted to develop a cultural events program which would tie into specific academic programs," said Vince Leisey, associate director of the College Center. "China: Tradition and Transformation" was chosen because of the many different cultural ideas incorporated in that theme."

The series is officially inaugurated when Dr. Melvin Ang, of the History and Political Science Departments, addresses the College community at its Fall Convocation, at 10 a.m. September 10 in Holloway Hall Auditorium. His subject is "What is the Sound of One Hand Clapping: or Why China?" That evening at 7 p.m., a Chinese dance drama made in 1983, Along the Silk Road, initiates this season's International Film Series. (A schedule of events is available from the College Center.)

"China provides the opportunity to learn about art, literature, film, history and language," Leisey noted. "It is hard to imagine all the different ways our lives are affected by things relating to China."

David Ganoe, director of the College Center, with Ang, originated the China concept. "A lot of leg work was involved in putting the program together," Leisey said. David and Mel made frequent trips to New York and Washington, D.C., speaking with some of the world's experts. "We will have the highest caliber people on China coming here during the year."

Kent Kimmel, chairman of the Faculty Cultural Events Committee, also has been instrumental in putting the program together. "Don't forget there is now an Oriental population here on the Eastern Shore. For example, S.B. Wu, the lieutenant governor of Delaware, is an Asian-American," Kimmel said. "And China is culturally rich. We have not had the good fortune to study it in depth and breath for the last 40 years."

The China series of cultural programs is designed to develop and enrich the cultural climate of the College campus and the community. The series' activities are free and open to the public unless otherwise indicated.

Symphony Society Begins Season September 10

The Eastern Shore Symphony Society is about to embark on its 31st season with the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra.

For 30 years the Society has sponsored quality classical music in its association with the BSO. This season continues the tradition.

Three concerts are on tap for performance in Holloway Hall Wednesday, September 10; Tuesday, February 17; and Wednesday, April 1. Concert time is 8 p.m.

The opening concert September 10th features Peter Landgren, the associate principal horn of the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra, in his performance of Mozart's "Horn Concerto No. 4."

The final piece performed will be Johannes Brahms' dynamic "Symphony No. 1."

For the middle concert on February 17, the Salisbury Choral Society is performing with the BSO on "Gloria" by Antonin Vivaldi. This will make the third time these two groups will have performed together.

Also slated for this concert is Rossini's "Overture to La Scala di Seta," Faure's "Pavane" and J.S. Bach's "Suite No. 3."

Edward Polochick will conduct that program. The final concert of the season, April 1, will be selections dear to Comet's heart—classical pieces of light French music, no doubt compositions by Debussy, Bizet, Offenbach and other French composers.

The ticket prices for this season are $35 for adults and $15 for students. If you buy a season ticket you will save money compared to purchasing single admission tickets for each of the three concerts.

Tickets are available at the Salisbury-Wicomico Arts Council office, from any Peninsula Bank during their regular lobby hours, or from any Eastern Shore Symphony Society board member.

For more information, contact Peggy Martin on campus or call 543-ARTS.

Sousa Spectacular

National attention is being focused in 1986 toward the official naming of the "Stars and Stripes Forever" as the National March through an act of Congress. Hence, every performing band organization has been asked to sponsor a John Phillips Sousa-style concert complete with an opportunity for the audience to add their names to an appropriate petition.

The College Band in conjunction with the Salisbury Community Band will present their "Sousa Spectacular" on Sunday, December 23. Students who are interested in participating in this event should add Band 1004-101-001 to their schedule or contact Dr. Charles F. Smith Jr. in the Music Department, ext. 6385 or 6387.

Volunteers Needed

Volunteers are needed for the Planned Parenthood of Maryland Clinic in the Health Center on campus. Hours are 4-8 p.m. on Wednesdays and 10 a.m. - 3 p.m. on Thursdays. Applications must be submitted by Wednesday, September 10. The training period is September 17 and 18; hours are flexible.

Fellowship—Fellowship

Start your school year off right! Come fellowship with Campus Crusade for Christ. Bring your friends to the Nanticoke Room in the College Center Thursday, September 4, at 8 p.m. All are welcome.

Education Department Competency Tests

Students who plan to apply for the Professional Education Program must pass all competency tests prior to acceptance into the program. The tests are in mathematics, reading, speech, standard written English and essay writing. For further information about the tests, please contact Al Constantine, Caruthers Hall B-153.

It is necessary to register in advance for the competency tests. Sign-up sheets for the fall administration of the tests are located in the Education office, Caruthers Hall B-152. Students who sign up early in the registration period will have their records checked for possible exemption from some of the tests.

Competency Test Schedule

Planned Parenthood of Maryland Hours

Planned Parenthood of Maryland announces hours for the 1986 fall schedule:

Supply Clinic—Tuesday, 4-6 p.m.;
Appointments—Wednesday, 3-7 p.m.,
Thursday, 10 a.m.-1:30 p.m.

The services provided include annual gynecological examinations (breast, pap smear and pelvic exam), contraceptive education and supplies, sexually transmitted disease screening and treatment, free pregnancy testing, counseling and referral.

Individuals from the College and from the community may make appointments by calling Planned Parenthood of Maryland at the Health Center, ext. 6265.

*Every Tuesday that school is in session supplies are provided from 4-6 p.m. No appointment is needed.

AAUP Forms SSC Chapter

A chapter of the American Association of University Professors (AAUP) is now forming at the College.

Founded in 1915, AAUP is the only national organization exclusively representing the interests of all college and university faculty members. It serves as the voice of the profession in such matters as academic decision making, due process, academic freedom, tenure and economic matters.

The formative meeting will be in the Nanticoke Room in SSC's College Center from 3 to 5 p.m. on Friday, September 5.

The SSC News is a newsletter for the campus community published each Thursday during fall and spring semesters, unless noted. The deadline is noon on Monday prior to publication. Newsletter items are usually proofed and typeset on a first come, first served basis, so don't feel you have to wait until Monday to get your

I.D. Card Changes

Effective Monday, August 25, the College I.D. Card Office will be moved from the Ruth Powell Dining Hall to its new location, HH 214. With the installation of the Vali-Dine (I.D. Card) System in Blackwell Library this summer, the College has implemented another phase of the proposed campuswide I.D. Card System. It is necessary, therefore, to locate the office in an area which is more accessible to all students. Students on the meal plan will be required to present their College I.D. cards to gain entrance to the Ruth Powell Dining facility, as has been the procedure in the past. In addition, all students, faculty and staff who wish to check out books from Blackwell Library must present their College I.D. cards to take a book from the library. This means that all students, faculty and staff must have I.D. cards, and it is suggested that they be carried at all times as one would carry a driver's license.

Mrs. Mary Weaver, the staff member who has so effectively handled the I.D. Card System in the past, will continue to do so in its new location. Regular office hours will be 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. In order to better serve the needs of the students during the opening of the semester, I.D. card pictures will be taken and I.D. cards dispensed, not from the Holloway Hall location, but from the Salisbury Room of the Ruth Powell Dining Hall during the following times:

September 3 10 a.m. - 1:30 p.m.
4 - 6 p.m.
Regular office hours will resume after September 3 in HH 214.

There will be no charge for I.D. cards for SSC students, faculty, staff, families of employees, and UMES and WOR-WIC CO-OP students. For alumni and non-students, the cost of an I.D. card will be $10 per person. The replacement cost, should one lose a card, is also $10; this applies to all individuals whose cards must be replaced.

Faculty and staff who have I.D. cards with a gold background do not need to have new cards made. Those with red backgrounds need to be re-done. Only two colors are being used now and in the future: gold for faculty and staff, blue for students. Those with red cards may use their cards, but should have the cards re-done this semester. There will be no charge for this.

If you have questions regarding I.D. cards, please telephone Mrs. Weaver at ext. 6053. If you have problems or questions you would like to discuss, call ext. 6060.

Student Insurance Plan

SSC students and/or their dependents now have an opportunity to enroll in a very flexible and convenient insurance plan—The Sentry Student Security Plan.

Any student under the age of 65 who is registered and attending a state accredited college or university that formally authorizes the Sentry plan is eligible to enroll. There are no restrictions based on the number of credits or non-credit scholastic hours. Coverage may also be maintained during the summer vacations and up to one term after graduation. This program offers several good options. Please stop by the Health Center for a brochure or application. The College has authorized this insurance program.

SSC News Deadline

article to the Public Relations Office (HH 264). Any story relating to the life of the campus, whether it be of interest to students, faculty or staff, is welcomed. Because we cannot canvas the campus personally, we are grateful to those who keep us current on the activities and issues affecting College life.

China By Camera

Marion E. Warren, noted Chesapeake Bay photographer for over three decades, gives a slide/talk on his recent photographic journey into The People's Republic of China on Monday, September 15 at 7:30 p.m. in Caruthers Hall Auditorium. There is no admission charge for the one-hour program.

Warren traveled to China as the official photographer for the Washington, D.C. based Population Institute during its November 1985 tour of China. His schedule permitted photographing in Shanghai, Xi'an, Beijing, Chengdu, Guangzhou, Guilin and Hong Kong. In addition to many Chinese public functions and monuments, the Annapolis free-lance photographer's work includes landscapes, architecture, native lifestyles and character studies. Warren highlights the three-week visit with stories to accompany the slide collection.

"My emphasis in pictures," said Warren, "is on the people, photographed as naturally as time would permit. The Chinese were friendly and did not mind being photographed. I wandered the streets of the cities and small towns, often photographing with telephoto lens in order to be as unobtrusive as possible. The excursion into the mountains, almost to Tibet, yielded pictures of terrace farming, a 2200-year-old irrigation system, and yes, pandas at a 100,000 acre preserve."

Warren is well known for his portrayals of the unique and picturesque charm of Maryland and the Chesapeake Bay. His photographs have been published in leading magazines and newspapers and his major photographic exhibits have been circulated by the Smithsonian Institute and the Baltimore Museum of Art. Several photographic books bearing his name have been widely acclaimed, including Annapolis Adventures, The Train's Done Been and Gone and Maryland Time Exposures.

The event is sponsored by the Faculty Cultural Events Committee in association with the SSC Foundation as part of a year-long series of programs titled "CHINA: TRADITION & TRANSFORMATION." For additional information concerning this program and others in the series, contact the College Center Information Desk at ext. NEWS.

Applications Hit All-Time High

Applications for admission to Salisbury this fall have exceeded 2,900, the highest figure in College history. Additionally, officials expect this year's incoming group of freshmen and transfers to be the second largest ever.

"This is further evidence of the strong interest on the part of students in Maryland and other surrounding states in attending Salisbury State College," President Bellavance said. "It is exciting to all of us here that so many students and their families are stimulated by the quality of the educational experience at Salisbury State. And it also says a great deal about how favorably people perceive the climate for learning here, including the city of Salisbury and the entire Eastern Shore."

Not only are applications up, but the College is becoming more and more selective in its admissions process. The College Admissions Office has rejected 100 more freshmen applicants this year than a year ago and 30 percent of all applicants.

"We are seeing better and better students coming to Salisbury State," M.P. Minton, dean of Admissions, said, explaining the higher rejection rate. "The academic reputation of the institution has shown marked improvement over the last six years."

Minton expanded on the reasons the College continues to attract more and better qualified students. "The establishment of the Franklin P. Perdue School of Business has certainly enhanced our image," said Minton, referring to the more than $2.4 million in funding the College received last spring by Perdue Farms Inc. to create the new school.

"Many of the incoming students cite the value of having a faculty that is so accessible. They find Salisbury State is not so big that it will swallow them up, yet not so small that they will be constantly conspicuous. And, of course, prospective students find ours a very attractive campus." "One of the best selling tools we use to attract top caliber students is to let them talk to the students who are already here. They are our best salesmen."

Final enrollment figures will not be available until mid-September, however total enrollment should be some 4,500.

Code of Conduct, Judicial System, Sexual Harassment Policy

To provide student with information on expectations for responsible citizenship and/or procedures for judicial proceedings, a written Student Code of Conduct now exists along with a revised Judicial System Guide.

Topics included in the Code of Conduct include academic and computer dishonesty; theft; possession; storage; use of firearms; drug and alcohol use; misuse of College property; false information; assault and verbal harassment; violence and extremism; disruptive behavior; sexual harassment; and hazing.

The Judicial Guide explains disciplinary proceedings in residence halls and campuswide; the function of student advocates; procedural and due process; and sanctions and appeals. Copies of both brochures will be widely circulated and available from the Information Desk and Dean of Students office.

The recent developed and approved Sexual Harassment policy will also be available from the Dean of Students office, College Center Information Desk and departmental offices.

Rights and Privacy Act

SSC will assume the right, under the provisions of the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act, to provide student directory information without prior consent of the student. Directory information is defined as a student's name, local address (if listed), date and place of birth, major field of study, participation in officially recognized activities and sports, weight and height of an athletic team member, dates of attendance, degrees and awards received, most recent previous educational agency or institution attended and listing of officers of student organizations (including names and addresses).

In the event a student wants more or less than directory information released, please notify the Office of Dean of Students, ext. 6080, or stop by HH 243.

Training in CPR

Short courses in cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) are available every three or four weeks through our Continuing Education program. In three evening sessions, you can learn how to save a life in cases of heart attack, choking, drowning, electric shock, injury and other emergencies where the heart and breathing stop and death occurs quickly. Would you be ready if an emergency occurred in your home, class or work area?

All College personnel and spouses are, of course, welcome in these courses. The next course is scheduled for Friday, September 5, and Friday, September 12, 7-9:15 p.m., plus three hours to be arranged.

Call 742-6635 for further information.

Overseas Study, Research & Training

Deadlines for 1987-88 are approaching fast.

For example, the deadline for some lectureships in France, Germany, Italy, Portugal and Spain is 15 September. Deadlines for graduate study abroad occur a little later.

For more information and applications, get in touch with Dr. Bernard Fusaro, DSH 219, Ext. 6470 (or 6471).

Wanted: Flag Football and Bowling Supervisor

The Campus Recreation Department is in search of a student supervisor for both the Intramural Flag Football and Bowling Leagues. Upperclassmen with prior Intramural sports participation are preferred. The rate of pay is $4.00 per hour. For more information, stop by the Campus Recreation office in Maggs Gym or call ext. 6350.

Student Jobs

Work Experience still has job openings in many areas, both on and off campus. Students interested in a position should go to the Work Experience office in the Physical Plant building and complete an application.

Students who have an application on file should also check with Work Experience for new openings. They should also update their records if their schedule or address has changed.

Camera for Sale

A 35 mm Nikon FG Camera with a 50 mm 1.8 lens and SB-15 Nikon flash is for sale. The camera has program mode, aperture priority mode and manual mode. The camera is one year old and in excellent condition. The price is $195. For more information, call Rodney Hitchens at 749-2977 after 6 p.m.

Energy Conservation

The College continues to reaffirm its commitment to a policy of energy conservation. To conserve our valuable energy resources every person on campus must do his part. Obvious things, like dressing for the weather; keeping your air conditioner (a/c) unit or wall thermostat set at 78° during the cooling season (governor of Maryland mandate); using your a/c unit only when you need it, turning off your a/c unit whenever your room is going to be unoccupied and taking any other action that will keep you cool and conserve energy at the same time, will enable us to make the most of our energy resources.

The College has purchased and installed a centrally controlled energy management system (EMS). The system has many features that are making our energy management program much more responsive to the needs of the campus community than the old clock and manual system. The new system is in place. Software programs have been checked out. All of the larger buildings on campus are on the new EMS. Dogwood Village, Tawes Hall, Sociology Building, the Musical Arts Center, Devilbiss Hall Annex and Computer Center Annex are on their own individual energy control systems.

Although we have been through the winter, spring and summer seasons with the new EMS, we have yet to use it during the fall season. There will probably be a few problems to resolve.

We will be trying to communicate with all concerned parties whenever we can foresee energy management problems, however, when you observe something you believe to be out of the ordinary in regard to operation of your cooling or heating unit, please advise the Physical Plant office by telephone (ext. 6200), memorandum or work order. Your cooperation and assistance are appreciated.

Health Center Information

The Health Center staff welcomes new and returning students to the College.

The Center receives many inquiries related to hours and costs or range of services. Information pamphlets are available in the Health Center. These pamphlets cover a variety of topics including hours, services and what to do in an emergency.

Health Center hours are 8 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday. A nurse can be reached for consultation on weekends by a pager system.

Individuals may schedule appointments with Planned Parenthood of Maryland on Wednesdays and Thursdays; Planned Parenthood of Maryland operates a Supply Clinic from 4 to 6 p.m. on Tuesdays.

Services include treatment for injuries, illnesses, gynecological problems, sexually transmitted diseases (STDs), immunizations, allergy injections, miscellaneous laboratory procedures including mononucleosis and pregnancy testing, contraceptive and pregnancy counseling, dental and medical/surgical referrals and Planned Parenthood of Maryland Clinic. These services are available for full-time resident and commuter students.

Students are seen on a walk-in basis by the Health Center nurses. Those students requiring physician evaluation will be scheduled to see the College physician. Urgent problems may be referred to the Emergency Room at Peninsula General Hospital Medical Center.

An $18 per semester health fee is included in the fee structure which full time students pay at the beginning of the semester. The fee is optional for part-time students, but those who do not pay the fee are eligible for limited services only, such as blood pressure and weight checks, emergency first aid and health education screening programs. Full-time students and part-time students who have paid the fee are entitled to the full range of services.

Off-campus health care providers, including physicians, dentists, hospitals, radiologists and medical laboratories, will bill students for services and supplies. All students are urged to carry health insurance. Insurance information is available in the Health Center or in the Dean of Students office.

The College Health Center nurses are Brenda Hooks, Ann Patey, Rosemary Cupp, Karen Rickards and Barbara Ryan. (Rickards and Ryan share a full-time nursing position.) The College physicians are Dr. Louis H. Himes II and Dr. Paul Bollens. A physician is available by appointment approximately two hours per day Monday through Friday. Terri Mason, previously a full-time secretary, will now be working on a part-time basis. The Health Center staff welcomes Mrs. Jana Long as a full-time medical aide. Hooks is the director and Patey is the assistant director of the Center.

The Student Health Advisory Committee (SHAC), a group of students who provide input regarding student health concerns and also serve as a liaison between the Health Center and the student population, has been in operation for two years. If you, or someone you know, are interested in serving on this committee, please contact Mrs. Hooks at the Health Center by calling ext. 6262.

The Health Center staff wishes every student a happy, safe and healthy College experience.

Prague Castle

Exploring Europe's Heartland

On January 9, participants in a College study-tour will begin a two-week odyssey to the heart of Central Europe. They will explore the rich history and cultural heritage of the Habsburg Empire, visiting the three capitals of Prague, Budapest and Vienna.

Prague, the Golden City, is the first stop on the tour. Among the many places to be visited is Hradcany Castle. Within its walls is located the magnificent Gothic Cathedral of St. Vitus, the Royal Treasury and picturesque Golden Lane, home to medieval alchemists.

Just a short distance away, across the 14th century Charles Bridge, lined with statues of saints, lies Prague's Old Town. Here visitors come to see the mechanical figures in the Clock Tower strike the hour. Close by is the old Jewish Quarter with its historic synagogues and museums, housing the finest collection of Jewish memorabilia in the world. Among the numerous beautiful medieval and baroque churches of the city is Bethlehem Chapel, where John Hus once preached.

Wenceslaus Square is the heart of modern Prague. Dominated by the National Museum, founded in 1818, the square is filled with restaurants, shops and galleries displaying fine Czech crystal and porcelain.

Tour participants will be able to sample the rich cultural life of the city. Perhaps a concert or opera at the National Theater, perhaps a performance at the world-famous Laterna Magica or a chamber concert. A walking tour of the city, taking in the magnificent architecture, clothed in winter dress, strolling the streets where Amadeus was filmed, is a rewarding experience.

First-class accommodations and a special dinner at U Kalicha, where waiters still dress in the style of Emperor Franz Josef, are all part of the special features of the tour.

Before leaving Prague the group will travel to nearby Karlstein Castle, built by Holy Roman Emperor Charles IV in the 14th century to house the coronation jewels and holy relics which he collected. Its imposing architecture, sitting 1000 feet above the valley floor, and internal decoration make it an outstanding example of medieval art.

On January 14, after an all-too-brief sampling of Prague, the tour will depart by overnight train for Budapest, capital of Hungary.

The College Winter Term in Central Europe is open to anyone interested in a unique historical and cultural experience. The tour will be conducted by Drs. Robert Berry and Dagmar Berry. Cost of the trip is $1375, including air travel, hotels, all transportation in Europe, partial board, visas, special tours and cultural performances. For further information call ext. 6248.

National Teachers' Examination

The Maryland State Department of Education has mandated that new teachers must pass the National Teachers' Examination beginning in July, 1987. Individuals will be required to take the Core Battery Tests and a Specialty Area Test before obtaining teaching certification in any field.

The requirement will institute the testing requirement with a no-fault (must take, but must not pass) period extending from April 1, 1986, to June 30, 1987. After July 1, 1987, those seeking initial certification will be required to achieve specific scores on each test.

Students planning to enter the teaching profession should be aware of this requirement and plan to register for the necessary tests. The College has been approved as an NTE Test Center, and all tests will be administered at this site.

There will be three test dates during the 1986-87 school year: in October, March and June. Since registration is required well in advance of the test date, students should pick up the NTE Bulletin of Information at the Education office, Caruthers 152, as soon as possible.

Questions about the tests may be directed to Al Constantine, Director of Field Experience, Caruthers 150, ext. 6277.

Wrestling Clinic This Weekend

The Granby School of Wrestling conducts a pre-season clinic at the College on Saturday, September 6 and Sunday, September 7, in the Maggs Activity Center.

The clinic features Keith Lowrance, a two-time All-American and two-time Big Ten Champion from Michigan State University. A former coach, Lowrance has led two different high schools to the Virginia State championship and is regarded as one of the top wrestling clinicians in the country.

The clinic teaches all of the latest moves used by Olympic champs and NCAA champs. There will be inside steps to singles and doubles wrestling, plus all of the setups and followups. A special interest to coaches—a portion of the clinic illustrates how to teach and drill each move and hold.

Four sessions are: Saturday from 10 a.m.-12:30 p.m., 2-4:30 p.m. and 6-8 p.m.; and Sunday from 11 a.m.-2 p.m.

The cost is $7 for both days, preregistered, $8 both days at the door and $5 Saturday only at the door.

For more information, please contact SSC head wrestling coach and clinic director, Ron Otto at ext. 6148.

Pi Gamma Mu

Pi Gamma Mu, the International Honor Society in Social Science, will hold its spring initiation on Sunday, September 28, at 6 p.m. in the social room of Holloway Hall.

Pi Gamma Mu requires the completion of at least 20 hours in five social science areas (History, Political Science, Economics, Sociology/Anthropology, International Relations) and in some other Social Sciences courses such as Social Psychology, Criminal Justice and Geography, with an average of B (85 percent). In addition, an eligible student should be in the top 35 percent of his class (senior or junior).

Fall Golf Classic October 17

Some 144 golf enthusiasts are expected to tee off at the second annual SSC Foundation Fall Golf Classic on Friday, October 17, at Green Hill Yacht and Country Club.

Dick Young, president of Salisbury Brick Co. and chairman of this year's tournament, anticipates the field to fill quickly.

"I am very pleased with the community support given the tourney last year and expect it to be even better this time, both through participation and sponsorship," said Young.

This year's prime sponsor is Alarmguard of Delmarva Inc. Donnie Williams, president of Alarmguard which donated $2,500 to the tournament, said the purpose of the event is to raise private support for special programs and projects no longer entirely funded by the State of Maryland. State support of Salisbury State College's operating budget has dropped to only 44 percent as compared to 73 percent in 1970. This type of fund raising is one way to pick up the slack. Some programs that benefit are faculty research and development, cultural enrichment, honors and campus beautification.

A general sponsorship is $200. The entry fee is $40 per player, entitling the participant to green fees, golf cart, refreshments throughout the day, two bar tickets for after-the-round use and roast beef and chicken buffet that evening.

Two special features of this year's tourney are a pair of hole-in-one opportunities which would yield the lucky golfer splendid prizes. An ace on the par-three eighth hole could earn someone a deluxe Caribbean cruise for two, sponsored by Hall's Tidewater Travel. On the par-three 14th, a hole-in-one would allow a golfer to drive off in a 1987 Chevy Cavalier, displayed by Oliphant Chevrolet.

The low gross team of golfers will have their names placed on the President's cup which is on permanent display in the Social Room of Holloway Hall.

Cash and merchandise prizes for three low gross and three low net teams, merchandise awards for long drive, worst drive on first tee and closest ball to the hole on other par three holes will also be awarded.

Not only does the tournament cement ties with the community, but it provides needed funds for worthwhile College purposes, Bob Gearhart, executive director at the SSC Foundation, said.

Pre-Nursing Students

The application deadline for enrollment in the Nursing major for spring semester, is October 1. This applies to those Pre-Nursing students anticipating registering for Nursing 300 Professional Nursing Concepts, for spring, as well as other students interested in the major. The application form may be obtained from the Department of Nursing and submitted no later than October 1 this semester. The next application deadline is March 1.

SSC Dance Company Auditions

Auditions for performing and non-performing activities with the College Dance Company are Wednesday, September 10, at 5 p.m. in the Maggs dance studio.

If you need any other information or have questions please call Kathryn Martin at ext. 6353.

Phone Service

A representative from C&P Telephone Company will be located in the College Center on September 9 and 10 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. to answer any questions concerning phone service for residence halls.

In Memoriam

We regret to inform you of the death of a former colleague, Dr. David Lindcamp of the School of Business, who passed away on July 23. If anyone wishes to send condolences to his children, the address is: c/o David Lindcamp II, Rock Harbor Resort, Sunrise Beach, MO 65079.

Contractual Employees take note: If you work full time you are eligible to enroll in the health insurance program offered by the State of Maryland. Contact the Personnel Office, Holloway Hall 205, for full details and costs.

Welsh Contributes To Critically-Acclaimed Film Dictionary

Jim Welsh, associate professor of English and co-editor of Literature/Film Quarterly, a magazine produced at the College and circulated worldwide, is one of the international contributors to The International Dictionary of Films and Filmmakers, Vol. 3, covering Actors and Actresses, a 700-page reference work published by the St. James Press of London and Chicago.

Welsh also contributed to volumes one and two of The International Dictionary of Films and Filmmakers, named "Reference Book of the Year" by both Choice and Reference Books Bulletin and called by the Reference Quarterly "an excellent, comprehensive, scholarly source unparalleled in film reference works." The London Film Review found the Dictionary "not far short of awe-inspiring, a masterpiece of valuable research."

For volume three, Welsh wrote the biographies for Jimmy Cagney, Jane Fonda, Burt Reynolds, Alan Bates, Malcolm McDowell and Douglas Fairbanks Sr.

In 1977 Welsh was co-author of His Majesty the American, a book on Fairbanks, matinee idol and star of The Mark of Zorro, The Black Pirate, The Three Musketeers and other popular swashbuckling features made during the 1920s. It is more of a challenge, Welsh asserts, to cover contemporary stars, however, such as Jane Fonda and Burt Reynolds, who are still making pictures, than Fairbanks and Cagney (who died in March of 1986) and about whom the film critic Otis Ferguson wrote as early as 1939 that it would be "hard to say what our impression of the total American character would have been without him."

On the other hand, Welsh writes, Burt Reynolds, who has achieved tremendous popularity, is more difficult to evaluate because he has not been willing to experiment and take chances with ambitious roles and has made rather too many "witless, pointless movies that are often little more than boisterous comic romps with his cronies." By contrast, Jane Fonda has been more daring, experimenting with serious roles such as the Emmy Award-winning The Dollmaker for television, Klute, Julia and On Golden Pond, which won her father a long-delayed Academy Award for Best Actor. Welsh concludes that Jane Fonda has become "the most important actress of her generation."

Welsh teaches "Literature and Film," a popular course at Salisbury State. He has also served as arts reporter for WBOC-TV and as movie reviewer for The Beachcomber in Ocean City and Rehoboth Beach, DE.

Hepburn Addresses Rotary

"Masks in Theatre" was Dr. Andy Hepburn's topic when the Communication Arts professor addressed the Rotary Club on Thursday, August 28, at the Cambridge Yacht Club.

Hepburn is part of the College Speaker's Bureau. The bureau offers area organizations several speakers discussing a variety of subjects. There is no charge for the service.

Any civic, service or educational organization desiring a speaker should contact the Public Relations Office at ext. 6030.

Update on Medical Coverage

Open enrollment for health insurance will be held during the month of October this year. Any full-time or permanent part-time employees may change coverage or enroll if they have not already done so, during this period.

For the first time, Eastern Shore State workers will have an opportunity to choose between a Health Maintenance Organization (HMO) and the traditional Blue Cross/Blue Shield program. Representatives from both groups will be on campus Friday, October 3, to explain their respective plans.

Student Banking

Anytime students are filling out applications with local firms for checking accounts, credit requests, etc., they should indicate whether they are working at a campus job, and if so, in which department. This will help the College Personnel Office speed up the processing of student applications when the firm calls for verification of the information contained on the form.

Monster Book Sale

Blackwell Library will be holding its 2nd annual monster book sale on Thursday, September 11, from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. on the terrace in front of the Library. (The term "monster" refers to the size of the sale, not to the subject matter or the people attending).

Books will be offered at the scandalously cheap rate of 25¢ each, or 5 books for a dollar; many bargains are to be had. As an added attraction, books will be given away during the afternoon.

Those who missed last year's event still rue the day. Don't miss this one!

The rain date is September 12.

National '86 Campus Entertainer of Year Performs Here September 7

Hypnotist and comedian Tom De Luca, the 1986 Campus Entertainer of the Year, as voted by colleges and universities across the country, appears at the College on Sunday, September 7, at 8 p.m. in Holloway Hall Auditorium.

Playing nearly 200 campuses a year, De Luca has introduced "Cometism," a unique combination of comedy, suggestion and the audience's imagination, to every state in the continental U.S. He also has appeared in Alaska and throughout Canada.

De Luca earned a master's degree in Psychology from Sangamon State University (IL). While working as a hypnotherapist, he began appearing before local civic groups, where a prominent businessman recognized his talent and encouraged him to become a performer. Refining his act in nightclubs in the midwest and developing it further at Chicago's Second City, De Luca began working the college circuit, quickly establishing himself as one of the most unusual and popular performers around.

"The Tom De Luca Show" features comedy magic tricks, spontaneous repartee and hypnotic insanity.

His appearance is sponsored by the College Program Board. Advance tickets are available free of charge to SCC students, faculty and staff at the CC Information Desk. Tickets for the general public are $3, available at the Information Desk and at the door the evening of performance. Seating is limited.

Rowles Co. Gift to Foundation

Rowles and Co., a public accounting firm in Salisbury, recently made a gift of $500 to the SSC Foundation, for the purchase of computer software for the College's Department of Computer Services.

Making the gift on behalf of Rowles were Frederick W. White, managing partner, and Regina Haffner, a certified public accountant with the firm.

The software will be used in the College's IBM microcomputer lab and will be particularly valuable to students in Accounting and Finance courses within the Franklin P. Perdue School of Business.

"We needed software packages that students would see when they entered the business world following graduation," said Dr. K. Nelson Butler, vice president of Academic Affairs at SSC. "All Business students will be required to understand and utilize this software."

The three packages purchased are Lotus 1-2-3 (spreadsheets), Wordstar (word processing) and dBASE III Plus (data base systems).

Dr. Robert Oxnam, president of The Asia Society, speaks on "China Past and Present: The Grand Themes" on Tuesday, September 23, as part of the College's year-long series, "China: Tradition and Transformation."

A New York landmark, The Asia Society is featured in this month's Town and Country Magazine. Since 1981, Dr. Oxnam has served as its president. Located on Park Ave., this prominent organization is a non-profit and non-political educational institution designed to help Americans better understand the civilizations and contemporary societies of Asia. Dr. Oxnam, who received his Ph.D. in Chinese History from Yale University, began his work there in 1975.

The lecture begins at 7:30 p.m. in Caruthers Hall Auditorium. Like all programs in the "China" series, the event is free and open to the public.

Children's Auditions for 'Cat'

The College Theatre announces open auditions for children between the ages of five and 11 for its production of the American classic, Cat On a Hot Tin Roof, by Tennessee Williams.

The auditions are Tuesday, September 23, at 4 p.m. in Holloway Hall Auditorium.

"We are looking for hefty, even chubby young girls and boys to play five rowdy children who run about the rich plantation estate of Big Daddy Pollitt screaming and shooting cap pistols," according to Dr. Andrew Hepburn, director of the play.

For more information about the auditions contact Hepburn at ext. 6233.

ROTC Awards Ceremony

The College ROTC Battalion will conduct its annual fall awards ceremony at 4 p.m. on Wednesday, September 17, on the Red Square, directly in front of Blackwell Library.

Colonel Edward N. Voke, the Area 4 Brigade Commander, will present the "Area Commander's Award for the Outstanding Cadet" to Cadet Robert C. Frick. The award is for the best overall performance by a cadet at Camp All American, Fort Bragg, NC.

Cadet Frick, a senior from Pasadena, MD, was the number one cadet out of 3,700 cadets, representing over 300 colleges and universities from the East Coast, that attended Camp All American this summer.

Teacher Exchange Program

The U.S. Information Agency has announced details of the '87-'88 Fulbright Exchange Program. The deadline for receipt of completed applications is October 15, 1986. One Hand Clapping?

Due to severe, on-going technical problems, no SSC News was published September 11. This week's edition has had to be severely edited. We look forward to returning to our regular format as soon as possible.

Until then, items for the News still should be submitted to the Public Relations Office in typewritten form by noon on Monday preceeding Thursday's publication date.

Our thanks to all those individuals and organizations who have been most understanding during this frustrating time.

Traffic Committee

The Traffic & Safety Committee of the College Forum will soon hold its first meeting of the new academic year.

Anyone wishing to provide input to the Committee should contact either Jim Phillips of the Department of Public Safety, or Keith Vail at the Library.

Allan Williams and Vince Leisey Depart SSC Staff

Allan "Buddy" Williams, Book Rack manager, will resign from the College September 25 to become a manufacturer's representative in the Norfolk, VA, area. Williams graduated from Salisbury and worked for the Book Rack for nine years.

Leisey, associate director of the College Center, will resign October 1 to return to his alma mater, Pennsylvania State University at State College as assistant to the executive director of Alumni Affairs. Leisey joined the College staff in 1979.

Both Williams and Leisey will be missed by colleagues and students. A reception in their honor, hosted by the Dean of Students' staff, will be held Monday, September 22, from 3:30 - 4:30 p.m. in the Social Room. Please plan to attend this reception and extend best wishes to them for their personal and professional success.

Health Insurance Program Open Enrollment

Informational presentations will be given on Friday, October 3, at the College Center Chesapeake Room at the following times: 9 a.m., 11 a.m., 1 p.m., and 3 p.m.

Representatives from both the Blue Cross/Blue Shield organization and the Delmarva Health Plan Health Maintenance Organization will be available between presentations for individual inquiries.

Metropolitan Museum Expert Discusses Chinese Bronzes

On Tuesday, September 30, as part of the College's year-long series of programs centering on the topic, "China: Tradition and Transformation," Alfreda Murck of the Metropolitan Museum of Art presents a slide/talk entitled "Spirit and Ritual: Ancient Chinese Bronze Vessels."

Seldom equalled artistically and technically never surpassed, the bronze objects of ancient China (developed in the early second millennium B.C.) are historic documents which are helping in the reconstruction of early history. Murck's talk and slide presentation addresses how these vessels are shedding light on the organization of society, on burial practices, on beliefs in the afterlife, and on the religious and political life of ancient China.

Murck is currently the associate curator and administrator, Department of Asian Art, The Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York City.

The lecture begins at 7:30 p.m. in Caruthers's Hall Auditorium. Like all programs in the "China" series, the event is free and open to the public. The series is sponsored by the SSC Faculty Cultural Events Committee in conjunction with the SSC Foundation.

Gulls Go Get'em!

The 2-0 Sea Gulls will travel to Frostburg State on Saturday afternoon.

In other sports news, runner Scott Scheffler broke his own course record on Saturday in the Washington College Cross Country Invitational meet and led SSC to victory over four other colleges. Scheffler ran a 25:17 time over the course while teammate Doug Mock finished second. SSC's Krah Plunkert and Tim Blasko took fifth and sixth respectively while Jim Sumstine finished 12th out of 50 runners. SSC won the meet with 26 points. Dickerson took second with 42 points while Catholic (84), Western Maryland (94) and Washington College (143) followed. SSC will travel to Christopher Newport, VA, on Saturday.

The women's field hockey team won two games last week as they defeated Mt. St. Mary's 4-0 and Shippensburg 6-1. Robin Adair scored two goals in each win. Other goal scorers during the week for SSC included Jill Stewart, Sue Scofield, Terri Buysse, Stacy Stem and Kim Finlayson. The Gulls, 3-0, will host the Sunfest Field Hockey Tournament on Friday, Saturday and Sunday this week. Included in the opposition are defending Division III champion Trenton State (whom the Gulls will play on Saturday at 10 a.m.), Plymouth State, NH; Drew, NJ; SUNY-Oneonta; Roanoke; Lynchburg; and Indiana, PA.

The SSC women's volleyball team opened its 1986 season at the Stockton State Invitational on Saturday and came away with two wins in three tries. SSC dropped the opening match to Wilmington College 15-13, 15-4, but rallied to defeat Stockton State 10-15, 15-13, 15-7 and Spring Garden 15-4, 15-7. Freshman Amanda Barrett was the offensive hero killing five aces in a row at one point against Stockton State.

The Sea Gull soccer team suffered through two shutout defeats last week. Glassboro State (the nation's eighth ranked team in Division III) defeated SSC 4-0 and Mary Washington downed Salisbury 3-0. Freshman Tim Hurley played well as goalie with seven saves in the two matches. SSC will host Shenandoah on Sunday at 3 p.m.

The SSC Scoreboard (through September 23)

Cross Country	4-0
Field Hockey	3-0
Football	2-0
Volleyball	2-1
TOTAL	12-5

National Teachers' Examination

The Maryland State Department of Education has mandated that new teachers must pass the National Teachers' Examination beginning in July, 1987. Individuals will be required to take the Core Battery Tests and a Specialty Area Test before obtaining teaching certification in any field.

The requirement will institute the testing requirement with a no-fault (must take, but must not pass) period extending from April 1, 1986, to June 30, 1987. After July 1, 1987, those seeking initial certification will be required to achieve specific scores on each test.

Students planning to enter the teaching profession should be aware of this requirement and plan to register for the necessary tests. The College has been approved as an NTE Test Center, and all tests will be administered at this site.

There will be three test dates during the 1986-87 school year: in October, March and June. Since registration is required well in advance of the test date, students should pick up the NTE Bulletin of Information at the Education office, Caruthers 152, as soon as possible.

Questions about the tests may be directed to Al Constantine, Director of Field Experience, Caruthers 150, ext. 6277.

Pi Gamma Mu

Pi Gamma Mu, the International Honor Society in Social Science, will hold its initiation on Sunday, September 28, at 6 p.m. in the social room of Holloway Hall.

Pi Gamma Mu requires the completion of at least 20 hours in five social science areas (History, Political Science, Economics, Sociology/Anthropology, International Relations) and in some other Social Sciences courses such as Social Psychology, Criminal Justice and Geography, with an average of B (85 percent). In addition, an eligible student should be in the top 35 percent of his class (senior or junior).

Students interested in qualifying for Pi Gamma Mu should contact Dr. G. Ray Thompson (HH 372) or the History Department, ext. 6245.

Voter's Information

As a voter service activity, the League of Women Voters of Wicomico County is making available at SSC forms for registering to vote, change of party affiliation, change of name and/or address.

Deadline for making changes for the November 4 General Election is October 6. Contact Carol Williamson, HH 244, ext. 6080.

Opera And Recorder Classes

Two outstanding musicians from Wilmington, DE, will be offering some special courses for adults through the Academy of the Arts this fall. Lynne Priest Bujak, a graduate of the Eastman School of Music, will offer "Recorder for Adults" on six alternate Saturdays beginning September 20, from 1 to 2 p.m. The lessons will be given at the "Music House," 30 South Washington St. in Easton. Joseph Naff, the conductor and musical director of the Diamond State Band—and also, since last April, of the Brandywine Pops Orchestra—will give "A Look at Opera" on three alternate Saturdays—October 4 and 18, and November 1. These two-hour seminars will be offered in two separate locations: Christ Church Parish in St. Michaels from 10 a.m. to Noon, and the Music House, from 2 to 4 p.m.

Flu Vaccine

A limited supply of flu vaccine is available in the Health Center.

Interested faculty and staff may receive this service for a $5 fee. There is no charge to students.

Because peak traffic times in the Health Center are unpredictable, to save time we suggest you call prior to coming into the Health Center. Ext. 6262.

Personal Safety Tips

These personal safety tips, compiled by the Department of Public Safety, apply when on campus, in the Salisbury area or wherever you may reside. The precautions may lessen the likelihood of becoming a victim of crime.

1. You are your own best protection.
 2. Keep your door locked at all times. Don't unlock the door for strangers. Keep first floor windows locked.
 3. Walk in well-lit areas and stay near the curb, away from alleys, entry ways and bushes where someone could be hiding.
 4. Do not walk or jog alone after dark.
 5. Avoid short cuts. Walk where there are other people present.
 6. Do not hitchhike or accept rides from strangers. If a driver asks you for directions, stay far enough away so that you cannot be pulled into the car. Do not pick up strangers.
 7. If you are being followed when walking, change directions, cross the street and vary your speed. Go to a well-lit area or a place where there are other people. If followed by someone in a car, turn and walk in the other direction. Record the license number.
 8. Park your car in a well-lit area and lock the door.
 9. If you need an escort to or from your car, call the Department of Public Safety, ext. 6222.
 10. Report any suspicious activity or crimes to the Public Safety Office.
- For more information in personal safety, contact the Department of Public Safety, located in HH 22, ext. 6222.

The College's Winter Term in Central Europe, which begins in Prague, includes arrival by train to Budapest, capital of Hungary, on January 15. Located on the Danube, Budapest combines medieval and baroque architecture with a modern, bustling metropolis.

While in Budapest, tour participants will visit such fascinating sites as Buda Castle, the Fisherman's Bastion, overlooking the Danube, and Matthias Church where Hungary's kings were crowned. The Parliament Building, stretching along the river, is one of the city's major attractions.

Budapest hosts many fine museums. Among them is the National Museum, founded in 1802. The Aquincum, which traces the city's history back to Roman times, is one of the chief attractions for visitors. While in Budapest, tour participants will also be able to see Martin Luther's original will, written in 1542. The Fine Arts Museum hosts a fine collection of works by the most famous of European artists, among them Rubens, Michelangelo, Titian and Gauguin, as well as the largest collection of El Greco's paintings outside Spain.

For relaxation, tour participants can walk the Danube Embankment, visit the world-famous baths on Margaret Island, sample fine Hungarian cuisine and wines, or simply explore the beauties of the city. The rich cultural life of Budapest includes concerts, operas, cabaret and folk music. An optional trip to Szentendre is also available. A special dinner and a cultural performance are a part of the tour.

After enjoying the history and culture of Budapest for only a brief period, the tour will depart on January 19, making the short trip by bus to Vienna.

The College's Winter Term in Central Europe is open to anyone interested in a unique historical and cultural experience. The tour will be conducted by Drs. Robert and Dagmar Berry. Cost of the trip is $1375, including air travel, hotels, all transportation in Europe, partial board, visas, special tours and cultural performances. For further information call ext. 6248.

SSC Goes to London!

The English Department has announced plans for another travel course to London, England, scheduled for January. The trip will begin on January 5 and return to Salisbury on January 19, for a cost of $775, excluding tuition and fees, but including the flight to London, a two-week stay in a London hotel, continental breakfast and bus transportation to and from the airports. A meeting for those interested in the London travel course will be held in Devilbiss Auditorium on Wednesday, September 24, at 5:30 p.m.

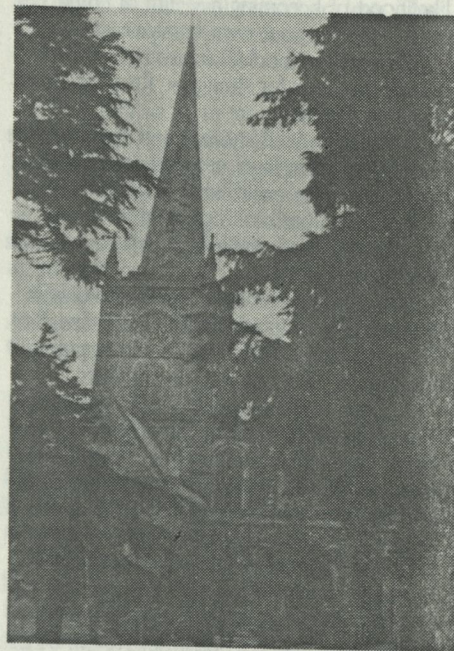

Travel course organizer, associate professor Jim Welsh, has taken four groups of SSC students to London over the past three years and will plan next January, as in the past, to organize several day trips from London into the English countryside.

During the last trip in January of 1986, for example, day trips were offered to Salisbury, Stonehenge and the ancient city of Bath on one outing, and to Oxford, Warwick Castle and Stratford-upon-Avon on another. Since the group travels during off-season, additional expenses for these day trips have been remarkably cheap, averaging about ten pounds

The advantages of travel to Britain in January are many, Welsh notes. "The weather is usually mild, and, because there are fewer tourists in England that time of year, there are no lines at popular tourists attractions, such as the Tower of London and Anne Hathaway's Cottage in Stratford." With very little effort, it is also possible to get tickets for even the most popular plays in London, Welsh adds, often at discount prices: "I was able to see Les Miserables for under five pounds ($7), for example, and even the smash musical Me and My Girl, which has since opened on Broadway, I saw in London for just over ten pounds (about $15, in comparison to $60 tickets in New York).

London is also a shopper's paradise where bargains are to be found in January. The major London stores, such as Harrod's, traditionally begin their after-Christmas sales the second week in January. For these and other reasons Welsh contends that January is an excellent time of year to visit England. Those seeking more information about the travel course may call the English Department at ext. 6445 or the Office of Continuing Education at ext. 6170.

Austin and Tardiff Speak at International Math Symposium

Drs. Homer Austin and Robert Tardiff of the Mathematical Sciences Department presented research results to the 24th International Symposium on Functional Equations held in August. The Symposium is convened annually in either Europe or North America. This year, it was at Mount Holyoke College, South Hadley, Mass.

Researchers in functional equations and related fields are invited to present their results to the symposium. The title of Dr. Austin's presentation was Associative Surfaces and the Isothermal Conjecture; the title of Dr. Tardiff's talk was "The Status of the Dominates Problem."

Sousa Concert November 23

The College Band, in conjunction with the Salisbury Community Band, will present a "Sousa Spectacular," a tribute to John Phillips Sousa, on Sunday, November 23. Members of the audience will have the opportunity to sign a petition naming "The Stars and Strips Forever" as the national march.

Eastern Shore Writers Association

On Saturday, September 13, the Eastern Shore Writers Association (ESWA) held its shorewide meeting in Salisbury. The meeting began at 11 a.m. with an optional lunch, followed by a guest speaker. This meeting discussed the upcoming book written by Shore writers and the formation of writers reading sessions.

The featured speaker was Dr. Polly Stewart of the College, one of about 500 professional folklorists nationally. Stewart discussed the interrelationship of folklore, storytelling and writing. A semi-professional balladeer as well, she demonstrated through song the significance of lyrics, rhythm and images to writing.

The meeting, which was open to the public, was held at the Royal Exchange Pub on Route 13. Anyone who is interested in prose or any form of the writing art is welcome to join the ESWA; annual dues are $10. For more information, call Nan Hayes at 543-9019. ESWA meetings are informal.

1986 Faculty Seminars Begin

Dr. Polly Stewart inaugurated the fall Faculty Seminar Series on Tuesday, September 16, held from noon to 1 p.m. in the College Center Chesapeake Room.

The title of her talk was, "From Silk Purse to Sow's Ear: A Short Discourse on Mutual Misperceptions of Faculty and Administration, from One Who Has Been in Both Places."

The series is sponsored by the Faculty Development Committee. All faculty members are invited.

The College Golf Classic Ticket Committee recently met to finalize plans for the SSC Foundation's 3rd Annual Golf Classic to be held at Green Hill Yacht and Country Club on October 17.

Fall Golf Classic October 17

Some 144 golf enthusiasts are expected to tee off at the second annual SSC Foundation Fall Golf Classic on Friday, October 17, at Green Hill Yacht and Country Club.

Dick Young, president of Salisbury Brick Co. and chairman of this year's tournament, anticipates the field to fill quickly.

"I am very pleased with the community support given the tourney last year and expect it to be even better this time, both through participation and sponsorship," said Young.

This year's prime sponsor is Alarmguard of Delmarva Inc. Donnie Williams, president of Alarmguard which donated $2,500 to the tournament, said the purpose of the event is to raise private support for special programs and projects no longer entirely funded by the State of Maryland. State support of Salisbury State College's operating budget has dropped to only 44 percent as compared to 73 percent in 1970. This type of fund raising is one way to pick up the slack. Some programs that benefit are faculty research and development, cultural enrichment, honors and campus beautification.

to green fees, golf cart, refreshments throughout the day, two bar tickets for after-the-round use and roast beef and chicken buffet that evening.

Two special features of this year's tourney are a pair of hole-in-one opportunities which would yield the lucky golfer splendid prizes. An ace on the par-three fourth hole could earn someone a deluxe Caribbean cruise for two, sponsored by Hall's Tidewater Travel. On the par-three 11th, a hole-in-one would allow a golfer to drive off in a 1987 Chevy Cavalier, displayed by Oliphant Chevrolet.

The low gross team of golfers will have their names placed on the President's cup which is on permanent display in the Social Room of Holloway Hall.

Cash and merchandise prizes for three low gross and three low net teams, merchandise awards for long drive, worst drive on first tee and closest ball to the hole on other par three holes will also be awarded.

Not only does the tournament cement ties with the community, but it provides needed funds for worthwhile College purposes, Bob Gearhart, executive director of the SSC Foundation, said.

News Deadline

The SSC News is a newsletter for the campus community published each Thursday during fall and spring semesters, unless noted. The deadline is noon on Monday prior to publication. Newsletter stories and items usually are proofed and typeset on a first come, first served basis, so don't feel you have to wait until Monday to get your article to the Public Relations Office (HH 264).

Any story relating to the life of the campus, whether it be of interest to students, faculty or staff, is welcomed. Because we cannot canvas the campus personally, we are grateful to those who keep us current on the activities and issues affecting College life.

Religious Art Presentation

The public is cordially invited to attend the unit meeting of Asbury United Methodist Women at the Camden Ave. Church, on Monday, September 29, at 7 p.m. in Asbury's Fellowship Hall. The guest speaker is Mrs. Catherine Kapikian, director of the Center for the Arts and Religion at Wesley Theological Seminary in Washington, D.C.

Kapikian, studied at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, Carnegie Mellon School of Fine Arts, University of Maryland and Wesley Theological Seminary. Her Ecclesiastical Commissions include paraments, vestments, banners, tapestries, and wood and fiber works for over 50 churches of different denominations. Her works have been exhibited throughout the country since 1979. She has lectured and taught, written an art guidebook and magazine articles, and appeared on television.

Mrs. Kapikian will make a slide presentation of a fabric backdrop 20' tall by 60' wide which she designed and constructed. The original work was displayed in 25 separate panels at a Presbyterian Women's Conference in Chicago.

Civil War Lecture

The History Club is sponsoring a lecture by Donald Patterson to be held on Wednesday, October 1, in the CC Nanticoke Room. Patterson is the local commander of the second Maryland Infantry of the Confederate States of America in Salisbury. Patterson has participated in numerous Civil War re-enactments which include the recent re-enactment in July of the Battle of Manassas. He will talk about his involvement in re-enactments, show the equipment used and answer questions. Refreshments will follow.

Recital Tour

Dr. Nancy Cooper of the Department of Music returned this week from a short recital tour.

September 12 she played at Westminster Presbyterian Church in Charlottesville, VA, as the opening concert on its 1986-87 recital series. On September 14 she was in San Antonio, TX, at the Travis Park United Methodist Church, where she was the featured recitalist for the church's "Homecoming Weekend." Travis Park is the home church of her mother and grandparents. Both churches feature tracker organs designed by contemporary North American builders, and both are recognized as significant instruments in the U.S.

Dr. Cooper is the director of the Concert Choir, the College Collegium, and is organist and choir director at St. Peter's Episcopal Church in Salisbury.

Computer Science Student Receives Special Achievement Award

Kaye Holland, a senior computer science major, has received a special achievement award for her work performed at the Federal Aviation Administration at their technical center near Atlantic City, NJ. Holloway is the first student ever to receive such an award.

A luncheon was given in her honor by the FAA, along with a gift and $100.

The Federal Aviation Administration's Technical Center is the only government research and development facility of its kind. It is located approximately 20 minutes from Atlantic City, in a 5000-acre facility and employs some 2500 people, including computer contractors.

Assigned to the Aircraft Icing and Lightning Engineering and Development Program, her original task was in support of an atmosphere characterization project for the establishment of a worldwide aircraft icing data base. To perform these duties, she was required to learn SASJ, a statistical analysis package in conjunction with learning the command language of an IBM 3033MP located at the Johns Hopkins University Applied Physics Laboratory. Since these duties were completed in minimal time, her next requirement was to complete other programs that have been employed in generating graphs and scatter plots from the catalogued data.

Having completed these tasks ahead of schedule, Holloway was asked to assist in the preparation of a set of programs that would compute ice accretions and the resultant drag penalties for aircraft airfoils. These programs, which required extensive engineering calculations, were implemented by Holloway and Dr. James Riley in the FORTRAN Language, utilizing an IBM-PC XT. These programs have been successfully demonstrated and are planned for demonstrations to FAA field engineering for potential future application.

As a final project, she conducted a software orientation to the aerospace engineering staff, the use of such packages as LOTUS 1-2-3, Energraphics, Harvard Total Project Manager, a public domain mailing label program and the steps needed to successfully compile a FORTRAN program using an IBM-PC.

She is the first student from Salisbury to have this opportunity to represent the College there. For more information on the co-op program at the FAA-TC, contact the Computer Science Department at ext. 6140.

Veterans

The Veterans Office has moved from Holloway Hall to Tawes Gym 113.

The VA has reestablished advance payments. G.I. Bill veterans rates may return to statutory rates as of October 1. If the legislation in Congress fails it is quite possible another cut will be forthcoming.

A reminder to all veterans and dependents receiving veterans benefits to report in person, letter or telephone once a month to the Veterans Office in Tawes Gym 113. The telephone number is ext. 6189.

Ward Foundation Names New Director

Deborah Biggs, a resident of Salisbury, was recently promoted to Managing Director of the Ward Foundation. Biggs, who has served the last ten months as Acting Director, fills the position left vacant by previous director, Kenneth Basile.

Biggs, who holds a Master of Arts in College Administration from Bowling Green State University in Bowling Green, Ohio, moved to Salisbury three years ago from Sioux City, Iowa where she worked as an administrator for a private college.

Annual Wildfowl Exhibit

The 16th Annual Wildfowl Art Exhibition will be held Friday through Sunday, October 3, 4 and 5, at the Wicomico Youth and Civic Center. The exhibition, sponsored by The Ward Foundation, will feature more than 150 of the leading wildfowl artists in the U.S. and Canada and will be open to the public Saturday from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The Preview Night Gala, scheduled for 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. Friday, will provide an exclusive first look at the exhibits as well as a chance to purchase carvings and paintings directly from the artists prior to the show. During the evening, the Marie Conway Memorial Purchase Award, a $2,500 prize, will be presented to the winner in the World Championship Wildfowl Painting Competition. Tickets for preview night are available by advance reservation.

Also featured as a preview to the exhibition will be a four-day tour of the sights and sounds of the Lower Eastern Shore. The tour, scheduled for September 30 to October 3, will include a trip to Blackwater National Wildlife Refuge, a Chesapeake Bay sail aboard a skipjack, a visit with local watermen and boatbuilders, and a tour of a Confederate General's Plantation.

Tickets for the fifth Annual Southern Eastern Fall Tour and the Preview Night Gala are available through the Ward Foundation. For more information contact: The Ward Foundation, 655 South Salisbury Blvd., Salisbury, MD 21801, Attn. Mary Anne or call 742-4988.

Schedule of Events

Wednesday, Oct. 1—Trip to Blackwater National Wildlife Refuge, Taylor's Island Farm, Maritime Museum, St. Michael's, and Oxford.

Thursday, October 2—Skipjack trip near Cambridge and Oxford, a visit with watermen and boatbuilders.

Friday, October 3—Visit to a plantation, return for Preview Night Gala presentation of Marie Conway Memorial Purchase Award.

Saturday, October 4—Wildfowl Art Exhibition from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. at the Wicomico Youth and Civic Center, featuring the World Championship Painting Competition.

Sunday, October 5—Wildfowl Art Exhibition from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Wicomico Youth and Civic Center, Deal Island nature tour 8 a.m.-Noon.

SSC Cycling News

The SSC Cycling Club will begin weekly Saturday rides on September 27 at 10 a.m. These rides will continue each Saturday morning throughout the semester.

The rides are designed for all levels of ability and fitness—leisurely through competitive interests. The Club is asking each person desiring to ride to call the Intramural Office ext. 6350 by noon each Friday and sign up. An officer for the Club will be there each Saturday morning to help organize the group. Riders depart from the bike rack in front of Maggs PAC.

For further information, please call ext. 6350.

Mr. Wallace Mann

A New Mann in Music

Internationally known flutist Wallace Mann has joined the faculty in the Department of Music.

Mann, who played for the National Symphony Orchestra in Washington, D.C., for 33 years, will teach "Applied Flute" at SSC.

"We are very excited about Mr. Mann's acceptance of our offer to join us," said Dr. Thomas Elliot, chairman of the Department of Music. "He adds stature to our department and is a major part of the expansion of our performance faculty. He is a fine teacher with all the credentials."

Mann was the principal flutist at the National Symphony Orchestra from 1945-1978 where he performed through the tenures of Hans Kindler, Howard Mitchel, Antal Dorati and Rostropovich.

He made a solo appearance with NSO and numerous orchestras and chamber groups in the Library of Congress, Kennedy Center, Tully Hall, DAR Constitution Hall, Carnegie Hall and Avery Fischer Hall. He has made recordings with RCA, Columbia, Westminster, Deutsche Gramophone and London Records.

In addition to judging national and international competitions, Mann has taught flute at The Catholic University of America, American University and George Washington University. His students have gone on to become professional players and/or heads of flute departments in various universities.

Elliot Guest Speaker

Dr. Thomas Elliot, chairman of the Music Department, recently spoke to the Ocean Pines Women's Club at the Community Hall Building in Berlin. The topic of the meeting was old instruments.

Elliot is a member of the College Speaker's Bureau. The Bureau offers area organizations several speakers discussing a variety of subjects. There is no charge for the service.

Any civic, service or educational organization desiring a speaker should contact the Public Relations Office at ext. 6030.

Former Peace Corp Faculty Hear Aquino

This past weekend, September 18 to 21, marked the 25th anniversary of the founding of the Peace Corps. Some 120,000 persons have served in this people-to-people program started by President John F. Kennedy in 1961. Six thousand former volunteers and staff attended the festivities and ceremonies in Washington, D.C. Included among them were two of the three faculty here who are returned volunteers and staff: Charles Long (El Salvador) of Education, and Philip Bosserman (Gabon, West Africa) of Sociology and Anthropology. Robert Berry (Iran), of History, is the other returned faculty volunteer.

Bosserman organized the "up-date" session held Saturday afternoon for all the volunteers attending who had served in Gabon. He was the first director of Educational Programs for the Peace Corps-Gabon, 1963-64. Those participating in the up-date panel were representatives from the State Department, the Gabonese Embassy and recently returned volunteers from Gabon. In fact, one had just returned this last week.

Friday and Saturday's events included stirring addresses by Cory Aquino, the new President of the Philippines, and Sargent Shriver, the first director of the Peace Corps. On Sunday, the 6,000 participants marched to Arlington Cemetery to lay a wreath on the tomb of John F. Kennedy in memory of the 199 volunteers who have died during their service overseas.

Delaney Honored

Dr. Edmund T. Delaney, chairman of the Psychology Department, was recently awarded the Division of Psychologists in Public Service's 1986 Certificate of Recognition.

According to Dr. Jonathan W. Cummings, chairman of the Division's Awards Committee, "the award is given annually to a small number of psychologists whose work clearly reflects the Division's—and all of psychology's—intense concern with providing professional psychological services which further the public interest."

Basehart Addresses DAR

The Constitution was Dr. H. Harry Basehart's topic when the chairman of the Political Science Department addressed the General Levin Winder Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution at the Snow Hill Library on September 17.

Basehart is part of the College Speaker's Bureau. The Speaker's Bureau offers area organizations several speakers discussing a variety of subjects. There is no charge for the service.

Any civic, service or educational organization desiring a speaker should contact the Public Relations Office at ext. 6030.

Guest Speaker

"Everyone's Talking, is Anyone Listening?" was Dr. Robert Wesley's topic when the SSC Communication Arts professor addressed the Lord Baltimore's Federation of Women's Club at Mariner's Bethel Methodist Church in Ocean View, DE, on Tuesday, September 16. This summer he also spoke to the sales personnel of Maryland Wire Belt in Cambridge on Tuesday, June 24.

Dr. Wesley is part of the College Speaker's Bureau. The Speaker's Bureau offers area organizations several speakers discussing a variety of subjects. There is no charge for the service.

Any civic, service or educational organization desiring a speaker should contact the Public Relations Office at ext. 6030.

Welcome New Faculty and Staff

Seventeen new teachers and staff members have joined the faculty and administration this semester.

At the Franklin P. Perdue School of Business, Dr. Susan Greenfield has been appointed full professor. She earned her D.B.A. from the University of Southern California and taught at the U. of Baltimore before coming to Salisbury.

Other new Business School faculty are Dr. Wayne Decker, Susan Burley, Shari Wisniewski and Leonard Kloft. Decker received his Ph.D. degree from the U. of Pittsburgh and taught at Memphis State prior to coming to SSC as an associate professor; Burley, who has her M.B.A. from Pace University, NY, previously was assistant controller for Delmarva Venture of Selbyville. Shari Wisniewski has her M.B.A. from Marshall U., WV, and previously worked at Electronic Data Systems of Alexandria, VA. Leonard Kloft has his Master of Arts in Economics from the U. of Iowa. Burley, Wisniewski and Kloft have been appointed assistant professors.

Dorothy McDowell and Elizabeth Seldomridge have been appointed instructors in Nursing.

McDowell has her M.S. from the University of Maryland and Seldomridge has her M.S.N. from the U. of Pennsylvania. McDowell worked at the Beebe Hospital School of Nursing; Seldomridge was assistant professor at Wor-Wic Technical Community College.

Dr. Mary Ellen Elwell has been appointed associate professor of Social Work. She has her Ph.D. from the University of Maryland and taught at Western Maryland College.

Garland B. Durham has been appointed instructor in Mathematic Sciences. He has his M.S. from the University of Illinois, where he was a teaching fellow.

Thomas W. Dillon has been appointed instructor in Computer Science. He has his M. Ed. from Shippensburg U., PA, and previously taught at Chesapeake College.

U.S. Army Captain David N. Kennedy has been appointed assistant professor in Military Science. Previously Battery Commander at Fort Stewart, GA, he has his B.S. in Business Administration from the U. of Vermont.

New administrative appointments are Ross Leisten and Kenneth Purce as admissions counselors. Leisten has his M.S. in Education from the U. of Wisconsin where he worked in Admissions. Purce has his B.A. in English from Alfred U., NY, and also worked in Admissions there.

John Yarborough has been appointed Central Stores manager. A career army officer whose primary duties were in operations and logistics, he has his B.S. in Business Administration from Columbus College, GA.

Robanne Riddleberger has been appointed accountant/administrator in the Business and Finance Dept. She is a 1985 magna cum laude graduate of Salisbury with a B.S. in Accounting.

Michael Boolukos has been appointed coordinator of student services in the School of Business. He graduated with an M.B.A. from Salisbury in 1985.

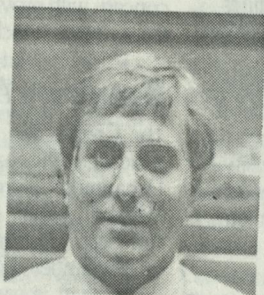

U.S. Army Sergeant James Peters has been appointed administrative supervisor for ROTC. Previously assigned to the Readiness Group at Pittsburgh, PA, he has Associate of Applied Science degrees from Canal Zone College, Panama, and the U. of Panama.

Congro Completes D.C. Opera Internship

Patricia Ann Congro, a senior honors student, has successfully completed her Arts Administration internship with the Washington Opera, the resident opera company of the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts.

During her 12-week stay in Washington, Ms. Congro worked in several departments of the Opera, including accounting and finance, marketing and subscriptions and development and public relations. Some of the projects she worked on were budgeting, cost analyses, bookkeeping, mailing list updating, subscription data maintenance, subscription selling and patron analysis.

In her search for an internship, Ms. Congro was interviewed and offered positions by several organizations such as The Virginia Opera, NBC, the City of Charlotte, NC, and Columbia Artists Management Inc. Ms. Congro stated that this process was a valuable part of the internship, as it taught her about resumes and cover letters, and helped her fine-tune her interview skills.

A reason behind the internship is that this is a requirement for SSC's newest curriculum: Arts Administration. It is a concentration under the major of Liberal Arts, and combines courses in Business, Arts Management and either Music, Fine Arts, Theater or Dance. Ms. Congro decided upon the Washington Opera because she is studying Vocal Music as her specific concentration. She feels her Music background helped her in understanding the importance of certain aspects of the Opera, however, she also feels that it is extremely important to have studied the basic Business courses before embarking on any internship. "It is important to remember," she said, "that an arts organization is first and foremost a business and that it operate in a businesslike manner. Without those basic courses it would be difficult to understand everything that goes on."

Her whole summer, however, was not all work and no play. Part of the benefits of working in the Kennedy Center was that the employees received free tickets to many productions held in the area, including operas, ballets and symphony and pop concerts. The most exciting aspect by far was attending the Opera Ball, an annual fundraiser for the Washington Opera. This year it was held at the Swedish Embassy, hosted by Ambassador and Countess Wachtmeister, and chaired by Mrs. Caspar Weinberger. Some of the well-known guests in attendance included Senator Claude Pepper, Justice Sandra Day O'Connor and Charleton Heston.

Ms. Congro said that the total experience was much more than just one in arts management. She feels that she learned more than any classroom could ever teach her.

The RV AQUARIUS, a research vessel, will afford Salisbury State College Biology students the opportunity to study marine life in the bay.

On Board Bay Research

As part of the laboratory experience for College 410 Estuarine Biology, students will be spending three days aboard the University of Maryland's 65-foot research vessel the RV AQUARIUS. This research vessel has served as the platform for much of the aquatic research that has occurred on the Chesapeake Bay over the last 15 years, research that has delved into the pollution problems of the bay.

Dr. Thomas Jones, associate professor of Biology and the instructor of the course, will supervise the students as they collect data on the physical, chemical and biological nature of three major tributaries of the bay.

On September 27, the class will leave from Salisbury on the Aquarius and investigate the Wicomico River from Salisbury to its mouth and then investigate further into Tangier Sound. On October 25, the class will leave from the University of Maryland Chesapeake Biological Laboratory at Solomon's Island, MD, and survey the Patuxent River. And finally, on November 1-2, the group will leave from the University of Maryland's Horn Point Environmental Laboratory near Cambridge and study the Choptank River. The class will spend the night near Horn Point and tour the lab facilities the second day.

Along with being a laboratory experience in estuarine biology for these students, the data and biological specimens that are collected during these cruises are to be included along with previous years collections with the aim of developing a long-term base at SSC for these river systems and the development of an aquatic museum of Chesapeake Bay species.

On two of these trips, students from the Honors course, "The Environment and Man," along with the other two instructors in the course, Dr. David Block, assistant professor of Geography, and Dr. John Tyvoll, associate professor of Chemistry and Physical Science, will join the estuarine biology students as a laboratory experience for them.

Block will introduce the students first hand to the geography and the nature of regional planning in these areas of the Chesapeake. Tyvoll will instruct the students on the methods of aquatic chemistry aboard a small research vessel such as the RV AQUARIUS.

International Film Series Wednesday, October 1

The Wheel of Life (Taiwan, 1983). Caruthers Hall Auditorium. In this anthology film, three directors tell a story of young love that begins during the Ming Dynasty (directed by King Hu), extending through the 19th century (Li Hsing) to present day Taiwan (Pai Ching-jui). With Shih Chun, P'eng Hsueh-fen and Chian Hou-jen.

This series of serious films, directed by international talents, was organized by Professor Jim Welsh of the Department of English, Dr. Melvin Ang of the Department of History and David Ganoe, director of the College Center. The film series is sponsored by the Salisbury State College Faculty Cultural Events Committee; it is free and open to the public. All screenings begin at 7 p.m.

Small Is Representative

Clara L. Small, instructor of History, recently visited Coppin State College as the official representative of the national honorary advisory board for Pi Gamma Mu, the international honor society for the Social Sciences.

Coppin State College had applied for membership in Pi Gamma Mu and Small was acting in an official capacity for the international society checking credentials to determine whether Coppin State met the requirements set by the national organization in order to be certified and granted a charter for that prestigious society.

Small, along with Dr. G. Ray Thompson, serves as a regional representative for Pi Gamma Mu. The region includes colleges and universities in Maryland, Pennsylvania, Delaware, the District of Columbia and portions of Virginia and West Virginia.

Small is on leave from Salisbury State completing her doctorate in American Colonial History and Black American History at the University of Delaware at Newark.

Experience is Key to 1986 SSC Field Hockey Season

"We are going to have the best regular season possible," said field hockey coach Karen Weaver, entering her fifth year at the SSC helm. "We have returning strength at every position but two and we're returning 10 players from last year's Division III playoff team."

Leading the attack are two returning All-Americans—Robin Adair and Stacy Stem. Adair, a senior from Cape Henlopen, DE, led SSC with 26 goals and is regarded as the team leader from the attack position. Stem, who is a two-time All-American, was the team leader in 1985 with 13 assists and 850 passes. "Stacy's passing skills are the best in Division III," Weaver said.

Three players who participated in the B Camp—the top 180 players in the nation—from SSC were senior Cathi Treacy, junior Terri Buysse and sophomore Jill Stewart. Treacy from Sherwood, MD, plays a strong but steady defense. Buysse, from Magruder, MD, has more confidence and will be looked to for added strength. Stewart, from West Deptford, NJ, adds speed to the SSC attack and can score goals.

Karen Stockton, a junior from Absegami, NJ, returns for her second year at goal and is a lot stronger after an off-season strength program.

Two new faces to the 1986 team will be Judy Scofield, an all-region performer two years ago, and Kim Finlayson, a freshman from South Africa. "Not only will Judy and Kim have an impact on this year's team, I think all of our first year players will contribute to a great season," said Weaver, who has a career record of 44-26-2.

"We have a good line-up with depth and experience," added Weaver. "The key may be our health—we need to stay healthy to be successful. I also hope our seniors (8) will teach the tradition to our underclassmen and help them blend in."

SSC's schedule is one of the toughest in Division III.

"In addition to our Sun Fest Tournament, which has six excellent teams, we have Frostburg State, Ithaca, Elizabethtown and Bloomsburg—all of which are contenders for the championship," said Weaver.

Sea Gull Soccer Has Depth

Depth, as defined by Webster's Dictionary is, "reserve strength, as of suitable substitute players." When Webster was defining depth, he must have had the College's '86 soccer team in mind.

"This is the deepest team we've ever had since I've been here," said SSC head coach Gerry DiBartolo, who is entering his fifth year at the Gull helm. "We have 31 players on the team and the talent and skills are consistent from top to bottom."

The most untested position on the team is goalie, however, Keith Goode, a sophomore from Timonium, is a converted field player working out at the position while transfer junior John Palmer from Hollywood, MD, is also a candidate. Early in the season, however, it appears Tim Hurley, a freshman from Snow Hill, has a slight edge over the others.

"The goalie position is the key to the season," said DiBartolo, who guided the Gulls to a 10-7-1 record in 1985 and the finals of the ECAC South Championship.

The back positions are probably the strength of the team. Three of the four players have played together for two years and they can cover and make up for each other very well.

David League, a senior from Bowie, Robert Soper, a senior from Waldorf, and Mike Pirkey, a senior from Dunkirk, MD, all return as starters while Kevin Goode, a sophomore from Timonium, has much experience and talent to give SSC a strong backfield.

At midfield, SSC returns the 1985 leading scorer in Robert Novak, who had four goals and 10 assists on the year. Novak, a junior from Upper Marlboro, will team with transfer John Kretschmer, a junior from Salisbury, who is fast and has a strong shot.

The outside will be manned by four returnees—sophomore David Hoover, from Timonium, sophomore Chris Yancone, from Aberdeen, senior Tom Harvey, from St. Davids, PA, and sophomore Tom Fitzkee, from Bowie. Brian Knabe, sophomore from Cockeysville, adds defense to the midfield. Three other players to watch at midfield are junior Mark Barrett from Glen Burnie, senior Tom Randall, from Arnold, and junior Mark Henkle, from Baltimore. Sean Hull, a junior from Upper Marlboro, also returns from two years ago at midfield.

Tony D'Antonio and Bryan Watson return at forward. D'Antonio, a junior from Pasadena, and Watson, a sophomore from Salisbury, will score their share of goals and are favored to have strong years.

Two freshmen—John Polk, from Annapolis and Neil Benz, from Laurel, will provide more depth upfront.

Other players to look for during the season are freshman Lester Wright, from Bowie, freshman Stephen Stroheker, from Linthicum, freshman James McCalley, from Chevy Chase, Perry Kely, a junior from Salisbury, sophomore Leon Fossett, from Ft. Meade, and Michael Gural, a freshman from Palmyra, NJ.

"We will have a lot of people pushing others for playing time," said DiBartolo, who has a career mark of 32-32-4 at SSC. "We are in a tough region and our goal is to avoid any kind of slump. I'm looking for consistent play game-in, game-out."

Roland Leimann (center), president of the Rotary Club of Salisbury, presents a $1,000 check for scholarships to Dr. Bobby J. Stark, acting dean of the Franklin P. Perdue School of Business at Salisbury State College. Robert Gearhart, executive director of the Salisbury State College Foundation, Inc., is at right.

Rotary Gift

The Rotary Club of Salisbury recently made a gift of $1,000 to the College Foundation for scholarships for students of the Franklin P. Perdue School of Business.

The scholarship is awarded annually to two students in the Business Administration major. The scholarship is initially awarded to an incoming freshman who has graduated from a high school in Wicomico, Worcester, Dorchester or Somerset County, has shown evidence of financial need, has an overall high school cumulative average of 3.0 (B) or better and has attained a competitive combined score on the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT). Renewal for succeeding years is based on continuancy in a Business Administration program of study and maintenance of a 3.0 or better grade point average.

Applications should be made to the Dean, Franklin P. Perdue School of Business, by May 15.

State Guard

The Second (Chesapeake) Brigade of the Maryland State Guard is continuing an orientation course at Fort George G. Meade. This course, which began in May and meets the second Saturday of each month through November, provides basic military familiarization for new guardsmen and refresher training for veteran soldiers. Topics range from first aid to riot control and military communications. Instructors come from the Regular Army, Army Reserve and Maryland Army National Guard as well as from within the State Guard. Capt. Thomas Kiggins, an ROTC instructor at the College, taught a segment on military law and justice.

The State Guard is a state militia force totally separate from the National Guard. All members are volunteers who serve without pay unless called to active State service. Any Maryland citizen age 16 and above, male or female, is eligible to join, with the exception of persons having priority commitments such as sworn police officers, firefighters and members of the reserve components. Interested citizens should contact their local State army for additional information.

Executive Director

Applications are being accepted for a contractual position of Executive Director of the Information and Resource Center for Alcohol and other Drugs. Responsibilities include supervision, preparation and submission of grants, collection and dissemination of literature, and, upon request, assistance with programs within the four Lower Shore counties and Salisbury State College. Candidates must have the following: B.A. or B.S. Degree/Masters preferred in related field; two to five years of related experience; and experience in programming, addiction counseling and/or prevention required. Only applicants who meet the minimal requirements will be interviewed.

The salary is $17,000 - $20,000 commensurate with experience. There are no fringe benefits, but reimbursement for mileage. The beginning date is November 10. Send resume and three letters of recommendation to David MacLeod, Chairman of Search Committee, Lower Shore Prevention Resource Center, Salisbury State College, Salisbury, MD 21801. Deadline date is October 2, 1986. An equal opportunity affirmative action employer.

Dance Classes For Teenagers

The College Dance program is offering a special 12-session workshop for teens from September 22 to October 30.

The classes meet Mondays and Thursdays from 4:30-5:30 p.m. in the Maggs dance studio. A variety of dance techniques will be examined.

Cost is $39 for all 12 sessions. Call ext. 6353 or 896-3526 to register.

World Expert on Oriental Religions To Speak Here

"Confucianism, Taoism and Buddhism: The Philosophies of China" is the topic of a presentation by Dr. Tu Wei-ming, professor of Chinese History and Philosophy at Harvard University, on Thursday, October 9, at 7:30 p.m. in Caruthers Hall Auditorium.

Dr. Wei-ming is author of several books on Confucianism including Confucian Thought: Selfhood as Creative Transformation (New York University Press, 1985), Confucian Ethics Today: The Singapore Challenge (Singapore: Federal Publications, 1984), Humanity and Self-Cultivation: Essays in Confucian Thought (Lancaster-Miller Publishers, 1980), and Neo-Confucian Thought in Action—Wang Yang-ming's Youth (University of California Press, 1976).

Additionally, he has written articles and reviews in Journal of Asian Studies, Philosophy East and West, Daedalus, Humanitas, The Monist, Journal of Chinese Philosophy, American Historical Review, Harvard Journal of Asiatic Studies, Ming Studies, International Journal of Asian Thought and Religion and Bulletin of the Concerned Asian Scholars.

Dr. Tu Wei-ming

He has been on the Harvard faculty since 1981 and is currently chairman of that institution's Committee on the Study of Religion. He was previously professor of History at the University of California at Berkeley and assistant professor of East Asian Studies at Princeton University.

He is a member of the Association for Asian Studies, the Society for Asian and Comparative Philosophy, the American Historical Society and the American Academy of Religion.

He has earned the following fellowships: Harvard-Yenching Fellow, Princeton Humanities Fellow, American Council of Learned Societies Grants and Senior Scholar (Committee on Scholarly Communication with the People's Republic of China, National Academy of Sciences, 1979-80).

The program is part of the College's year-long cultural series,

"China: Tradition and Transformation." Sponsored by the Faculty Cultural Events Committee, Dr. Wei-ming's presentation is free and open to the public.

Sports: A Winning Weekend

Senior All-American Robin Adair scored six goals to lead the women's field hockey team to its second straight Sunfest Field Hockey championship this past weekend in Salisbury.

SSC defeated Indiana University of Pennsylvania 5-0 on Sunday in the championship game as Adair and Jill Stewart each scored twice and Debbie Clarke added one goal. To gain championship honors, SSC had earlier beaten Lynchburg 2-1, Plymouth State 4-0 and the number one ranked (of 147 schools) Division III team in the nation and defending national champions, Trenton State, 2-0. The Gulls became just the second team to shut out Trenton in 133 games.

SSC, the only undefeated team in the tourney at 4-0, is now 7-0 on the year and entered the tournament ranked seventh in the nation. The team will travel to Kutztown University, PA, on Thursday to battle the nation's 14th ranked team.

In other sports, Mike Coppa scored four touchdowns and rushed for 173 yards to lead the Sea Gulls to a 48-9 rout over rival Frostburg State in football action on Saturday in Frostburg. Coppa scored on runs of 11, 1, 14 and 1 while Frank Lover, Jerry Short and Donald Washington also added touchdown runs. Bill

Maurer kicked six of seven extra points for SSC, now 3-0 on the season. The defense, led by senior Tom Kress, limited the Bobcats to just 66 yards rushing on the day. The Gulls will conclude a three-game road swing this Saturday at the University of D.C. before hosting Glassboro State on Parent's Day on Saturday, October 11.

Scott Scheffler won for the second time in as many tries on Saturday at the Christopher Newport (VA) Cross Country Invitational in a time of 25:03 for the five mile run. The Gulls, however, were edged for the first place in the team competition by two points, 40-38, by Christopher Newport. Other finishers for SSC were Doug Mock (3rd place), Tim Blasko (10th), Krah Plunkert (11th) and Terry Rowell (15th). The Gulls, 8-1 on the year, will participate in Susquehanna University (PA) Homecoming Invitational on Saturday.

The SSC women's volleyball team upped its 1986 record to 4-1 by taking two of three matches on Friday night at Mary Washington College, VA. SSC defeated Lynchburg 15-6, 8-15, 15-8 and St. Mary's 15-7, 15-10 before losing to host Mary Washington 15-1, 15-6. SSC standouts during the quad-met were freshman Sandy Jankevicious and sophomore Phyliss Coleman for their great offensive kills and teammate blocking to stop the opponent's momentum. The Gulls will travel to Washington College on Thursday night and will then participate in the Catonsville Invitational on Saturday.

Robert Soper scored a first half goal on Sunday afternoon on an assist from teammate Robert Novak to lead SSC to a 1-0 soccer win over Shenandoah in Salisbury. Goalie John Palmer had six saves in recording his first shut out. SSC had dropped a 2-1 decision to Johns Hopkins earlier in the week. The Gulls, 2-5 on the season, will travel to Catholic University on Thursday before hosting rival Frostburg State on Saturday at 3:00 p.m.

The SSC Scoreboard
(through October 1)

Field Hockey	7-0
Football	3-0
Cross Country	8-1
Volleyball	4-2
TOTAL	24-8

For details and information, write Fulbright Teacher Exchange, E/ASX, U.S. Information Agency, 301 Fourth St., S.W., Washington, D.C. 20547.

Health Insurance Program Open Enrollment

Informational presentations will be given on Friday, October 3, at the Chesapeake Room at the following times: 9 a.m., 11 a.m., 1 p.m., and 3 p.m.

Representatives from both the Blue Cross/Blue Shield organization and the Delmarva Health Plan Maintenance Organization will be available between presentations for individual inquiries.

Mass Moves

Roman Catholic Mass is Sundays at 3:30 p.m. This week's service is being held in CC 106. Plans are to return to the Nanticoke Room (where services were held last semester) later in October.

Fire Prevention Week

Fire Prevention Week this year is October 6-10.

Voter's Information

As a voter service activity, the League of Women Voters of Wicomico County is making available at SSC forms for registering to vote, change of party affiliation, change of name and/or address.

Deadline for making changes for the November 4 General Election is October 6. Contact Carol Williamson, HH 244, ext. 6080.

Education Department Competency Tests

Students who plan to apply for the Professional Education Program must pass all competency tests prior to acceptance into the program. The tests are in mathematics, reading, speech, standard written English and essay writing. For further information about the tests, please contact Al Constantine, Caruthers Hall B-153.

It is necessary to register in advance for the competency tests. Sign-up sheets for the fall administration of the tests are located in the Education office, Caruthers Hall B-152. Students who sign up early in the registration period will have their records checked for possible exemption from some of the tests.

Competency Test Schedule
Thursday, September 25
Reading	3 p.m.
Writing Test (Essay)	4 p.m.
Monday, September 29
Test of Standard Written English	3 p.m.
Mathematics	4 p.m.
Thursday, October 2
Test of Standard Written English	3 p.m.
Mathematics	4 p.m.

The speech requirement may be satisfied by achieving a grade of "C" or better in Communication Arts 250. All tests will be administered in the Nanticoke Room of the College Center.

Counseling Services

Counseling Services conducts walk-in hours from 1 - 3 p.m. Monday through Thursday. Anyone who wishes to see a counselor, and has not seen one before, is welcome between those hours.

Parking

The overflow parking area for students is Wayne Avenue, located off Bateman St. at the Athletic Complex.

Students who park in the parking lots of local businesses risk having their vehicles towed.

The parking area at Asbury Church is for Wor-Wic Tech students only. Vehicles without a Wor-Wic Tech sticker will be towed.

If you are having problems with parking contact Jim Phillips, Director of Public Safety, ext. 6222.

SSC Goes to London!

The English Department has announced plans for another travel course to London, England, scheduled for January. The trip will begin on January 5 and return to Salisbury on January 19, for a cost of $775, excluding tuition and fees, but including the flight to London, a two-week stay in a London hotel, continental breakfast and bus transportation to and from the airports. Those seeking more information about the travel course may call the English Department at ext. 6445 or the Office of Continuing Education at ext. 6170.

Personal Safety Tips

Since the start of the fall semester four students have been accosted—two on campus and two very close by the college. In each case the incident occurred at night and the student involved was walking alone. The campus and neighboring streets are not immune from activities frequently associated with metropolitan areas or larger, urban colleges. Personal safety tips, prepared by the Department of Public Safety, may lessen the likelihood of becoming a victim.

1. Do not walk or jog alone after dark.
2. Walk in well-lit areas and stay near the curb, away from alleys, entry ways and bushes where someone could be hiding.
3. Avoid short cuts. Walk where there are other people present.
4. Do not hitchhike or accept rides from strangers. If a driver asks you for directions, stay far enough away so that you can not be pulled into the car. Do not pick up strangers.
5. If you are being followed when walking, change directions, cross the street and vary your speed. Go to a well-lit area or a place where there are other people. If followed by someone in a car, turn and walk in the other direction. Record a license number.
6. Park your car in a well-lit area and lock the door.
7. Keep doors locked at all times. Don't unlock the door for strangers. Keep first floor windows locked.
8. If you need an escort to or from your car or residence hall, call the Department of Public Safety, 543-6222.
9. Locate someone in your class who is going in the same direction after class ends.
10. Report any suspicious activity or crimes to the Public Safety Office, ext. 6222.

You are your own best protection. For more information on personal safety, contact the Department of Public Safety, located in Holloway Hall room 22, ext. 6222.

Model Needed

Needed, model for drawing and painting classes. Classes meet Tuesday and Thursday, 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. Call the Art Department at ext. 6270 for further information.

Student Jobs

Work Experience still has job openings in many areas, both on and off campus. Students interested in a position should go to the Work Experience office in the Physical Plant building and complete an application.

Students who have an application on file should also check with Work Experience for new openings. They should also update their records if their schedule or address has changed.

Housekeeper Vacancies

Cleaning classrooms, offices, restrooms and large central areas; buffing and floor refinishing; some furniture moving. Must be able to follow written and verbal instructions. Periodic weekend duty involved. Day shift 7 a.m. - 3:30 p.m. Night shift 3 p.m. - 12:30 a.m. Starting salary $10,000. Apply in person - Personnel Office, Holloway Hall, Room 205. EOE.

National Teachers' Examination

The Maryland State Department of Education has mandated that new teachers must pass the National Teachers' Examination beginning in July, 1987. Individuals will be required to take the Core Battery Tests and a Specialty Area Test before obtaining teaching certification in any field.

The requirement will institute the testing requirement with a no-fault (must take, but must not pass) period extending from April 1, 1986, to June 30, 1987. After July 1, 1987, those seeking initial certification will be required to achieve specific scores on each test.

Students planning to enter the teaching profession should be aware of this requirement and plan to register for the necessary tests. The College has been approved as an NTE Test Center, and all tests will be administered at this site.

There will be three test dates during the 1986-87 school year: in October, March and June. Since registration is required well in advance of the test date, students should pick up the NTE Bulletin of Information at the Education office, Caruthers 152, as soon as possible.

Questions about the tests may be directed to Al Constantine, Director of Field Experience, Caruthers 150, ext. 6277.

Scholarly Exchanges With People's Republic of China

The National Academy of Sciences is offering support for short-term visits (1-3 months) to the People's Republic of China. For Americans in the national and engineering sciences, younger or senior scholars are eligible. For those in the social sciences or humanities, associate or full professors are eligible.

For more information about this unique way to celebrate the SSC Year of China, call Ben Fusaro at ext. 6470 or 6471 (messages).

Take Charge!

That's the battle cry for the 1986 women's volleyball team. Coming off a successful 1985 season, head coach Peggy Troiano, entering her second year at the helm, has higher expectations this season.

"Although, we lost two seniors and have a very young squad, I think this team has a lot of potential," SSC graduate Troiano said. "We still have a solid base of players and a new offensive and defensive scheme which is designed to fit the current players. We are going to be an exciting team and I look for a lot to happen."

Troiano has no seniors on the 1986 team, but has four juniors from the 13-12 squad from last season.

Elaine Allnut, from Germantown, MD, is an all-around player who has been team captain for the last two years. Brenda Bowlin, Sykesville, is regarded as the field general or quarterback on the floor for the Gulls. Another junior who Troiano looks for big things from is Karen Hammer, from Salisbury. Hammer is one of the quickest players for the Sea Gulls and can read the attack very well. Rounding out the list of juniors is Theresa Kelly, from Frederick. Kelly will see much action as a setter and is an asset with her quickness and overall ability.

Troiano has three returning sophomores in whom she hopes to see a lot of ability and experience.

Heading the list of second year players is Phyllis Coleman, a 5-10 middle hitter from Snow Hill. Coleman can spark the offense with her hitting and blocking talent and may be the dominate force in the offense.

Nicole Dorn, from Fort Washington, is going to be called upon to help SSC with her great serving ability. Sharon Shores, from Salisbury, is the seventh and final returnee this year for SSC. She is an all-around player and will contribute both offensively and defensively.

Troiano has seven newcomers (half of the roster size) in 1986. Probably, the player to watch for is Amanda Barrett, a 5-11 freshman from Rising Sun, DE.

"Amanda is a strong hitter with an incentive to put the ball away," said Troiano. "I look for her to set a spark and be a force by the end of the season."

Two first-year juniors - Ruby Jones, from Delmar, DE, and Trish Lewis, from Ellicott City, also are playing for SSC this year. "Ruby is very quick, she is always there when the ball is there," said Troiano, who led SSC to the ECAC South Championship match last year. "Trish is a defensive specialist who works very hard."

Four freshmen also dot the SSC line-up. Tina DeJaco, from Glen Burnie, looks to be a solid player with good passing skills. Sherri Seborg, from Crofton, has excellent defensive talents. A lot of offense is also expected from Mechanicsville, native Michele Nether while Sandy Janevicius, from Sykesville, can play anywhere.

"We have an excellent group of new players," said Troiano. "They all have good basic skills which has helped them work with the more experienced players better."

The defense is the strongest area of the team as it was last year. However, the players have been working hard to improve their offensive skills and conditioning.

"I think the best conditioned team has a huge advantage," added Troiano, who was an assistant coach at SSC in 1979 and 1980. "We have really worked the player hard to improve our stamina."

Art Sale

At the CC Chesapeake Room, a special exhibition and sale of Original Graphic Art will be presented on Friday and Saturday, October 10 and 11, from 11 a.m. - 4 p.m.

Marson Galleries Ltd. of Baltimore, specializes in exhibiting for sale a distinguished collection of original etchings, woodcuts, lithographs, serigraphs and watercolors by old and modern masters. The collection consists of some 800 pieces of original graphic art by leading American, European and Oriental artists.

Represented in this unique collection are antique works by Hiroshige, Kuniyoshi, Daumier, Goya, Hogarth and others. Also included is a fine selection of Indian miniature paintings and manuscripts.

There is a large group of works by such distinguished contemporary artists as Altman, Amano, Azechi, Baskin, Calder, Chagall, Ebgi, Eggers, Fink, Gantner, Maki, Miro, Rayburn, Tajima, Saito and others. Additionally, there are numerous contemporary Chinese paintings, watercolors, embroideries, batiks, rubbings and folk art. A comprehensive collection of 20th century impressions of the Ukiyo-E prints are also included.

A representative will be present to discuss the collection and to answer questions about the work, the artists and the various graphic techniques employed. The prints are shown in open portfolios in an informal atmosphere and the public is invited to browse through the collection. Marson Galleries Ltd. is the largest firm in the nation specializing in arranging exhibitions and sales of original graphic art at colleges, universities, museums and art centers throughout the United States.

News Deadline

The SSC News is a newsletter for the campus community published each Thursday during fall and spring semesters, unless noted. The deadline is noon on Monday prior to publication. Newsletter stories and items usually are proofed and typeset on a first come, first served basis, so don't feel you have to wait until Monday to get your article to the Public Relations Office (HH 264).

Any story relating to the life of the campus, whether it be of interest to students, faculty or staff, is welcomed. Because we cannot canvass the campus personally, we are grateful to those who keep us current on the activities and issues affecting College life.

'Know What You See' Exhibit

"Know What You See," an exhibition which focuses on the scientific techniques used by conservators in the examination and treatment of paintings, will be on view in the College Gallery through October 8. It was organized by conservator Louis Pomerantz for the Foundation of the American Institute for Conservation of Historic and Artistic Works, and is being circulated nationally by the Smithsonian Institution Traveling Exhibition Service.

According to Ursula Ehrhardt, director of the College Gallery, the exhibition should be of special interest to art students, students in the physical sciences, and anyone interested in looking at paintings and learning more about their physical and chemical structure.

Using photographs and explanatory texts, the exhibition shows how conservators use x-rays, infrared and ultraviolet light, and normal, raking, and reflected light to examine a painting's surface and structure. Infrared light, for example, can pierce darkened varnish and thinly applied paint, often revealing details in darkened areas of the painting not visible to the unaided eye, as well as retouched areas, changes in composition—even the artist's preliminary "underdrawing" or first stage in creating the painted image.

Information about a painting's internal structure derived from x-rays may be useful in determining where and when a work was done or in establishing the identity of its artist.

The exhibition documents various kinds of conservation treatments, including the removal of later overpaint to reveal the original pose of a figure in a 17th century Dutch painting by Jan Steen, the cleaning of a 19th century folk painting of George Washington and the restoration of a Degas pastel sketch to its original state after it had been reworked by another hand to make it appear more finished, presumably to bring a higher price on the art market.

The College Gallery is located on the second floor of Blackwell Library and is open Monday and Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., Tuesday and Thursday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., and Saturday and Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m.

The showing is made possible, in part, by a grant from the Maryland State Arts Council.

More Than A Wildfowl Show

Exhibition '86 will be far more than a wildfowl art show. It will truly be a celebration, an opportunity not only to look at wildfowl art, but to experience the traditions that are part of it.

Exhibition '86 begins with a tour of the sights and sounds unique to the Eastern Shore, the places where the art of wildfowl carving began.

Then a gala Preview Night will be held on Friday evening, signaling the beginning of the weekend show. Preview Night will feature chamber music, cocktails, an art auction, and the opportunity to view and purchase artworks by 150 of America's leading carvers and painters. Special exhibitions and the naming of the winner of the 1986 World Championship Painting Competition round out the evening.

A list of the winners in the Decorative Lifestyle competition in the Ward Foundation's annual World Championships reads like a Who's Who of wildfowl art in North America. A special exhibit of all the Decorative Lifestyle winners in the 16 years of competition will include the works of six-time winner John Scheeler, A.J. Rudisill, Pat Godin, Jules Iski, William Koelpin, William Schultz, Lynn Forehand, Ernie Muehlmann and Larry Barth. All the carvers have been invited to attend.

This special exhibit captures the evolution of the world of carving, showing the changes and growth the art form has experienced over the years. In addition, all the World Class winners from the 1986 competition will be shown, including Larry Barth's Common Terns and Bob Guge's Puffins.

On Sunday morning, from 8 a.m. until noon, there will be a Nature Tour of Deal Island led by a local naturalist and bird expert. Price is $2.50 per person.

Deal Island Nature Tour Offered

A nature tour of the Deal Island area will be held on Sunday, October 5, as part of the Ward Foundation's 1986 Wildfowl Carving and Art Exhibition.

The tour will leave from the Civic Center parking lot at 8 a.m. and return at approximately noon. It will be led by Sam Dyke, a local naturalist who is chairman of the board of trustees of the Ward Foundation.

Persons wishing to join the tour should contact the Ward Foundation administrative office by Sept. 25 at 742-4988. Charge for the tour is $2.50 per person.

The Wildfowl Carving and Art Exhibition is scheduled for October 4-5 at the Civic Center. Hours are 10 a.m. until 9 p.m. on Saturday, and 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. on Sunday. A black-tie-optional Preview Night Gala will be held at the Civic Center on Friday from 6:30 until 9:30 p.m. Call the Ward Foundation for more details.

Student/Faculty I.D. Cards

All individuals who had photographs taken for their identification cards during the period of August 31 to September 9 may pick up their permanent cards in room 214 Holloway Hall. Office hours are 9:30 a.m.-1:30 p.m. and 2:23-5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Each person must turn in his temporary card to receive the permanent card.

Molenda To Lecture

The public is invited to a respiratory lecture by Dr. John Molenda, Dean of the School of Science, on Thursday, October 16, at 5 p.m. in the Conference Room of the Education Center, corner of W. Locust St. and Waverly Drive, near Peninsula General Hospital Medical Center.

The lecture is titled, "Mycobacterial Lung Infections." Sponsor of the talk are Upjohn Pharmaceuticals, the American Lung Association and the College's Respiratory Association.

Admission is free and refreshments will be served. Continuing Education Unit is available. For more information call ext. 6418.

Waters Honored by Iraqi Government

Dr. Michael Waters, of the English faculty, has been invited by the Republic of Iraq to participate in the seventh Al-Merbid Poetry Festival, to be held in Baghdad the end of November.

Five hundred poets from the international community have been invited, and Waters is one of about a dozen who would be from the United States.

The poets would be guests of the Iraqi Minister of Culture and Information, Latif Jassim. "... such a gathering of poets and men of literature presents a unique opportunity to enhance intercultural understanding among nations," Kamal Issa, press counselor for the government, said.

Waters would read from his own work, as well as participate in panel discussions. Waters' poems also would be translated into Arabic for distribution at the conference. Participants have the option to visit Bothra, near the Iranian border, and the Iraqi oil fields.

Waters' most recent volume of poetry, Anniversary of the Air, is one of the winners of this year's Towson State University Prize for Literature. The Baltimore Sun described it as "elegant," "exquisitely crafted" and "generous in spirit."

His poem, "The Faithful," is being reprinted in the 40th anniversary issue of the Georgia Review—from among the thousands that have appeared in that well-known journal over the last four decades.

This summer he spent two months in Thailand where he completed a new manuscript, The Burden Lifters, a collection of poetry presented in journals and readings over the last two years.

His poetry has been exhibited in China, translated and distributed in the Soviet Union; he has received several national grants and a National Young Poets Award in England. Extensively published, he previously was an associate editor of The Ohio Review. As a creative writing teacher, he has guided several of his students into publishing works of their own.

U.S. Constitution Lecture

"Toward a More Perfect Union: Maryland and the U.S. Constitution" is the topic of a presentation by Greg Stiverson, director of the Maryland Office for the Bicentennial of the Constitution of the United States, on Wednesday, October 8, at 7 p.m. in Caruthers Hall Auditorium.

Following the lecture, Dr. David Heidler, assistant professor of History, will moderate a discussion of the question: "Two Centuries Later: Another Convention?"

Dr. Stiverson's lecture is sponsored by the SSC Departments of History and Political Science and the College's Faculty Cultural Affairs Committee. Additionally, the project is made possible with funds from the Maryland Humanities Council through a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities.

Sea Gull Cross Country Team Has Talent To Run Away From The Field

The 1986 Salisbury State College cross country team has the talent and experience to make a serious run to the top.

"Our top four runners are excellent," said head coach Marvin Tossey, who guided SSC to its best season ever in 1985. "A lot will depend, however, where our fifth runner comes in."

The Gulls have one of the top runners in the nation in senior Scott Scheffler, from Easton. Scheffler was the top finisher for SSC in every meet last season and set four course records in winning seven meets. The returning All-American placed 28th in the nationals last year, and will be one of the contenders for the national crown this year.

Behind Scheffler, in every meet ran last year, is sophomore Doug Mock, from Bowie. Mock was right behind Scheffler in all meets last year and will continue to push this season. Being stronger in 1986 will help Mock become a contender in the nationals also.

Another sophomore, Tim Blasko, from Leonardtown, MD, was among the top five runners for SSC last season and is expected to make major contributions in 1986. Blasko, like Mock, came back stronger this year.

A junior who had a good freshman year two seasons ago, but fell to an average year in 1985 is Callaway, MD, native Krah Plunkert. Plunkert entered 1986 with a different mental attitude and is determined to regain his freshman stature.

Those are the top four runners for SSC at this point. However, Tossey, in his third year as head coach, has three good runners—any of whom may be able to run a strong fifth—working hard.

Jim Sumstine, a senior from Salisbury, was an all-conference track performer for three years and is a good half-miler. However, he has been plagued by injuries while running cross country during the past several seasons. If he can hold up in 1986, Sumstine can really help the team.

Returning with an improved attitude is junior Darin Purcell, from Lewis, MD. Purcell worked hard all summer, came back lighter and is expected to have a good year.

Rounding out the squad is freshman Terry Powell, from Rockville. Powell was his high school's best runner. With more training to build up his strength, he could challenge the top five.

"The schedule is broken down into two seasons," Tossey said. "First, we have some meets that will help us train and build up for the regionals. The second season (Allentown, Mason-Dixon Tournament and back to Allentown for the regionals) will prepare us for the regionals. That's the one meet we go for or focus on."

Welsh Publishes Book On Academy Award-Winning Director

Imagine a research trail that leads through a mass of political controversy and touches upon some of the most complicated technological and moral issues of our times, following the career of an artist who has worked in the United States, England, Canada and Australia, but also Sweden, Denmark, Norway, West Germany, the Soviet Union, Japan and Tahiti. Following that trail would seem to be an impossible task for an Eastern Shore teacher and scholar, but after eight years of work on the project, associate professor of English Jim Welsh has published his fourth book, Peter Watkins: A Guide of References and Resources, produced by G.K. Hall of Boston, dealing with the Academy Award-winning British director.

Welsh has known Peter Watkins since 1974, when he invited the director to lecture at the College. Watkins again visited SSC in 1977, and in 1978 Welsh helped to organize the first American retrospective of the director's work for the Purdue University Conference on Film, which Watkins attended.

The book includes a biographical chapter, a critical survey of the films made, and the most complete filmography yet published for Watkins. Besides this book, Welsh's most recent writing about Watkins is a chapter entitled "Nuclear Consciousness on Television," included in the collection Transmission: Theory and Practice for a New Television Aesthetics, edited by Peter D'Agostino of Temple University and published by the Tanam Press of New York. Also included in the Transmission collection is Bill Moyers' "Conversation with Robert Bly," the National Book Award-winning poet who gave a poetry reading at Salisbury last year.

"It isn't easy to complete a research project of this scope while regularly teaching four courses at the College," Welsh remarked, "but I kept plugging away because I respect the director, whose talent is indisputable, but who has avoided the lure of Hollywood, unlike other British talents of his generation. Watkins appears not to be interested in wealth or fame, only in making serious films about subjects that interest him, such as nuclear war, repression, suicide and the manipulation of people by the media." The sabbatical policy at the College gave Welsh a semester off to complete his writing. He is also grateful to the College Foundation, which helped to subsidize a research trip to England in 1982, and to the staff at the Blackwell Library, particularly the late Sallie Dryden Parker, who offered constant encouragement and support.

Welsh is a contributor to such international journals as Film Comment, American Film, Films in Review and Sight & Sound, the magazine of the British Film Institute. He reports on the arts locally as well as co-founded and co-edits Literature/Film Quarterly, an international journal published by SSC.

Apocalyptic Politics

The relation of eschatology to recent political activities by the religious right will be the topic of an address by Dr. Ken Wilkerson, associate professor of Communication Arts, to the Unitarian Fellowship of Salisbury on Sunday, October 5. The address is titled "Apocalyptic Politics."

Dr. Wilkerson studied the communication styles and forms of millenarian movements while on sabbatical leave from the College last spring semester. The public is invited to attend his address. The Fellowship meets at 11 a.m. and is located at 325 Snow Hill Road.

Rare Swan to be Displayed at Exhibition

A rare carving of a swan, one of only two made by Lem Ward of Crisfield, will be displayed in the front lobby of the Civic Center during the Ward Foundation's 1986 Wildfowl Carving and Art Exhibition, October 4-5.

The swan will be featured in a tableau created by Jim Gray of City Florists, which will depict a pond and willow trees.

The swan is one of two carved in 1970 for Leonard Palmisano of Ocean City, NJ, who commissioned Ward to do the work, stipulating that they would be the only swans Ward would make. The graceful, lifesize swans are considered to be the masterpieces of this famous Eastern Shore carver.

The swan is part of the collection of the North American Wildfowl Art Museum of the Ward Foundation.

The Wildfowl Carving and Art Exhibition will be open from 10 a.m. until 9 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 4, and from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. on Sunday, Oct. 5. A special Preview Night Gala is set for Friday from 6:30 until 9:30 p.m. For further information contact the Ward Foundation administrative office at 742-4988.

Vienna Final Stop in Central European Tour

Vienna, capital of Austria and city of music, is the final stop on the College's Winter Term in Central Europe. The tour will arrive there on January 19, after a short bus trip from Budapest.

Capital of the Habsburg Empire, Vienna is best known for the many musicians who lived and worked there including, Beethoven, Brahms, Johann Strauss and Mozart. No trip to the city would be complete without attending a musical performance.

The tour will visit such marvelous places as St. Stephen's Cathedral in the heart of the city, the magnificent baroque palaces of Schonbrunn and Belvedere and the Imperial Apartments.

Vienna's attractions include such places as the Museum of Fine Arts, the Albertina, the Museum of Modern Art and the Clock Museum. Visitors can see the Spanish Riding School, Sigmund Freud's house, the fabulous Ring and the Prater amusement park with its giant Ferris wheel made famous in the movie The Third Man. Music lovers can visit the Vienna State Opera and listen to the world famous Vienna Boys' Choir. January is the beginning of Carnival in Vienna, lending a festive air to activities there.

Food and drink are a major attraction of the city and a special dinner at the Griechenbeisl is included in the tour. There will be time for sampling Vienna's justly famous cuisine as well as for shopping. Capping the visit to the city will be a special tour of the Vienna Woods.

On January 22, Winter Term leaves Vienna by bus for the brief trip to Bratislava, capital of Slovakia. After spending the night in Bratislava, the tour returns to Prague for the return flight to the U.S. on January 23.

The College Winter Term in Central Europe is open to anyone interested in a unique historical and cultural experience. The tour will be conducted by Drs. Robert and Dagmar Berry. Cost of the trip is $1375, including air travel, hotels, all transportation in Europe, partial board, visas, special tours and cultural performances. For further information call ext. 6248 or 6245 or drop by the History Department.

'Cat' Cast Announced

Tennessee Williams' Cat on a Hot Tin Roof, which opens the 1986-87 College Theatre season, has its SSC premiere on Friday, October 17, at 8 p.m. in Holloway Hall Auditorium.

The play by Williams, America's greatest playwright according to many critics, is ranked one of his finest. Set on a Mississippi delta plantation where the family patriarch is dying of cancer, the drama's intensity is derived from its many familial conflicts and the characters' greed, envy and isolation from one another.

The lead role of Maggie "the cat," the frustrated wife of the plantation owner's favorite son, is played by Martha Hutchins. Hutchins, a senior majoring in Elementary Education and Communication Arts, made her stage debut as Sally Bowles in the musical, Cabaret, last semester. She also has been active in children's theatre here.

Ned Alton is making his stage debut as Brick, an alcoholic ex-football player and Maggie's husband. Alton, an athlete himself, was captain of his high school football team. He is a junior majoring in Communication Arts.

Paul Lewis plays the dying patriarch, Big Daddy. Lewis was seen this summer in the Salisbury Community Players production of What the Butler Saw. He also played the master of ceremonies in Cabaret, Creon in Antigone and Alan Strang in Equus.

Big Daddy's loyal wife, Big Mama, is played by Susan Rogers, a junior Communication Arts major. A transfer student from Meredith College in Raleigh, NC, she received the 1984 Excellence in Acting Award from James M. Bennett H.S., and a Salisbury Community Players scholarship.

Dale J. Whitzel plays the older, unloved son and Brick's brother, Gooper. A graduate assistant in English, Whitzel won a Best Supporting Actor award last season at SSC. As a member of the College's Dance Company, he also taught children's dance.

Tamara Brown, a junior Communication Arts major, plays Gooper's continually pregnant wife, Mae. An honors program student, she also has been active in theatre and sports.

Darryl Lee Dillard, a sophomore Communication Arts major, is making his debut as the loyal family servant, Lacey. Dillard is active in departmental programs and worked behind the scenes on The Spiral Staircase last semester.

Dr. Andrew Hepburn directs, sets and lighting design are by Gerald Patt, costume design is by T. Paul Pfeiffer and Sharon Shriver is stage manager.

Cat on a Hot Tin Roof plays Friday and Saturday, October 17 and 18, and Thursday through Saturday, October 23-25, at 8 p.m., and Sunday, October 19, at 2 p.m. For ticket information, call the theatre box office, ext. 6228.

Sousa Concert November 23

The College Band, in conjunction with the Salisbury Community Band, will present a "Sousa Spectacular," a tribute to John Phillips Sousa, on Sunday, November 23. Members of the audience will have the opportunity to sign a petition naming "The Stars and Strips Forever" as the national march.

Cancer Support Group Forms

"Cancer patients and their families need an outlet to share ideas, feelings and experiences they have encountered while dealing with the diagnosis and treatment of the disease," claims Dr. Michael Finegan, a local clinical psychologist. That is why the American Cancer Society, Coastal Hospice and Peninsula General Hospital Medical Center's Department of Social Services have joined forces locally to form a Cancer Support Group.

The group is scheduled to meet each Tuesday evening beginning October 7, from 7-8:30 p.m. in the conference room of the Radiation Oncology Unit of PGHMC. It will assist participants in developing cancer-coping mechanisms by providing emotional group support. The support group will be led by local health care professionals specially trained to deal with the stresses and the constant hurdles faced by cancer patients and their families.

Finegan, who serves on the Board of Directors of the Wicomico County Unit of the American Cancer Society, was instrumental in developing the support group concept. Due to vast improvements in the treatment of cancer, Finegan explains, patients are surviving longer and require more emotional support due to the nature of the illness, treatment and rehabilitation of the disease.

The group will focus on education and the sharing of feelings regarding cancer. One of the most important benefits will be the opportunity for participants to interact with patients in various stages of the disease and to explore perceptions versus reality with people who share a cancer diagnosis.

Participation in the Cancer Support Group is free of charge and is open to anyone who is facing a personal experience with cancer. Regular attendance is not required and individuals may attend as many or as few meetings as they wish.

While participant referrals are expected to come from the sponsoring organization, local health care professionals and from local clergy, self-referral is strongly encouraged, according to Finegan.

For more information regarding the Cancer Support Group, interested individuals may call the American Cancer Society, Coastal Hospice or PGHMC's Department of Social Services.

Assistant Director for College Center Position

The College is seeking an energetic and resourceful individual to immediately fill the position of Assistant Director for Programs.

The successful candidate will be responsible for assisting students to plan and implement contemporary entertainment activities and serve as key advisor to recognized student organizations. The individual will work closely with the College community and will need to be experienced in the development of student leadership programs.

A master's degree in higher education administration, student personnel or a related area is preferred. A bachelor's degree is required. Familiarity with the Arts, Recreation and Business Administration is valuable; experience in college programming desirable; the ability to organize and accomplish tasks within deadlines is essential.

The salary is competitive and commensurate with experience. There are excellent fringe benefits. Submit a letter of application and resume by October 24 to John Fields, Assistant Dean of Students, Salisbury State College, Salisbury, MD 21801.

Salisbury State College is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply.

Heyde at Convention

Mrs. Norma Heyde, Associate Professor on the Music Department faculty attended the National Convention for the National Association of Teachers of Singing, July 17-21 in Chicago. Of major interest to Mrs. Heyde were sessions pertaining to the pedagogy of non-classical singers, the Alexander Technique, vocal survival of singers with allergies and sinus problems, auditioning and career development, and the review of new vocal literature. Earlier in the year she acted as an adjudicator for the Eastern Seaboard Division competition to select the singer to represent the Eastern Seaboard in the final competition of the National Association's Artist Award of the Year. She was keenly interested therefore, in observing the final competition in Chicago, for which Eleanor Steber of the Metropolitan Opera Association was an adjudicator. In August, Mrs. Heyde spent a week in Santa Fe, NM, attending performances and rehearsals of the internationally renowned Santa Fe Opera Festival and its apprentice program for young singers aspiring to careers in opera, theatre production and/or concert singing. She had opportunities to visit backstage and to discuss the production facilities of this magnificent open air theatre nestled in the Sangre de Cristo Mountains.

On September 14, Mrs. Heyde was guest singer for the Ocean City Atlantic Methodist Church and on September 30 she presented a program of Broadway music at the First Presbyterian Church in Milford, sponsored by its women's organization.

In October, she will act as an adjudicator for the vocal auditions of the Delaware State Music Teachers Association Fall Convention to be held at Wesley College in Dover.

In January, she will adjudicate for the National Federation of Music Clubs Young Artist Auditions for the State of Pennsylvania, at West Chester University School of Music.

She will be guest artist in Washington, D.C., area churches later in the semester.

VOL. XIII NO. 7

Respiratory Therapy Program Accredited

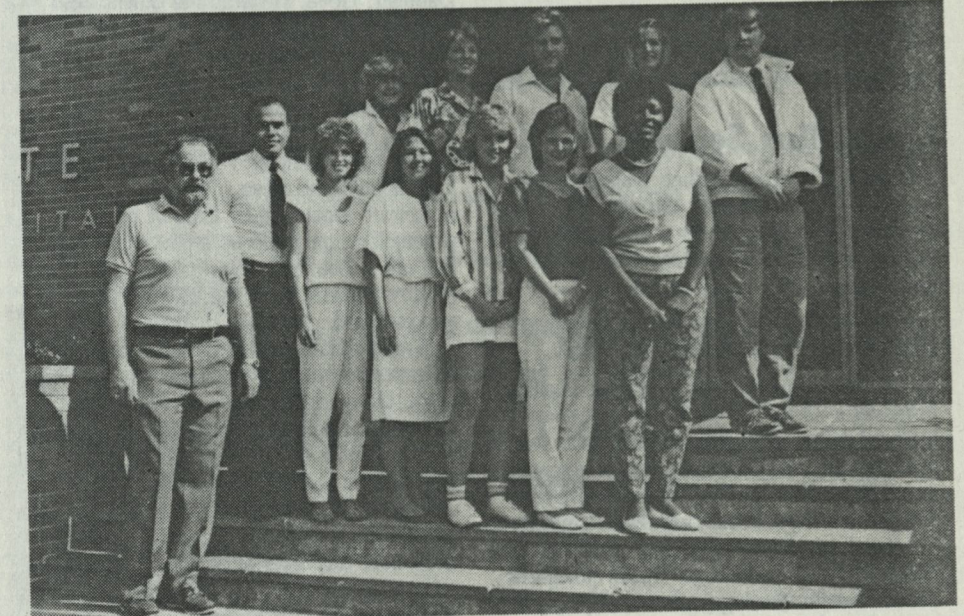

The Respiratory Therapy program has received full accreditation for a five year period following evaluation by a survey committee representing the American Medical Association.

The baccalaureate degree program in Respiratory Therapy was established at SSC in 1982. Sixteen students graduated from the program in the spring of 1985. A survey of these graduates in the spring of 1986 showed full employment of graduates in a variety of respiratory care practice areas ranging from home care programs, neonatal intensive care to heart-lung transplant units.

Initial salaries for the graduates ranged from $16,000 to $27,500 depending upon geographical location and area of practice with an average starting salary of $18,500. Since graduation, two students have also enrolled in graduate educational programs in medicine.

Respiratory Therapy is one of the most rapidly growing and expanding allied health professions. The scope of Respiratory Therapy includes the treatment, management, control, diagnostic evaluation and care of patients with deficiencies and abnormalities associated with the cardiopulmonary system. Those who receive the care of the respiratory therapist range from premature infants to the elderly. They may be suffering from a variety of acute and chronic conditions that are either life threatening or disabling.

The respiratory therapist is unique in that the individual is both a technologist, being well versed with the many types of machines and apparatus used in providing cardiopulmonary support, and a clinician, by providing direct care

Graduates indicate that individuals interested in becoming a respiratory therapist should enjoy working in a fast-paced environment where the technical and scientific responsibilities will be matched by a real need for human relations skills and a desire to help others. Respiratory care is an ever-changing profession and provides the skills and training necessary for movement into various areas of medical practice.

Williams: A World 'Lit by Lightning'

"Nothing's more determined than a cat on a tin roof—is there? Is there, baby?"

These lines by the Tennessee Williams' character, Maggie "the cat," quoted in the New York Times coverage of Williams' death in 1983, describes his own determination and despair. Recognized as the most gifted playwright of his generation, he was also considered one of the most self-destructive. His innovative drama and sense of lyricism made him a major force in the postwar American theatre, yet "As he became more and more successful—following hits like The Glass Menagerie (1945) and A Streetcar Named Desire (1947)—Gradually he found it more and more difficult to write. The turning point as he (Williams) saw it, was 1955, and after Cat on a Hot Tin Roof there was a noticeable decline in his work," Mel Gussow wrote in the NY Times. "To help keep going, he began relying on a ritualistic combination of ingredients—strong coffee, cigarettes, drugs and alcohol."

This pivotal work, "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof"—which brought Williams his second Pulitzer Prize and third Drama Critics Award, opens the Salisbury State College theatre season on October 17 in Holloway Hall Auditorium. Set on a Mississippi delta plantation of "28,000 acres of the most fertile land this side of the valley Nile," a dying patriarch must decide how to divide a multimillion dollar estate between two sons. The title character, Maggie, is married to the youngest son, Brick, an alcoholic ex-athlete who, in the words of critic Wolcott Gibbs, "Stopped hearing living people talk quite a while ago." Her and the father's efforts to recall his son to life constitute much of the action.

"Williams' sympathy lies with the misfits," Oscar Brockett wrote, "the 'fugitive kind'—who usually combine sensitivity and imagination with some form of corruption—often sex, drugs or alcohol . . . the action usually shows the protagonist forced to face the truth," and happily, in "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof," able to come to terms with himself and his society.

"What Williams created at the height of his powers were vulnerable, lost tortured people struggling for dignity, compassion and at least a measure of salvation in a world of almost apocalyptic cruelty. If that world was grotesque and nightmarish, it was nonetheless, as the famous Williams phrase had it, 'lit by lightning,'" Frank Rich wrote.

Williams' extraordinary writing provided career highpoints for a remarkable array of actors including, in the strong film adaptation of "Cat . . ." such stars as Burl Ives, Elizabeth Taylor and Paul Newman.

Tennessee Williams

In the SSC interpretation, a young and dedicated student cast, directed by Dr. Andrew Hepburn, will be recreating the famous Williams characters. The play runs Friday-Saturday, October 17-18, and Thursday through Saturday, October 23-25, at 8 p.m., with a Sunday matinee, October 19, at 2 p.m. Season tickets are available. Call the SSC Theatre Box Office at ext. 6228 for more information.

Art Sale

At the CC Chesapeake Room, a special exhibition and sale of Original Graphic Art will be presented on Friday and Saturday, October 10 and 11, from 11 a.m. - 4 p.m.

Marson Galleries Ltd. of Baltimore, specializes in exhibiting for sale a distinguished collection of original etchings, woodcuts, lithographs, serigraphs and watercolors by old and modern masters. The collection consists of some 800 pieces of original graphic art by leading American, European and Oriental artists.

Represented in this unique collection are antique works by Hiroshige, Kuniyoshi, Daumier, Goya, Hogarth and others. Also included is a fine selection of Indian miniature paintings and manuscripts.

There is a large group of works by such distinguished contemporary artists as Altman, Amano, Azuchi, Baskin, Calder, Chagall, Ebgi, Eggers, Fink, Gantner, Maki, Miro, Rayburn, Tajima, Saito and others. Additionally, there are numerous contemporary Chinese paintings, watercolors, embroideries, batiks, rubbings and folk art. A comprehensive collection of 20th century impressions of the Ukiyo-E prints are also included.

A representative will be present to discuss the collection and to answer questions about the work, the artists and the various graphic techniques employed. The prints are shown in open portfolios in an informal atmosphere and the public is invited to browse through the collection. Marson Galleries Ltd. is the largest firm in the nation specializing in arranging exhibitions and sales of original graphic art at colleges, universities, museums and art centers throughout the United States.

For more information, call the College Center at ext. NEWS.

Parking

The overflow parking area for students is Wayne Avenue, located off Bateman St. at the Athletic Complex.

Students who park in the parking lots of local businesses risk having their vehicles towed.

The parking area at Asbury Church is for Wor-Wic Tech students only. Vehicles without a Wor-Wic Tech sticker will be towed.

If you are having problems with parking contact Jim Phillips, Director of Public Safety, ext. 6222.

Student/Faculty I.D. Cards

All individuals who had photographs taken for their identification cards during the period of August 31 to September 9 may pick up their permanent cards in room 214 Holloway Hall. Office hours are 9:30 a.m.-1:30 p.m. and 2:30-5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Each person must turn in his temporary card to receive the permanent card.

News Deadline

The SSC News is a newsletter for the campus community published each Thursday during fall and spring semesters, unless noted. The deadline is noon on Monday prior to publication. Newsletter stories and items usually are proofed and typeset on a first come, first served basis, so don't feel you have to wait until Monday to get your article to the Public Relations Office (HH 264).

Any story relating to the life of the campus, whether it be of interest to students, faculty or staff, is welcomed. Because we cannot canvass the campus personally, we are grateful to those who keep us current on the activities and issues affecting College life.

Model Needed

Needed, model for drawing and painting classes. Classes meet Tuesday and Thursday, 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. Call the Art Department at ext. 6270 for further information.

Scholarly Exchanges With People's Republic of China

The National Academy of Sciences is offering support for short-term visits (1-3 months) to the People's Republic of China. For Americans in the national and engineering sciences, younger or senior scholars are eligible. For those in the social sciences or humanities, associate or full professors are eligible.

For more information about this unique way to celebrate the SSC Year of China, call Ben Fusaro at ext. 6470 or 6471 (messages).

SSC Cycling News

The SSC Cycling Club has begun weekly rides at 10 a.m. each Saturday morning throughout the semester.

The rides are designed for all levels of ability and fitness—leisurely through competitive interests. The Club is asking each person desiring to ride to call the Intramural Office ext. 6350 by noon each Friday and sign up. An officer for the Club will be there each Saturday morning to help organize the group. Riders depart from the bike rack in front of Maggs PAC. For further information, please call ext. 6350.

March of Dimes Forum

The Lower Shore Chapter of the March of Dimes presents "Parents, It's Time to Talk," on Saturday, November 8, from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. in Holloway Hall.

The series of workshops are centered on the problem of adolescent pregnancy. Low birth weight is the most common condition that contributes to, or is a part of, birth defects. Babies of teenage mothers are more likely to be born too small too soon and adolescent pregnancy is both a national and local problem.

Dr. Mary S. Calderone, a pioneering leader in the field of sexuality, will speak.

Registration is $5. For more information, call Kathy Fox or Gene White at ext. 6372 or the March of Dimes office at 546-2241.

Flu Vaccine

A limited supply of flu vaccine is available in the Health Center. Interested faculty and staff may receive this service for a $5 fee. There is no charge to students.

Because peak traffic times in the Health Center are unpredictable, to save time we suggest you call prior to coming into the Health Center. Ext. 6262.

Health Insurance Reminder

October is Open Enrollment Month—the time to reevaluate your health insurance coverage and make any changes. Contact the Personnel Office if you wish to add family members, take a child's name off the policy because he is no longer your dependent, or change the type of coverage in any other way.

If any of you missed the meetings held on campus last Friday to explain the new Health Maintenance Organization plan, there will be meetings held at the UMES campus (Student Development Center) in Princess Anne on Friday, October 10. Call the UMES campus for details.

Asian Art Exhibit Opens

An exhibition of full-scale facsimiles of some of the most important paintings of the Chinese Imperial Collection now in the National Palace Museum in Taipei goes on exhibit Saturday, October 11, at the College Gallery.

Organized with the help of Maxwell K. Hearn, associate curator of the Department of Asian Art of the Metropolitan Museum in New York, the Met also lent some of the works on display.

President and Mrs. Bellavance will host a reception celebrating the opening of the "Masterpieces" exhibition at 7 p.m. in the College Gallery, which is located on the second floor of Blackwell Library. The public is cordially invited to attend.

The exhibit runs through October 30.

Personal Safety Tips

Since the start of the fall semester four students have been accosted—two on campus and two very close by the college. In each case the incident occurred at night and the student involved was walking alone. The campus and neighboring streets are not immune from activities frequently associated with metropolitan areas or larger, urban colleges. Personal safety tips, prepared by the Department of Public Safety, may lessen the likelihood of becoming a victim.

1. Do not walk or jog alone after dark.
2. Walk in well-lit areas and stay near the curb, away from alleys, entry ways and bushes where someone could be hiding.
3. Avoid short cuts. Walk where there are other people present.
4. Do not hitchhike or accept rides from strangers. If a driver asks you for directions, stay far enough away so that you can not be pulled into the car. Do not pick up strangers.

5. If you are being followed when walking, change directions, cross the street and vary your speed. Go to a well-lit area or a place where there are other people. If followed by someone in a car, turn and walk in the other direction. Record a license number.

6. Park your car in a well-lit area and lock the door.
7. Keep doors locked at all times. Don't unlock the door for strangers. Keep first floor windows locked.

8. If you need an escort to or from your car or residence hall, call the Department of Public Safety, 543-6222.

9. Locate someone in your class who is going in the same direction after class ends.
10. Report any suspicious activity or crimes to the Public Safety Office, ext. 6222.

You are your own best protection. For more information on personal safety, contact the Department of Public Safety, located in Holloway Hall room 22, ext. 6222.

Assistant Director for College Center Position

The College is seeking an energetic and resourceful individual to immediately fill the position of Assistant Director for Programs.

The successful candidate will be responsible for assisting students to plan and implement contemporary entertainment activities and serve as key advisor to recognized student organizations. The individual will work closely with the College community and will need to be experienced in the development of student leadership programs.

A master's degree in higher education administration, student personnel or a related area is preferred. A bachelor's degree is required. Familiarity with the Arts, Recreation and Business Administration is valuable; experience in college programming desirable; the ability to organize and accomplish tasks within deadlines is essential.

The salary is competitive and commensurate with experience. There are excellent fringe benefits. Submit a letter of application and resume by November 5 to John Fields, Assistant Dean of Students.

Salisbury State College is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply.

Executive Director

Applications are being accepted for a contractual position of Executive Director of the Information and Resource Center for Alcohol and other Drugs. Responsibilities include supervision, preparation and submission of grants, collection and dissemination of literature, and, upon request, assistance with programs within the four Lower Shore counties and Salisbury State College. Candidates must have the following: B.A. or B.S. Degree/Masters preferred in related field; two to five years of related experience; and experience in programming, addiction counseling and/or prevention required. Only applicants who meet the minimal requirements will be interviewed.

The salary is $17,000 - $20,000 commensurate with experience. There are no fringe benefits, but reimbursement for mileage. The beginning date is November 10. Send resume and three letters of recommendation to David MacLeod, Chairman of Search Committee, Lower Shore Prevention Resource Center, Salisbury State College, Salisbury, MD 21801. Deadline date is October 2, 1986. An equal opportunity affirmative action employer.

Expert on Oriental Religions To Speak Here

"Confucianism, Taoism and Buddhism: The Philosophies of China" is the topic of a presentation by Dr. Tu Wei-ming, professor of Chinese History and Philosophy at Harvard University, on Thursday, October 9, at 7:30 p.m. in Caruthers Hall Auditorium.

Dr. Tu is the author of several books on Confucianism including Confucian Thought: Selfhood as Creative Transformation (New York University Press, 1985), Confucian Ethics Today: The Singapore Challenge (Singapore: Federal Publications, 1984), Humanity and Self-Cultivation: Essays in Confucian Thought (Lancaster-Miller Publishers, 1980), and Neo-Confucian Thought in Action—Wang Yang-ming's Youth (University of California Press, 1976).

Additionally, he has written articles and reviews in Journal of Asian Studies, Philosophy East and West, Daedalus, Humanitas, The Monist, Journal of Chinese Philosophy, American Historical Review, Harvard Journal of Asiatic Studies, Ming Studies, International Journal of Asian Thought and Religion and Bulletin of the Concerned Asian Scholars.

He has been on the Harvard faculty since 1981 and is currently chairman of that institution's Committee on the Study of Religion. He was previously professor of History at the University of California at Berkeley and assistant professor of East Asian Studies at Princeton University.

He is a member of the Association for Asian Studies, the Society for Asian and Comparative Philosophy, the American Historical Society and the American Academy of Religion.

He has earned the following fellowships: Harvard-Yenching Fellow, Princeton Humanities Fellow, American Council of Learned Societies Grants and Senior Scholar (Committee on Scholarly Communication with the People's Republic of China, National Academy of Sciences, 1979-80).

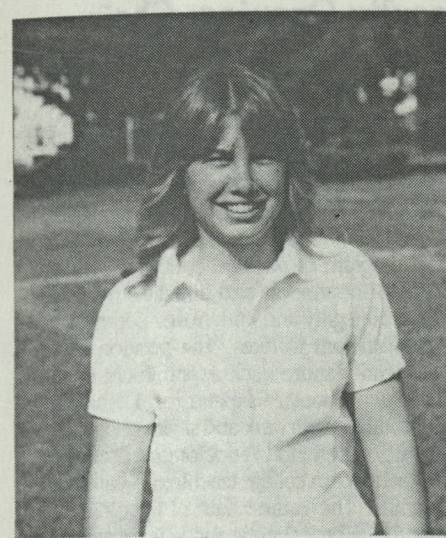

The program is part of the College's year-long cultural series, "China: Tradition and Transformation." Sponsored by the Faculty Cultural Events Committee, Dr. Tu's presentation is free and open to the public.

ESL Workshop

The Writing Center is organizing a workshop for ESL (English as a Second Language) students. Any student whose native language is not English is invited to attend. Instructors are encouraged to refer students who seem to be having difficulty with standard English forms. The workshop will be held in the Writing Center (Caruthers Hall A-202) on Monday evenings from 6-9 p.m., beginning October 6. Interested students are encouraged to stop by the Writing Center or call ext. 6392. A second weekly section may be added if scheduling difficulties occur.

Classes are open to all staff, faculty, administration, full and part-time, commuting and on-campus students interested in learning how to communicate with the deaf in conversation or interpreting. New and exciting things are being planned for this year! For more information call Belinda "Bee" Cathey at 548-9472.

Robin Adair

Betsy Sprinkel

Adair, Sprinkel Named Field Hockey Captains for 1986

Seniors Robin Adair and Betsy Sprinkel have been named co-captains for the 1986 SSC field hockey team, head coach Karen Weaver has announced.

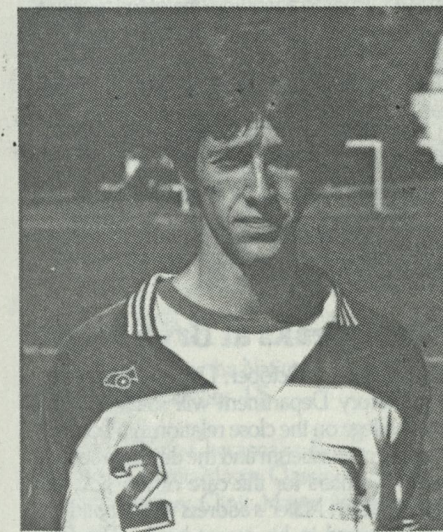

Adair, a former star at Cape Henlopen High School in Delaware, is coming off a terrific 1985 season. She was named a first team All-American and All-Region performer. Playing attack, Adair led SSC with 26 goals last season.

"Robin is the leader on the field," Weaver said. "She has a never-say-die attitude and leads by example."

Sprinkel, a native of Severna Park, MD, is a standout defensive player at SSC. Last season she put 84 balls in scoring position for the Sea Gulls and contributed to six shutouts.

"Betsy is the spirit leader on the squad," Weaver added. "She is always keeping everyone mentally up and in good spirits."

David League

Robert Novak

SSC Soccer Captains Named For '86

Senior David League and junior Robert Novak were named as the SSC Soccer co-captains for 1986, head coach Gerry DiBartolo has announced.

"David and Robert have earned the respect of their teammates," DiBartolo said. "They are both leaders on and off the field and are good examples of student-athletes."

League, from Bowie, was a second team All-State player last year for the Gulls. The back scored one goal and was named the SSC soccer player of the week for October 14, 1985, for his outstanding play at sweeper.

Novak, from Upper Marlboro, led the team with 10 assists and 18 points last season. He also scored four goals and was a second team All-State performer. Novak was named the SSC player of the week last year for September 30 as he led the Gulls to two shutout wins and played every midfield position.

Sports: Scheffler Records Nation's Best Time In Cross Country

SSC cross country runner Scott Scheffler ran the fastest race in the nation in 1986 on Saturday in the Susquehanna Invitational in Pennsylvania. Scheffler ran the eight kilometer run in 24:06 minutes to take first place. The time broke the course record by 28 seconds and broke his personal best by 45 seconds.

The team finished third behind Susquehanna and Ursinus out of five teams. The other top four runners for SSC were Krah Plunkert, 16th place, Tim Blasko, 17th, Jim Sumstine, 18th, and Terry Rowell, 24th. The Gulls will take a week off before traveling to Allentown (PA) on October 18.

In football, Frank Oliver scored two touchdowns while Donald Washington rushed for 109 yards to lead the College football team to a 30-10 victory over the University of the District of Columbia on Saturday in Washington, D.C. SSC quarterback Kevin White passed for 162 yards on a 13 of 23 completion rate. Chris Holston, who was named to the ECAC All-Star team for his performance, caught a school record nine passes for 125 yards. The Gulls have won all four games this season and 13 straight in the regular season dating back to the first game of last year. SSC will host Glassboro State on Saturday at 1:30 p.m. on Parent's Day.

In volleyball, the SSC women's team won all three of its matches last week as they defeated Washington College last Thursday in Chestertown, 15-7, 15-7, 7-15, 12-15 and 15-11. The Gulls then traveled to Washington, D.C., on Saturday and defeated Marymount 15-6, 15-1, and Division I foe American University 15-9, 15-8. Brenda Bowlin and Theresa Kelly played well for SSC in setting up the offensive plays. Salisbury, 7-2 on the year, will travel to UMES on Thursday night this week then hosts Wilmington College on Monday, October 13, at 7 p.m. in the first home match of the year.

Field hockey: Karen Stockton earned her sixth shut out in eight games this season as the women's field hockey team defeated Kutztown University on Thursday afternoon 2-0. Robin Adair scored her team-leading 11th goal of the season while teammate Jill Stewart also scored to lead SSC, 8-0 on the year. The Gulls will host Frostburg State on Friday afternoon at SSC and then entertain Ithaca on Sunday.

Soccer: Chris Yancone scored on an outstanding shot on Saturday to lead the SSC soccer team to a 1-0 win over rival Frostburg State. Yancone scored off a volley hit out of the air off a long cross pass of 25 yards from John Kretschmer. Earlier in the week, Catholic defeated the Gulls 2-0. SSC will host Spring Garden on Saturday at 11 a.m.

Fun In the Outdoors

Want to renew your love for the outdoors... or try it for the very first time? The Outdoor Club meets Wednesdays at 6:30 p.m. in Tawes 118. The Club provides an opportunity to meet friends, learn camping survival skills and plan for up-coming trips. The next trip will be a Cycling/Backpacking trip in the Shenandoah National Park, VA, on October 31 - November 2. Everyone is welcome.

Faculty Seminar Series

Dr. Robert Winder will speak on "Presidential Popularity and the Economy" on Tuesday, October 14, from 3:30-4:30 p.m. in the CC Chesapeake Room.

His talk is the second in a series sponsored by the Faculty Development Committee. For more information on the series, contact Gene White, Department of Psychology.

Public Radio

The new Public Radio Station which is coming to the College was Mark Handley's topic when the director of the Communications Center addressed the Pine Bluff Village Auxiliary in Salisbury on Thursday, September 18.

Handley is part of the College Speaker's Bureau. The Speaker's Bureau offers area organizations several speakers discussing a variety of subjects. There is no charge for the service. Any civic, service or educational organization desiring a speaker should contact the Public Relations Office at ext. 6030.

Molenda To Lecture

The public is invited to a respiratory lecture by Dr. John Molenda, Dean of the School of Science, on Thursday, October 16, at 5 p.m. in the Conference Room of the Education Center, corner of W. Locust St. and Waverly Drive, near Peninsula General Hospital Medical Center.

The lecture is titled, "Mycobacterial Lung Infections." Sponsor of the talk are Upjohn Pharmaceuticals, the American Lung Association and the College's Respiratory Association.

Admission is free. Continuing Education Unit is available. For more information call ext. 6418.

U.S. Constitution Lecture

"Toward a More Perfect Union: Maryland and the U.S. Constitution" is the topic of a presentation by Greg Stiverson, director of the Maryland Office for the Bicentennial of the Constitution of the United States, on Wednesday, October 8, at 7 p.m. in Caruthers Hall Auditorium.

Following the lecture, Dr. David Heidler, assistant professor of History, will moderate a discussion of the question: "Two Centuries Later: Another Convention?"

Dr. Stiverson's lecture is sponsored by the SSC Departments of History and Political Science and the College's Faculty Cultural Affairs Committee. Additionally, the project is made possible with funds from the Maryland Humanities Council through a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities.

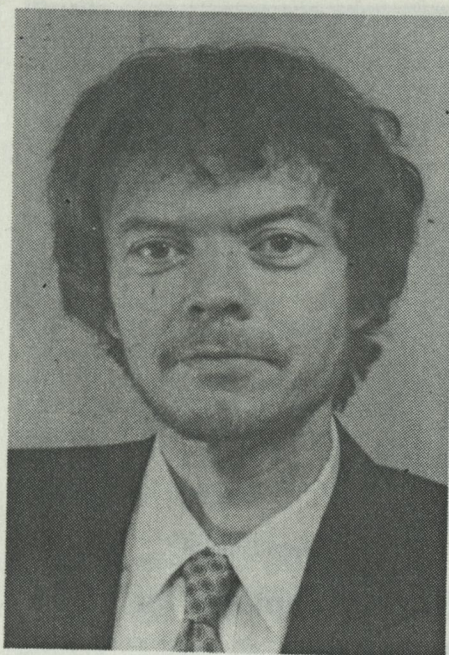

Summer Science Internship with the FBI

Michael Pirkey, a senior Chemistry major, will present a seminar on his experiences as a summer intern at the Forensic Science Research and Training Center, Federal Bureau of Investigation. Projects which Pirkey researched and will be discussed include bullet lead analysis, analysis of a glass dissolution procedure and compositional analysis of cement products.

The seminar is Friday, October 10, at 10 a.m., DH 207. All are welcome!

Aesthetics, Brain Function and Math

Dr. R. W. Thatcher, co-director of Neurometric Clinical Service, University of Maryland School of Medicine, and Director of the UMES Applied Neuroscience Research Institute, will lecture on "Aesthetics, Mathematics and Brain Function." His talk will be at 3:30 p.m. on Thursday, 16 October, in DSH 246.

Dr. Stuart Sargent

Chinese Poetry Presentation

"Classic Themes in Chinese Poetry" is the topic of a presentation by Dr. Stuart Sargent, associate professor of Chinese at the University of Maryland, on Tuesday, October 14, at 7:30 p.m. in Caruthers Hall Auditorium.

The lecture, sponsored by the Faculty Cultural Events Committee in conjunction with the College Foundation, is part of the year-long series of programs centered on the theme, "China: Tradition and Transformation." The public is invited to attend all the programs at no charge.

Dr. Sargent's talk will cover several themes shared by both Chinese and Western poetry: love, war, religious experience and nature. He will discuss the relative importance of these themes in Chinese literature and present examples from various periods to demonstrate how writers in different historical and social contexts handled each theme.

"In the 3,000-year-old tradition of Chinese poetry," said Dr. Sargent, "the work of one's forbears is never forgotten, yet as we move down through the centuries, we find innovations in style, changes in form, and new ways of seeing the world and poetry's place in it, creating a dazzling richness for us to enjoy."

Blue Grass Festival

A Blue Grass Music Festival, to raise money for the Furnace Town Foundation, is scheduled for Sunday, October 12, from noon to 6 p.m. at Furnace Town, off Rt. 12, north of Snow Hill.

Four Blue Grass groups—Country Grass, Old and New Grass, Quillen and Brenner, and Skyline Drive, will play. Admission is $3 per person, $5 a couple, and children accompanied by parents are free.

For more information, call the Furnace Town Foundation at 632-2032 for information.

SAE Banquet October 11

Former Salisbury State President Dr. Norman Crawford will give the opening speech at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon banquet at the Delmarva Convention Center, Delmar, on Saturday, October 11.

A public service fraternity, SAE recently sponsored a fund-raiser for the American Diabetes Association, and at Christmas sponsors projects for the Holly Center in Salisbury.

Although the banquet is not open to the general public, the campus community is invited. For more information on tickets contact Chris Hauge at 546-0101.

Faculty Opening: Chair, Department of Phys Ed. and Athletics Director

Salisbury State College seeks an academically oriented individual to serve as Chair of the Department of Physical Education and Director of Athletics. The successful candidate will demonstrate a commitment to developing a model program of physical education, campus recreation/intramurals and athletics in which academic integrity and student development are the predominant features. The position carries an academic tenure-track appointment coupled with a supplementary stipend for 12-month responsibilities, with rank and salary contingent upon prior experience. A doctorate is preferred, and experience in college teaching and athletics is essential. The earliest date of appointment is January 1. Submit resume and letter of application by October 15 to Keith J. Connors, Dean of the School of Professional Studies, Salisbury State College, Salisbury, MD 21801. Spring Student Teaching Applications

Students planning to register for student teaching in the spring semester should attend one of the application meetings scheduled by the Education Department. Application forms will be distributed and responsibilities and procedures discussed. Prior to attending one of the meetings students should make sure to check their eligibility for student teaching with their advisor.

Meeting dates are Tuesday, Oct. 21 and Wednesday, Oct. 22, Caruthers, Room B-167, 3:30 p.m. Elementary and Secondary Methods Classes - dates to be arranged.

Applications will not be accepted at any other time, so students must attend. For further information, call Al Constantine, director of Field Experiences, CH-150.

Miller Speaks at Bryn Mawr

On Saturday, 11 October, Dr. Timothy Miller of the History Department will speak at Bryn Mawr College on the close relationship between Byzantine monasticism and the development of hospitals (centers for the care of the sick, not simple hostels). Miller's address will expand on issues he raised in his recent book, The Birth of the Hospital in the Byzantine Empire, published by Johns Hopkins University Press.

Miller contends that the monks of the Eastern Roman Empire were committed to a life of philanthropic action in the world as well as to a life of ascetic discipline and withdrawal from society. Paradoxically, the monks saw these two activities as intimately connected. Miller's address is part of the annual Byzantine Studies Conference which this year Bryn Mawr College is sponsoring.

Collegium Performs At Pemberton

The SSC Collegium, under the direction of Dr. Nancy Cooper, performs at the Pemberton Colonial Fair on Saturday, October 11, from 11 a.m. - 2 p.m. The fair takes place on the grounds of Pemberton Hall and includes tours of the plantation house and period demonstrations of arts and crafts.

The Collegium will perform music of the American Colonial period, ranging from folk songs to Revolutionary war songs, political propaganda, and toasts to General Washington. All of the music will be unaccompanied and sung as the musicians stroll around the grounds.

The SSC Collegium is a select group of 14 singers dedicated to the authentic performance of early music.

SSC Hosts US Olympic Team

The United States Field Hockey Association (USFHA) has announced that the women's National (Olympic) Field Hockey Team will play an exhibition match against the Sea Gulls of SSC on Wednesday, October 15, at 4:30 p.m. at Chesapeake Field on campus.

"We are very excited that Salisbury State will get a chance to play the national team," said SSC head coach Karen Weaver, whose team is 8-0 on the season. "It's the ultimate challenge for our players and coaches."

The USA Field Hockey Team will tour six Mid-Atlantic colleges, universities and private schools beginning October 11 at Swarthmore College in Swarthmore, PA, and ending October 19 at Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore.

The Mid-Atlantic States tour was conceived with the dual purpose of bringing national caliber field hockey to the doorsteps of Mid-Atlantic high school and college players while raising funds in support of the National Team's training program leading up to the Olympic Games in 1988.

Each of the tour stops, including SSC, will consist of a player clinic in which National Team players and coaches will provide local athletes with hands-on coaching. Participation in the players clinic is $5 for USFHA members and $10 for non-members. Participation in the coaches clinic is $15 for members and $20 for non-members.

In addition to the clinics, there will be a special Junior Hockey clinic offered at Maggs Activity Center. The Junior Hockey program is a youth sport program geared to eight to 13-year-olds. During the clinic, players and potential coaches will learn the rules of the game of field hockey, basic drills and techniques. Participation in the Junior Hockey Clinic is $2.

To cap the day, Salisbury State will play the USA National Field Hockey Team. There is no charge to watch the Sea Gulls against the best in the USA.

The schedule for the National Team at SSC is: Wednesday, October 15 2:30 p.m.

Players Clinic-Chesapeake Field
Coaches Clinic-Maggs Classroom 205
Junior Hockey Clinic-Maggs Auxiliary Gym 4:30 p.m.

Gulyas Receives Young Alumni Award

Laura Jean Gulyas will be honored with the Salisbury State College Young Alumni Award on Saturday, October 25, during Homecoming festivities. The annual award is presented to an SSC graduate of 10 years or less who has made strides in his or her career field and shown an active interest in public service and exhibited a dedication at Salisbury State College.

Gulyas, a 1981 graduate of SSC, has made great strides in getting on with her life while helping others. She shares her positive outlook on life although she suffered a spinal cord injury in a diving accident in Ocean City in 1983.

"The main goal of the disabled should be to get on with your life and live it," said Gulyas. "You can't be worried about people staring at you. You need to develop a positive attitude."

Three years after the potentially life-shattering accident, including a year of hospitalization, Gulyas is demonstrating her positive attitude while letting others stare at her—on stage.

Gulyas finished runner-up in the Ms. Wheelchair Maryland Pageant last year in Baltimore. She is ready to win this year's award scheduled for next weekend, October 17-18.

"It was fun," said Gulyas about the pageant, one that took considerable prodding by her friends before she would enter. "I met lots of people with positive attitudes. It was refreshing to see others who didn't look at themselves or someone else with a handicap as anything less than a whole person. They took everyone at face value. And, I've got a good chance to win this year," she added.

The contestants in the Ms. Wheelchair Maryland pageant are judged on their communication skills and their self perception and projections. The contestants have to submit three essays, one on their personal achievements, another on their adjustments to their disability and a third on their future goals.

Gulyas not only used her communication skills in the pageant, but in life. She is sharing her positive attitude with others who have been recently forced to deal with a disabling injury as a counselor for the National Spinal Cord Injury Hotline.

The Hotline counselors detail types of educational information and agencies in a particular person's area that provide help to the handicapped as well as rehabilitation hospitals. Equally important, they present, to the disabled, people who encountered similar fears and doubts about reentering life's mainstream.

"It is important that non-disabled people ask questions of people who are disabled and attempt to understand the physical things the disabled can't do and can do," said Gulyas, who is currently substitute teaching at the Berlin Middle School. "I can get around as well as other people who are not disabled. I don't look at myself as being disabled."

Through her positive outlook and willingness to help others, Gulyas exhibited the perfect values of a Salisbury State graduate.

Acupuncturist To Speak

"The Other Medicine: The Art of Acupuncture" is the topic of a presentation by David Mercier, a traditional acupuncturist with a private practice in Easton, MD, on Wednesday, November 5, at 7:30 p.m. in Caruthers Hall Auditorium.

The lecture, sponsored by the SSC Faculty Cultural Events Committee in conjunction with the Salisbury State College Foundation, Inc., will cover some of the history and philosophy of traditional acupuncture. Like all programs in the College's year-long series, "China: Tradition and Transformation," the lecture is free and open to the public.

This lecture will focus primarily on the spirit of Chinese medical practice as expressed in traditional acupuncture. Although much publicity has been given this art for its uses in anesthesia and symptom control, it is, in its pure, traditional form, a holistic system of great depth and complexity used in both the treatment and prevention of illness.

Illness is associated with an imbalance in the flow of Ch'i of life energy, which permeates body, mind and spirit. The task of the acupuncturist is to restore order and harmony in the Ch'i through the insertion of thin needles into carefully selected points on the body. Once harmony is established, the inherent healing power of the individual is activated and symptoms disappear of their own accord.

To the ancient Chinese physician, prevention was more important than treatment after the fact. And health was more than freedom from disease: it was a condition characterized by vitality and strength of spirit, a condition given to the unfolding of our personal wisdom.

In the 20th century, the lessons and methods are still relevant. Acupuncture and herbalism, as the essential forms of Chinese medicine, have endured for thousands of years as living monuments to the wisdom and practicality of Chinese culture.

Dr. Mercier, R.Ac. Dipl. Ac. (NCAA), is registered with the Board of Medical Examiners to practice in Maryland and is board certified by the National Commission for the Certification of Acupuncturists. He is a graduate of the Traditional Acupuncture Institute in Columbia, MD and has studied extensively with Dr. J.R. Worsley in England, where he earned his licentiate and bachelor degrees in traditional acupuncture.

Parking

The overflow parking area for students is Wayne Avenue, located off Bateman St. at the Athletic Complex.

Students who park in the parking lots of local businesses risk having their vehicles towed.

The parking area at Asbury Church is for Wor-Wic Tech students only. Vehicles without a Wor-Wic Tech sticker will be towed.

If you are having problems with parking contact Jim Phillips, Director of Public Safety, ext. 6222.

Fun In the Outdoors

Want to renew your love for the outdoors... or try it for the very first time? The Outdoor Club meets Wednesdays at 6:30 p.m. in Tawes 118. The Club provides an opportunity to meet friends, learn camping survival skills and plan for up-coming trips. The next trip will be a Cycling/Backpacking trip in the Shenandoah National Park, VA, on October 31 - November 2. Everyone is welcome.

News Deadline

The SSC News is a newsletter for the campus community published each Thursday during fall and spring semesters, unless noted. The deadline is noon on Monday prior to publication. Newsletter stories and items usually are proofed and typeset on a first come, first served basis, so don't feel you have to wait until Monday to get your article to the Public Relations Office (HH 264).

Any story relating to the life of the campus, whether it be of interest to students, faculty or staff, is welcomed. Because we cannot canvass the campus personally, we are grateful to those who keep us current on the activities and issues affecting College life.

R. A. Openings

The Department of Housing is seeking qualified students to fill Resident Assistant positions for the spring semester. If you are a student of at least sophomore status, in good academic standing, with a 2.0 G.P.A. you meet the minimum qualifications to become an effective student leader at SSC. If you are interested in the RA position, you may pick up an application in the Housing Department in Holloway Hall beginning Thursday, October 9. Starting salary for RA's is $952 a semester with the opportunity for advancement.

Come join a staff of leaders, doers and motivators! Applications are due Monday, October 27, in the Housing Department.

The College is seeking an energetic and resourceful individual to immediately fill the position of Assistant Director for Programs.

The successful candidate will be responsible for assisting students to plan and implement contemporary entertainment activities and serve as key advisor to recognized student organizations. The individual will work closely with the College community and will need to be experienced in the development of student leadership programs.

A master's degree in higher education administration, student personnel or a related area is preferred. A bachelor's degree is required. Familiarity with the Arts, Recreation and Business Administration is valuable; experience in college programming desirable; the ability to organize and accomplish tasks within deadlines is essential.

The salary is competitive and commensurate with experience. There are excellent fringe benefits. Submit a letter of application and resume by November 5 to John Fields, Assistant Dean of Students.

Salisbury State College is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply.

SSC Cycling News

The SSC Cycling Club has begun weekly rides at 10 a.m. each Saturday morning throughout the semester.

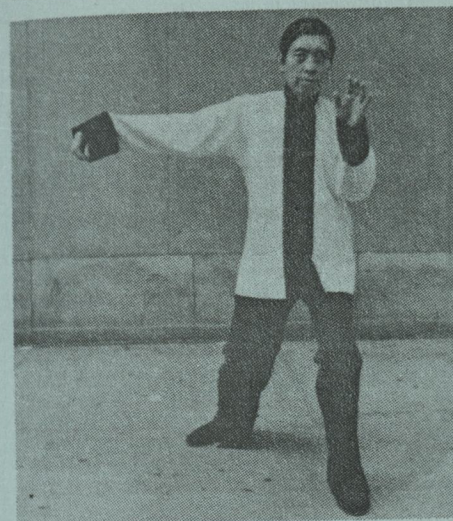

The rides are designed for all levels of ability and fitness—leisurely through competitive interests. The Club is asking each person desiring to ride to call the Intramural Office ext. 6350 by noon each Friday and sign up. An officer for the Club will be there each Saturday morning to help organize the group. Riders depart from the bike rack in front of Maggs PAC. For further information, please call ext. 6350.

March of Dimes Forum

The Lower Shore Chapter of the March of Dimes presents "Parents, It's Time to Talk," on Saturday, November 8, from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. in Holloway Hall.

The series of workshops are centered on the problem of adolescent pregnancy. Low birth weight is the most common condition that contributes to, or is a part of, birth defects. Babies of teenage mothers are more likely to be born too small too soon and adolescent pregnancy is both a national and local problem. Dr. Mary S. Calderone, a pioneering leader in the field of sexuality, will speak.

Registration is $5. For more information, call Kathy Fox or Gene White at ext. 6372 or the March of Dimes office at 546-2241.

T'ai Chi Master William C.C. Chen

T'ai Chi Demonstration and Lecture

Master William C.C. Chen presents a demonstration and lecture of T'ai Chi, the so-called "Supreme Ultimate Martial Art," on Monday, October 20, at 7:30 p.m. in Caruthers Hall Auditorium.

The presentation, sponsored by the Faculty Cultural Events Committee in conjunction with the Salisbury State College Foundation, Inc., is part of a year-long series of programs centered around the theme, "China: Tradition and Transformation." All the programs in the series are free and open to the public.

Master Chen, born in Chekiang province, China, in 1935, has been involved with T'ai Chi Chuan most of his life. He studied at an early age with the best known T'ai Chi Chuan master of the time, Professor Cheng Man-ching.

Chen's talk and demonstration will address the principles of body mechanics which are found in T'ai Chi Chuan and the realistic applications of the martial art to promote good health and animate one's daily activities.

"Throughout all the years of my T'ai Chi Chuan career," said Chen, "I have gained greatly in the knowledge and understanding of this unique form of martial art, which is one of the most effective for self-defense, as well as for physical fitness and mental well-being."

AST Workshop

The Alpha Sigma Tau sorority at the College will host some six out-of-state chapters at a Regional Leadership Workshop on October 17-19.

Some 75 AST members from outside Maryland plus 20 officers of the sorority's national board will attend the weekend-long workshops on leadership, time management and effective rush skills.

After a Friday night check-in, workshops will be held throughout the day Saturday followed by a banquet at Christopher's Restaurant and a social with campus fraternities. The workshops will conclude on Sunday.

The Beta Mu chapter of AST at Salisbury State has 26 members and has been in existence eight years.

Student/Faculty I.D. Cards

All individuals who had photographs taken for their identification cards during the period of August 31 to September 22 may pick up their permanent cards in Holloway Hall, room 214. Office hours are 9:30 a.m.-1:30 p.m. and 2:30-5:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. Each person must turn in his temporary card to receive the permanent card.

Elaine Allnut

Brenda Bowlin

Volleyball Captains Named

Elaine Allnut and Brenda Bowlin were named as the 1986 SSC women's volleyball co-captains, head coach Peggy Troiano has announced.

"Elaine has experience and knowledge as assets to her volleyball abilities," Troiano said. "Brenda is a leader who controls the game through commitment and hustle. Both players know the game and are the quarterbacks on the court."

Sports Wrap-Up

Junior halfback Mike Coppa carried the ball a school record 30 times on Saturday while leading the Sea Gull football team to a 28-7 win over visiting Glassboro State. The 5-0 Gulls gained 284 yards on the ground including 169 by Coppa who also scored a third quarter touchdown on a one-yard run. Other SSC touchdowns were scored by Donald Washington, Frank Oliver and Kevin Roberts. Roberts' TD came on the final play of the game when quarterback Earl Hoffman lofted a six-year scoring pass.

Senior defensive end Tom Kress led the defensive attack for SSC as the Profs gained just 58 total yards rushing and scored their only TD in the final quarter. The Gulls take their 14-game regular season winning streak to Buffalo State on Saturday before returning home on October 25 to battle the Division III's second ranked team, Montclair State, on Homecoming. The men's soccer team enjoyed a fine week as it won two 2-1 matches. The Gulls defeated Washington College 2-1 early in the week on goals by Robert Novak and Tony D'Antonio. Bryan Watson and John Kretschmer each scored on Saturday as SSC nipped Spring Garden by one goal. Goalkeeper John Palmer played well with five saves in the two wins. SSC, now 5-6, travels to Elizabethtown on Saturday.

Number one in the nation and still rolling describes the women's field hockey team. After getting the news that SSC was ranked number one in Division III, the Gulls defeated Frostburg State (ranked fifth) 1-0 on a goal by Robin Adair and Ithaca College (ranked ninth) 2-1 on goals by Jill Stewart and Kim Finlayson. SSC, 10-0, travels to Bloomsburg on Saturday to battle the nation's second ranked team.

The Women's volleyball team suffered two defeats last week. Christopher Newport netted the Gulls 14-16, 15-8, 15-11 and UMES defeated SSC 15-1, 15-12. Salisbury, 7-4, participates in the Gallaudet Tournament on Saturday.

The men's cross country team was idle last week but is back in action on Saturday at Allentown, PA. Scott Scheffler has won all three meets this year in which the Gulls have participated.

Cycling Club

The SSC Cycling Club will travel to the Shenandoah for a camping/cycling trip on October 31 - November 2. Each person must provide their own food and spending money, the travel and campsite expenses will be paid from club dues.

Eight spaces are available for this trip. Sign up and obtain more information at the Intramural Office in Maggs Gym.

The SSC Scoreboard (through October 12)

Field Hockey	10-0
Football	5-0
Cross Country	10-3
Volleyball	7-4

Field Hockey Number One

Never in the history of Salisbury State College and athletic polls has a Sea Gull sport been rated number one in the nation. However, on Wednesday, October 8, 1986, at 1:15 p.m., SSC head coach Karen Weaver confirmed that her field hockey team was indeed the number one team in the nation.

Salisbury State, 8-0 on the season, jumped from seventh in the previous poll to the top in the second NCAA Division III field hockey poll.

"It's so exciting," said Weaver, who has brought the SSC field hockey program from a 120th ranking in 1982 to number one in 1986. "It's great to be number one, but I hope we can retain our position and be number one at the end. That's when it counts."

The Gulls have earned the top ranking by starting the season with eight straight wins including a 2-0 victory over the defending national champion and top-ranked Trenton State squad. SSC won the Sunfest Tournament in Salisbury and defeated four top 20 teams in its eight matches.

SSC plays 11 teams which are nationally ranked including six of the top nine, excluding SSC. "The other teams might have an extra incentive when playing us because we're number one," said Weaver. "But, there's not any pressure on us. We'll just go out and play the best we can—number one or not."

Go Bananas!

The Student Health Advisory Committee (SHAC), along with the support of the SSC Rugby Team, will hold its second annual "Go Bananas Night," Wednesday, November 5, in Tawes Gym from 7-10 p.m.

"Go Bananas" is a night of games such as "Dizzy Izzy," Tug of War, a banana eating contest and others all for one purpose—to have fun!

SHAC urges student organizations, faculty, administrators and dorm groups to compete. At least 10 teams with 10 members per team are needed. Prizes provided by Coca-Cola and Wyatt Wholesale, Inc. will be given to the winning team, as well as free refreshments to all participants. The music is courtesy of WSSC; admission is free.

All interested groups should contact SHAC, through the Health Center.

Alcohol Awareness Week

This year National Collegiate Alcohol Awareness Week is scheduled for October 20-26.

Alcohol Awareness Week is intended to promote education and prevention, to raise awareness of problems associated with alcohol misuse and abuse and to promote individual responsibility, as the key to preventing or solving those problems.

There are no "magic bullets" or "quick fixes" to problems associated with alcohol misuse and abuse. Rather, only through education, prevention and individual responsibility can we hope to make lasting and meaningful progress.

Therefore, in recognition of this week, there will be several displays and activities throughout the campus. Additionally, the Health Center will continue its tradition of sponsoring Go Bananas Night; but due to scheduling problems, this will not occur until November 5 in Tawes Gym.

Anyone requesting more information about these activities should contact the Dean of Students Office (ext. 6080).

China Life, Folklore

"Chinese Family Life and Folklore: Traditions of the Home, Hearth, and Village" is the topic of a presentation by folklife expert Dr. Maxine Miska on Wednesday, October 22, at 7:30 p.m. in Caruthers Auditorium.

The lecture, sponsored by the Faculty Cultural Events Committee and part of the College's year-long series, "China: Tradition and Transformation," is free and open to the public.

Dr. Miska's presentation depicts aspects of everyday life in traditional China and is illustrated with slides. Using the Chinese rural house plan as a focal point, the lecture begins with the philosophical meaning of traditional architecture and how buildings incorporate folk beliefs about nature, the proper relations between family members, life, death and the structure of the cosmos.

The extended family system is described in relation to beliefs about ancestors and folk religion, burial rites and the building of tombs. Annual festivals and celebrations, such as Chinese New Year's, are related to life in the village or community; the major folk deities and their temples are presented in terms of the ideals and aspirations of community life.

Dr. Miska is the former director of the Folklife Study Project of the Brooklyn Rediscovery and the Folklife Center of the International House of Philadelphia. She has also worked as a researcher for both the Long Island Historical Society and the Smithsonian Institution's Folklife Program.

For more information, call the College Center at 543-NEWS.

UMES Jazz Band To Perform

The Black Student Union presents the 17-piece UMES Jazz Ensemble in a concert in Holloway Hall Auditorium on Tuesday, October 28, at 8:00 p.m.

The program is free and open to the public.

Nurses Association Scholarships

Scholarship money is available for undergraduate pre-Nursing and Nursing students currently enrolled in state approved schools of Nursing. Criteria for selection include academic achievement, financial need, involvement in Nursing student organizations and community activities related to health care.

Details are available through the College of Nursing and Health Sciences, ext. 6420.

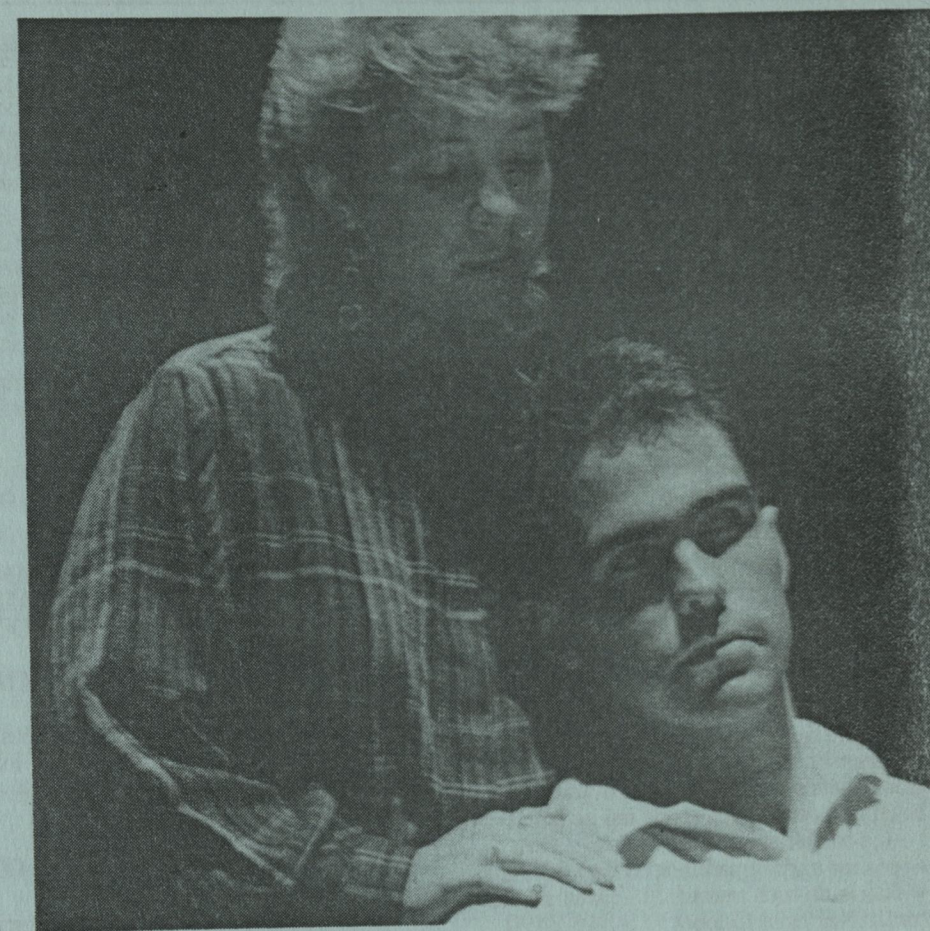

Humor, Health Care In Russia

On Tuesday, October 21, at 5 p.m., the Student Nurses' Association is sponsoring a spaghetti dinner. The purpose of the dinner is to allow pre-Nursing and Nursing students an opportunity to meet.

Dinner is free to pre-Nursing and Nursing majors. There is a 50 cents charge for non-Nursing, pre-Nursing majors and faculty/staff. The dinner will be held at the PGH Education Center. For those needing transportation the campus shuttle runs to the Education Center approximately every 20 minutes.

Immediately following dinner, the speaker, Betsy Drewer, RN, will make her presentation "Humor and Health Care in Russia." Mrs. Drewer prepared the presentation after her recent trip to Russia to observe its health care system.

Reservations must be made by Friday, October 17. These reservations can be made by calling the Nursing Department at ext. 6401 or by signing up at the Education Center.

Williams: A World 'Lit by Lightning'

"Nothing's more determined than a cat on a tin roof—is there? Is there, baby?"

These lines by the Tennessee Williams' character, Maggie "the cat," quoted in the New York Times coverage of Williams' death in 1983, describes his own determination and despair. Recognized as the most gifted playwright of his generation, he was also considered one of the most self-destructive. His innovative drama and sense of lyricism made him a major force in the postwar American theatre, yet "As he became more and more successful—following hits like The Glass Menagerie (1945) and A Streetcar Named Desire (1947)—Gradually he found it more and more difficult to write. The turning point as he (Williams) saw it, was 1955, and after Cat on a Hot Tin Roof there was a noticeable decline in his work," Mel Gussow wrote in the NY Times. "To help keep going, he began relying on a ritualistic combination of ingredients—strong coffee, cigarettes, drugs and alcohol."

This pivotal work, Cat on a Hot Tin Roof—which brought Williams his second Pulitzer Prize and third Drama Critics Award, opens the Salisbury State College theatre season on October 17 in Holloway Hall Auditorium. Set on a Mississippi delta plantation of "28,000 acres of the most fertile land this side of the valley Nile," a dying patriarch must decide how to divide a multimillion dollar estate between two sons. The title character, Maggie, is married to the youngest son, Brick, an alcoholic ex-athlete who, in the words of critic Wolcott

Gibbs, "Stopped hearing living people talk quite a while ago." Her and the father's efforts to recall his son to life constitute much of the action.

"Williams' sympathy lies with the misfits," Oscar Brockett wrote, "the 'fugitive kind'—who usually combine sensitivity and imagination with some form of corruption—often sex, drugs or alcohol . . . the action usually shows the protagonist forced to face the truth," and happily, in Cat on a Hot Tin Roof, "able to come to terms with himself and his society."

"What Williams created at the height of his powers were vulnerable, lost tortured people struggling for dignity, compassion and at least a measure of salvation in a world of almost apocalyptic cruelty. If that world was grotesque and nightmarish, it was nonetheless, as the famous Williams phrase had it, 'lit by lightning,'" Frank Rich wrote.

Williams' extraordinary writing provided career highpoints for a remarkable array of actors including, in the strong film adaptation of Cat . . . such stars as Burl Ives, Elizabeth Taylor and Paul Newman.

In the SSC interpretation, a young and dedicated student cast, directed by Dr. Andrew Hepburn, will be recreating the famous Williams characters. The play runs Friday-Saturday, October 17-18, and Thursday through Saturday, October 23-25, at 8 p.m., with a Sunday matinee, October 19, at 2 p.m. Season tickets are available. Call the SSC Theatre Box Office at ext. 6228 for more information.

Cookie Colloquium

The Philosophical Society's first Cookie Colloquium of the year will be on Thursday, October 16, at 3:30 p.m. in Caruthers 105.

Dr. Jack Wenke is the featured speaker; his talk is entitled: "The Pondering Repose of IIs and IIs Eternally: The Making of Melville's Philosophical Fiction."

All are invited and refreshments will be served.

Affirmative Action Plan

The College's Affirmative Action Plan has been recently updated, and a copy is on file in Blackwell Library for access by College employees.

The plan covers hiring procedures for new employees and shows hiring goals set by the College for women and minorities. Suggestions for improving the plan are welcome and should be directed to Ms. Linda Cashman, director of Institutional Research/Affirmative Action Officer, HH-135.

The following offices also have copies: the president, vice presidents, academic deans, director of Administrative Services, Personnel Office, Dean of Students, most department chairs and affirmative action.

Research Opportunity in Taiwan

An independent study or research opportunity on marketing situation in Taiwan will be offered to one SSC student for the celebration of the "China Year" by Professor I-an Jen, chairman of Taiwan Forestry Economic Research Institute in Taipei. The research will be conducted under Professor Jen's guidance from one to three months with expenses paid, including room and board and possibly the round-trip air fare.

Any reliable student with at least a B.A. degree and a strong marketing background who wishes to do such research in Taiwan should contact Neil Jen by October 31 at 546-2490 or ask for him at Blackwell Library during office hours 8:00 a.m. - 4:00 p.m.

Chemistry Seminar

Barbara Schweitzer, a senior Chemistry major, presents a seminar on her experiences in an undergraduate research program at Lehigh University during the past summer. The seminar is on Friday, October 17, at 10:00 a.m. in Devilbiss Hall, 207.

Her project involved a study of the structure of coal. Organic techniques used to break the bonds within coals to increase its solubility will be discussed in the seminar.

Jones on Oysters

Dr. Thomas W. Jones, associate professor and chairman of the Biology Department, presents some of the results from his research on oysters during the Joint Meeting of the Southeastern Estuarine Research Society and Atlantic Estuarine Research Society on Friday, October 17, at Top Sail Beach, NC.

The title of his talk is "The effect of annual climatic variations on phytoplankton/detritus dynamics in mesohaline estuarine environments and its relationship to oyster fecundity."

For the last six years, Dr. Jones has been actively involved in research on oyster problems in the Chesapeake Bay. His main focus is on the biochemical quality of food of oysters (microscopic algae) and how current pollution problems in the Chesapeake affect that biochemistry. His talk will present results from a three-year $150,000 Sea Grant project which ended in 1985 in which he and his colleagues studied the oyster populations in the Choptank River. He currently is funded by the Maryland Department of Natural Resources to continue on a more intensive basis the research started on the Sea Grant Project.

Dr. Jones is also a visiting associate professor at the University of Maryland Horn Point Environmental Laboratories. In addition to his DNR grant, he is working there with Dr. Thomas Malone on a National Science Foundation grant which is looking at the biochemistry of the water that flows out of the Chesapeake Bay onto the Continental Shelf.

Personal Safety Tips

Since the start of the fall semester four students have been accosted—two on campus and two very close by the college. In each case the incident occurred at night and the student involved was walking alone. The campus and neighboring streets are not immune from activities frequently associated with metropolitan areas or larger, urban colleges. Personal safety tips, prepared by the Department of Public Safety, may lessen the likelihood of becoming a victim.

1. Do not walk or jog alone after dark.
2. Walk in well-lit areas and stay near the curb, away from alleys, entry ways and bushes where someone could be hiding.
3. Avoid short cuts. Walk where there are other people present.
4. Do not hitchhike or accept rides from strangers. If a driver asks you for directions, stay far enough away so that you can not be pulled into the car. Do not pick up strangers.

5. If you are being followed when walking, change directions, cross the street and vary your speed. Go to a well-lit area or a place where there are other people. If followed by someone in a car, turn and walk in the other direction. Record a license number.
6. Park your car in a well-lit area and lock the door.

7. Keep doors locked at all times. Don't unlock the door for strangers. Keep first floor windows locked.
8. If you need an escort to or from your car or residence hall, call the Department of Public Safety, 543-6222.

9. Locate someone in your class who is going in the same direction after class ends.
10. Report any suspicious activity or crimes to the Public Safety Office, ext. 6222.

You are your own best protection. For more information on personal safety, contact the Department of Public Safety, located in Holloway Hall room 22, ext. 6222.

VOL. XIII NO. 9

Homecoming '86 Is for Everyone!

Friendly faces, fine food, fast and furious football and more than a fillip of nostalgia add up to flourishing 1986 Homecoming weekend October 24-26 at the College.

"All alumni and friends of the College are invited to join in the festivities," Mrs. Judith Pielemeier, executive director of the SSC Alumni Association, said. "We have people coming in from South Carolina, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Florida, even Bellevue, Washington, as well as Maryland, Virginia and Delaware."

Celebrating their 50th-year reunion, members of the class of '36 will be honored guests. They, along with alumni from classes prior to '36 will be saluted at festivities which include cocktail parties, luncheons, a special alumni dinner and an anniversary tea.

The alumni dinner and grand reunion is Saturday, October 25, in the Ruth Powell Dining Hall. Special awards will be presented to Salisbury business and civic leader Avery Hall, and distinguished alumni Carvel LaCurtis of Pocomoke City and Laura Gulyas of Ocean City. SSC catering manager Paul Bowden and his staff are preparing a sit-down New York strip steak dinner for the occasion. Friends of the honorees are invited to attend. Cost of the dinner is $12.50. Dining begins at 7 p.m., following a cocktail hour.

With lowered lights and soft music, the grand reunion in the dining hall which follows should be as nostalgic and relaxing as Saturday afternoon sports should be exciting. SSC, currently ranked 17th in the nation out of some 150 Division III football teams, is playing Montclair State, NJ, ranked third. Although both teams went to the NCAA quarterfinals last year, they did not play each other. "This should be one of the greatest games since the founding of the football program here in 1972," predicts SSC head football coach Mike McGlinchey.

The game starts at 1:30 p.m. at Sea Gull stadium, but a special tent for alumni will be open from 11 a.m. on, with refreshments, music and College mementoes on sale from the SSC Book Rack. The tent will be across from the stadium and an alumni rooting section will be reserved in the stands.

Sports enthusiasts also will have a chance to see a soccer game that morning (against Rutgers-Camden) at 11 a.m. on the soccer field and a women's volleyball trimatch against Marymount College, VA, and Johns Hopkins University Saturday night.

Throughout the weekend alumni and friends of the College can tour the campus as well as attend gallery and museum exhibits. At 10:30 a.m. Saturday, Dr. Chi Chong Lee Lau, painter and professor of Art at Howard University, is giving a lecture/demonstration on traditional Chinese painting techniques.

And a luncheon honoring Dr. John Shope, first chairman of the SSC Sociology Dept., is scheduled for Saturday at 11:30 a.m. in the

This year's Homecoming game on Saturday at 1:30 p.m. has all the makings of a classic. The Sea Gulls (above in '85 NCAA playoffs) and Montclair State, NJ, (ranked third nationally out of some 150 Division III teams) are both undefeated this season.

With special and private reunions being planned throughout the weekend, alumni may wish to rendez-vous with former classmates on Friday, October 24, at a cocktail party in the Social Room of Holloway Hall, to coordinate weekend activities. The Tennessee Williams play, Cat on a Hot Tin Roof, is being performed at 8 p.m. in Holloway Hall Auditorium by the College Players, and alumni may wish to take in both the play and party.

On Sunday, October 26, SSC's traditional anniversary luncheon is at 12:30 p.m. in the Social Room, followed by the anniversary tea at 1:30 p.m. At that time the class of '36 will present a special gift to the College.

For more information and schedules of Homecoming festivities, reunions, tickets, games, tours, etc., contact the Office of Alumni Relations at ext. 6042.

Class of '31: agent Margaret Laws Engles, call 835-8635.

Class of '36: agent Bernice Lawless, 479-2724.

Class of '41: Barbara Lavery and Catherine Tyler. Call Alumni Office.

Annapolis alumni: Wade Caruthers.

Call Alumni Office.

Band alumni: to perform in Alumni Band at Saturday's football game, contact Dr. Charles Smith in the Music Dept.

Laura Gulyas Is New Ms. Wheelchair MD

Laura J. Gulyas of Ocean City has been named the new Ms. Wheelchair Maryland.

The 27-year-old, who won the title Saturday night, has a B.S. degree from Salisbury State and intends to apply for her teaching certificate.

Gulyas will represent Maryland in the national finals next August.

First runner-up was Mary K. Hemmerick, 29, of Columbia, a teacher of hearing impaired youngsters in the Montgomery County public school system. Eight contestants entered the pageant at the Maryland Rehabilitation Center, with judging based on accomplishments after the onset of disability and poise in presenting problems of the disabled before elected officials and public forums.

Gulyas will be presented with the Young Alumni Award at the Homecoming ceremonies on Saturday.

FOR MORE HOMECOMING DETAILS AND STORIES SEE PAGES 8 & 9.

The College is seeking an energetic and resourceful individual to fill the position of Assistant Director for Programs.

The successful candidate will be responsible for assisting students to plan and implement contemporary entertainment activities and serve as key advisor to recognized student organizations. The individual will work closely with the College community and will need to be experienced in the development of student leadership programs.

A master's degree in higher education administration, student personnel or a related area is preferred. A bachelor's degree is required. Familiarity with the Arts, Recreation and Business Administration is valuable; experience in college programming desirable; the ability to organize and accomplish tasks within deadlines is essential.

The salary is competitive and commensurate with experience. There are excellent fringe benefits. Submit a letter of application and resume by October 24 to John Fields, Assistant Dean of Students.

Salisbury State College is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply.

March of Dimes Forum

The Lower Shore Chapter of the March of Dimes presents "Parents, It's Time to Talk," on Saturday, November 8, from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. in Holloway Hall.

The series of workshops are centered on the problem of adolescent pregnancy. Low birth weight is the most common condition that contributes to, or is a part of, birth defects. Babies of teenage mothers are more likely to be born too small too soon and adolescent pregnancy is both a national and local problem.

Dr. Mary S. Calderone, a pioneering leader in the field of sexuality, will speak.

Registration is $5. For more information, call Kathy Fox or Gene White at ext. 6372 or the March of Dimes office at 546-2241.

Criteria for selection include academic achievement, financial need, involvement in Nursing student organizations and community activities related to health care.

Details are available through the College of Nursing and Health Sciences, ext. 6420.

Counseling Services

Counseling Services conducts walk-in hours from 1 - 3 p.m. Monday through Thursday. Anyone who wishes to see a counselor, and has not seen one before, is welcome between those hours.

Fun In the Outdoors

Want to renew your love for the outdoors... or try it for the very first time? The Outdoor Club meets Wednesdays at 6:30 p.m. in Tawes 118. The Club provides an opportunity to meet friends, learn camping survival skills and plan for up-coming trips. The next trip will be a Cycling/Backpacking trip in the Shenandoah National Park, VA, on October 31 - November 2. Everyone is welcome.

News Deadline

The SSC News is a newsletter for the campus community published each Thursday during fall and spring semesters, unless noted. The deadline is noon on Monday prior to publication. Newsletter stories and items usually are proofed and typeset on a first come, first served basis, so don't feel you have to wait until Monday to get your article to the Public Relations Office (HH 264).

Any story relating to the life of the campus, whether it be of interest to students, faculty or staff, is welcomed. Because we cannot canvass the campus personally, we are grateful to those who keep us current on the activities and issues affecting College life.

R. A. Openings

The Department of Housing is seeking qualified students to fill Resident Assistant positions for the spring semester. If you are a student of at least sophomore status, in good academic standing, with a 2.0 G.P.A. you meet the minimum qualifications to become an effective student leader at SSC. If you are interested in the RA position, you may pick up an application in the Housing Department in Holloway Hall beginning Thursday, October 9. Starting salary for RA's is $952 a semester with the opportunity for advancement.

Come join a staff of leaders, doers and motivators! Applications are due Monday, October 27, in the Housing Department.

Cycling Club

The SSC Cycling Club will travel to the Shenandoah for a camping/cycling trip on October 31 - November 2. Each person must provide their own food and spending money, the travel and campsite expenses will be paid from club dues.

Eight spaces are available for this trip. Sign up and obtain more information at the Intramural Office in Maggs Gym.

Alcohol Awareness Week

Dr. Thomas E. Bellavance has officially proclaimed October 20-24 as Alcohol Awareness Week here.

The declaration coincides with National Collegiate Alcohol Awareness Week (NCAAW), a nationwide effort sponsored by the Inter-Association Task Force, which represents all college personnel staffs across the country.

Alcohol Awareness Week is intended to make alcohol education and information available for students, to emphasize prevention through education as a viable means of helping, to solve problems associated with alcohol misuse and abuse and to increase awareness of the individual as the one ultimately responsible for decisions regarding alcohol.

"Alcohol Awareness Week at Salisbury State College is intended to not only promote responsible decision making regarding alcohol, but to emphasize that it is ultimately an individual's responsibility to make those decisions," said Dr. Bellavance. "We must begin to realize that only a personal commitment to making responsible decisions regarding alcohol will make an impact on the problems associated with its misuse and abuse."

Alcohol Awareness Week will include various displays and activities across the campus, all aimed at promoting prevention through education and individual responsibility in connection with the use of alcohol.

Meet the Candidates

Would you like an opportunity to talk with the candidates of this area, in person, prior to casting your vote in the General Election November 4?

Come to St. Francis de Sales social room Thursday, October 23, at 7:30 p.m. for an evening of questions and answers with the candidates. Refreshments will be served.

Hustis Earns Lions Club Scholarship

The Lions Club of Salisbury has donated $1,250 to the Franklin P. Perdue School of Business as scholarship money for a Master of Business Administration student. The recipient of the award is Patricia L. Hustis of Salisbury.

Hustis is a full-time M.B.A. student and a former graduate assistant to the Franklin P. Perdue School of Business. She has an undergraduate degree from Salisbury State in Liberal Studies.

It's Not Too Late!

Although fall has just begun, winter isn't far away. There is still time to think about something to do during the long January break. Why not Europe? It's a great time to go! Prices are lower, tourists are fewer and a wealth of cultural activities is available. It's an unbeatable combination!

Better yet, why not go in style with an SSC study-tour to the heart of Europe? Join with SSC to learn about the history and culture of the Habsburg Empire and to visit its magnificent capitals, Prague, Budapest and Vienna. The study-tour is open to all students, faculty and staff and friends of SSC wishing to share in this cultural experience. You can earn credit toward your degree, learn about the extraordinary heartland of Europe while enjoying yourself in the rich cultural traditions of the Habsburg Empire!

Beginning on January 9, you can begin a two-week odyssey to view firsthand the rich history and cultural heritage of the Habsburgs. You'll visit the cities where Beethoven, Mozart, Bach, Liszt, Freud and so many others lived, worked and played. Tour the beautiful medieval city of Prague with its castle, St. Vitus' Cathed ral, the Jewish Quarter; enjoy a special visit to Karlstejn Castle, built by Emperor Charles IV! Go to see the medieval and baroque beauty of Budapest, including Buda Castle and the Fisherman's Bastion. In Vienna you'll see such fascinating sights as Schonbrunn Palace, St. Stephen's Cathedral and the Vienna Woods.

In all of these cities you'll have first-class accommodations, special dinners and special cultural events with time to explore on your own. You'll be under the guidance of experienced leaders who know the area and the cities. The cost for all this is a low $1375! plus applicable tuition and fees, which includes round-trip transportation, hotels, breakfasts, dinners, special excursions, special cultural events and all visa fees.

Interested in doing something different this January? Then drop by the History Department to get more details, or contact Dr. Robert Berry, HH 370, ext. 6248. This study-tour is sponsored by the History Department. Time is short! Don't miss this marvelous opportunity to learn more about the heart of Central Europe!

International Film Series

Boat People (Hong Kong 1983). Devilbiss Science Hall 149. The story of Vietnamese refugees as witnessed by a Japanese photo-journalist in 1978 that leads to a perception of deceit and corruption. This controversial picture was Hong Kong's candidate for Best Foreign Film of 1983. Directed by Ann Hui (Hsu An-hua).

This series of serious films, directed by international talents, was organized by Professor Jim Welsh of the Department of English, Dr. Melvin Ang of the Department of History and David B. Gano, the director of the College Center. The film series is sponsored by the Salisbury State College Faculty Cultural Events Committee; it is free and open to the public. All screenings begin at 7 p.m.

Research Opportunity in Taiwan

An independent study or research opportunity on marketing situation in Taiwan will be offered to one SSC student for the celebration of the "China Year" by Professor I-an Jen, chairman of Taiwan Forestry Economic Research Institute in Taipei. The research will be conducted under Professor Jen's guidance from one to three months with expenses paid, including room and board and possibly the round-trip air fare.

Any reliable student with at least a B.A. degree and a strong marketing background who wishes to do such research in Taiwan should contact Neil Jen by October 31 at 546-2490 or ask for him at Blackwell Library during office hours 8:00 a.m. - 4:00 p.m.

Personal Safety Tips

Since the start of the fall semester five students have been accosted—three on campus and two very close by the college. In each case the incident occurred at night and the student involved was walking alone. The campus and neighboring streets are not immune from activities frequently associated with metropolitan areas or larger, urban colleges. Personal safety tips, prepared by the Department of Public Safety, may lessen the likelihood of becoming a victim.

1. Do not walk or jog alone after dark.
 2. Walk in well-lit areas and stay near the curb, away from alleys, entry ways and bushes where someone could be hiding.
 3. Avoid short cuts. Walk where there are other people present.
 4. Do not hitchhike or accept rides from strangers. If a driver asks you for directions, stay far enough away so that you can not be pulled into the car. Do not pick up strangers.
 5. If you are being followed when walking, change directions, cross the street and vary your speed. Go to a well-lit area or a place where there are other people. If followed by someone in a car, turn and walk in the other direction. Record a license number.
 6. Park your car in a well-lit area and lock the door.
 7. Keep doors locked at all times. Don't unlock the door for strangers. Keep first floor windows locked.
 8. If you need an escort to or from your car or residence hall, call the Department of Public Safety, 543-6222.
 9. Locate someone in your class who is going in the same direction after class ends.
 10. Report any suspicious activity or crimes to the Public Safety Office, ext. 6222.
- You are your own best protection. For more information on personal safety, contact the Department of Public Safety, located in Holloway Hall room 22, ext. 6222.

PROUD at Work

On October 9, PROUD (formerly the Disabled Students Union) held its first meeting for the 1986-87 school year. The following individuals were elected to office: William A. Kent, president; Harrison Trego, vice-president; Hollis R. Bennett, secretary; and Lisa Stier, treasurer.

Over the summer months, PROUD (with help from the Dean of Students Office), has been successful in accomplishing several projects on campus. They include the purchase of three new pieces of equipment located in the training room of Maggs Physical Activities Center.

PROUD has also been instrumental in the construction of a special elevated platform located next to the grandstand at the athletic field on Bateman St. This platform was constructed to allow a disabled individual to view a game without interference by team members blocking the view. This platform is reserved for disabled students and their guests. Disabled persons from the community who wish to see a game are also invited to support the Sea Gulls and enjoy the use of the new facilities. This is a special attraction which is not found at many other small stadiums.

The members of PROUD would like to extend an invitation to the public to come see what they have already accomplished this semester and what is planned for the future. Meetings are held the first and third Thursdays of each month. For further information, please call ext. 6080.

Affirmative Action Plan

The College's Affirmative Action Plan has been recently updated, and a copy is on file in Blackwell Library for access by College employees.

The plan covers hiring procedures for new employees and shows hiring goals set by the College for women and minorities. Suggestions for improving the plan are welcome and should be directed to Ms. Linda Cashman, director of Institutional Research/Affirmative Action Officer, HH-135.

The following offices also have copies: the president, vice presidents, academic deans, director of Administrative Services, Personnel Office, Dean of Students, most department chairs and affirmative action.

Writing Center Hours

New hours for the Writing Center are:

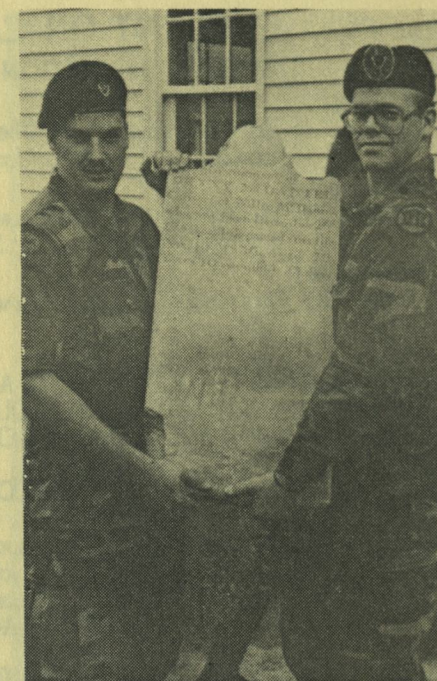

- Monday: 9 a.m.-4 p.m. and 6-9 p.m.
- Tuesday: 9 a.m.-4 p.m.
- Wednesday: 9 a.m.-4 p.m. and 6-9 p.m.
- Thursday: 9 a.m.-4 p.m.
- Friday: 9 a.m.-2 p.m.

This year, along with the taped modules and both graduate and undergraduate tutors, the Writing Center has computerized modules geared toward the Holt Handbook. We are prepared to help with any writing assignment, from an English 101 paper to a Master's thesis.

The Writing Center is located in Caruthers Hall A-202 (2nd floor). Call ext. 6392 for information.

I.D. Cards

All individuals who had photographs taken for their identification cards during the period August 31 to October 8 may pick up their permanent cards in room 214 Holloway Hall. Office hours are 9:30 a.m. - 1:30 p.m., 2:30 - 5:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. Each person must turn in his temporary card in order to receive the permanent card.

Grave Work

Members of the SSC ROTC recently assisted the local chapter of Sons of the American Revolution in relocating the gravestones of a Revolutionary War veteran and his wife from a barn, where the stones had been stored for many years, to a permanent site in Mardela.

Many years ago, the stones marking the graves of William McDaniel and his wife, Denny, were moved from the graves to a barn on the farm where the two were buried. Howard Adkins, a local history buff and leading member of the Captain John Smoot Chapter, SAR, located the stones and alerted the chapter as to their unfortunate location. The chapter, after considerable research, determined that the original gravesites were lost.

Members of the chapter obtained permission to move the stones, and Adkins offered a site in Mardela where he and his wife have been engaged for several years in restoring numerous old Eastern Shore houses and buildings. With many SSC cadets and members of the chapter providing labor force, the stones were moved to Mardela and stored until they can be placed later this month. A formal dedication is planned for Veterans Day in November.

Aid Cancer Research

Lorraine Pollitt in the Food Service Department is selling Two Year (1987-88) Pocket Calendar books for the benefit of the VFW Auxiliary Cancer Aid and Research Fund. They come in many different designs and colors. The price is $2.50 each.

Apartment for Rent

One bedroom apartment for rent to single adult. Quiet neighborhood close to the college. $220/month plus utilities and deposit. Call 742-9170 or 543-6470.

Book Store Manager

The College is seeking a highly qualified and innovative person to immediately fill the position of Bookstore Manager.

The successful candidate will be responsible for maintaining a financially sound operation, directing promotional advertising efforts, developing and monitoring annual budgets, controlling inventory, determining staffing needs and establishing management policies and procedures.

Experience in retailing operations; demonstrated understanding of current concepts of bookstore-related marketing, merchandising and inventory control; and proven interpersonal and supervisory skills are essential. Knowledge of textbook and used book market is valuable. A Business Administration degree, completion of NACS Management seminars, advanced seminars, and CSP certification preferred.

Salary competitive with excellent fringe benefits. Submit letter of application and resume by October 24th to David Gano, Director, College Center, Salisbury State College.

Salisbury State College is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply.

Las Vegas Night

Las Vegas Night is back with all the glamour and glitter that Las Vegas is known for.

Once again, the Ruth Powell Student Employee Organization is seeking administrators, faculty and staff to volunteer their services and assist in running the game tables. This organization is the largest student organization on campus, and its a great opportunity for administrators, faculty, staff and students to socialize and have fun.

Las Vegas Night will be on Friday, October 24, from 9 p.m. until midnight in the Maryland Room of the Ruth Powell Dining Hall. The room will be divided into two parts. One part of the room will be the hospitality area and live entertainment will be provided. The other part of the room will feature the various game tables. Hors d'oeuvres will be served throughout. The grand finale of the night will be the auction.

If you are interested in volunteering, please contact Carmen DiSylvestro in Food Services.

'Measure for Measure'

The theater trip for the fall will be on Wednesday, November 12, to Washington, D.C.'s Arena Stage for one of Shakespeare's dark comedies, Measure for Measure. In this tragicomic tale of chastity and lust, mercy and justice collide in the vice-ridden city of Vienna.

Tickets for full-time students may be purchased at $10 each beginning on Monday, October 27, at the College Center information desk. For part-time students, faculty, staff, alumni and guests, tickets at $12 each will go on sale on October 28. Ticket price includes bus transportation; the bus will depart from Maggs circle at 2:30 p.m. on 12 November and will return immediately after the play. College Center theater trips are co-sponsored by the English and Communication Art Departments.

Turkey Dinner

Bethesda United Methodist Church, West William and North Division Sts., holds its annual Turkey Dinner on Saturday, October 25, from 4 to 7 p.m. in the Memorial Room of the church. Tickets are $6 for adults, $3 for children 6 to 13 years; children under 6 free. Tickets are sold at the door and carry-outs are available. The menu includes turkey, dressing, sweet potatoes, string beans, rolls and home-made pie.

ABOUT FISH: A performance piece "about fish," according to choreographers Dana Simpson-Orth and Kathryn Martin will have its premiere at the "Works in Progress" concert by the College Dance Company on Thursday, October 30, at 8 p.m. in Maggs Studio. Pictured in a moment from the dance are Orth, Martin, Dale Whitzel and Agata Liszkowska.

Teen Terpsichoreans In 'Works'

The College Dance Company presents its fall concert, "Works in Progress," Thursday, October 30, at 8 p.m. in the Maggs Dance Studio.

The concert features five "Works," beginning with performances by area teenagers. They will be followed by a variety of folk dances, two selections from the upcoming ballet, "The Snow Queen," and a collaboration with local artist Dana Simpson-Orth about fish.

Local teenagers studying dance at the College in recent weeks will have the chance to show off their work under the direction of class instructor Jeri Lynn Alls.

A variety of international folk dances is being performed by College students in the Practice and Theory of International Folk Dance course taught by Agata Liszkowska.

A sneak preview of the Company's upcoming performance of "The Snow Queen," a ballet based on the Hans Christian Anderson fairy tale, choreographed by Dance Company director Kathryn Martin, promises to delight children of all ages. Two dances will be performed from this original, modern ballet about a girl's quest for a lost friend.

Martin and Dana Simpson-Orth are collaborating on a four dancer performance piece with new music from such groups as the Cocteau Twins and Pagan Waves. This will be its premiere performance.

The whole program is about an hour. The College Dance Company has been performing since 1971. Its repertoire includes various dramatic and modern works, folk dance, as well as ballet, tap and jazz.

"Works in Progress" admission is free to the campus community. For more information call ext. 6353.

Sexual Abuse Prevention Program

Every year thousands of children are the victims of sexual abuse, often by members of their own families or by other people they know. The Social Work Club and the Somerset County Department of Social Services are cooperating again this year with a sexual abuse prevention program in the Somerset County Schools. SSC student volunteers will visit the classrooms, show a video tape on how children can avoid abuse, and help the teacher lead the discussion. If there are any immediate reports of sexual abuse they will be handled by the School and Social Services.

SSC student volunteers must complete a two-hour training program. The project is being coordinated by Jan Holland, a social work senior doing her field placement at the Somerset County Department of Social Services. For more information about volunteering for the program, call her during agency hours on Tuesday and Thursdays at 651-0311. Her dorm phone number is 548-9350. For further information call the Social Work Club or the Club Advisor, Bob Long, at ext. 6308.

The feature article is "Cocaine Use: A Lower Shore Perspective," written in the interest of community awareness by Bob Short of the Wicomico County Drug Program and Det. Sgt. Bob Tunney of the Maryland State Police.

Also featured is a list of new video tapes and films. Of particular interest to the faculty, staff and students will be three tapes pertaining to college students. All services of the Resource Center are free of charge. Hours are 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Wesley Speaks at Pine Bluff

"Differences Between Male/Female Listening Habits . . . What is Attended to in Message Evaluation Differs Significantly Between Men and Women" was Dr. Robert Wesley's topic when the Communication Arts professor addressed the Pine Bluff Retirement Village on Thursday, October 16, at 2 p.m.

Wesley is part of the College Speaker's Bureau. The Speaker's Bureau offers area organizations several speakers discussing a variety of subjects. There is no charge for the service. Any civic, service or educational organization desiring a speaker should contact the Public Relations Office at ext. 6030.

Elliot Appointed To State Arts Panel

Dr. Thomas Elliot, chairman of the Music Dept., has been appointed to the Music Advisory Panel of the Maryland State Arts Council.

According to K. Rita Souweine, chairman, the council relies heavily on the expertise and professionalism of the panelists to help award grants to art organizations throughout the state. The panelists discuss the artistic merits of applicants, make funding recommendations to the full Council, and consider changes in policy or programs that will better serve organizations and artists in music throughout Maryland. "This may very well be the most exciting year we have had at the council," Souweine said, and the Council is very pleased to have Dr. Elliot working with them.

Miss E. Pauline Riall

In Memoriam: E. Pauline Riall

E. Pauline Riall, for 40 years teacher, then principal of the Salisbury State Campus Demonstration School for 40 years, passed away on Monday. She died one day before her 87th birthday.

Miss Riall was instrumental in obtaining state funding for the campus school building which later became Caruthers Hall, now the home of the Education and other academic departments. She received her teaching degree from then Towson State Normal School, and Bachelor of Science and Master of Arts degrees from the Teachers College of Columbia University.

She was active in the Wicomico County Historical Society, the Wicomico County Democratic Club, a member of the Wicomico County Women's Club and held many offices including the presidency of the Lower Shore Beta Chapter of the Delta Kappa Gamma International Honor Society. She also belonged to the state and local associations of retired teachers.

She was at the school from 1929 to 1969, the year she retired.

Chemistry Seminar

Mary Ann Nickle, a senior chemistry student, will discuss her intern position in the Perdue Analytical Laboratory. Nickle's project involved working with the laboratory management computer system recently implemented at Perdue. The seminar will discuss her work in documenting the system, updating files, entering quality control laboratory results and running various programs.

All are welcome to hear Nickle speak, Friday, October 24, at 10 a.m. in Devilbiss Hall 207.

'Communications as a Career'

"Communications as a Career" was Dr. Allen Smith's topic when the Communication Arts professor at the College addressed a group of 11th graders at James M. Bennett High School, on Wednesday, October 15.

Dr. Smith is part of the College Speaker's Bureau. The bureau offers area organizations several speakers discussing a variety of subjects. There is no charge for the service. Any civic, service or educational organization desiring a speaker should contact the Public Relations Office at ext. 6030.

Demonstration of Chinese Painting Techniques

A lecture and demonstration of traditional Chinese painting techniques by Dr. Chi Chong Lee Lau, a painter and professor of Art at Howard University, takes place at the College Gallery on Saturday, October 25, from 10:30 a.m. until noon.

Dr. Lau's presentation which is open to the college community, including children of junior high age and older coincides with the Gallery's current facsimiles of some of the most important paintings of the former Chinese Imperial Collection, now in the National Palace Museum in Taipei.

Dr. Lau begins her presentation with a lecture on the principles and ideas underlying classical Chinese painting, using the paintings on display as examples. A demonstration of materials and painting methods, including the different kinds of specialized brushstrokes used by the ancient Chinese masters, follows the talk. There will also be an opportunity for those who are especially interested to try out some of the Oriental painting techniques demonstrated by Dr. Lau.

Dr. Lau was born in Macau and was graduated from the Chinese University of Hong Kong with a B.A. degree in Art and Oriental Art History. She then pursued graduate work in the United States, receiving M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Minnesota. She currently teaches at Howard University, where she is acting chairperson of the Art Department.

As an artist, Dr. Lau works primarily in large-scale watercolors. She has developed a personal style in which she combines traditional Chinese materials and painting methods with Western perspective. Her work has been widely exhibited in the U.S., Europe and Hong Kong.

According to Dr. Lau, her principal source of inspiration is nature, whose order, rhythm and colors she tries to distill in paintings of landscape and close-up studies of plants.

The exhibit was organized by the College Gallery with the assistance of Maxwell K. Hearn, associate curator of the Department of Asian Art of the Metropolitan Museum in New York which also lent some of the works on display. Both the exhibition and Dr. Lau's participation were made possible, in part, by a grant from the Maryland State Arts Council.

Also related to the Chinese painting exhibition will be a lecture by Maxwell Hearn of the Metropolitan Museum on imperial paintings of the Ch'ing Dynasty, to take place on November 19 at 7:30 p.m. in Caruthers Hall Auditorium.

The College Gallery is located on the second floor of Blackwell Library and is open Monday and Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., Tuesday and Thursday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Saturday and Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m. Tours of the exhibition may be arranged by calling the gallery at ext. 6271 or the Art Department at ext 6270.

Rural Health Seminar

Dr. Karin Johnson, chairman of the graduate Nursing program, Adult Health Nursing in Rural Areas, recently presented a paper at the American Rural Health Association meeting at the Hershey Pocono Resort in White Haven, PA.

Her paper was entitled, "A Collaborative, Innovative Approach to Health Promotion/Disease Prevention in a Rural Area." The paper concerns the unique collaboration between the Department of Nursing and Peninsula General Hospital Medical Center offering a worksite health screening program to the businesses and industries of the Salisbury area.

Third Annual All-Alumni Get Together

This year's campus setting for our Friday night opener is the Social Room and the repainted auditorium of Holloway Hall. Intended to bring on the 'ol memories, there will be a cash bar, music, snacks galore, good cheer, friends - familiar names and faces from the past. All are welcomed, reunion classes are honored. This is a place to begin Homecoming weekend.

Annual Reunion of RA's

Under the tent beginning at 11:00 a.m., Saturday. Call 543-6040 for more information.

Open House and Registration

The Salisbury Room of the Ruth Powell Dining Hall is ours all day Saturday. Come here for directions, special requests or just to rest.

Alumni Association Annual Open Business Meeting

Open to all, this meeting is important because the Alumni Association business of the past year is reviewed and reported to all alumni. The slate of Board membership is presented to the group for election. Danish rolls and coffee will be served. Be there if you can.

Alumni Under the Tent

We have ordered the biggest tent we could find in order to get as many alumni as possible under the flaps for the presoccer and football game festivities. There will be earth-shaking yummys to purchase and eat. Our "famed" alumni band will be performing, the College store will be selling its wares. Sammy, our mascot, will mingle among the folks. Plan on lots of fun and excitement. Bring the family and invite your friends.

Sea Gulls vs. Montclair State

The Montclair Indians come to us from Upper Montclair, NJ. Their enrollment is 7,500. Their record in 1985 was 10-2. Our Sea Gulls will be ready to take them. Enjoy the game from our special rooting section. Discounted tickets are $3.00 each if purchased in advance.

Alumni Awards Dinner and Cocktail Party

The Awards Dinner is open to all and is the perfect culmination to a long day. Three awards are presented for outstanding achievements or appreciation, reunion classes are recognized, and other noteworthy achievements - such as who came the farthest - are recognized. Cocktails at 6:00 p.m. - cash bar. Dinner at 7:00 p.m. Dinner tickets are $12.50 each. Dinner and cocktails are in the Ruth Powell Dining Hall, Salisbury Room.

Alumni Grand Reunion

Immediately following the Awards Dinner the lights are lowered, the music is soft, the program informal. A good opportunity to really enjoy talking with your classmates or relaxing. Snacks and cash bars are available. Tickets are $5.00 for people who are not coming directly from dinner.

Dr. Shope's Sociology Students Reunion

Luncheon at 11:30 a.m. in the Ruth Powell Dining Hall, Salisbury Room. Tickets, $8.00 each.

Social Room Anniversary Luncheon

This special luncheon is set in the Holloway Hall Social Room. The 50th reunion class of 1936 will be our honored guests. Extra special guests will be all alumni who are attending their post-50th reunion. All alumni are welcomed. Tickets are $6.00 each.

Annual Anniversary Tea

A long and time honored tradition for Salisbury State College is our special Anniversary Tea which follows the luncheon. All are invited to the Social Room for this classic event. The class of '36 celebrating its 50th reunion will present its class gift to the College at this occasion.

Avery Hall Honored

Avery William Hall will be honored with the 1986 Alumni Appreciation Award on Saturday, October 25, during the Homecoming festivities on campus.

"I think it's great to have such an honor given to me," Hall said. "Salisbury State is a wonderful school and I am honored to have my name associated with it."

Born in Whalesville, MD, he is a long-time resident of Salisbury. He has had a distinguished business career in many fields, including insurance, real estate, transportation, food processing and banking. His business interests are further attested to by his active participation as a director on several Eastern Shore company boards.

Hall has served the public on the Maryland Port Authority and the Maryland Roads Commission, establishing himself as a state leader. In addition to his business activities and public service, he has been extremely active in civic organizations. As a member of the Salisbury Chamber of Commerce and the Lion's Club, he has contributed much to the development of the Salisbury area in time, talent and financial support. He has spearheaded many local fund-raising drives devoted to improving the quality of life on the Shore.

His contributions have not gone unrecognized. He has been the recipient of several awards, among them The Chamber of Commerce Outstanding Citizen Award (1957), the Salisbury Award (1965), the Rotary 4-Way Test Award (1965) and the Maryland Region National Conference of Christians and Jews Award (1967).

Hall's contributions to the fields of medicine and education have been particularly noteworthy. As a member of the Peninsula General Hospital's Board of Trustees, he has played a large role in making it a regional medical facility of outstanding service and assistance. Significantly, the educational wing of Peninsula General is named the "Avery W. Hall Educational Center."

Hall has also served Washington College as a member of its Board of Visitors and Governors, and Washington College has recognized his achievements by awarding him the Doctor of Humane Letters Honorary Degree.

Hall has served as a member of the Board of Visitors of Salisbury State College and has contributed much to the College.

"Avery Hall has become an institution, not only in the area, but in the state of Maryland," said Judy Pielemeier, alumni director at SSC. "His good works are known throughout and SSC is proud to recognize an outstanding individual."

Nationally Ranked Teams Set For Showdown At Sea Gull Stadium

Name a NCAA Division III football team that started last season with a loss, won 10 straight games, advanced to the quarterfinals of the playoffs before losing, is 6-0 this season and is nationally ranked.

If you said Salisbury State, you're right, but if you also said Montclair State, SSC's opponent this week, you're also right. The two teams have followed the exact same pattern of winning football games since 1985. However, one team is going to win this week while the other will lose.

Montclair State, ranked third in the nation, entering week six, will travel to Sea Gull Stadium on Saturday, October 25, to tackle the Gulls on Homecoming. Kickoff is at 1:30 p.m.

"Salisbury State against Montclair State will be a tremendous football game," said SSC head coach Mike McGlinchey, who became the school's all-time winningest coach last Saturday when he coached his 37th win. "They are as fine of a football team as there is in the country. The game will be a good measuring stick as to how good we are."

The Gulls, who are ranked 17th in the nation as of last week out of some 150 teams in Division III, defeated Buffalo State 48-6 last week as the offense rolled up some impressive numbers. SSC rushed for 398 yards (136 by Mike Coppa and 102 by Donald Washington) while the defense held the Bengals to just 46 yards on the ground.

With the score 7-6 in favor of SSC, Coppa sparked the Gulls with a 50-yard touchdown run early in the second quarter and the Gulls never looked back. Quarterback Kevin White played his finest game as a Gull, throwing for two TD's and rushing for another.

Montclair State, on the other hand, defeated William Paterson 36-0 before the home crowd. The game was the second shutout in the last three contests for the Indians.

The Montclair defense is led by All-American defensive lineman Dan Zakashefski. The 6-4, 230-pound senior led Montclair with 14 sacks last season and is on pace to have even a better year this season.

Head coach Rick Giancola, in his fourth year at the helm of Montclair, has a potent offense. Quarterback Walter Briggs returns to direct the pro-style offense and his favorite receiver, speedster Ed Chavis, who caught 12 TD passes last year, is also back. The running backs are also devastating. Tailback Leroy Horn broke an NCAA All-Divisions record with 310 yards rushing in one half last year against Jersey City.

Carvel LaCurts Honored

Carvel LaCurts, a 1970 graduate of the College, will be honored with the 1986 Distinguished Alumni Award on Saturday, October 25, during the Homecoming festivities.

"I feel very fortunate to win the award," said LaCurts, a mathematics and computer programming teacher at Pocomoke High School. "Salisbury State is an excellent learning institution and I am proud to be an alumnus."

LaCurts dreamed of being a teacher as early as the ninth grade at Pocomoke, where he graduated.

"It was my desire to teach others," he said. "I came to Salisbury State College because it has one of the strongest teaching programs in the state and, as a bonus, it was only 30 miles away."

LaCurts was a summa cum laude graduate of SSC and earned a master's degree in Education. He spent two years teaching at the middle school level before going home to teach at Pocomoke High, where he has been for the last 15 years.

LaCurts' love for teaching is evident by his presence at the school almost every day of the year, including Friday nights and Saturdays.

"It's not work for me to be here," he said. "I thoroughly enjoy it. I don't know of a job that would give me what my students give me. I miss them on weekends and in the summer. I really look forward to coming back to school in the fall."

In addition to his teaching duties, LaCurts also coaches the girls' softball team. He was named the Bayside South Athletic Conference coach of the year several years ago.

He has also won honors for his teaching. Four years ago, a state group named him Maryland's mathematics teacher of the year and two years ago the National Science Foundation, which coordinates the White House-initiated Presidential Awards for Excellence in Science and Mathematics, named LaCurts the best math teacher in Maryland. LaCurts was also named the Pocomoke Citizen of the Year in 1985 for his contributions to the city.

Because of his love of teaching, LaCurts teaches summer and evening classes at Salisbury State College. He easily relates to students and is a favorite in the classrooms.

"In my experience," he said, "for me to understand a concept, I want to see a concrete model. If I see it, I tend to understand it. I believe it's that way for the students, too. I try to identify with a student."

Sports Update: Two Teams Earn National Rank

Defeating its seventh straight nationally ranked team, the Salisbury State College women's field hockey team took two games last week. On Saturday, the Gulls defeated the second-ranked Bloomsburg University (PA) team 4-0 as Jill Stewart and Robin Adair each scored two first-half goals. Adair, Stacy Stern and Judy Scofield each passed for an assist in the game. On Sunday, SSC traveled to Wilkes College (PA) and shut out the 14th ranked team 3-0. Adair, Sue Scofield and Theresa Dorando each scored goals while Donna Peck had an assist. Karen Stockton and Tracy Short combined for the shutout—the ninth shutout by the Gulls in 12 games this season. SSC, now 12-0 on the year and ranked first nationally in Division III field hockey, will travel to Elizabethtown (PA) on Thursday and Glassboro State (NJ) on Saturday.

Mike Coppa rushed for 136 yards and scored two touchdowns as the SSC football team ran over Buffalo State 48-6 on Saturday in Buffalo, NY. The 17th-ranked Gulls gained 398 yards on the ground while the Bengals were held to just 46. Quarterback Kevin White passed for two TD's, one to Kevin Roberts and the other to Duncan MacLean, and rushed for another score. Brian Hollister and Chris Johnson also had touchdowns for the Gulls, now 6-0 on the year. Head coach Mike McGlinchey became the winningest coach in SSC history with 37 wins, passing Dick Yobst, who had 36. The Sea Gulls will host Montclair State on Saturday at 1:30 p.m. Montclair is ranked third in the nation and is 6-0 in 1986.

The men's soccer team lost its only match of the week as Elizabethtown shut out the Gulls 5-0. SSC, 5-7 on the year, tied Elizabethtown with 14 shots on goal in the match. The Gulls will travel to St. Mary's on Thursday afternoon and will then host Rutgers-Camden on Saturday at 11 a.m. on the SSC campus.

The women's volleyball team placed fourth in the 10-team Gallaudet Tournament over the weekend. SSC defeated Gallaudet 16-14, 10-15, 15-5 and Eastern College 15-8, 15-9 but lost to Eastern Mennonite 15-8, 15-3; Messiah 15-9, 15-13 and Glassboro State 15-9, 15-13. Elaine Allnut played outstanding offense and defense in the tournament while Sharon Shores continually set up the offense with her excellent passing. Earlier in the week, SSC rallied from two games down to defeat Wilmington College in Salisbury. SSC will host Johns Hopkins and Marymount on Saturday evening in the Maggs Activity Center. The team is 10-7 on the year.

Old Dominion won the 12th annual SSC Women's Tennis Tournament this past weekend at SSC. Winning the individual honors were Cathy Decker and Linda Hockstein of Rutgers in Flight A Doubles, Shelly Stead of West Virginia 29, Mary Washington 23, Mt. St. Mary's 23, Temple 19½, George Mason 19½, Trenton State 17½, Delaware 16½, Bucknell 16, American 10, Mary Baldwin 8½, William Paterson 6, Drexel, George Washington 4, UMBC 2, Towson State 2, Sweetbriar 2 and Salisbury State 0.

Celebrate the Arts This Upcoming Holiday Season

This year the Salisbury Wicomico Arts Council has asked local artist Marie Tator Quillen to design a unique, limited edition Christmas holiday ornament that will be sent to contributors for every $25 tax-deductible contribution they make to the Arts Council.

Quillen, an associate professor of Art at the College and a talented artist with over 60 professional exhibitions of her work to her credit, has designed an ornament that incorporates the distinctive Arts Council logo in its design and is crafted out of porcelain, coated with a translucent glaze and topped with a delicate gold bow and thread for hanging.

These hand-sculpted ornaments will be on display in the coming weeks at many area locations: The Bank of Fruitland, Benjamin's, John Hanson Savings and Loan, Peninsula Bank, Phillips Men's Shop, and Second National Building and Loan are just some of the locations where the ornaments will be on display.

Contributions of any size will help make continuing and expanding the Arts Council's work possible and for this holiday season a contribution of $25 will also mean a gift for the contributor, to keep or give a friend or colleague.

Acupuncturist To Speak

"The Other Medicine: The Art of Acupuncture" is the topic of a presentation by David Mercier, a traditional acupuncturist with a private practice in Easton, MD, on Wednesday, November 5, at 7:30 p.m. in Caruthers Hall Auditorium.

The lecture, sponsored by the SSC Faculty Cultural Events Committee in conjunction with the Salisbury State College Foundation, Inc., will cover some of the history and philosophy of traditional acupuncture. Like all programs in the College's year-long series, "China: Tradition and Transformation," the lecture is free and open to the public.

This lecture will focus primarily on the spirit of Chinese medical practice as expressed in traditional acupuncture. Although much publicity has been given this art for its uses in anesthesia and symptom control, it is, in its pure, traditional form, a holistic system of great depth and complexity used in both the treatment and prevention of illness.

Illness is associated with an imbalance in the flow of Ch'i of life energy, which permeates body, mind and spirit. The task of the acupuncturist is to restore order and harmony in the Ch'i through the insertion of thin needles into carefully selected points on the body. Once harmony is established, the inherent healing power of the individual is activated and symptoms disappear of their own accord.

To the ancient Chinese physician, prevention was more important than treatment after the fact. And health was more than freedom from disease: it was a condition characterized by vitality and strength of spirit, a condition given to the unfolding of our personal wisdom.

In the 20th century, the lessons and methods are still relevant. Acupuncture and herbalism, as the essential forms of Chinese medicine, have endured for thousands of years as living monuments to the wisdom and practicality of Chinese culture.

Dr. Mercier, R.Ac. Dipl. Ac. (NCAA), is registered with the Board of Medical Examiners to practice in Maryland and is board certified by the National Commission for the Certification of Acupuncturists. He is a graduate of the Traditional Acupuncture Institute in Columbia, MD and has studied extensively with Dr. J.R. Worsley in England, where he earned his licentiate and bachelor degrees in traditional acupuncture.

A $213,000 Shot In the Arm for Nursing

The College recently received a three-year $213,420 federal grant for its graduate Nursing program.

According to Dr. Karin Johnson, chairman of the graduate Nursing program, the grant will allow the master's degree program in Nursing to expand its focus from the adult to the entire rural family and to expand clinical and research opportunities available to students.

"Rural health care continues to be a national concern because of the shortage of adequately prepared health professionals," said Dr. Johnson. "Nurses working in rural areas must learn how and why rural areas are distinct. They need to address issues related to the availability, accessibility, acceptability, cost and quality of health care in rural areas."

"They need to be informed about environmental issues," she said, "and occupational and safety hazards. They need to be aware of the strong influence of social networks in health practices."

"We have a unique situation here at Salisbury State," said Dr. Johnson, explaining that SSC is one of the few colleges or universities in the country offering a graduate program in Nursing that focuses on health in rural areas.

The grant will be broken down into three yearly installments: $97,768 the first year; $67,448 the second year; and $48,204 the third year. With these funds, increased emphasis will be placed on national recruitment of students for the graduate Nursing program. The College also plans to expand opportunities for student clinical experience to include a variety of clinical and social service agencies providing services to families. An expansion of the College's research capabilities will also be a direct result of the grant. Plans include the development of collaborative research efforts with other universities and with clinical agencies and the purchase of data sets for use by students and faculty.

Vital to a small college in a small community, the grant will allow the College to become more active with the network of professionals involved in rural health care both regionally and nationally. During the final year of the grant, the College will sponsor an invitational conference on family health in rural areas.

United Charity Campaign Commences

Once each year those of us who have jobs and health have the opportunity to help create a better life for all of us through the United Way. The Maryland State Employees and Retirees campaign is known as the United Charity Campaign which broadens the package of health and human services to which state employees may choose to make contributions.

This year as an incentive to support this important campaign, the College Foundation, in conjunction with Phil's TV, has donated a Magnavox Video Cassette Recorder which participants will be eligible to win if they give at least $2.00 per pay period (or $52.00 per year). The drawing for the VCR will take place on November 17. The winner will be contacted and announced in the SSC News.

Many services are provided by the agencies who receive funds from the United Charity Campaign. Emergency assistance, vocational training for the handicapped and disabled, and counseling and educational programs are just a few of the services offered.

If you wish to participate, please contact the Cashier's Office, room 203 Holloway Hall, by November 14th.

Peggy Martin and Gains Hawkins are this year's campaign coordinators.

Aid Cancer Research

Lorraine Pollitt in the Food Service Department is selling Two Year (1987-88) Pocket Calendar books for the benefit of the VFW Auxiliary Cancer Aid and Research Fund. They come in many different designs and colors. The price is $2.50 each.

March of Dimes Forum

The Lower Shore Chapter of the March of Dimes presents "Parents, It's Time to Talk," on Saturday, November 8, from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. in Holloway Hall.

The series of workshops are centered on the problem of adolescent pregnancy. Low birth weight is the most common condition that contributes to, or is a part of, birth defects. Babies of teenage mothers are more likely to be born too small too soon and adolescent pregnancy is both a national and local problem.

Dr. Mary S. Calderone, a pioneering leader in the field of sexuality, will speak. Registration is $5. For more information, call Kathy Fox or Gene White at ext. 6372 or the March of Dimes office at 546-2241.

Nursing Opening at SSC

Senior faculty member for leadership position in master's degree program in Family Nursing in Rural Areas. Tenure-track, academic year appointment; excellent resources for research and clinical practice. Qualifications: Master's degree in nursing and doctoral degree in nursing or related area; preparation and experience in Family Nursing, Community Health Nursing or Mental Health Nursing preferred; expertise in research and curriculum development desired. Rank and salary commensurate with qualifications. Send letter and curriculum vitae by November 24 to Dr. Elizabeth Barfield, Dean, School of Nursing & Health Sciences, Salisbury State College. An Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer.

Nurses Scholarships

Scholarship money is available for undergraduate pre-Nursing and Nursing students currently enrolled in state approved schools of Nursing. Criteria for selection include academic achievement, financial need, involvement in Nursing student organizations and community activities related to health care.

Details are available through the College of Nursing and Health Sciences, ext. 6420.

Counseling Services

Counseling Services conducts walk-in hours from 1 - 3 p.m. Monday through Thursday. Anyone who wishes to see a counselor, and has not seen one before, is welcome between those hours.

Measure for Measure

The theater trip for the fall will be on Wednesday, November 12, to Washington, D.C.'s Arena Stage for one of Shakespeare's dark comedies, Measure for Measure. In this tragicomic tale of chastity and lust, mercy and justice collide in the vice-ridden city of Vienna.

Tickets for full-time students may be purchased at $10 each beginning on Monday, October 27, at the College Center information desk. For part-time students, faculty, staff, alumni and guests, tickets at $12 each will go on sale on October 28. Ticket price includes bus transportation; the bus will depart from Maggs circle at 2:30 p.m. on 12 November and will return immediately after the play. College Center theater trips are co-sponsored by the English and Communication Art Departments.

Outdoor Club Meetings and Trips

The Outdoor Club has only one trip remaining this semester, a caving trip on November 21, 22, and 23. Weekly club meetings on Wednesdays at 6:30 p.m. in Tawes 118 will, however, feature interesting and informative presentations including movies, slide shows, skill demonstrations and lectures by local authorities on nature, ecology and outdoor recreation. Planning is currently under way for the 11-day winter break ski trip to Shawbridge, north of Montreal. Students who participate regularly in club activities will receive priority sign-up and a reduction in the cost of this trip.

News Deadline

The SSC News is a newsletter for the campus community published each Thursday during fall and spring semesters, unless noted. The deadline is noon on Monday prior to publication. Newsletter stories and items usually are proofed and typeset on a first come, first served basis, so don't feel you have to wait until Monday to get your article to the Public Relations Office (HH 264).

Any story relating to the life of the campus, whether it be of interest to students, faculty or staff, is welcomed. Because we cannot canvass the campus personally, we are grateful to those who keep us current on the activities and issues affecting College life.

Go Bananas!

The Student Health Advisory Committee (SHAC), along with the support of the SSC Rugby Team, will hold its second annual "Go Bananas Night," Wednesday, November 5, in Tawes Gym from 7-10 p.m.

"Go Bananas" is a night of games such as "Dizzy Izzy," Tug of War, a banana eating contest and others all for one purpose—to have fun!

SHAC urges student organizations, faculty, administrators and dorm groups to compete. At least 10 teams with 10 members per team are needed. Prizes provided by Coca-Cola and Wyatt Wholesale, Inc. will be given to the winning team, as well as free refreshments to all participants. The music is courtesy of WSSC; admission is free.

All interested groups should contact SHAC, through the Health Center.

Cycling Club

The SSC Cycling Club will travel to the Shenandoah for a camping/cycling trip on October 31 - November 2. Each person must provide their own food and spending money, the travel and campsite expenses will be paid from club dues.

Eight spaces are available for this trip. Sign up and obtain more information at the Intramural Office in Maggs Gym.

Research Opportunity in Taiwan

An independent study or research opportunity on marketing situation in Taiwan will be offered to one SSC student for the celebration of the "China Year" by Professor I-an Jen, chairman of Taiwan Forestry Economic Research Institute in Taipei. The research will be conducted under Professor Jen's guidance from one to three months with expenses paid, including room and board and possibly the round-trip air fare.

Any reliable student with at least a B.A. degree and a strong marketing background who wishes to do such research in Taiwan should contact Neil Jen by October 31 at 546-2490 or ask for him at Blackwell Library during office hours 8:00 a.m. - 4:00 p.m.

Personal Safety Tips

The campus and neighboring streets are not immune from activities frequently associated with metropolitan areas or larger, urban colleges. Personal safety tips, prepared by the Department of Public Safety, may lessen the likelihood of becoming a victim.

1. Do not walk or jog alone after dark.
 2. Walk in well-lit areas and stay near the curb, away from alleys, entry ways and bushes where someone could be hiding.
 3. Avoid short cuts. Walk where there are other people present.
 4. Do not hitchhike or accept rides from strangers. If a driver asks you for directions, stay far enough away so that you can not be pulled into the car. Do not pick up strangers.

Affirmative Action Plan

The College's Affirmative Action Plan has been recently updated, and a copy is on file in Blackwell Library for access by College employees.

The plan covers hiring procedures for new employees and shows hiring goals set by the College for women and minorities. Suggestions for improving the plan are welcome and should be directed to Ms. Linda Cashman, director of Institutional Research/Affirmative Action Officer, HH-135.

The following offices also have copies: the president, vice presidents, academic deans, director of Administrative Services, Personnel Office, Dean of Students, most department chairs and affirmative action.

Prescriptive Students in Reading

Freshmen and transfer students, whose score on the reading placement test given during orientation was in the 32-37 range, are classified as prescriptive students in reading. These students must register to take further diagnostic tests designed to determine areas of strength and weakness. Various test dates and times have been scheduled to accommodate all students. The test sessions are:

- Session 1. Monday, Nov. 3 - 6-7:30 p.m.; Wednesday, Nov. 5 - 6-7:30 p.m.
- Session 2. Friday, Nov. 7 - 12:30-3 p.m.
- Session 3. Monday, Nov. 3 - 1-2 p.m.; Wednesday, Nov. 12 - 1-2 p.m.; Friday, Nov. 14 - 1-2 p.m.
- Session 4. Tuesday, Nov. 11 - 4:30-6 p.m.; Thursday, Nov. 13 - 4:30-6 p.m.

Students need to register for one session of testing. Registration will be conducted in the Reading Center, Caruthers Hall 210 A.

If the diagnostic test scores indicate no serious reading problems, the prescriptive student will have fulfilled the requirement just by taking the test. If, however, deficiencies are found, the student must work in the Reading Center until those deficiencies are remediated. Failure to fulfill this requirement, by testing out or working in the Reading Center until remediated, by the completion of the sophomore year may result in dismissal from the College. If a student is in doubt about his test score, he should contact his advisor or the Reading Center at ext. 6391.

1985 Prescriptive Studies in Reading

Prescriptive students who completed diagnostic tests in reading during the 1985-86 academic year are urged to resume working in the Reading Center, on their individual prescription. Prescriptive students who fail to demonstrate an appropriate level of competency by the completion of their sophomore year will not be allowed to continue at SSC. To resume your prescription, report to the Reading Center, Caruthers Hall 210A, or contact Mrs. Patricia Blevins, Caruthers Hall, B-144 at ext. 6394.

Student/Faculty I.D. Cards

All individuals who had photographs taken for their identification cards during the period 08/21 to 10/12 may pick up their permanent cards in room 214 Holloway Hall. Office hours are 9:30 a.m.-1:30 p.m. and 2:30-5:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. Each person must turn in his temporary card in order to receive the permanent card.

Leadership Training

A program in personal development and the enhancement of family life will be presented Thursday, November 6, at 7:30 p.m. in the meeting room of the Salisbury Chamber of Commerce. It is part of the Salisbury Jaycees leadership training in individual development. Ms. Christy Scott of Princess Anne, MD, will conduct the presentation. All students, faculty and staff are invited to attend in addition to members of the general public. For more information, please call Mia Vye at ext. 6012.

PROUD at Work

PROUD (formerly the Disabled Students Union) recently held its first meeting for the 1986-87 school year. The following individuals were elected to office: William A. Kent, president; Harrison Trego, vice-president; Hollis R. Bennett, secretary; and Lisa Stier, treasurer.

Over the summer months, PROUD (with help from the Dean of Students Office), has been successful in accomplishing several projects on campus. They include the purchase of three new pieces of equipment located in the training room of Maggs Physical Activities Center.

Equipment purchased includes the Hydro-Fitness Total Fitness Machine. It was designed by a disabled individual for use by the disabled without a spotter.

The second is the Airdyne Cycle by Schwinn. This stationary cycle was designed with a device which allows a paraplegic to ride with the use of his arms.

The final item is a Universal Aerobicycle. This high-tech computerized stationary bike lets an individual set his own course such as, up and down hills, a consistent pace, or up a gradual but constant incline. This piece of equipment was designed to improve an individual's cardiovascular system, or help an individual with endurance in rehabilitation.

PROUD has also been instrumental in the construction of a special elevated platform located next to the grandstand at the athletic field on Bateman St. This platform was constructed to allow a disabled individual to view a game without interference by team members blocking the view. This platform is reserved for disabled students and their guests. Disabled persons from the community who wish to see a game are also invited to support the Sea Gulls and enjoy the use of the new facilities. This is a special attraction which is not found at many other small stadiums.

Meetings are held the first and third Thursdays of each month and all are invited. For further information, please call ext. 6080.

Sexual Abuse Prevention Program

Every year thousands of children are the victims of sexual abuse, often by members of their own families or by other people they know. The Social Work Club and the Somerset County Department of Social Services are cooperating again this year with a sexual abuse prevention program in the Somerset County Schools. SSC student volunteers will visit the classrooms, show a video tape on how children can avoid abuse, and help the teacher lead the discussion. If there are any immediate reports of sexual abuse they will be handled by the School and Social Services.

SSC student volunteers must complete a two-hour training program. For more information about volunteering, call Jan Holland during agency hours on Tuesday and Thursdays at 651-0311. Her dorm number is 548-9350. For further information call the Social Work Club or the Club Advisor, Bob Long, at ext. 6308.

Business and Economics Society

The Business and Economics Society will hold a meeting Thursday, October 30, in Caruthers 118 at 3:30 p.m. During this meeting, the movie Passion for Excellence, about a new form of marketing research, will be shown. Come on out and see this interesting film. All are welcome.

Dr. David Mercier

Acupuncturist To Speak

"The Other Medicine: The Art of Acupuncture" is the topic of a presentation by David Mercier, a traditional acupuncturist with a private practice in Easton, MD, on Wednesday, November 5, at 7:30 p.m. in Caruthers Hall Auditorium.

The lecture, sponsored by the SSC Faculty Cultural Events Committee in conjunction with the Salisbury State College Foundation, Inc., will cover some of the history and philosophy of traditional acupuncture. Like all programs in the College's year-long series, "China: Tradition and Transformation," the lecture is free and open to the public.

This lecture will focus primarily on the spirit of Chinese medical practice as expressed in traditional acupuncture. Although much publicity has been given this art for its uses in anesthesia and symptom control, it is, in its pure, traditional form, a holistic system of great depth and complexity used in both the treatment and prevention of illness.

Illness is associated with an imbalance in the flow of Ch'i of life energy, which permeates body, mind and spirit. The task of the acupuncturist is to restore order and harmony in the Ch'i through the insertion of thin needles into carefully selected points on the body. Once harmony is established, the inherent healing power of the individual is activated and symptoms disappear of their own accord.

To the ancient Chinese physician, prevention was more important than treatment after the fact. And health was more than freedom from disease: it was a condition characterized by vitality and strength of spirit, a condition given to the unfolding of our personal wisdom.

In the 20th century, the lessons and methods are still relevant. Acupuncture and herbalism, as the essential forms of Chinese medicine, have endured for thousands of years as living monuments to the wisdom and practicality of Chinese culture.

Dr. Mercier, R.Ac. Dipl. Ac. (NCAA), is registered with the Board of Medical Examiners to practice in Maryland and is board certified by the National Commission for the Certification of Acupuncturists. He is a graduate of the Traditional Acupuncture Institute in Columbia, MD and has studied extensively with Dr. J.R. Worsley in England, where he earned his licentiate and bachelor degrees in traditional acupuncture.

China Lecture Tape

Five audio copies of the lecture on "Confucianism, Taoism and Buddhism: The Philosophies of China," by Dr. Tu Wei-ming of Harvard University are available at the circulation desk of Blackwell Library for in-house listening.

Dr. Tu Wei-ming is author of several books on Confucianism, has been extensively published in leading journals and is chairman of Harvard's Committee on the Study of Religion.

'Princess Yang Kwei-Fei' Celebration of a Woman

A screening and discussion of one of the most internationally acclaimed love stories ever filmed, The Princess Yang Kwei-Fei (1955), will be presented on Thursday, November 6, at 7 p.m. in Devilbiss Science Hall, room 149.

Kenji Mizoguchi's Princess Yang Kwei-Fei is a testament to the director's lifelong commitment to the celebration and deep understanding of women. The last of the Tang emperors finds and loses his Cinderella in this romantic melodrama based upon the famous lyric poem by Po Chu-i.

Leading the discussion following the film is Dr. Keioko Iwai McDonald, an associate professor in the department of East Asian Languages & Literatures at the University of Pittsburgh.

"A number of directors in the history of Japanese cinema have attempted to reconstruct Chinese history on screen," said McDonald. "One notable example is Masahiro Makino's 1943 picture, The Opium War. Another is Kenji Mizoguchi's The Princess Yang Kwei-Fei (1955).

"Mizoguchi was nearing the end of his 30-year career as one of Japan's greatest directors when he was commissioned to make this film," according to McDonald. "Its subject is taken from the famous lyric poem by Po Chu-i celebrating the tragic romance between the Emperor Hsuan-tsung and a girl of humble origin and classic beauty, the Princess Yang Kwei-Fei."

"This historical drama is set against a background of eighth century Tang dynasty court intrigue—a time, place, and cultural milieu which the Japanese director knew very little about," said McDonald. "Yet Mizoguchi was a man of supreme self-confidence—and of course he had his Chinese collaborators. Though subject and setting may have been exotic and remote, The Princess Yang Kwei-Fei offered Mizoguchi yet another chance to pursue the central theme of his career: the exploitation of the weaker sex."

"The Princess Yang Kwei-Fei, like other Mizoguchi heroines, confronts the male-dominated, money-oriented society of her days; and like so many others, triumphs nobly only through self-sacrifice."

Part of the College's year-long cultural events series, "China: Tradition and Transformation," the presentation is sponsored by the Faculty Cultural Events Committee in conjunction with the College Foundation. Like all events in the series, the public is invited at no charge.

For more information, call the College Center at ext. NEWS.

Quillen Exhibition

Marie Tator Quillen, a member at the Art Dept. faculty, is participating in the Fulbright Alumni Art Exhibition at the Swen Parson Gallery at Northern Illinois University in DeKalb, IL.

The exhibit is October 17 through November 9 and is sponsored by the NIU School of Art. The exhibit is made possible through grants of the Fulbright Alumni Association, the National Endowment for the Arts and the Illinois Arts Council.

Frost Dramatization

Auditions for a chamber theatre production of Robert Frost works are scheduled for Monday, November 3, at 7 p.m. in Caruthers Auditorium.

The dramatization of Frost poems, focusing on the theme of alienation, has parts for six men and six women, who will portray or narrate different Frost characters. The production is Friday, December 12, in Caruthers Auditorium.

Auditions are open to the campus community. For more information on parts, contact Dr. Robert Wesley, room 133 Caruthers Hall, or call ext. 6238.

Rifle Club

The SSC Rifle Club will hold elections for the 1987 school year on Thursday, November 6, at 3:30 p.m. in Tawes 118. Members are encouraged to attend.

The Rifle Club provides an opportunity to learn safe firearms skills, improve marksmanship and practice good sportsmanship.

All are welcome to attend the Thursday, 3:30 p.m., weekly meetings.

Arts Council Plans Bus Trip to 'Camelot'

The Salisbury Arts Council is planning a bus trip to Baltimore to see the Mechanic Theatre presentation of Camelot starring Richard Harris on Sunday, November 23. Cost for the trip is $47 per person ($45 for SWAC members). This cost covers the bus fare and performance.

Camelot is a classic of the American musical theatre written by Lerner and Loewe who also gave the world such memorable musicals as "Brigadoon," "Gigi," and of course, "My Fair Lady."

Washington Post critic Joseph McLellan praised Harris's King Arthur, writing, "Richard Harris conquers the American stage in 'Camelot'."

The Salisbury Wicomico Arts Council bus trip will depart from the Civic Center parking lot at 11:30 a.m. and arrive at The Morris Mechanic in time for the 3 p.m. matinee performance. The bus will stop on the return trip for dinner (price of the meal not included in the price of the trip). The bus will arrive back in Salisbury at approximately 10 p.m.

Reservations and payments MUST be received by November 6. Please call the Arts Council for more information at 543-ARTS, or mail your check to P.O. Box 884, Salisbury, Maryland 21801.

Business Administration Students

Pre-registration for Spring '87 classes is scheduled for November 3-14. Business Administration students must follow the procedure outlined on a special BUAD Instruction Sheet. Look for this special sheet in your pre-registration packet. (Additional copies are racked outside HH-326). This instruction sheet will help you prepare for pre-registration and will indicate whether you should attend a special BUAD Pre-registration session or schedule an appointment with your faculty advisor.

Nominations for Who's Who, Campus Life and Achievement Key

The Honors Convocation Committee is now accepting nominations for Who's Who Among Students in American College and Universities, Campus Life Award, and Achievement Key Award. Students may nominate themselves for these award(s) or may be nominated by anyone in the campus community. Specific criteria for each award and nomination forms are available in the Dean of Students Office, room 243, Holloway Hall. Deadline for completion of the application is Friday, November 14.

(Note: If planning to nominate a student, please be sure to nominate early so that there is ample time to contact the student and have him/her complete an application by November 14).

A.A.U.P.

The next A.A.U.P. meeting will be Friday, October 31, at 3:30 p.m. in the Nanticoke Room, College Center.

Phi Alpha Theta Initiation

Nine students were recently inducted into Phi Alpha Theta, the international History Honor Society. Students were taken through the seven ages of history as a part of their initiation. The guest speaker for the evening was Dr. Florence Pritchard, assistant Vice President for Academic Affairs. Following the ceremony, a coffee hour was held for the new initiates to meet society members and faculty.

Stewart to Lecture on Lung Disease

Xavier Stewart, instructor of Respiratory Therapy at the College, gives two lectures in November on his research on lung disease.

On Thursday, November 20, at 5 p.m., he discusses, "Smoking and Lung Disease," at the Peninsula General Hospital Educational Center's seminar room. On Friday, November 21, his presentation on "Occupational Health Safety and the Effects of Dusts and Smoking in the Work Environment" is at 1 p.m. at the Somerset County Vocational Center in Westover, MD.

Stewart has published more than 20 papers on occupational lung diseases and smoking and its effects. He is recognized nationally as a foremost expert on occupational lung disease among poultry workers and growers.

He has published more than 10 papers on poultry lung disease which he discovered and wrote about in original research findings to the American Medical Association, American Association of Respiratory Care, American Lung Association and American Thoracic Society conferences.

He is currently studying 1,000 farmers on the Eastern Shore of Maryland who are exhibiting pulmonary lung changes. Stewart recently completed a large prospective study of 500 farmers and demonstrated significant lung disease due to poultry dusts. The paper is to be published soon.

His presentation on November 21 includes smoking, farm dusts, herbicides, solvent fumes, masonry dusts, auto fumes, wood dusts, asbestos, mechanics dust and pollution in the air.

Sponsors of the presentations include The American Lung Association of Maryland, The American Cancer Society and the SSC Respiratory Association.

The lectures are free and the public is invited to attend.

Dr. Baldwin to Read Own Poetry

Dr. Tama Baldwin will give a reading of her own poetry in the Social Room of Holloway Hall on Wednesday, November 5, at 7:30 p.m. A part-time instructor in the English Dept. and a free-lance writer, she is currently working on her first book of poetry. Her poems have appeared in Poetry, The Georgia Review as well as other journals.

An alumna of Salisbury State, she completed her B.A. here in 1980 in three years under the guidance of Drs. Michael Waters and William Zak. She received a full fellowship and teaching associateship from the State University of New York in Brockport, where she earned her Master's in English. She went on to earn an M.A. from Johns Hopkins University and her Ph.D. in 20th Century Literature from Ohio University, where she received the Outstanding Teaching Award in 1986.

A performance piece "about fish," according to choreographers Dana Simpson-Orth and Kathryn Martin will have its premiere at the "Works in Progress" concert by the Salisbury State College Dance Company on Thursday, October 30, at 8 p.m. in the College's Maggs Dance Studio. Pictured in a moment from the dance are Orth, Agata Liszkowski, Dale Whitel and Martin.

Teen Terpsichoreans In 'Works'

The College Dance Company presents its fall concert, "Works in Progress," Thursday, October 30, at 8 p.m. in Maggs Dance Studio.

The concert features five "Works," beginning with performances by area teenagers. They will be followed by a variety of folk dances, two selections from the upcoming ballet, "The Snow Queen," and a collaboration with local artist Dana Simpson-Orth about fish.

Local teenagers studying dance at the College in recent weeks will have the chance to show off their work under the direction of class instructor Jeri Lynn Alls.

A sneak preview of the Company's upcoming performance of "The Snow Queen," a ballet based on the Hans Christian Anderson fairy tale, choreographed by Dance Company director Kathryn Martin, promises to delight children of all ages. Two dances will be performed from this original, modern ballet about a girl's quest for a lost friend.

Martin and Dana Simpson-Orth are collaborating on a four dancer performance piece with new music from such groups as the Cocteau Twins and Pagan Waves. This will be its premiere performance. The whole program is about an hour.

The College Dance Company has been performing since 1971. Its repertoire includes various dramatic and modern works, folk dance, as well as ballet, tap and jazz.

"Works in Progress" admission is free to the campus community. For more information call ext. 6353.

A Christmas Carol

The Salisbury Wicomico Arts Council, the Community Players of Salisbury and the Wicomico Performing Arts Association are pleased to announce they will jointly sponsor a Community Players production of the Charles Dickens' classic tale, A Christmas Carol, on December 12, 13 and 14. The seasonal family tale has never before been produced in the area. It marks the first-time collaboration between the three area arts organizations.

The story of A Christmas Carol is timeless. Penned by Dickens over a century ago, the true spirit of Christmas is revealed through stingy old Scrooge as the spirits of Christmas past, present and future appear on Christmas Eve. The spirits show Scrooge the bleakness of his future if he does not change his "humbug" ways. He learns that his gain should be the love of family and friends and not the wealth of gold and fortune.

A Christmas Carol will be presented at the Wicomico Senior High School Auditorium at 8:15 p.m. on Friday, December 12, and in matinees at 2:15 p.m. on Saturday, December 13, and Sunday, December 14.

Tickets will be available starting November 1 through the Arts Council at all ten Peninsula Bank locations during regular lobby hours and at the two Salisbury locations of John Hanson Savings and Loan. Please call the Arts Council at 543-ARTS for more information.

A Christmas Carol is produced by special arrangement with Samuel French Inc. and is made possible, in part, by a grant from the Maryland State Arts Council.

Field Hockey, Football And Scott Scheffler Blaze Trails

Quarterback Kevin White ran for both Salisbury State touchdowns and passed for 124 yards to lead the 13th ranked Sea Gulls to a 13-6 win over third ranked Montclair State in an NCAA Division III showdown during Homecoming festivities in Salisbury on Saturday afternoon.

White capped a 12-play, 77-yard drive with seven seconds left in the first quarter with a three yard TD run. The junior from Salisbury then scored again on a six yard run late in the third quarter to give the Gulls a 13-0 lead.

Montclair State, however, scored early in the fourth quarter when their quarterback Walter Briggs, who passed for 331 yards, hit Bryan Scipio with a 13 yard pass on a fourth down situation. Later in the final quarter, Briggs again was in a fourth down situation deep in Sea Gull territory. But freshman Exys Jones sacked Briggs for the third time (SSC sacked the MSC quarterback six times in the game) to preserve the win.

Mike Coppa, the nation's sixth leading running back, had another excellent day, gaining 131 yards while the SSC offense picked up 263 yards on the ground. The Gull defense, which had an outstanding day, held the Indians to just 69 total yards rushing.

SSC, now 7-0 and winners of 16 straight regular season games, will travel to Ramapo, NJ, to tackle the Roadrunners this Saturday at 1:30 p.m. The Gulls will be back home next week when they host Wesley College at 1:30 p.m.

In other sports news, Scott Scheffler won for the fifth time in as many tries and set a course record for the fifth time in the Eastern States Athletic Conference cross country meet at Frostburg on Saturday. Scheffler ran the five-mile course in 25:45, better than one minute faster than the nearest runner. The Gulls placed fourth in the meet. Scheffler and teammate Doug Mock were both named to the All-Conference team.

The women's field hockey team continued to knock off the nation's top-ranked teams last week. After being named the Division III's unanimous number one team in the nation, SSC defeated Wesley 7-1, number two ranked Elizabethtown 3-0, and number 10 ranked Glassboro State 1-0. Goalkeeper Karen Stockton recorded the team's 11th shutout in 15 games for the Gulls this season. SSC, which tied the record for the best start ever by a Gull field hockey team at 15-0, will host Mary Washington on Friday at 2 p.m. and then will try to close the season undefeated as they host Cortland State on Sunday at 11 a.m.

The women's volleyball team split two dual matches last week. UMES rallied from two games down to defeat the Gulls 3-2 on Wednesday, but SSC came back to beat Johns Hopkins three straight games on Saturday. Now 11-8 on the season, Salisbury will host Delaware State in the year's final match on Thursday night at 6 p.m. in the Maggs Activity Center.

The men's soccer team tied one match and lost the other last week dropping its record to 5-8-1 in 1986. The Gulls got a second half goal from Bryan Watson on Thursday to tie St. Mary's at 1-1. Rutgers-Camden then shut out SSC 2-0 on Saturday. SSC closed its home schedule on Wednesday against Virginia Wesleyan, but will travel to North Carolina Wesleyan on Saturday and Sunday to participate in the host team's tournament.

Fall Flatland Tournament

The SSC Rugby Club will be hosting the second annual Fall Flatland Tournament on Saturday, November 1, at the rugby field (across from the baseball diamond). Games start at 10 a.m. Teams will include Salisbury, Towson, UMBC, Frostburg, Westminster, Mount St. Mary's, East Stroudsburg (PA), West Chester (PA), Severn River, Baltimore, George Mason (last year's champions from VA) and special appearances by Salisbury Old Boys (Rugby graduates). "The sleeper has awakened," according to Darien Ripple, president and coach of SSC Rugby, "and should prove to be a strong contender when we start our day off against Mount St. Marys. Come out and let us entertain you."

Writing Center Hours

New hours for the Writing Center are:

Monday: 9 a.m.-4 p.m. and 6-9 p.m.

Tuesday: 9 a.m.-4 p.m.

Wednesday: 9 a.m.-4 p.m. and 6-9 p.m.

Thursday: 9 a.m.-4 p.m.

Friday: 9 a.m.-2 p.m.

This year, along with the taped modules and both graduate and undergraduate tutors, the Writing Center has computerized modules geared toward the Holt Handbook. We are prepared to help with any writing assignment, from an English 101 paper to a Master's thesis.

The Writing Center is located in Caruthers Hall A-202 (2nd floor). Call ext. 6392 for information.

One bedroom apartment for rent to single adult. Quiet neighborhood close to the college. $220/month plus utilities and deposit. Call 742-9170 or 543-6470.

Tutoring Position Available

The Writing Center needs a tutor to work approximately eight hours per week. The hours available are 1-4 p.m., Tuesdays and Thursdays, and 11 a.m.-1 p.m., Fridays. Applicants should have strong writing skills and some knowledge of the terminology of grammar. Also, good communication skills are essential. Applicants will be tested to determine their mastery of the basic rules of grammar and sentence structure, and the selected applicant will be extensively trained. For more information, please call the Writing Center at ext. 6392 or stop by Caruthers A-202 and ask for Charles Hill.

Lower Shore Prevention Resource Center

The fall issue of the Lower Shore Prevention Resource Center's newsletter, Newsline, is now available at the Resource Center. Please feel free to stop by the office, HH 336, for a copy or call ext. 6309 if you would like to be put on the mailing list. The feature article is "Cocaine Use: A Lower Shore Perspective," written in the interest of community awareness by Bob Short of the Wicomico County Drug Program and Det. Sgt. Bob Tunney of the Maryland State Police.

Also featured is a list of new video tapes and films. Of particular interest to the faculty, staff and students will be three tapes pertaining to college students. All services of the Resource Center are free of charge. Office hours are 8:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Celebrate the Arts This Upcoming Holiday Season

This year the Salisbury Wicomico Arts Council has asked local artist Marie Tator Quillen to design a unique, limited edition Christmas holiday ornament that will be sent to contributors for every $25 tax-deductible contribution they make to the Arts Council.

Quillen, an associate professor of Art at the College and a talented artist with over 60 professional exhibitions of her work to her credit, has designed an ornament that incorporates the distinctive Arts Council logo in its design and is crafted out of porcelain, coated with a translucent glaze and topped with a delicate gold bow and thread for hanging.

These hand-sculpted ornaments will be on display in the coming weeks at many area locations: The Bank of Fruitland, Benjamin's, John Hanson Savings and Loan, Peninsula Bank, Phillips Men's Shop, and Second National Building and Loan are just some of the locations where the ornaments will be on display.

Contributions of any size will help make continuing and expanding the Arts Council's work possible and for this holiday season a contribution of $25 will also mean a gift for the contributor, to keep or give a friend or colleague.

VOL. XIII NO. 11

'You Know I Can't Hear You When the Water's Running' Comedy Opens November 14

You Know I Can't Hear You When the Water's Running is not only a familiar phrase between husbands and wives. It's also the title of the next play offered by Salisbury State Theatre. One of the most successful comedies in Broadway history, this warm-hearted quartet of hilarious short plays by Robert Anderson opens Friday, November 14, in Holloway Hall On Stage.

Gerry Patt, Jr., SSC scenic designer and technical director, directs and designs the production.

"I believe it helps a designer to develop a better sense of unity to become involved in acting and directing," Patt said. At SSC, this marks his eighth production as a designer, his third directing outing and first full-length directing assignment here. Previously, he directed scenes from Hamlet and Twenty-Seven Wagons Full of Cotton by Tennessee Williams.

Patt likes You Know I Can't Hear You . . . because of its "very human situations in which we can see much of ourselves."

The first of the four plays, The Shock of Recognition, breaks in on a difference of opinion between an earnest young dramatist and his matter-of-fact producer. A quarrel develops and a job-hunting actor becomes involved.

In the second play, Footsteps of Doves, a married couple of 25 years come to a store to pick out a new bed or beds. Should they buy twin beds or a double? Into the discussion comes an attractive young woman doing some shopping of her own.

Play number three is a little more serious and touching as it shows a couple discussing the sex education of their children.

The last of the four, I'm Herbert, is about an elderly couple sitting, rocking and talking. Each has had one or more previous marriages, and perhaps a few flings, but at this stage in their lives they are hazy—and very funny—about the details.

Patt brings to SSC the experience of more than a hundred such openings in his position as a director, designer and teacher.

His work in New York professional theatre has included such productions as The Gin Game, Dracula, Mornings at Seven and Evita. Industrials, such as the Miliken Show, General Electric and John Deere, are also part of his repertoire.

He has worn many hats. "The role of the scenic designer is wide-ranging," he said. "It includes expertise as a painter, sculptor, draftsman, architect, upholsterer, electrician, plumber and all-around stage technician."

After doing his master's degree work at Southern Illinois University, Patt went to Fordham University in New York. There he acted as director of theatre as well as designer and technical director.

After going into the professional ranks, he worked with top scenic studios such as Hart Scenic Studio and Feller Inc. He found this experience rewarding but hectic. "If you were involved with one major project, it grew to five," he said. "Then it would be none for a couple of months. Coming back to academic theatre was like coming home."

You Know I Can't Hear You . . . plays at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday, November 14 and 15, and Thursday through Saturday, November 20-22; and Sunday, November 16, at 2 p.m. For ticket information and reservations, call the SSC Theatre Box Office at 543-6228.

'Chinese - the World's Most Spoken Language' Lecture

"Chinese—The Planet's Most Commonly Spoken Language; An Exploration into its Myths, Mysteries and Realities" is the subject of a lecture by Dr. A. Ronald Walton, associate professor of Chinese Language and Linguistics at the University of Maryland, College Park, on Monday, November 10, at 7:30 p.m. at Caruthers Hall Auditorium.

The program is part of the College's year-long series, "China: Tradition and Transformation," which is sponsored by the SSC Faculty Cultural Events Committee in conjunction with the Salisbury State College Foundation, Inc. Like all programs in the series, Dr. Walton's lecture is free and open to the public.

That presentation is intended to give an overview of the unique features of the Chinese language. Topics will include: a brief look at the origins and evolution of Chinese characters; the role of calligraphy in Chinese, both as a medium of communication and an art form; the impact of the Chinese writing system on education, literacy and even social structure; the current reform of Chinese writing; and the influence of Chinese characters on Chinese culture generally.

Are Chinese characters really "pictures"? How many characters are there? How many does the typical Chinese person know? How are they written? Does the reading of Chinese differ from the reading of alphabetic languages? How do Chinese dictionaries work when one can't look up a word by its spelling? Do the Chinese use typewriters? How do the Chinese make use of computers, from programming to word-processing, without an alphabetic writing system? These and other similar questions will be addressed.

The presentation will also include the unique characteristics of spoken Chinese. Chinese relies on the use of "tones" or "tunes" to distinguish words. What are tones, how did they originate, can "tone deaf" Chinese speak the language? Contrary to popular belief, there is no single spoken "Chinese language" nor are there simply a number of "dialects." Rather, there are in China at least six different languages, related, but differing among each other as much as do French, Spanish and even German among each other. The discussion will touch upon the different languages, their geographical location and their differences.

There will also be an attempt to separate fact from fiction as regards the overrated "difficulty" of learning Chinese as a second language and a down-to-earth assessment of what and how long is required for a foreigner to become "fluent."

Sexual Abuse Prevention Program

Every year thousands of children are the victims of sexual abuse, often by members of their own families or by other people they know. The Social Work Club and the Somerset County Department of Social Services are cooperating again this year with a sexual abuse prevention program in the Somerset County Schools. SSC student volunteers will visit the classrooms, show a video tape on how children can avoid abuse, and help the teacher lead the discussion. If there are any immediate reports of sexual abuse they will be handled by the School and Social Services.

SSC student volunteers must complete a two-hour training program. For more information about volunteering, call Jan Holland during agency hours on Tuesday and Thursdays at 651-0311. Her dorm number is 548-9350. For further information call the Social Work Club or the Club Advisor, Bob Long, at ext. 6308.

Personal Safety Tips

The campus and neighboring streets are not immune from activities frequently associated with metropolitan areas or larger, urban colleges. Personal safety tips, prepared by the Department of Public Safety, may lessen the likelihood of becoming a victim.

1. Do not walk or jog alone after dark.
 2. Walk in well-lit areas and stay near the curb, away from alleys, entry ways and bushes where someone could be hiding.
 3. Avoid short cuts. Walk where there are other people present.
 4. Do not hitchhike or accept rides from strangers. If a driver asks you for directions, stay far enough away so that you can not be pulled into the car. Do not pick up strangers.
 5. If you are being followed when walking, change directions, cross the street and vary your speed. Go to a well-lit area or a place where there are other people. If followed by someone in a car, turn and walk in the other direction. Record a license number.
 6. Park your car in a well-lit area and lock the door.
 7. Keep doors locked at all times. Don't unlock the door for strangers. Keep first floor windows locked.
 8. If you need an escort to or from your car or residence hall, call the Department of Public Safety, 543-6222.
 9. Locate someone in your class who is going in the same direction after class ends.
 10. Report any suspicious activity or crimes to the Public Safety Office, ext. 6222.
- You are your own best protection. For more information on personal safety, contact the Department of Public Safety, located in Holloway Hall room 22, ext. 6222.

Affirmative Action Plan

The College's Affirmative Action Plan has been recently updated, and a copy is on file in Blackwell Library for access by College employees.

The plan covers hiring procedures for new employees and shows hiring goals set by the College for women and minorities. Suggestions for improving the plan are welcome and should be directed to Ms. Linda Cashman, director of Institutional Research/Affirmative Action Officer, HH-135.

The following offices also have copies: the president, vice presidents, academic deans, director of Administrative Services, Personnel Office, Dean of Students, most department chairs and affirmative action.

Montreal Ski Trip

This year's Outdoor Club Winter Term trip is to Montreal for cross-country and downhill skiing.

Cross-country skiing, which may be taken as a one credit course (PHEC 490.201), is in the vicinity of Shawbridge, Quebec, on some 50 miles of wooded trails maintained by the McGill (University) Outing Club. Downhill skiing is available at some of the finest slopes in the Laurentians, including St. Sauveur, Mont Ste. Anne and Mont Tremblant. Prior experience is recommended for downhill skiers. The trip also includes sightseeing in old Montreal and an optional side trip to the city of Quebec.

The trip lasts 11 days with departure on January 19 and return to SSC on January 29. Cost including lodging, transportation, and breakfast and dinner while at the McGill Outing Club house is $140.00. The side trip to Quebec costs about $17.00 extra. Those who have been attending Outdoor Club activities receive a reduced rate and are granted priority in sign up.

The $140.00 does not include rental fees for cross-country skis ($3.00 Canadian per day) or lift tickets for downhill skiers (about $20.00 Canadian per day or lower with group rates). Downhill skis may be rented in Salisbury or by day at the slopes in Canada.

A place on the trip may be guaranteed by giving a non-refundable deposit of $50.00 to club treasurer, Cathy Lynch (548-9472). Sign up begins at the meeting on Wednesday, November 12, at 6:30 p.m. in Tawes 118.

Outdoor Club Meetings and Trips

The Outdoor Club has only one trip remaining this semester, a caving trip on November 21, 22, and 23. Weekly club meetings on Wednesdays at 6:30 p.m. in Tawes 118 will, however, feature interesting and informative presentations including movies, slide shows, skill demonstrations and lectures by local authorities on nature, ecology and outdoor recreation. Planning is currently under way for the 11-day winter break ski trip to Shawbridge, north of Montreal. Students who participate regularly in club activities will receive priority sign-up and a reduction in the cost of this trip.

News Deadline

The SSC News is a newsletter for the campus community published each Thursday during fall and spring semesters, unless noted. The deadline is noon on Monday prior to publication. Newsletter stories and items usually are proofed and typeset on a first come, first served basis, so don't feel you have to wait until Monday to get your article to the Public Relations Office (HH 264).

March of Dimes Forum

The Lower Shore Chapter of the March of Dimes presents "Parents, It's Time to Talk," on Saturday, November 8, from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. in Holloway Hall.

The series of workshops are centered on the problem of adolescent pregnancy. Low birth weight is the most common condition that contributes to, or is a part of, birth defects. Babies of teenage mothers are more likely to be born too small too soon and adolescent pregnancy is both a national and local problem.

Dr. Mary S. Calderone, a pioneering leader in the field of sexuality, will speak.

Registration is $5. For more information, call Kathy Fox or Gene White at ext. 6372 or the March of Dimes office at 546-2241.

Nursing Opening at SSC

Senior faculty member for leadership position in master's degree program in Family Nursing in Rural Areas. Tenure-track, academic year appointment; excellent resources for research and clinical practice. Qualifications: Master's degree in nursing and doctoral degree in nursing or related area; preparation and experience in Family Nursing, Community Health Nursing or Mental Health Nursing preferred; expertise in research and curriculum development desired. Rank and salary commensurate with qualifications. Send letter and curriculum vitae by November 24 to Dr. Elizabeth Barfield, Dean, School of Nursing & Health Sciences, Salisbury State College. An Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer.

Nurses Scholarships

Scholarship money is available for undergraduate pre-Nursing and Nursing students currently enrolled in state approved schools of Nursing. Criteria for selection include academic achievement, financial need, involvement in Nursing student organizations and community activities related to health care.

Details are available through the College of Nursing and Health Sciences, ext. 6420.

Counseling Services

Counseling Services conducts walk-in hours from 1 - 3 p.m. Monday through Thursday. Anyone who wishes to see a counselor, and has not seen one before, is welcome between those hours.

Measure for Measure

The theater trip for the fall will be on Wednesday, November 12, to Washington, D.C.'s Arena Stage for one of Shakespeare's dark comedies, Measure for Measure. In this tragicomic tale of chastity and lust, mercy and justice collide in the vice-ridden city of Vienna.

Tickets for full-time students may be purchased at $10 each beginning on Monday, October 27, at the College Center information desk. For part-time students, faculty, staff, alumni and guests, tickets at $12 each will go on sale on October 28. Ticket price includes bus transportation; the bus will depart from Maggs circle at 2:30 p.m. on 12 November and will return immediately after the play. College Center theater trips are co-sponsored by the English and Communication Art Departments.

United Charity Campaign

Once each year those of us who have jobs and health have the opportunity to help create a better life for all of us through the United Way. The Maryland State Employees and Retirees campaign is known as the United Charity Campaign which broadens the package of health and human services to which state employees may choose to make contributions.

This year as an incentive to support this important campaign, the College Foundation, in conjunction with Phil's TV, has donated a Magnavox Video Cassette Recorder which participants will be eligible to win if they give at least $2.00 per pay period (or $52.00 per year). The drawing for the VCR will take place on November 17. The winner will be contacted and announced in the SSC News.

Many services are provided by the agencies who receive funds from the United Charity Campaign. Emergency assistance, vocational training for the handicapped and disabled, and counseling and educational programs are just a few of the services offered.

If you wish to participate, please contact the Cashier's Office, room 203 Holloway Hall, by November 14th. Peggy Martin and Gains Hawkins are this year's campaign coordinators.

Test Anxiety Program

The systematic management of test taking anxiety is being taught to students by the staff at Counseling Services.

Test performance anxiety is a common experience and will have a negative impact on the scores for many students. An effective, systematic training program is available at Counseling Services which teaches students new stress coping skills for the management of extraordinary stress which impedes clear thinking. While in no way a substitute for adequate preparation, this systematic approach, which includes daily practice of deep muscle relaxation and mental rehearsal, prepares students for the tension and anxiety of the test. When stress is reduced, clear thinking and recall are enhanced.

Details regarding this stress management program are available. Contact the Counseling Services Office.

Nursing Program Planning

Program planning began November 3 for all Nursing and pre-Nursing majors. Faculty advisors request that you not phone the Department of Nursing for appointments.

All advisors will post a schedule of appointments on their office doors in the Hall Education Center, located on the corner of Locust Street and Waverly Drive.

The Rifle Club provides an opportunity to learn safe firearms skills, improve marksmanship and practice good sportsmanship.

All are welcome to attend the Thursday, 3:30 p.m. weekly meetings.

Arts Council Plans Bus Trip to Camelot

The Salisbury Arts Council is planning a bus trip to Baltimore to see the Mechanic Theatre presentation of Camelot starring Richard Harris on Sunday, November 23. Cost for the trip is $47 per person ($45 for SWAC members). This cost covers the bus fare and performance.

Camelot is a classic of the American musical theatre written by Lerner and Loewe who also gave the world such memorable musicals as Brigadoon, Gigi and of course, My Fair Lady.

Washington Post critic Joseph McLellan praised Harris's King Arthur, writing, "Richard Harris conquers the American stage in Camelot."

The Salisbury Wicomico Arts Council bus trip will depart from the Civic Center parking lot at 11:30 a.m. and arrive at the Morris Mechanic in time for the 3 p.m. matinee performance. The bus will stop on the return trip for dinner (price of the meal not included in the price of the trip). The bus will arrive back in Salisbury at approximately 10 p.m.

Reservations and payments MUST be received by November 6. Please call the Arts Council for more information at 543-ARTS, or mail your check to P.O. Box 884, Salisbury, MD 21801.

Business

Administration Students

Pre-registration for Spring '87 classes is scheduled for November 3-14. Business Administration students must follow the procedure outlined on a special BUAD Instruction Sheet. Look for this special sheet in your pre-registration packet. (Additional copies are racked outside HH-326). This instruction sheet will help you prepare for pre-registration and will indicate whether you should attend a special BUAD Pre-registration session or schedule an appointment with your faculty advisor.

Nominations for Who's Who, Campus Life and Achievement Key

The Honors Convocation Committee is now accepting nominations for Who's Who Among Students in American College and Universities, Campus Life Award, and Achievement Key Award. Students may nominate themselves for these award(s) or may be nominated by anyone in the campus community. Specific criteria for each award and nomination forms are available in the Dean of Students Office, room 243, Holloway Hall. Deadline for completion of the application is Friday, November 14.

(Note: If planning to nominate a student, please be sure to nominate early so that there is ample time to contact the student and have him/her complete an application by November 14.)

This year, along with the taped modules and both graduate and undergraduate tutors, the Writing Center has computerized modules geared toward the Holt Handbook. We are prepared to help with any writing assignment, from an English 101 paper to a master's thesis.

The Writing Center is located in Caruthers Hall A-202 (second floor). Call ext. 6392 for information.

One bedroom apartment for rent to single adult. Quiet neighborhood close to the college. $220/month plus utilities and deposit. Call 742-9170 or 543-6470.

Tutoring Position Available

The Writing Center needs a tutor to work approximately eight hours per week. The hours available are 1-4 p.m., Tuesdays and Thursdays, and 11 a.m.-1 p.m., Fridays. Applicants should have strong writing skills and some knowledge of the terminology of grammar. Also, good communication skills are essential. Applicants will be tested to determine their mastery of the basic rules of grammar and sentence structure, and the selected applicant will be extensively trained. For more information, please call the Writing Center at ext. 6392 or stop by Caruthers A-202 and ask for Charles Hill.

Celebrate the Arts This Holiday Season

This year the Salisbury Wicomico Arts Council has asked local artist Marie Tator Quillen to design a unique, limited edition Christmas holiday ornament that will be sent to contributors for every $25 tax-deductible contribution they make to the Arts Council.

Quillen, an associate professor of Art at the College and a talented artist with over 60 professional exhibitions of her work to her credit, has designed an ornament that incorporates the distinctive Arts Council logo in its design and is crafted out of porcelain, coated with a translucent glaze and topped with a delicate gold bow and thread for hanging.

These hand-sculpted ornaments will be on display in the coming weeks at many area locations: The Bank of Fruitland, Benjamin's, John Hanson Savings and Loan, Peninsula Bank, Phillips Men's Shop, and Second National Building and Loan are just some of the locations where the ornaments will be on display.

Contributions of any size will help make continuing and expanding the Arts Council's work possible and for this holiday season a contribution of $25 will also mean a gift for the contributor, to keep or give a friend or colleague.

Prescriptive Students in Reading

Freshmen and transfer students, whose score on the reading placement test given during orientation was in the 32-37 range, are classified as prescriptive students in reading. These students must register to take further diagnostic tests designed to determine areas of strength and weakness. Various test dates and times have been scheduled to accommodate all students. The test sessions are:

Session 1. Monday, Nov. 3 - 6-7:30 p.m.; Wednesday, Nov. 5 - 6-7:30 p.m.

Session 2. Friday, Nov. 7 - 12:30-3 p.m.

Session 3. Monday, Nov. 3 - 1-2 p.m.; Wednesday, Nov. 12 - 1-2 p.m.; Friday, Nov. 14 - 1-2 p.m.

Session 4. Tuesday, Nov. 11 - 4:30-6 p.m.; Thursday, Nov. 13 - 4:30-6 p.m.

Students need to register for one session of testing. Registration will be conducted in the Reading Center, Caruthers Hall 210 A.

If the diagnostic test scores indicate no serious reading problems, the prescriptive student will have fulfilled the requirement just by taking the test. If, however, deficiencies are found, the student must work in the Reading Center until those deficiencies are remediated. Failure to fulfill this requirement, by testing out or working in the Reading Center until remediated, by the completion of the sophomore year may result in dismissal from the College. If a student is in doubt about his test score, he should contact his advisor or the Reading Center at ext. 6391.

1985 Prescriptive Studies in Reading

Prescriptive students who completed diagnostic tests in reading during the 1985-86 academic year are urged to resume working in the Reading Center, on their individual prescription. Prescriptive students who fail to demonstrate an appropriate level of competency by the completion of their sophomore year will not be allowed to continue at SSC. To resume your prescription, report to the Reading Center, Caruthers Hall 210A, or contact Mrs. Patricia Blevins, Caruthers Hall, B-144 at ext. 6394.

Student/Faculty I.D. Cards

All individuals who had photographs taken for their identification cards during the period August 21 to October 12 may pick up their permanent cards in room 214 Holloway Hall. Office hours are 9:30 a.m.-1:30 p.m. and 2:30-5:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. Each person must turn in his temporary card in order to receive the permanent card.

Leadership Training

A program in personal development and the enhancement of family life will be presented Thursday, November 6, at 7:30 p.m. in the meeting room of the Salisbury Chamber of Commerce. It is part of the Salisbury Jaycees leadership training in individual development. Ms. Christy Scott of Princess Anne, MD, will conduct the presentation. All students, faculty and staff are invited to attend in addition to members of the general public. For more information, call Mia Vye at ext. 6012.

Elliot Guest Conductor

Dr. Thomas G. Elliot, chairman of the Department of Music, has been invited to be guest conductor of the combined Concert Bands of the University of Maryland Eastern Shore and Salisbury State College in a festival performance at UMES in celebration of its centennial anniversary.

Dr. Elliot will share the podium with John Lamkin II, conductor of the UMES Band. The concert will be held on Monday, November 24, at 8 p.m., at the Ella Fitzgerald Performing Arts Center.

Dr. Elliot and Dr. Gerald Johnson, chairman of the Department of Fine Arts at UMES, anticipate the collaboration between the music departments of both institutions is the first of what they hope will be many joint projects involving students and faculty exchanges on both campuses.

Purnell Recital

Lawrence Purnell, tenor voice student in the Music Department, was presented in recital by the Wesley Temple United Methodist Church of Salisbury, October 12.

The recital benefitted the Methodist Youth Fellowship.

Price Vocal Instructor

Janice Price, a postgraduate student in the Department of Music and voice student of Norma Heyde, has been appointed vocal instructor at the Delaware Music School, Seaford branch. She will teach youth and adult students.

Another of Mrs. Heyde's former graduate students at Salisbury State College, Rebecca Hale, is the vocal instructor at the Milford branch of the Delaware Music School.

Pica Seminar

Dr. Andrew Pica discusses "New Discoveries in the Solar System: Space Explorations of the Planets" on Tuesday, November 11, from 3:30-4:30 p.m. in the Chesapeake Room in the College Center. The seminar is the third in a series sponsored by the Faculty Development Committee.

The fourth and final seminar of the semester is Dr. Mel Ang's slide presentation of the 1986 China trip on Tuesday, December 9, from noon - 1 p.m. in the Chesapeake Room.

History Faculty At Annapolis Conference

Dr. David Heidler, assistant professor of History, Mrs. Jeanne Heidler, instructor of History, and Dr. Harry Basehart, professor of Political Science, recently participated in a conference held at the State House, Annapolis to celebrate the bicentennial anniversary of the Annapolis Convention.

Speakers for "The Annapolis Connection: Maryland and the U.S. Constitution" included Dr. Carl Bode, chairman of the Maryland Humanities Council, Dr. Richard B. Morris, Gouverneur Morris Professor of History, Emeritus, Columbia University, and Benjamin R. Civiletti, former attorney general of the United States. The Annapolis Convention led directly to the calling of the Constitutional Convention in Philadelphia.

This lavish oversize scroll is one in a set of 12 commissioned by the Ch'ien-lung Emperor (r. 1736-95) to document some of the major achievements of his reign.

Hearn to Speak on Ch'ing Dynasty

"Imperial Paintings of the Ch'ing Dynasty: Emperors' Tour of the South" is the title of a presentation by Maxwell K. Hearn, associate curator of the Department of Asian Art at the Metropolitan Museum of Art, on Wednesday, November 19, at 7:30 p.m. in Caruthers Hall Auditorium.

The program is part of the College's year-long series, "China: Tradition and Transformation," sponsored by the Faculty Cultural Events Committee in conjunction with the Salisbury State College Foundation, Inc. Like all events in the series, Hearn's presentation is free and open to the public.

The two sets of scrolls presented by Hearn depict the Emperor's tours of southern China during the 17th and 18th centuries and provide a vehicle to examine the diverse life of China during that period from both a historical and an artistic perspective.

During their long reigns, both the K'ang-hsi Emperor (r. 1662-1722) and his grandson the Ch'ien-lung Emperor (r. 1736-1795) made six inspection tours of China, traveling overland and by canal from Peking to the commerical and cultural centers of the South.

Each emperor, in turn, had one of these celebrated tours documented by a set of 12 oversize handscroll paintings.

K'ang-hsi commissioned Wang Hui (1632-1715), the preeminent Orthodox School painter of the day, to supervise the recording of his second tour of 1689. The veteran court artist Hsi Yang (active ca. 1751-1776) supervised the depiction of Ch'ien-lung's 1751 tour.

"Separated in time by two generations, an even greater gulf exists between the styles of the two sets of scrolls," according to Hearn. "Wang Hui's set epitomizes traditional solutions to the rendering of figures, architecture and topography as well as providing a revealing look at the diverse life of seventeenth century China."

"Hsi Yang's scrolls, on the other hand," said Hearn, "show the effects of new influences from the West introduced into China by Giuseppe Castiglione (1688-1766) and other Jesuit painters working at the court. Both sets of scrolls function both as remarkable works of art and as fascinating historical documents."

Volunteers Needed For Concerts

The Salisbury Wicomico Arts Council is seeking student volunteers to act as ushers and ticket takers during the 1986-87 Salisbury season of the Annapolis Brass. The internationally known Annapolis Brass presents a series of four concerts here during the coming season. The first concert is November 18.

Ushers and ticket takers are needed for all concerts, including the Christmas Concert in December. In exchange for their aid, volunteers receive free admission to the concert.

To volunteer, or for further information, contact Davina Hill at 543-ARTS.

Football, Field Hockey Stay Unbeaten

by Tim Cline,
Sports Information Director

Mike Coppa and Frank Oliver each scored two touchdowns on Saturday to lead the Salisbury State Sea Gulls to a 45-7 win over Ramapo in Mahwah, NJ. The Gulls, 8-0 on the season, gained 347 yards rushing including 100 yards by Donald Washington, 94 by Coppa and 80 by Oliver. Quarterback Kevin White directed the offense which had 507 total yards. The defense limited Ramapo to just 49 yards rushing.

SSC entered the contest ranked eighth in the nation and second in the south region. The Gulls are also second in the Lambert Poll for the best team in the east. Winners of 17 consecutive regular season games, SSC sports several national statistical leaders. Bill Maurer is the nation's third leading punter with a 41.1 yards per average while Mike Coppa ranks second in punt returns (17.9 yards per return), ninth in rushing (134.0 yards per game) and ninth in scoring (9.6 points per contest). The team is third in the nation in rushing offense with 191.8 yards per game. The 8-0 start by the Gulls is their best ever and the team set a consecutive game scoring mark with the eighth win, scoring in its 38th game in a row. SSC hosts Wesley and Mercyhurst at 1:30 p.m. on November 8 and 15, respectively, before entertaining playoff hopes.

One playoff hope, however, became reality as the women's field hockey team got a bid to the NCAA Division III playoffs. SSC, the top seed in the tournament, travels to Messiah College in Pennsylvania to play Millersville on Friday with the winner of that game meeting the winner of the Gettysburg-Messiah contest on Saturday. The Gulls won both of their games last week (7-0 over Mary Washington and 5-0 over Cortland State) to finish the year with a perfect 17-0 record. Head Coach Karen Weaver passed former coach Sharon Yeagle with 61 wins to become SSC's winningest field hockey coach. The team also set several records including most shutouts (13 in 17 games) and least goals allowed per game (.23).

The men's soccer team won one of three matches last week but the win was a record-setter. SSC blanked Mount Olive 12-0 in the first game of the N.C. Wesleyan Tournament to set a record for the most goals scored and biggest winning margin. Tony D'Antonio had three goals in the contest, the first time since 1975 that a Gull has scored a hat trick. SSC lost the championship game to host N.C. Wesleyan 2-0 and earlier in the week lost in overtime 2-1 to Virginia Wesleyan. The team plays in the Maryland State Tournament this weekend.

SSC's Scott Scheffler, who has won all five cross country meets and set five course records in the process, competes in the NCAA Division III regionals at Allentown, PA, on Saturday. Scheffler, who won six in a row last year before finishing 28th in the nationals, is a favorite going into the meet.

The women's volleyball team wrapped up its 1986 season with a 14-8 record, improving from last year's 13-12 mark. The team defeated Delaware State in Salisbury last week 15-4, 11-15, 15-12, 10-15, 15-11. Freshman Amanda Barrett had 10 kills for the Gulls while junior Elaine Allnut scored seven points on her placement shots.

Annapolis Brass Quintet Concert

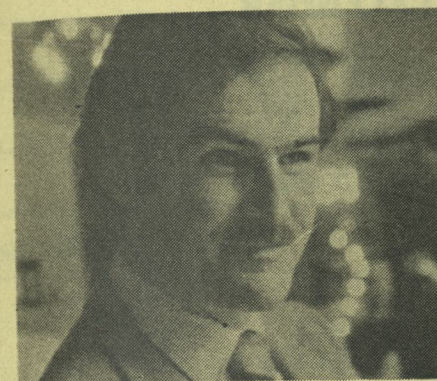

The Salisbury Wicomico Arts Council presents a concert by the Annapolis Brass Quintet on Tuesday, November 18, at 8:00 p.m. in the Trinity United Methodist Church.

For its first performance of the season in Salisbury, the Quintet brings the enthusiasm and momentum built up on its recent European tour. That tour took the Quintet to the Amerika Haus in Munich, to Scheveningen, Holland, and the Lille Festival in France.

Season subscriptions are available until after the first concert by calling the Arts Council at 543-ARTS or by stopping by the office in the Wicomico Youth and Civic Center. Christopher's offers a complimentary drink and a second complimentary after-dinner drink to season ticket holders. Season tickets are $30.00 each, a savings of $18.00 off the single ticket price. Single tickets are also available at $12.00 each ($10.00 for SWAC members).

The Annapolis Brass Quintet's season in Salisbury is made possible, in part, by grants from the National Endowment for the Arts and the Maryland State Arts Council.

Dr. Simon Mills

Chinese Herbalism Lecture

"The Other Medicine: The Art of Chinese Herbalism" is the subject of a presentation by Dr. Simon Mills, a medical sciences graduate of Cambridge University and a practicing medical herbalist in Devon, England, on Thursday, November 13, at 7:30 p.m. in Caruthers Hall Auditorium.

The program is part of the College's year-long series, "China: Tradition and Transformation." Sponsored by the Faculty Cultural Events Committee in conjunction with the Salisbury State College Foundation Inc. The lecture is free and open to the public.

Dr. Mills will explore the phenomenon of herbal medicine in China, attempting to explain why it remains such a popular system throughout the country. He will use his own extensive experience in the research into and practice of herbal medicine to describe the essential feature of the therapy and its potential strengths and weaknesses in the modern world.

"There are archetypal herbal effects on the human being," said Dr. Mills, "recognized as such in different ways by almost all cultures on the planet. These basic principles allow Westerners to get below the surface of herbal practice in China and to gain insight into well-tried healing strategies quite distinct from conventional medicine."

Dr. Mills MA., MNIMH., is president and formerly director of research of the 120-year old National Institute of Medical Herbalists (U.K.), the oldest such association in the Western world. In recent years he has been increasingly involved with refining the Chinese herbal tradition, making it meaningful for Western practitioners and sharing its insights particularly with acupuncturists in the U.K. and U.S. He sees the traditional views of herbal remedies best articulated in the Chinese tradition and has absorbed many of the approaches in his own practice. He has launched a full two-year study program in the U.S.

He is the author of A Dictionary of Modern Herbalism, published this year by Thorsons, NY.

Art Faculty's "New Work"

"New Work," an exhibition of recent work by the College Art faculty, is on view in the College Gallery through November 20.

Organized by Ursula Ehrhardt, the gallery's director, the exhibition features paintings and drawings by James L. Burgess, Robert Bunney and John Cleary; photographs by John Gencel and Dean Peterson; stained glass by Kent N. Kimmel; ceramics by F. Matthew Blaine; and basket-like sculptures of fabric and other materials by Judy Peterson.

A pamphlet with brief statements by the artists, intended to give viewers general guidelines for understanding the work, is available, free of charge, to visitors. The pamphlet also discusses what the concept of "new" means to an artist. According to Ehrhardt, most of the works are not only recent, but new in the sense of being different from what these artists had previously done.

"They are working with different techniques, or with different subject matter, or in a different style," Ehrhardt said, "or they are using familiar materials and concepts in a deliberately innovative or exploratory way." The exhibition thus documents, Ehrhardt said, "the creative process in art-making and ways of thinking about art."

The College Gallery, located on the second floor of Blackwell Library, is open on Monday and Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., Tuesday and Thursday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., and Saturday and Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m. Group tours of the exhibition may be arranged by calling the Gallery at 543-6271. Admission and tours are both free to the public.

First Executive in Residence For the Franklin P. Perdue School of Business

Herbert B. Parks, president of Byron Investments, Inc. of Greensboro, NC, a real estate investment firm, and a native of Cambridge, is the first Executive in Residence for the Franklin P. Perdue School of Business at the College.

Parks, who attended SSC for two years, majoring in Business and History, will address a group of students on Friday, November 14, at 9 a.m. in the Social Room of Holloway Hall and will discuss, "Lessons I have Learned as an Entrepreneur."

"The Executive in Residence program is one that has been carried out in a number of colleges and universities," said Dr. Thomas E. Bellavance, president of SSC, "in which leaders of the business world are brought to campus for a specified time to lecture to students and to meet informally with them."

"The length of time can vary from a day or two to three months," Dr. Bellavance continued. "The principal idea is to give students a role model and to give them an opportunity to talk with people who have achieved in the area of business."

Parks, 35, represents the quintessential American success story. Born into poverty in rural Kentucky, he moved to Cambridge at age 12. It was there, in the seventh grade, he recalls seeing a Cadillac for the first time.

"I had been around so much poverty," he said. "I got to see for the first time what I thought was affluence in that one of the local towns people drove a Cadillac. I thought that was great. I started forming, at 13, certain goals in life. But, surprisingly, they weren't monetary goals. They were ideals."

By his senior year he was named class president and was co-captain of his football team. He also won a $250 scholarship for a short story he wrote. He enrolled in Salisbury State in 1969 but withdrew two years later.

He and his brother opened a men's store in Cambridge and he added another in Florida shortly thereafter. But, he soon sold those for a very modest profit. It was then that Parks and his wife, Janis, moved to Greensboro where he ultimately landed a job managing an apartment complex.

His ability so impressed the owner of the complex, Gene Phillips, head of McCoy Development, that he brought Parks into his company as acquisition manager. Parks moved to Dallas, TX, when Phillips moved his operation to the southwest. His star continued to rise, but eventually his desire to go home to Greensboro led him to return to North Carolina and establish Byron Investments in 1980, giving his company his middle name.

Since its founding, Bryon Investments has handled well in excess of $2 billion in transactions. The real estate company is primarily engaged in brokerage, management, leasing, consulting services, acquisition, syndication and development of commercial and residential properties. Efforts are concentrated throughout North and South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Florida, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Oklahoma and Virginia.

In 1983, Parks established the Byron Scholarship Fund. The income from the fund is used to aid a deserving student from Cambridge who has demonstrated leadership qualities, entrepreneurial inclinations, a desire to pursue a degree in Business Administration and a wish to return to Cambridge some of the benefits of his or her education.

The recipient is not required to be of high scholastic rank, but must meet the scholastic requirements of the College.

"Like Mr. Perdue, Mr. Parks personifies the entrepreneurial spirit in America," said Dr. Bellavance. "We are both proud and fortunate that he has accepted our offer to become the Franklin P. Perdue School of Business' first Executive-In-Residence. We could not have made a finer or more appropriate choice."

Miller Essay Wins National Philosophy Award

"A $5,000 first prize in Philosophy is unheard of," according to Dr. Francis Kane, chairman of the Philosophy Department. "It's clearly one of the most unusual philosophical awards in the U.S."

John R. Jacobson, associate professor of Philosophy at Washington and Jefferson College (near Pittsburgh), concurs. It may be "the most financially rewarding contest and the only one of its kind . . ."

What they are talking about is the Basic Issues Forum, inaugurated this year by Washington and Jefferson, the oldest institution of higher learning west of the Alleghenies—a small, private liberal arts college with a reputation for excellence. The forum, whose subject was "The Existence of God," includes an international essay contest which attracted 164 entries from three continents, among them one of the world's leading experts on the philosophy of religion. And the contest was won by Dr. Jerry Miller of SSC.

Miller's essay was the unanimous choice of the judges. His was "clearly the superior and most profoundly interesting paper," said Jacobson, director of the forum.

Second place went to John B. Cobb Jr. of the School of Theology of Claremont College, CA. Cobb is "one of the best known people in the world in the philosophy of religion," Jacobson pointed out, which made the first place position even more significant for the SSC professor of Philosophy.

Miller credits his 14 years of teaching at SSC for helping him to write a thought-provoking and personal essay on a deeply human question in a style which would appeal to the intelligent layman and not just technical philosophers.

At a recent weekend colloquium at Washington and Jefferson with Cobb and other participants, Miller discussed his ideas with a cross-section of Pittsburgh area society: farmers, doctors, chief executive officers including the former CEO of Westinghouse. He both disturbed and stimulated his audience. In Jacobson's words, Miller was "the hero of the colloquium. He has fans here (now). He has groupies."

But the SSC professor is low-key about his success. "They like my paper," he says modestly, with a gleam in his eye.

According to students and colleagues, he is not low-key in the college classroom. He stands on chairs, on tables; he throws erasers at those whose mouths outrace their thoughts ("but his aim is notoriously bad," one student on the receiving end of the erasers added); and he listens. For Brad Lovelace, a senior from Easton

United Charity Campaign

Once each year those of us who have jobs and health have the opportunity to help create a better life for all of us through the United Way. The Maryland State Employees and Retirees campaign is known as the United Charity Campaign which broadens the package of health and human services to which state employees may choose to make contributions.

This year as an incentive to support this important campaign, the College Foundation, in conjunction with Phil's TV, has donated a Magnavox Video Cassette Recorder which participants will be eligible to win if they give at least $2.00 per pay period (or $52.00 per year). The drawing for the VCR will take place on November 17. The winner will be contacted and announced in the SSC News.

Many services are provided by the agencies who receive funds from the United Charity Campaign. Emergency assistance, vocational training for the handicapped and disabled, and counseling and educational programs are just a few of the services offered.

If you wish to participate, please contact the Cashier's Office, room 203 Holloway Hall, by November 14th. Peggy Martin and Gains Hawkins are this year's campaign coordinators.

Test Anxiety Program

The systematic management of test taking anxiety is being taught to students by the staff at Counseling Services.

Test performance anxiety is a common experience and will have a negative impact on the scores for many students. An effective, systematic training program is available at Counseling Services which teaches students new stress coping skills for the management of extraordinary stress which impedes clear thinking. While in no way a substitute for adequate preparation, this systematic approach, which includes daily practice of deep muscle relaxation and mental rehearsal, prepares students for the tension and anxiety of the test. When stress is reduced, clear thinking and recall are enhanced.

Details regarding this stress management program are available. Contact the Counseling Services Office.

Counseling Services

Counseling Services conducts walk-in hours from 1 - 3 p.m. Monday through Thursday. Anyone who wishes to see a counselor, and has not seen one before, is welcome between those hours.

Fall Book Buy

If you need a book for this semester, this is the time to buy it. The Book Rack is now in the process of returning to the publishers, books which are not being used in the winter or spring semester. This is your last chance to purchase fall semester books.

Aid Cancer Research

Lorraine Pollitt in the Food Service Department is selling Two Year (1987-88) Pocket Calendar books for the benefit of the VFW Auxiliary Cancer Aid and Research Fund. They come in many different designs and colors. The price is $2.50 each.

Nursing Opening at SSC

Senior faculty member for leadership position in master's degree program in Family Nursing in Rural Areas. Tenure-track, academic year appointment; excellent resources for research and clinical practice. Qualifications: Master's degree in nursing and doctoral degree in nursing or related area; preparation and experience in Family Nursing, Community Health Nursing or Mental Health Nursing preferred; expertise in research and curriculum development desired. Rank and salary commensurate with qualifications. Send letter and curriculum vitae by November 24 to Dr. Elizabeth Barfield, Dean, School of Nursing & Health Sciences, Salisbury State College. An Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer.

Nurses Scholarships

Scholarship money is available for undergraduate pre-Nursing and Nursing students currently enrolled in state approved schools of Nursing. Criteria for selection include academic achievement, financial need, involvement in Nursing student organizations and community activities related to health care.

Details are available through the College of Nursing and Health Sciences, ext. 6420.

Art Faculty's "New Work"

"New Work," an exhibition of recent work by the College Art faculty, is on view in the College Gallery through November 20.

Organized by Ursula Ehrhardt, the gallery's director, the exhibition features paintings and drawings by James L. Burgess, Robert Bunney and John Cleary; photographs by John Gencel and Dean Peterson; stained glass by Kent N. Kimmel; ceramics by F. Matthew Blaine; and basket-like sculptures of fabric and other materials by Judy Peterson.

A pamphlet with brief statements by the artists, intended to give viewers general guidelines for understanding the work, is available, free of charge, to visitors. The pamphlet also discusses what the concept of "new" means to an artist. According to Ehrhardt, most of the works are not only recent, but new in the sense of being different from what these artists had previously done.

"They are working with different techniques, or with different subject matter, or in a different style," Ehrhardt said, "or they are using familiar materials and concepts in a deliberately innovative or exploratory way." The exhibition thus documents, Ehrhardt said, "the creative process in art-making and ways of thinking about art."

The College Gallery, located on the second floor of Blackwell Library, is open on Monday and Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., Tuesday and Thursday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., and Saturday and Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m. Group tours of the exhibition may be arranged by calling the Gallery at 543-6271. Admission and tours are both free to the public.

Writing Center Hours

New hours for the Writing Center are:

Monday: 9 a.m.-4 p.m. and 6-9 p.m.

Tuesday: 9 a.m.-4 p.m.

Wednesday: 9 a.m.-4 p.m. and 6-9 p.m.

Thursday: 9 a.m.-4 p.m.

Friday: 9 a.m.-2 p.m.

This year, along with the taped modules and both graduate and undergraduate tutors, the Writing Center has computerized modules geared toward the Holt Handbook. We are prepared to help with any writing assignment, from an English 101 paper to a master's thesis.

The Writing Center is located in Caruthers Hall A-202 (second floor). Call ext. 6392 for more information.

Tutoring Position Available

The Writing Center needs a tutor to work approximately eight hours per week. The hours available are 1-4 p.m., Tuesdays and Thursdays, and 11 a.m.-1 p.m., Fridays. Applicants should have strong writing skills and some knowledge of the terminology of grammar. Also, good communication skills are essential. Applicants will be tested to determine their mastery of the basic rules of grammar and sentence structure, and the selected applicant will be extensively trained. For more information, please call the Writing Center at ext. 6392 or stop by Caruthers A-202 and ask for Charles Hill.

1985 Prescriptive Studies in Reading

Prescriptive students who completed diagnostic tests in reading during the 1985-86 academic year are urged to resume working in the Reading Center, on their individual prescription. Prescriptive students who fail to demonstrate an appropriate level of competency by the completion of their sophomore year will not be allowed to continue at SSC. To resume your prescription, report to the Reading Center, Caruthers Hall 210A, or contact Mrs. Patricia Blevins, Caruthers Hall, B-144 at ext. 6394.

Outdoor Club Meetings and Trips

The Outdoor Club has only one trip remaining this semester, a caving trip on November 21, 22, and 23. Weekly club meetings on Wednesdays at 6:30 p.m. in Tawes 118 will, however, feature interesting and informative presentations including movies, slide shows, skill demonstrations and lectures by local authorities on nature, ecology and outdoor recreation. Planning is currently under way for the 11-day winter break ski trip to Shawbridge, north of Montreal. Students who participate regularly in club activities will receive priority sign-up and a reduction in the cost of this trip.

News Deadline

The SSC News is a newsletter for the campus community published each Thursday during fall and spring semesters, unless noted. The deadline is noon on Monday prior to publication. Newsletter stories and items usually are proofed and typeset on a first come, first served basis, so don't feel you have to wait until Monday to get your article to the Public Relations Office (HH 264).

Attention Graduating Seniors

Senior portraits will be taken December 1-5 in the Choptank small lounge. Sign-up sheets will be available at the information desk by November 17. If you would like your senior picture to appear in the 1986-87 yearbook, don't forget to sign up.

Montreal Ski Trip

This year's Outdoor Club Winter Term trip is to Montreal for cross-country and downhill skiing.

Cross-country skiing, which may be taken as a one credit course (PHEC 490.201), is in the vicinity of Shawbridge, Quebec, on some 50 miles of wooded trails maintained by the McGill (University) Outing Club. Downhill skiing is available at some of the finest slopes in the Laurentians, including St. Sauveur, Mont Ste. Anne and Mont Tremblant. Prior experience is recommended for downhill skiers. The trip also includes sightseeing in old Montreal and an optional side trip to the city of Quebec.

The trip lasts 11 days with departure on January 19 and return to SSC on January 29. Cost including lodging, transportation, and breakfast and dinner while at the McGill Outing Club house is $140.00. The side trip to Quebec costs about $17.00 extra. Those who have been attending Outdoor Club activities receive a reduced rate and are granted priority in sign up.

The $140.00 does not include rental fees for cross-country skis ($3.00 Canadian per day) or lift tickets for downhill skiers (about $20.00 Canadian per day or lower with group rates). Downhill skis may be rented in Salisbury or by day at the slopes in Canada.

A place on the trip may be guaranteed by giving a non-refundable deposit of $50.00 to club treasurer, Cathy Lynch (548-9472). Sign up begins at the meeting on Wednesday, November 12, at 6:30 p.m. in Tawes 118.

Education Workshop Friday

Dr. Madeline Hunter, whose Mastery Teaching model has provided an alternative for teachers throughout the world, makes two presentations to area teachers on Friday, November 14, at Caruthers Hall Auditorium. The meetings, sponsored by the Education Departments at SSC and the University of Maryland Eastern Shore and the Teacher Effectiveness Network team.

Dr. Hunter has been principal of the laboratory school at the University of California at Los Angeles (UCLA) for over 20 years. She comes from a psychology background, has lectured and been a consultant on effective teaching in over 30 countries and in each state of the U.S. She has been working with the TEN (Teacher Effectiveness Network) Project for the past two years and has been a professor in Secondary Education and Teacher Education at UCLA.

Dr. Hunter's first presentation will focus on supervisory and conferencing skills and is intended primarily for cooperating teachers and college/university supervisors. The second meeting is for students, cooperating teachers who do not presently have student teachers and faculty and will address techniques of effective teaching.

A schedule of times and general information follows: 1:00-1:30 p.m., sharing experiences, questions, concerns, successes; 1:30-2:45 p.m., Dr. Madeline Hunter; 2:45-3:00 p.m., summary/evaluation; 3:00 p.m.-4:00 p.m., "Getting to know You" time, refreshments; and 4:00-5:00 p.m., Dr. Madeline Hunter.

For more information, call the SSC Education Department at ext. 6280.

Trey Patt makes prosthetic latex makeup for You Know I Can't Hear You . . .

Water's Running and Paint's Streaking

The essence of theatre is the relationship between an actor and the audience, said Polish director and theorist Jerzy Grotowski. Six days before the opening of You Know I Can't Hear You When the Water's Running at SSC, its director, Gerry Patt, is less concerned with theory than flats.

"This paint is awful streaky. You might have to put another coat on," he tells the young woman painting the canvas flats which will form a stage wall. She agrees.

Another student is assigned to returning a piece of carpet to the store because of confusion with measurements. "Why can't something go right," Patt mutters.

Patt is entering "tech week," when all the technical aspects of production—lighting, costumes, makeup, sets, sound cues and set changes—must all come together, a time that is the bane of all productions professional and amateur.

As Patt darts from stage to scene shop, he explains why he picked a play with four different sets. "I chose it (a comedy) because it balances the season (at the College). It comes between two heavy dramas (Cat on a Hot Tin Roof and Of Mice and Men); you don't find too many plays with six women and seven men (plays traditionally have much fewer women's roles than men's), it provides lots of opportunities for actors; and it's a play not done that often. Why? I don't know."

A quartet of four one-act plays, there's a poignancy in You Know I Can't Hear You . . . The first one, The Shock of Recognition, takes its title from a playwright's plea to his producer that a brief nude scene between husband and wife in his script not be cut because it provides a realistic "shock of recognition." The title of the second, The Footsteps of Doves, comes from the philosopher Nietzsche, who said the big crises in life do not come with thunder and lightning, but softly, "like the footsteps of doves." The crisis in the play: Should a middle-aged couple trade in their double bed for two twins? In the third, I'll Be Home for Christmas, an idealistic man who fought in World War II and then struggled to provide the good life for his family, finds his children rejecting him and his values as "senseless." Finally, in I'm Herbert, a senile couple who can't remember their own names, let alone the identity of their spouses, transcend romantic and comic anarchy to find bliss in a comfortable rocking chair and each other's warm hand.

"I've never directed a comedy before," Patt continues, "and we have to tread the thin line of playing it for laughs and playing it straight. The only way to get the laughs is by playing it straight and that is something most people don't understand." He is talking like a director as he puts a windowframe into a flat. He smiles. Something has gone right. It fits perfectly.

The play is being produced in Holloway Hall "on stage," in what was once a gym connected to Holloway Hall Auditorium. Patt likes the space which measures approximately 50 feet square. Black curtains and portable risers for seating allow maximum flexibility. The audience capacity for the show will be approximately 150.

Back in 1970, then director of theatre Rod Wilson used the gym for a theatre in the round production of Inherit the Wind and the space has been used with increasing frequency since then. Lighting the area is relatively easy, however the intimacy of the space is more demanding of actors and designers. With the audience only a few feet away, acting and designing must be more realistic; tricks that work from 30 feet away in Holloway Hall Auditorium don't from three feet in Holloway Hall "on stage."

"There's never enough time," Patt laments. Cat on a Hot Tin Roof closed just three weeks earlier. The day after You Know I Can't Hear You . . . closes a music program goes up in the auditorium and the hall has to be prepared for that.

Some students are hammering in the shop and Patt stops talking to silence them. A March of Dimes program is going on in Holloway Hall Auditorium and he's afraid the noise will leak through despite shut shop doors. There's no sound lock between the shop, located in the back of the one-time gym, and stage.

Patt goes back to painting a flat. "I think this place (Salisbury State) has a lot of potential (for theatre). The combination of (Paul) Pfeiffer (costume design), Andy (Hepburn, director of Theatre), and myself (technical director) is a good combination," he muses.

"This damn latex won't flow right." You Know I Can't Hear You . . . plays at 8 p.m., Friday and Saturday, November 14 and 15, and Thursday through Saturday, November 20-22; and Sunday, November 16, at 2 p.m. For ticket information and reservations, call the SSC Theatre Box Office at 543-6228.

Hearn to Speak on Ch'ing Dynasty

"Imperial Paintings of the Ch'ing Dynasty: Emperors' Tour of the South" is the title of a presentation by Maxwell K. Hearn, associate curator of the Department of Asian Art at the Metropolitan Museum of Art, on Wednesday, November 19, at 7:30 p.m. in Caruthers Hall Auditorium.

The program is part of the College's year-long series, "China: Tradition and Transformation," sponsored by the Faculty Cultural Events Committee in conjunction with the Salisbury State College Foundation, Inc. Like all events in the series, Hearn's presentation is free and open to the public.

The two sets of scrolls presented by Hearn depict the Emperor's tours of southern China during the 17th and 18th centuries and provide a vehicle to examine the diverse life of China during that period from both a historical and an artistic perspective.

During their long reigns, both the K'ang-hsi Emperor (r. 1662-1722) and his grandson the Ch'ien-lung Emperor (r. 1736-1795) made six inspection tours of China, traveling overland and by canal from Peking to the commercial and cultural centers of the South.

Each emperor, in turn, had one of these celebrated tours documented by a set of 12 oversize handscroll paintings.

K'ang-hsi commissioned Wang Hui (1632-1715), the preeminent Orthodox School painter of the day, to supervise the recording of his second tour of 1689. The veteran court artist Hsü Yang (active ca. 1751-1776) supervised the depiction of Ch'ien-lung's 1751 tour.

"Separated in time by two generations, an even greater gulf exists between the styles of the two sets of scrolls," according to Hearn. "Wang Hui's set epitomizes traditional solutions to the rendering of figures, architecture and topography as well as providing a revealing look at the diverse life of seventeenth century China."

"Hsü Yang's scrolls, on the other hand," said Hearn, "show the effects of new influences from the West introduced into China by Giuseppe Castiglione (1688-1766) and other Jesuit painters working at the court. Both sets of scrolls function both as remarkable works of art and as fascinating historical documents."

Chinese Herbalism Lecture

"The Other Medicine: The Art of Chinese Herbalism" is the subject of a presentation by Dr. Simon Mills, a medical sciences graduate of Cambridge University and a practicing medical herbalist in Devon, England, on Thursday, November 13, at 7:30 p.m. in Caruthers Hall Auditorium.

The program is part of the College's year-long series, "China: Tradition and Transformation." Sponsored by the Faculty Cultural Events Committee in conjunction with the Salisbury State College Foundation Inc. The lecture is free and open to the public.

Dr. Mills will explore the phenomenon of herbal medicine in China, attempting to explain why it remains such a popular system throughout the country. He will use his own extensive experience in the research into and practice of herbal medicine to describe the essential feature of the therapy and its potential strengths and weaknesses in the modern world.

Dr. Mills MA., MNIMH., is president and formerly director of research of the 120-year old National Institute of Medical Herbalists (U.K.); the oldest such association in the Western world. He is also author of A Dictionary of Modern Herbalism, published this year by Thorsons, NY.

Shuttle Bus Schedule

As a convenience to Salisbury State students the College institutes a shuttle bus run from selected locations around Salisbury beginning Friday, November 7. The Bus follows the accompanying schedule, Monday through Friday, providing transportation from each of the satellite parking locations to the campus every hour between 7:45 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. daily. The accompanying city map indicates the points of pick up and drop off at each location. For additional information concerning exact locations of pick-up/drop-off points, please contact the College Motor Pool at 543-6210 or consult the large city map depicting locations that is now posted by the College Center bulletin boards. Shuttle bus schedules are also available at the College Center information desk.

Gold Coast Mall Christmas Parade

All are invited to participate in the fourth annual Ocean City Christmas Parade, sponsored by the Gold Coast Mall on Saturday, December 6, at 11 a.m.

Again this year, first, second and third place trophies will be presented for school marching bands and school floats.

Additional first, second and third place trophies will be awarded in the following categories: non-profit $15 admission fee for commercial floats while all non-profit and school floats will be entered at no charge. First and second place trophies will be offered for antique cars, fire companies and horse riding units.

The parade begins at 93rd St. and proceeds to the Gold Coast Mall at 115th St., where all prizes will be awarded following the conclusion of the parade. A judging and review stand will be located on the east side of Coastal Highway in front of the mall.

Over 60 groups participated in last year's parade and some 75 are anticipated this year. Call (301) 524-3000 to advise of your group's intent to participate. Or you may write: Ocean City Christmas Parade, c/o Gold Coast Mall, 11523-A Coastal Hwy., Ocean City, MD 21842. '68 Grad Is Teacher-of-Year

Patti Adams, a 1968 graduate, was recently named the Indian River (DE) School District's Teacher of the Year.

Adams, a second grade teacher at Frankford Elementary School, is now in her 14th year of teaching school. This is her fourth year teaching at Frankford Elementary. She also taught at Lord Baltimore Elementary for nine years and two years in an upstate school district.

A Dagsboro native, Adams graduated from John M. Clayton High School and attended Southern Seminary Junior College in Virginia before graduating from SSC. Teaching is something she decided she liked early in life and she prefers to teach younger students.

"I like to see things begin," said Adams, who teaches everything but gym, art and music to her class of 21 students. "They're still very exuberant, very excited about learning."

Adams is a member of the Frankford PTA and Delta Kappa Gamma, an honor society for teachers. She has been grade chairman, served on the English textbook selection committee and helped write the second grade social studies and science curriculum.

"I have a strong feeling that every child can learn," said Adams. "I believe that every child is a worthy individual with a special talent of his or her own."

Adams was selected from 10 finalists in the district by a committee of one student, one parent, one school board member, one cafeteria supervisor, two teachers and two district administrators. She will be judged with teachers from school districts across the state to determine the Delaware State Teacher of the Year which will be chosen before the end of the year by the Department of Public Instruction.

Area Superintendents Speak to Graduate Class

Dr. Francis Ruffo (Worcester), Dr. Evelyn Holman (Wicomico) and Dr. Jack Lynch (Somerset), area school superintendents, were speakers for the graduate class in Public School Administration recently.

Topics for the presentation centered around the role of the superintendent in relation to budget, curriculum development, staffing and standardized testing. In addition, a comparison of the functions of boards of education was discussed. Both the elected and appointed type boards were compared and discussed.

Kane at UVA

Dr. Francis Kane, associate professor of Philosophy and department chairman, recently returned from the University of Virginia, where he delivered an address and taught a graduate class in classical rhetoric.

Invited by Professor William Miller, chairman of the department of Rhetoric and Communication Studies, Dr. Kane's lecture, delivered to the faculty and graduate students and entitled "The Strangeness of the Familiar: Reflections on Civil Discourse," argued for the necessity of a common good which would underpin and legitimize any authentic public discourse.

Professor Miller extended the invitation after reading Dr. Kane's recent article in Philosophy and Rhetoric, "Peitho and the Polis."

Subsequent to that address, Dr. Kane was the invited ethicist at the Neumann Corporation's one-day conference on "Risk Management." The Neumann Corporation is a parent company for some 15 hospitals nationwide. In addition to serving as the ethics advisor, Dr. Kane delivered a lecture to the group on the moral issues involved in treating critically ill newborns.

PERSONAL SAFETY TIPS

The campus and neighboring streets are not immune from activities frequently associated with metropolitan areas or larger, urban colleges. Personal safety tips, prepared by the Department of Public Safety, may lessen the likelihood of becoming a victim.

1. Do not walk or jog alone after dark.
2. Walk in well-lit areas and stay near the curb, away from alleys, entry ways and bushes where someone could be hiding.
3. Avoid short cuts. Walk where there are other people present.
4. Do not hitchhike or accept rides from strangers. If a driver asks you for directions, stay far enough away so that you can not be pulled into the car. Do not pick up strangers.
5. If you are being followed when walking, change directions, cross the street and vary your speed. Go to a well-lit area or a place where there are other people. If followed by someone in a car, turn and walk in the other direction. Record a license number.

6. Park your car in a well-lit area and lock the door.

7. Keep doors locked at all times. Don't unlock the door for strangers. Keep first floor windows locked.

8. If you need an escort to or from your car or residence hall, call the Department of Public Safety, 543-6222.

9. Locate someone in your class who is going in the same direction after class ends.

10. Report any suspicious activity or crimes to the Public Safety Office, ext. 6222.

You are your own best protection. For more information on personal safety, contact the Department of Public Safety, located in Holloway Hall room 22, ext. 6222.

Kimmel, Suber Design Test

Dr. Kent Kimmel and Dr. Harry Suber, both professors at SSC, teamed with John Eliot, a professor at the University of Maryland, to design the SEK Test, a new instrument for psychological researchers.

Until recently, no test that required the subject to find a colored form lodged in a complex colored pattern was available to researchers. But, thanks to the cooperative efforts of a psychologist (Eliot), an artist (Kimmel) and a computer specialist (Suber), such a test has been developed.

The SEK Test can be used by researchers to establish whether the emphasis on color might not evoke emotional responses and thus relate personality to intelligence. It is also believed that the emphasis on color instead of line drawings might mean the SEK Test will prove a useful measure of right brain function. United States researchers have been asked to make use of the new test as a possible screening instrument for people seeking jobs as aerial photographic interpreters.

The SEK Test is unusual because it uses color instead of line drawings to define a simple form. The colors in the test have been calibrated to vary in value but remain constant in hue and intensity.

Until the three professors developed the SEK Test, the thought of such a test was both difficult and expensive. However, with help of the Polaroid Corporation, a limited number of copies of the SEK Test are available for research purposes.

Noted Pianist Joins Faculty

Béla Nagy, internationally renowned pianist, joins the faculty of the Music Department this spring. He will teach a piano seminar for both undergraduates and graduates as well as applied piano.

"We are very proud and fortunate to have someone of Dr. Nagy's caliber join us," said Dr. Thomas Elliot, chairman of the Department of Music. "We look forward to having him here."

Dr. Nagy has earned a world reputation as a pianist, teacher and conductor. Educated in Hungary, he received his Artist Diploma from the Liszt Academy where he won the Liszt Prize three times.

Within his international concert career he played with many of the leading orchestras and premiered Béla Bartok's Third Concerto in Prague, Budapest, Firenze and Toronto. Dr. Nagy served on the faculties of the Liszt Academy (succeeding Bartok), the University of Toronto (Royal Conservatory of Music), Indiana University, Boston University and is presently at The Catholic University of America in Washington, D.C.

In 1982 he received the Bartok Memorial Award from the Hungarian Government.

Hepburn Speaks to Women's Club

"Masks in Theatre" was Dr. Andrew Hepburn's topic when the Communication Arts professor addressed the Ocean Pines Women's Club on Thursday, November 6, at 11 a.m.

Dr. Hepburn is part of the Salisbury State College Speaker's Bureau. The Speaker's Bureau offers area organizations several speakers discussing a variety of subjects. There is no charge for the service.

Any civic, service or educational organization desiring a speaker should contact the Public Relations Office at ext. 6030.

Children's Theatre Features Four Folktales

Four delightful children's folktales and stories from around the world come alive on Saturday, November 15, when the Salisbury Children's Theatre performs its fall touring production at Caruthers Hall Auditorium.

Curtain is 1 p.m. and the entire performance is under an hour. Directed and performed by Salisbury State students, the folktales run approximately 35 minutes, followed by a 20-minute creative movement workshop for children in the audience. Admission for the two-part program is one dollar, to help meet production expenses. No reservations are necessary. SSC students are free.

Although the troupe of approximately a dozen students recently began touring area schools, November 15 will be the first time they have performed for the general public. The program consists of four children's stories from China, Poland, the culture of the American Indians, plus the seasonal favorite 'Twas the Night Before Christmas.

From China, Nehza and the Dragon tells about a small boy who overcomes insurmountable odds and features a 22-foot dragon. In the Polish folktale, King Popieo and the Mice, an evil king reaps what he sows. And in the American Indian story, Little No Name, a small girl earns recognition for her talent as an artist.

The action is performed with masks, dancing, puppetry and mime. The dragon and masks for the Chinese folktale are designed by Dr. Andrew Hepburn, with construction by Gerry Patt and T. Paul Pfeiffer.

Grants Available for Arts Activities

The Salisbury Wicomico Arts Council has announced a December 5 deadline for grant applications for arts activities. Any arts activity taking place between January 1, 1987 - June 30, 1987 is eligible for funding consideration.

To be considered, an organization must show that the activity is in the field of the arts, of community benefit, be fiscally sound and have the potential for self-support in the future. The applicant organization must be a not-for-profit organization.

A packet of information including application

forms is available now at the Salisbury Wicomico Arts Council, located in the Wicomico Youth & Civic Center, or by calling 543-ARTS. The Salisbury Wicomico Arts Council, a not-for-profit organization that supports all the arts in Salisbury and Wicomico County, awards these cash grants in partnership with the Maryland State Arts Council in support of performances, exhibits and other arts-related activities sponsored by local organizations.

For more information on the grant deadline call the Arts Council at 543-ARTS.

Ballet Workshop

Robert Christopher, a native of Marion, MD, presents a ballet workshop at the dance studio of Maggs Physical Activities Center on Sunday, November 16. The program is jointly sponsored by the SSC Dance Company and the Dance Playhouse of Fruitland.

A senior staff teacher at the Alvin Ailey American Dance Center in New York City, Christopher's performance credits include the Stuttgart (Germany) Ballet Company, the American Ballet Theatre, the National Ballet of Venezuela and Radio City Music Hall. In addition to his duties at the Ailey Dance Center, Christopher is the ballet director of the June-Claire School of Dance and is a member of the Ballet Master Dance Educators of America Teachers Training School.

Walte Raines, scholarship director of the Alvin Ailey American Dance Center, said, "Mr. Christopher has taught at the Alvin Ailey... for over 10 years. At our school, Mr. Christopher teaches at all levels, beginning to advanced, of ballet. His rapport with the students is excellent."

"This will be a grand opportunity for area ballet students to study with such a renowned ballet master," Mildred Lappe of Dance Playhouse of Fruitland said.

Two workshops are scheduled, one for elementary level ballet students at 1 p.m. and another for intermediate and advanced level students at 3 p.m.

The registration fee is $11 prior to November 16 and $14 on the day of the workshop. Send registration fees to Dance Playhouse, 402 W. Main St., Fruitland, MD 21826, or call 749-4107 for more information.

'Mackeral Sky' At Berlin Gallery

The public is invited to indulge in a little fantasy Saturday, November 15, from 7:30-11 p.m. at Artworks Studio Gallery in Berlin. "Mackeral Sky," a ceramic installation by Dana Simson-Orth designed to tease the imagination and twist logic, will be exhibited.

Based on a poem of the same name, the show passes from child's play to the existential predicament each individual faces. Besides functional ware, tile, and the installation pieces, a modern dance interpretation by SSC Dance Company director Kathryn Martin with students from the College will be performed at 8:30 p.m.

Simson-Orth has worked in clay for 15 years, minoring in ceramics at Syracuse University and teaching at both the Everson and the Amot Art galleries in upstate New York.

Employed primarily as an art director and designer at Artworks Studio, she credits her experience as an illustrator in New York — along with influences by artist Joseph Cornell and Marsden Hartly — always intrigued me," said Simson-Orth.

Her favorite ceramic vehicle is tile, which she uses in bright patterns and humorous images. The bowls and teapots are bedecked with animal sculptures and graphic shapes.

The show will also feature jewelry, dolls, and more than 100 porcelain fish, hung in a gently swaying school.

The dance "Mackeral Sky" features Martin, Agata Liszkowska and Dale Whitzel. It is performed to the music of "Pagen Waves" by the Royal Family and the Poor and "Thru the Dark Months of April and May" by the Kocteau Twins. The dance will begin promptly at 8:30 p.m.

"Mackeral Sky" will be on exhibit through Nov. 28. Most work will be for sale.

This exhibit will conclude the 1986 Artworks Gallery schedule. The next show will open in March. For more information, phone 641-0100.

'Sousa' Concert Set for November 23

On Sunday, November 23, at 7 p.m., the Salisbury State College and the Salisbury Community Bands will join forces in Holloway Hall Auditorium to present a concert of historical significance.

This year and next, school and community bands across the country are performing "Sousa style" concerts as part of a nationwide "Tribute to John Philip Sousa." "Sousa (1854-1932) was probably the greatest bandmaster and showman in the history of the country," according to Dr. Charles Smith, director of the combined bands. "Sousa certainly did more to promote the educational and human value of participation in band music by both the performer and listener than any other individual."

The reason behind this year-long celebration is a national campaign to have Sousa's "Stars and Stripes Forever March" declared the national march by Congress and the President. Formal petitions will be available at the concert for those who agree with the declaration and wish to add their signature.

John Philip Sousa

As a master showman, Sousa would carefully program a complete variety of musical selections that appealed to everyone in the audience, ranging from opera to novelty numbers. At the completion of each of these programmed selections, he would instantaneously begin an encore march, usually one of his own. This format will be followed in the Salisbury State program.

To bring history to life for one evening, a special Sousa exhibit will be on display. "We are fortunate in that two local families had close relatives who were members of Sousa's band in the early 1900s, the father-in-law of Mrs. Edie Herb of Salisbury, and the father of Maurice Rademan of Ocean Pines. Both will be in attendance the evening of the concert and have graciously given permission for the Music Department of the College to exhibit substantial memorabilia that belonged to the members of Sousa's band," Smith said. Smith will be in special costume for the performance.

The concert is free and the public is invited.

Respiratory Care Lecture

Students interested in health care or medical careers are invited to attend a presentation entitled, "Respiratory Care Practitioners, Direction of the Future, A National Perspective" on Thursday, November 20, at 6:30 p.m. in the Hall Educational Center at Peninsula General Hospital Medical Center.

The lecture will be given by Phares Bitikofer. A panel discussion and open forum will follow featuring: Gary Jones, RRT, director of cardiopulmonary services, Easton Memorial Hospital; Chuck Boyer, RRT, manager of respiratory care/cardiology, PGHMC; and Keith Ayers, CRTT, respiratory home care director, Ocean Medical.

Also, at 5 p.m. there will be a presentation by SSC Respiratory Therapy faculty member, Xavier Stewart, on smoking and lung disease. It is sponsored by The American Lung Association, The American Cancer Society and the SSC Respiratory Therapy Association.

Journey Through Our Solar System

Take a journey through our solar system at 2 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, November 15 and 16, at the NASA Visitor Center, Wallops Island, VA.

Dr. Andy Pica, assistant professor of Physical Sciences, will lead participants on a guided tour of the sun and neighboring planets as seen through the "eyes" of NASA's planetary spacecraft.

This 45-minute program, geared toward all ages, takes a close look at the planets, both the similarities and differences, as seen by such spacecraft as Viking, Mariner and Voyagers 1 and 2.

Bradley Addresses Historical Society

"History of Snow Hill" was Sylvia Bradley's topic when the History professor addressed the Worcester County Historical Society in Snow Hill, on Thursday, October 30, at 6 p.m.

Mrs. Bradley is part of the Salisbury State College Speaker's Bureau. The Speaker's Bureau offers area organizations several speakers discussing a variety of subjects. There is no charge for the service.

Any civic, service or educational organization desiring a speaker should contact the Public Relations Office at 543-6030.

Cost Comparison On Envelopes

The following information regarding expense of printing individualized departmental envelopes vs. printing envelopes using the College's return address only, has been compiled at Dr. Pielemeier's request. The information represents what was done in fiscal year '85/'86 first and the projected cost for using the State contract follows. Special orders are also indicated for the '85/'86 fiscal year.

Envelope Type	Quantity	Expense
No. 10	198,500	$5,614.18
No. 6 3/4	17,000	$476.38
Special Orders	76,000	$1,975.47

Projected cost for ordering envelopes in bulk without being individualized by department under current State contract with State Use Industries is shown below.

No. 10 Regular	200,000	$2,349.00
Orders up to 100,000	-	$13.31/M
Each additional 100,000	-	$10.18/M
No. 6 3/4	20,000	$380.00
Orders of 10,000 to 25,000	-	$15.04/M
Orders of 25,000 to 50,000	-	$13.97/M

The above figures relate to the price breaks as indicated. The contract indicates different price breaks for different quantities other than those shown above.

UM Task Force Report Available

Blackwell Library has received the final report of the Task Force on Academic Achievement of Student-Athletes, University of Maryland, College Park. This is the task force set up in the wake of the controversy following Len Bias' death by cocaine intoxication. It has been placed in reserve at the circulation desk of the library for anyone who may wish to pursue it.

who changed his major to Philosophy after a Miller class, he's a teacher who "makes the Socratic method work." He's a good listener who draws information out of his students. And despite the erasers, there's a certain "saintliness" to him.

"I think he's sexy," a female student who asks not to be identified quips.

Whatever it is, it works. According to Dr. Kane, suggestions have been made that Miller's classes be moved to Tawes Hall, a former gym, where the noise level generated from the class discussion would be more appropriate. At registration, his sections are consistently filled.

The title of his paper, "The Way of Suffering, a Reasoning of the Heart," has a slightly medieval ring to it. And its approach is "risky," according to Kane. It runs counter to much philosophical thought in the century which has found in suffering the denial of a loving, merciful deity. But, Miller's paper, dedicated to his cousin's only son who died at age two of cancer, finds in the anguish which experiences like these provoke, a meaning which illuminates the existence of God.

And which also illuminates daily living.

"For me, Woody Allen is the hero, not James Bond. James Bond's what we'd all like to be. None of us want to be the helpless incompetent, like Woody Allen (characters); we admire controllers like James Bond. Yet Woody Allen is the most real person in his movies, because he has suffered (whereas Bond is a cartoon). People who suffer have a depth of their lives that is missing from the Bonds."

Appropriately, in the recent Hannah and Her Sisters, the Woody Allen character marries, fathers a child and for the first time affirms that life is good and it's important to be a part of it.

Miller approves. Which might explain how he plans to use the $5,000. "To compensate my family for the suffering involved in putting up with me, we're taking a trip to the Grand Canyon."

Sea Gull Football Roms, Goes to 9-0

Mike Coppa and Donald Washington each scored two first quarter touchdowns to lead Salisbury State College to a 63-13 win over Wesley College on Saturday afternoon in Salisbury.

Washington scored on runs of five and two yards while Coppa, who had 120 yards on just four carries, scored from 37 and 68 yards out. Frank Oliver and Kevin Roberts also added first quarter touchdowns as Division III fifth-ranked SSC rolled to a 42-0 opening period lead.

Jerry Short, who had 107 yards in the game, scored early in the second quarter to push the lead to 56-0. Short added another TD in the third quarter and Mike Lacinski ran the ball in from 11 yards in the final period to give SSC its ninth straight win in 1986.

The Gulls, winners of 18 regular season games in a row, rolled up 467 yards on the ground while intercepting five Wesley passes and recovering three fumbles. Wesley was held to just 64 yards rushing.

SSC kicker Bill Maurer kicked nine extra points to tie a school record held by Jack Young in 1974. Maurer also kicked his 100th career PAT in the game and upped his punting average to 41.3 (fifth in the nation).

SSC hosts Mercyhurst on Saturday, November 15, at 1:30 p.m. The Gulls are trying for the first ever perfect (10-0) regular season.

The SSC men's soccer team participated in the Eastern States Athletic conference championship and the first round of the Maryland State Tournament last week. SSC lost the ESAC title to Cabrini 4-2 on Tuesday. David League and Tony D'Antonio each scored goals in the loss. D'Antonio moved into eighth place on the SSC all-time goals scored list with 19 with the goal. Washington College and SSC battled to a 0-0 overtime tie in the first round of the state tournament in Salisbury on Thursday. However, Washington won the shootout 5-4 to move on to the second round. SSC finished its 1986 season with a 6-11-2 mark.

The Sea Gull field hockey team won its opening game of the NCAA Division III playoffs 1-0 over Millersville on Friday in Grantham, PA. Stacy Stem scored the lone goal for the Gulls, 18-0 on the season. The quarterfinal game was rained out on Saturday against Messiah College and rescheduled for Monday afternoon at SSC. If SSC wins it advances to the semifinals and finals to be held this weekend.

First Greek/American Dance on Eastern Shore

Enjoy a night in an Athenian atmosphere with Zorba the Greek, Bbouzouki music, singers and a good time. Two top bands from Baltimore, the Greek Band, Helenics and the American Band, Rio, perform continuous music from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Saturday, December 6, at the Sheraton Ballroom in Ocean City.

This is a fundraiser for the new St. George Greek Orthodox Church in Ocean City. Open bar and deluxe breakfast are included in the price of $30.00 per person.

Dance tickets can be purchased before the dance from Barbara Keene, Physical Education and Athletic Department, ext 6351. No tickets will be sold at the door. There is also a raffle on $10,000 cash (only 2,000 tickets sold) at $10 per raffle ticket. The cash will be raffled off the night of the dance.

SSC Field Hockey Team Wins Division III National Championship

1986 CHAMPS

The SSC women's field hockey team is the 1986 NCAA Division III national champion.

"It's so exciting to actually be the national champion," said head coach Karen Weaver, who has brought the SSC field hockey program from a 120th ranking five years ago to the top this year. "This season has been so remarkable. I never thought that the team would go undefeated and win the national title."

Salisbury State defeated Bloomsburg State University 3-2 on Saturday in Trenton, NJ, to earn the right to be called the nation's best. The one-point victory on the artificial surface at Trenton State was the 21st victory without a loss this season as the Sea Gulls brought home the school's first-ever national crown.

SSC reached the championship game by defeating Bentley (MA) College on Friday 2-1 on goals by Kim Finlayson. Saturday's championship game was the Scofield show as sisters Judi and Sue Scofield scored two and one goals, respectively. Stacy Stem recorded two assists in the title contest.

Karen Stockton and Tracy Short combined in goal for 10 saves, although Bloomsburg scored more goals than any team has scored on SSC this season (2).

SSC Defeated Millersville (1-0) and Messiah (2-1) in the opening rounds of the NCAA playoffs after compiling a perfect 17-0 regular season.

The Sea Gulls have been the number one team in the nation since October 8, shortly after defeating the previous number one ranked team and defending champion Trenton State while winning the Sunfest Tournament in Salisbury.

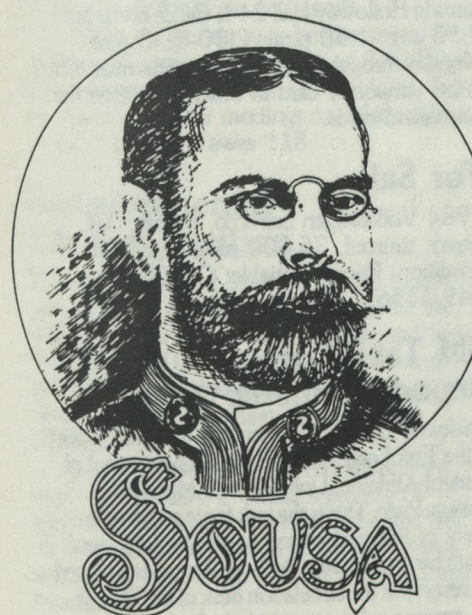

Thirteen games after being named the number one team in the nation on paper, the Gulls proved they were number one on the field.

Robin Adair led the team in scoring on the season with a team high 19 goals and six assists for 44 points. Jill Stewart was second with 13 goals and three assists for 29 points. Judi Scofield led the team with nine assists.

On September 8, Weaver was quoted as saying, "We are going to have the best regular season possible."

The 1986 SSC field hockey team did have the best regular season possible and went on to have the best overall season possible by winning the national championship.

Concert Part of National March Effort

In the picture of John Philip Sousa which appears to be from the turn of the century, the full face and high forehead, the pince-nez, the well-trimmed beard with handlebar moustache and the beautiful braidwork on the uniform jacket form a perfect picture of an Edwardian gentleman.

About the eyes, however, is what SSC Band Director Dr. Charles Smith, describes as "a look of sadness," a look marking Sousa as a man of depth, not just celebrity.

It's been more than 50 years since Sousa died (1932), however his name still conjures up images of Umpa Pa music, long skirted ladies and more innocent times.

If there was a sadness to the man, maybe he could perceive the direction a new century would take. Born in 1854 and raised in a Washington, D.C., that was fighting a Civil War, he would live through Reconstruction, the Spanish American War, the Edwardian era, World War I, the Roaring 20s and die during the depths of the Great Depression.

In light of such times, his famous marches are not so much anthems to military might as hymns to a fading idea: controlled enthusiasm, optimism, order, form and harmony. They evoke a world view destroyed in the modern era. According to the late William J. Herb of Salisbury, whose father played in Sousa's band, the famed conductor and composer was "kind and considerate... a wonderful musician (and) a real perfectionist."

Sousa wanted to be a serious composer, according to Smith. He studied music and theory, for awhile played with the U.S. Marine Band, traveled with several theatre orchestra and tried to write operettas. They were not successful.

In 1880, at the age of 26, he received a telegram offering him the leadership of the U.S. Marine Band. He became its most famous conductor. An imaginative musician, he replaced much of the band's music library with symphonic transcriptions and changed instrumentation to meet his needs. Rehearsals became more structured. According to Maurice Raderman, whose father played with Sousa, "No one was ever so perfect and strict as Sousa was. When he hit his baton, if you talked, you were out." And he shaped his musicians into the country's premier military band. As its concerts began attracting discriminating audiences, its reputation spread.

Art Faculty's "New Works"

"New Work," an exhibition of recent work by the College Art faculty, is on view in the College Gallery through November 20.

Organized by Ursula Ehrhardt, the gallery's director, the exhibition features paintings and drawings by James L. Burgess, Robert Bunney and John Cleary; photographs by John Gencel and Dean Peterson; stained glass by Kent N. Kimmel; ceramics by F. Matthew Blaine; and basket-like sculptures of fabric and other materials by Judy Peterson.

A pamphlet with brief statements by the artists, intended to give viewers general guidelines for understanding the work, is available, free of charge, to visitors. The pamphlet also discusses what the concept of "new" means to an artist. According to Ehrhardt, most of the works are not only recent, but new in the sense of being different from what these artists had previously done.

The College Gallery, located on the second floor of Blackwell Library, is open on Monday and Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., Tuesday and Thursday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., and Saturday and Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m. Group tours of the exhibition may be arranged by calling the Gallery at 543-6271. Admission and tours are both free to the public.

Test Anxiety Program

The systematic management of test taking anxiety is being taught to students by the staff at Counseling Services.

Test performance anxiety is a common experience and will have a negative impact on the scores for many students. An effective, systematic training program is available at Counseling Services which teaches students new stress coping skills for the management of extraordinary stress which impedes clear thinking. While in no way a substitute for adequate preparation, this systematic approach, which includes daily practice of deep muscle relaxation and mental rehearsal, prepares students for the tension and anxiety of the test. When stress is reduced, clear thinking and recall are enhanced.

Details regarding this stress management program are available. Contact the Counseling Services Office.

Counseling Services

Counseling Services conducts walk-in hours from 1 - 3 p.m. Monday through Thursday. Anyone who wishes to see a counselor, and has not seen one before, is welcome between those hours.

Art Sale

Circle your calendar for December 10, 11 and 12 for the third annual Art Department Scholarship Fund Sale. Students, faculty and area artists participate by selling art work especially with holiday gift-giving in mind.

Again, door prizes are given to customers. Keep watching for more details!

Respiratory Care Lecture

Students interested in health care or medical careers are invited to attend a presentation entitled, "Respiratory Care Practitioners, Direction of the Future, A National Perspective" on Thursday, November 20, at 6:30 p.m. in the Hall Educational Center at Peninsula General Hospital Medical Center.

The lecture will be given by Phares Bitikofer. A panel discussion and open forum will follow featuring: Gary Jones, RRT, director of cardiopulmonary services, Easton Memorial Hospital; Chuck Boyer, RRT, manager of respiratory care/cardiology, PGHMC; and Keith Ayers, CRTT, respiratory home care director, Ocean Medical.

Also, at 5 p.m. there will be a presentation by SSC Respiratory Therapy faculty member, Xavier Stewart, on smoking and lung disease. It is sponsored by The American Lung Association, The American Cancer Society and the SSC Respiratory Therapy Association.

Winter Term Jobs

The work experience office is accepting applications for Winter Term and spring. Presently there are several positions open for the Winter Term paint crew.

Applications are also being accepted for '87 summer lifeguard positions on Friday, December 12, between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. in the Maintenance Building conference room. If interested, stop by, fill out an application and schedule an interview.

UM Task Force Report Available

Blackwell Library has received the final report of the Task Force on Academic Achievement of Student-Athletes, University of Maryland, College Park. This is the task force set up in the wake of the controversy following Len Bias' death by cocaine intoxication. It has been placed on reserve at the circulation desk of the library for anyone who may wish to look at it.

Newsletter Schedule

No newsletter will be published on Thursday, November 27, because of the Thanksgiving holiday. The next newsletter issue is Thursday, December 4. The final newsletter for the semester is December 11.

LWV Legislative Tea

The League of Women Voters Annual Legislative Tea is Sunday November 30, at 2:30 p.m. in the Salisbury Chamber of Commerce building on Main St. downtown.

The League provides this opportunity for the newly elected state legislators from the 37th and 38th Districts and the county council members to interact with their constituents in an informal setting. This is a time for letting these elected officials know your concerns and priorities, and to find out what they see as solutions.

The League cordially invites you to join us on that Sunday afternoon.

Montreal Ski Trip

This year's Outdoor Club Winter Term trip is to Montreal for cross-country and downhill skiing.

Cross-country skiing, which may be taken as a one credit course (PHEC 490.201), is in the vicinity of Shawbridge, Quebec, on some 50 miles of wooded trails maintained by the McGill (University) Outing Club. Downhill skiing is available at some of the finest slopes in the Laurentians, including St. Sauveur, Mont Ste. Anne and Mont Tremblant. Prior experience is recommended for downhill skiers. The trip also includes sightseeing in old Montreal and an optional side trip to the city of Quebec.

The trip lasts 11 days with departure on January 19 and return to SSC on January 29. Cost including lodging, transportation, and breakfast and dinner while at the McGill Outing Club house is $140.00. The side trip to Quebec costs about $17.00 extra. Those who have been attending Outdoor Club activities receive a reduced rate and are granted priority in sign up.

The $140.00 does not include rental fees for cross-country skis ($3.00 Canadian per day) or lift tickets for downhill skiers (about $20.00 Canadian per day or lower with group rates). Downhill skis may be rented in Salisbury or by day at the slopes in Canada.

A place on the trip may be guaranteed by giving a non-refundable deposit of $50.00 to club treasurer, Cathy Lynch (548-9472). Sign up continues at the meetings on Wednesdays, at 6:30 p.m. in Tawes 118.

Developmental Studies Position

The Developmental Studies Program has an opening for a mathematics instructor for the spring semester. A bachelor's degree and the willingness and the ability to teach introductory and intermediate algebra are required; a master's degree and prior teaching experience are preferred.

The appointment is for five months and will begin on February 2. Initial screening of applicants will begin on November 24 and will continue until the position is filled. This is a temporary, contractual position with no fringe benefits.

Send resume, letter of application and three letters of recommendation to:

Dr. Maurice Bozman, Education Department, Salisbury State College, Salisbury, Maryland 21801.

Grants Available for Arts Activities

The Salisbury Wicomico Arts Council has announced a December 5 deadline for grant applications for arts activities. Any arts activity taking place between January 1, 1987 - June 30, 1987 is eligible for funding consideration.

To be considered, an organization must show that the activity is in the field of the arts, of community benefit, be fiscally sound and have the potential for self-support in the future. The applicant organization must be a not-for-profit organization.

A packet of information including application

forms is available now at the Salisbury Wicomico Arts Council, located in the Wicomico Youth & Civic Center, or by calling 543-ARTS. The Salisbury Wicomico Arts Council, a not-for-profit organization that supports all the arts in Salisbury and Wicomico County, awards these cash grants in partnership with the Maryland State Arts Council in support of performances, exhibits and other arts-related activities sponsored by local organizations.

For more information on the grant deadline call the Arts Council at 543-ARTS.

Shuttle Bus Schedule

As a convenience to Salisbury State students the College institutes a shuttle bus run from selected locations around Salisbury beginning Friday, November 7. The Bus follows the accompanying schedule, Monday through Friday, providing transportation from each of the satellite parking locations to the campus every hour between 7:45 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. daily. The accompanying city map indicates the points of pick up and drop off at each location. For additional information concerning exact locations of pick-up/drop-off points, please contact the College Motor Pool at 543-6210 or consult the large city map depicting locations that is now posted by the College Center bulletin boards. Shuttle bus schedules are also available at the College Center information desk.

There is also a raffle on $10,000 cash (only 2,000 tickets sold) at $10 per raffle ticket. The cash will be raffled off the night of the dance.

Personal Safety Tips

The campus and neighboring streets are not immune from activities frequently associated with metropolitan areas or larger, urban colleges. Personal safety tips, prepared by the Department of Public Safety, may lessen the likelihood of becoming a victim.

1. Do not walk or jog alone after dark.
 2. Walk in well-lit areas and stay near the curb, away from alleys, entry ways and bushes where someone could be hiding.
 3. Avoid short cuts. Walk where there are other people present.
 4. Do not hitchhike or accept rides from strangers. If a driver asks you for directions, stay far enough away so that you can not be pulled into the car. Do not pick up strangers.
 5. If you are being followed when walking, change directions, cross the street and vary your speed. Go to a well-lit area or a place where there are other people. If followed by someone in a car, turn and walk in the other direction. Record a license number.
 6. Park your car in a well-lit area and lock the door.
 7. Keep doors locked at all times. Don't unlock the door for strangers. Keep first floor windows locked.
 8. If you need an escort to or from your car or residence hall, call the Department of Public Safety, 543-6222.
 9. Locate someone in your class who is going in the same direction after class ends.
 10. Report any suspicious activity or crimes to the Public Safety Office, ext. 6222.
- You are your own best protection. For more information on personal safety, contact the Department of Public Safety, located in Holloway Hall room 22, ext. 6222.

Press/Police Relations

Have you ever had problems getting information from area police agencies? Have the police ever shooed you away from crime and accident scenes? They say they have their reasons. . . . At its next meeting, the Delmarva Press Club, will talk about press/police relations.

Expected guests are Assistant Commander Larry Taylor of the Maryland State Police Salisbury barracks, Assistant Commander John Brown of the MSP Berlin barracks, Ocean City Police Chief John Ulrich, Salisbury Police Chief Colbourn Dykes, Salisbury Lt. Ed Guthrie, and police spokesman Jack Marsh.

The meeting begins at 7:30 p.m. at the Carousel Hotel in Ocean City, Wednesday, Nov. 19. The program will follow a brief business session when the club will talk about Ocean City's new press policy for hurricanes, a Christmas party, dues ($10) and more. Clay Stamp, the resort's emergency director, will talk about the hurricanes.

If you've never been to a Delmarva Press Club meeting before, this is a good meeting to join us.

New officers for the Press Club are: President Ken Stone, WBOC-TV; Vice President Gains Hawkins, Salisbury State College; Secretary Amy Johns, WICO; Treasurer Bill Saterfield, WSBY/WQHQ.

Chemistry Seminar

Kim Dryden, a senior Chemistry major, will give a seminar on her internship experience at the Perdue Oil Refinery during the past summer. The seminar will include a discussion of the processing procedures used to transform crude soybean oil into salada, margarine and shortening oils. The specific quality control tests and their significance will be discussed.

Time: Friday, November 21, 10 a.m.

Place: Devilbiss Science Hall 207

All are welcome!

Phillips Promotion

Mrs. Les Phillips of Central Stores was recently promoted to Supply Officer I for the State of Maryland. She is a longtime employee of the College and is being recognized for her invaluable service to the institution and the academic community. John Yarbrough, new Central Stores manager said, "We would like to offer her our best wishes in her new position and thanks for a job well done."

Faculty Development Committee Attends National Conference

Members of the Faculty Development Committee, Charles Long, Edna Quinn, Andrew Pica and Gene White, and the Dean of the School of Liberal Arts, Tom Erskine, attended the 11th annual conference of the Professional and Organizational Development Network held in Hidden Valley, PA, October 30-November 2. The conference brought together a group of professionals whose major interests focus on personal, professional and organizational development of faculty in higher education. During the four day conference, there were approximately 60 sessions and workshops on subjects relating to classroom research, instructional resources, faculty development programs, career development, teaching improvement and faculty revitalization. Gene White, Department of Psychology, presented a session entitled "Mid-life Transition as it Relates to Mid-Career Faculty."

China Skiing Presentation

"Skiing the Cold Country: Manchuria's Sights and People" is the subject of a presentation by Hank Levine, director of the Professional Ski Instructors of America, on Thursday, December 4, at 7:30 p.m. in Caruthers Hall Auditorium.

Levine and John Dittle, a seasonal parks ranger who designs and prepares race courses for skiers, spent three weeks in China last winter coaching that country's national nordic ski team. They were accompanied by $25,000 in skiing and course grooming equipment.

The best skiers in China were not expected to be very good, based on stories Levine and Dittle had heard. "We had heard that the last Americans in China, in 1980, found the Chinese on wooden skis with bamboo poles and no gloves. We knew that the group had left some equipment, but we were not sure what we would find," said Levine.

When they arrived in Quin Yun, they discovered the Chinese outfitted with fiberglass skis, vintage 1979-80, but, "so worn out there was nothing left of them."

In addition to having old, worn-out skis, the Chinese were setting their tracks by skiing them. One area, located at an elevation of 500 meters, received a minimum amount of snow. The snow remained from November to March with little change because of cold temperatures.

"You could tell by the tools and what the workers said that they didn't have much snow," said Levine. "But, they also did not have obstacles to interfere with skiing."

While Dittle worked to improve skiing conditions, Levine was teaching modern racing techniques.

"I coached two members of the national team for an eight-day period," said Levine. "The racing techniques they were using dated to 1980 and racing has changed a lot since then. They were fast and well-trained. A lot of what they knew they'd learned from photos in Japanese magazines, without understanding the text. The Chinese were fast learners."

However, Levine and Dittle noticed that very few Chinese citizens ski. Skiing is for the children and high school students. Most Chinese work six days a week and have no time to ski.

Levine hopes to return to China next year. "We want to go back to coach and to lead an organized tour of 320 kilometers from town-to-town on cross country skis," said Levine. "We hope to bring in the first group of foreigners for this sort of activity."

The lecture and slide show is part of the College's year-long program, "China: Tradition and Transformation," which is sponsored by the College Faculty Events Committee in conjunction with the SSC Foundation. Like all programs in the series, Levine's presentation is free and open to the public.

The Snow Queen Ballet Opens December 5

The Snow Queen, one of Hans Christian Anderson's best loved fairy tales, will be reinterpreted in a modern ballet production at the College during the holiday season.

This original full-length dance drama plays in Holloway Hall Auditorium on Friday and Monday, December 5 and 8, at 8 p.m. with a special children's matinee on Saturday, December 6, at 2 p.m.

"We're adapting the fairy tale into a full modern ballet," Kathryn Martin, dance company director and choreographer said. "By a ballet, we mean a dance that tells a story."

The Hans Christian Anderson fairy tale is a unique story about a girl, Gerta, who is separated from her best friend, a boy named Kay, who lives next door. The youth has been abducted by the Snow Queen who takes him to her ice castle at the North Pole. Gerta's encounters with evil demons, robbers, crows and finally, the wicked Snow Queen, lead to a happy reunion of the two friends with good triumphing over evil.

For the adaptation, Martin has selected both modern and classical interpretations of music by Igor Stravinsky, Jean Sibelius and Carl Orff.

The Snow Queen has a company of 17 and the ballet runs approximately 90 minutes, including intermission. Sets and costumes are by T. Paul Pfeiffer, with lighting by Martin and Pfeiffer.

The production is made possible, in part, by a grant from the Salisbury State College Foundation.

Tickets for The Snow Queen are $4 for adults and $1 for children. Admission is free to SSC students, faculty and staff. Parents will be admitted for half price to the December 6 matinee. For tickets and other information, call ext. 6353.

Art Institute and Gallery Exhibit

The beauty of Maryland wildlife comes to the Art Institute & Gallery on December 6 with a special exhibit of the works of John W. Taylor. A resident of Edgewater, MD, Taylor is a professional artist who has achieved a national reputation in the artistry of wildlife, especially song birds and waterfowl. He received much of his training both in Europe and at the Corcoran Gallery School and served as artist-in-residence for the U.S. National Museum and the Maryland Department of Game and Fisheries. He has received commissions from the National Geographic Society and the National Wildlife Federation and continues to illustrate commercially.

Taylor was selected as the artist for the first Maryland Waterfowl Stamp in 1974 for his "Mallard in Snow" and again in 1979 with his painting of wood ducks. His rendering of a hooded merganser won the 1984 Florida Duck Stamp Competition. Taylor also donated his talents to the State of Maryland for the first Wildlife Conservation Stamp. In recognition of Taylor's generosity, Gov. Harry Hughes awarded him a Governor's Citation in 1985. His paintings have been exhibited in Boston, New York, Baltimore, Washington, Annapolis, North Carolina and now Salisbury. A number of original paintings and prints will be available for purchase during the exhibition. The show will run through January 10.

The Art Institute & Gallery is located convenient to the Downtown Plaza at Rt. 50 & Lemmon Hill Lane. The Gallery and Monet's Corner Gift Shop are open Wednesday-Saturday, Noon-4 p.m. and Sunday 1-5 p.m. Admission is free.

Joint SSC-UMES Band Appearance

Dr. Thomas G. Elliot, chairman of the Department of Music, has been invited to be guest conductor of the combined Concert Bands of the University of Maryland Eastern Shore and Salisbury State College in a festival performance at UMES in celebration of its centennial anniversary.

Dr. Elliot will share the podium with John Lamkin II, conductor of the UMES Band. The concert is Monday, November 24, at 8 p.m., at the Ella Fitzgerald Performing Arts Center.

Dr. Elliot and Dr. Gerald Johnson, chairman of the Department of Fine Arts at UMES, anticipate the collaboration between the Music Departments of both institutions will be the first of what they hope are joint projects involving students and faculty exchanges on both campuses.

Voice Recitals

Students of Voice Class I perform in recital on Tuesday and Wednesday, December 2 and 3, at 7:30 p.m. The recitals are in the Musical Arts Center.

Assisting Mrs. Norma Heyde with accompaniments is Judy Gray. Students are performing repertoire from 17th century Italian and English song literature from different stylistic periods of composition. Everyone is invited to attend the programs.

Collegium and Concert Choir Perform

The College Collegium and Concert Choir perform on Friday, November 21, at 8 p.m. in Caruthers Auditorium. The two groups, under the direction of Dr. Nancy J. Cooper, present "Two Hundred Years of American Music," featuring music from Colonial times to current times. Composers represented include Billings, Copland, Randall Thompson, Persichetti, Pinkham and Schuman.

"The music included in this performance will be unfamiliar to many, which is unfortunate - it definitely deserves to be heard," said Dr. Cooper. "American music is too often neglected in favor of anything European." She hopes to enlighten listeners to the quality of composition going on in America now - as Persichetti and Pinkham in particular are current, active composers.

The concert is free and open to the public.

Art Exhibit

The College Community is invited to attend the opening reception of an exhibition entitled, "Blue Horizons on the Chesapeake" on Friday, November 21, from 7-9 p.m. at The Gallery, Court Plaza, Salisbury. This is a joint exhibition of pottery by Beth Fusaro, painting by Keith Whitelock and still-lives by Jean Forney. Linda May, violinist, will provide entertainment for the opening. The show will run until December 24.

Skelton Piano Recital

Judith Skelton, a senior majoring in Liberal Studies - Music Education, presents a piano recital Sunday, November 23, at 4:00 p.m. in Caruthers Hall Auditorium. The program includes works by Scarlatti, Haydn, Chopin, Nathaniel Dett and Gershwin. Ms. Skelton is a piano student of Linda Cockey.

The public is invited to attend and admission is free.

Elizabeth Bellavance Contributes to New Book

Elizabeth Bellavance, is a member of the committee of college president's spouses that has produced The Partnership Model: A Family Perspective on College Presidency, a new book just published by the American Association of State Colleges and Universities (AASCU).

The book examines the importance and evolution of the role of the president's spouses and family in relation to the college presidency. It presents a wide range of perspectives on the partnership that is involved in leading a contemporary university. Bellavance is a member of the AASCU 1986 Spouses Survey Committee which surveyed several hundred college presidential spouses as research for the book. She also served on the committee for the AASCU 1983 survey.

The increasing number of male and female single college presidents, male presidential spouses and female presidential spouses who work full-time has focused attention on the wide scope of supporting activities traditionally carried out for universities by presidential spouses as volunteers, the spouses found.

Unlike their counterparts abroad, spouses of college presidents here serve as coordinator and host or hostess for the numerous functions held in the president's house, according to the book. Today's college president spouses, with their differing lifestyles, require more formal support from their universities to fulfill these obligations, support which universities customarily hire for single presidents.

As reported in The Partnership Model, spouses of college leaders experience the greatest stress in attempting to balance family time with college demands. Many have their own careers and professional identities, some are male and thus charting new waters for the spouse's role, and some want compensation or other recognition for the time they give their institutions.

"This book continues the association's leadership role in recognizing the contributions, efforts and needs of the husbands and wives of college presidents," said Roberta H. Ostar, editor of the book and volunteer coordinator of AASCU's spouses' programs.

Among the firsts in The Partnership Model, the third volume in AASCU's ongoing series on the college president-spouse partnership, are essays from the perspectives of male presidential spouses, presidents' children and single presidents. The book also reports AASCU's third survey on presidential spouses, incorporating responses and experiences of several hundred association member college spouses.

AASCU is an institutional membership association representing 372 public four-year colleges and universities throughout the U.S., Puerto Rico, Guam and the Virgin Islands. It was the first educational organization to develop a substantive program for spouses.

The Partnership Model: A Family Perspective on College Presidency is available from AASCU, Office of Publications, One Dupont Circle, Suite 700, Washington, D.C. 20036.

Business Support Needed For SWAC Fundraiser

This year the Salisbury Wicomico Arts Council has asked local artist, Marie Tator Quillen, to create a special holiday ornament which will be sent in appreciation of every tax-deductible contribution of $25. This donation will also support the year-round work of the Arts Council on behalf of a growing and healthy cultural community.

The Arts Council deeply appreciates the generosity of the business community in the past in supporting auctions and other fund raising projects. This ornament offer was conceived as a different and unique idea, replacing the Auction this year, as a way to solicit business support and give companies a tangible way to thank valued employees and customers.

For information on the Arts Council and how to receive a limited edition holiday ornament please call 543-ARTS.

Artist Dolores Powell

Artists to Display Works

Two artists, including one from SSC, will display their works November 22 through December 6 at the Wicomico County Free Library. The exhibit features Dolores Powell, who works in the Communication Arts Department, and her daughter, Janine Kearney of Austin, TX. Each has a distinctive style.

The charm of the Eastern Shore is evident in Powell's paintings. Her watercolor landscapes and waterfowl of are familiar scenes on the Eastern Shore and the Chesapeake Bay, and recent paintings include nautical scenes of Eastern/Northeastern Shore lighthouses.

Powell attended Salisbury State and has studied with different Eastern Shore artists. She received the best wildlife entry award in the Spring 1986 Fine Arts Show at the Wicomico Youth and Civic Center for her painting of Canada Geese, entitled, "Upward Bound." She is an active member and promoter of the Art Institute and Gallery.

Choral Society Announces Concert

The Salisbury Choral Society announces its first concert of the season, to be held on Saturday, December 13. The beautiful nave of Asbury United Methodist Church on Camden Avenue, near the College, will be the setting for this "Christmas in Song" concert at 8 p.m. The society numbers about 50 singers whose voices will fill the air with a variety of Christmas sounds—old and new.

The evening will include old familiar favorites such as "O Come All Ye Faithful," "We Three Kings," and "Hark the Herald Angels Sing" as well as "Caroling, Caroling," "Jesus Child," and Randall Thompson's "Alleluia." The entire program was developed by Joanne Little, concert director and one of Salisbury's better known musicians. David Lawson, the Choral Society's accompanist, will play a solo work on Asbury's splendid Casavant organ.

The Choral Society depends upon contributions over and above the ticket price of its friends to keep their quality choral music program alive. The categories for donations are Sponsor—$25-50, Patron—$50-100, Benefactor—$100 and Angel—anything above $100. Anyone wishing to patronize the choral society may send his check, payable to the Salisbury Choral Society, to P.O. Box 2012, Salisbury, MD 21801.

Mark your calendars now for the date of Saturday, December 13, at 8 p.m. in Asbury United Methodist Church for "Christmas in Song" by the Salisbury Choral Society. All tickets are $6 and are available from any Choral Society member and in the Salisbury-Wicomico Arts Council office. Tickets may be purchased from Peggy Martin at SSC, HH 204.

Football Travels to Tennessee for NCAA Playoffs

For the third time in four years, the SSC football team is headed for the NCAA Division III playoffs. SSC will travel to Emory & Henry College, located in Emory, VA, on Saturday, November 22, and the game will be played at Stone Castle Stadium in Bristol, TN, about 15 minutes from Emory. Kickoff is at 1 p.m.

The Gulls defeated Mercyhurst College on Saturday 21-14 to complete the first-ever undefeated, untied season (10-0) for Salisbury State football. The Gulls, winners of 19 straight regular season games, got two touchdown runs from quarterback Kevin White and another from fullback Frank Oliver for the win.

"We are just tremendously excited about going to the NCAA playoffs," said SSC head coach Mike McGlinchey, who has a 41-10-1 (.798) record in five seasons with the Gulls. "It's been a heck of a season and we're looking forward to the challenge that Emory & Henry College presents us."

The Wasps finished its season 10-1 with the only loss being a one-point decision to Centre College. They are led by the nation's leading rusher—Sandy Rodgers. Rodgers set a school single season rushing record by gaining 1,730 yards on 231 carries. He also rushed for 13 touchdowns. Quarterback Gary Collier passed for 1,509 yards and 21 TD's. As evidenced by Rodgers and Collier, Emory & Henry poses a threat both on the ground and through the air.

The defense, which yielded just 9.1 ppg and never more than 18 points in a single game, is led by 1985 All-American Keith Furr, who had 40 tackles and five interceptions. Furr must also be watched on the special teams as he returned two punts for scores this season.

The Gulls ended the season with the best defensive effort in a single season ever at SSC as they gave up just 10.2 ppg, breaking the record of 11.5 set in 1981. Freshman John Baugher, who was named to the ECAC defensive team of the week for his performance against Mercyhurst, led the team with four interceptions on the year. Senior Tom Kress anchored the defense, leading the squad with 101 tackles and four sacks.

Offensively, SSC is led by junior halfback Mike Coppa, who placed ninth in the country in rushing with 128 yards per game. Coppa missed the single season rushing mark at Salisbury by just three yards despite missing one game early in the season.

SSC is 2-2 in NCAA playoff action and finished as a semi-finalist in 1983 and a quarterfinalist last season. Emory & Henry and Salisbury State have never met on the football field before.

Stovall Addresses Professional Secretaries

"Winning at Work" was Dr. Natalia Stovall's topic when the Psychology professor addressed the Professional Secretaries International at the Holiday Inn on Route 13 in Salisbury on November 13.

Dr. Stovall is part of the College Speaker's Bureau. The bureau offers area organizations several speakers discussing a variety of subjects. There is no charge for the service.

Any civic, service or educational organization desiring a speaker should contact the SSC Public Relations Office at 543-6030.

In 1886, his march, "The Gladiator" first earned him acclaim as a composer. Three years later, "The Washington Post" march, written to promote that newspaper's essay contest, was adopted for the new dance, the two step. This march became the most popular dance in America and Europe.

A British journalist wrote that since Strauss was the "Waltz King," Sousa should be called the "March King." The title stuck.

In 1892, Sousa resigned as director of the U.S. Marine Band, formed his own, and his reputation skyrocketed.

Traveling with 80 musicians, their well-rehearsed and stirring music brought down the house in an age of high patriotism and enthusiasm for bands.

Traveling in private Pullmans by rail, they visited nearly every city of size in the U.S. They also made several European tours.

Shortly after a rehearsal on March 6, 1932 in Reading, PA, Sousa suffered a heart attack. The last number he conducted in rehearsal was "Stars and Stripes Forever."

At a "Tribute to John Philip Sousa" concert, to be held at Salisbury State College on Sunday, November 23, in Holloway Hall at 7 p.m., the Radermans and Mrs. William Herb will lead local signers in a national petition to have "Stars and Stripes Forever" declared the national march. Mrs. Herb's father-in-law played tuba for Sousa, Mr. Raderman's father played drums.

Memorabilia they have saved from those bygone days will be on display at the College, including a touring trunk and pictures.

Also adding to the fun, Smith will dress as Sousa. The concert is free and the public is invited.

Swimmers Win First Meet

The women's swimming team opened its 1986 season last week and defeated Gallaudet College 115-84 after losing earlier to Loyola 141-64.

Nancy Gugerty, a sophomore from Towson, MD., won two events against Loyola and then won three times in the victory over Gallaudet. Other winners for SSC against Gallaudet were Sharon Crilly, Julie Frost, Cindy Patrick, Nelly Grant and Marlene Maloney.

The swim team will be at home on Monday, November 24, at 6 p.m. against Notre Dame in the Maggs Activity Center.

Scheffler Places Fourth

Scott Scheffler placed fourth in the cross country regionals at Allentown College this past weekend as the Gull team placed 10th overall. Scheffler ran a 26:03 five-mile time, more than a minute more than his course record he set just three weeks earlier at Allentown. However, he did qualify for the NCAA Division III nationals which will be held on Saturday, November 22, at Fredonia, NY.

VOL. XIII NO. 14

Guest Artist Featured in 'Snow Queen'

Jan Abramovitz, formerly of Danceteller of Philadelphia, will dance the featured role of Kay as guest artist for the Salisbury State College Dance Company's production of The Snow Queen.

Abramovitz will play opposite Elizabeth Palmer, a Salisbury State senior from Maine who studied at the American Ballet Theatre School in New York before coming to SSC to study Nursing. Palmer dances the heroine, Gerda, who frees Kay from the evil Snow Queen.

Abramovitz, who helped stage "Quiet City" for last spring's SSC dance concert, Dancing Dialogues, also taught classes and performed here in the spring of 1985. "I think the students here are very receptive and very open," he said at a recent rehearsal with Palmer.

In turn, Palmer praised him for providing a booster shot of energy to her own performance. her performance. (Gerda dances on stage practically the entire 90 minute ballet.) According to choreographer Kathryn Martin, "Because he's so experienced, he can interact (as well as dance)—it's an important part of the relationship on stage—that she has that to work with."

Abramovitz has trained at the Jacob's Pillow Dance School, the American Dance Machine and has toured with Danceteller, a national theatre dance company, and Kaleidoscope Dancers, who specialize in children's performances. They represented the U.S.A. at the International Children's Festival last year in Sibenik, Yugoslavia, and in Canada at the Universiade. During this time he also danced with the Pandolpho Early Music and Dance Consort, the Tomov Folk Ensemble, Qwindo's Window Dance Co. and the Minstrel Tاپistry Renaissance Dance Troupe, all of New York.

Palmer toured Maine with the Ralph Robinson Dance Co. of Bangor for three years, then studied with ABT. Afterwards, she gave up dance for travel and college. This is her first role in five years.

The Snow Queen plays in Holloway Hall Auditorium on Friday and Monday, December 5 and 8, at 8 p.m. with a special children's matinee on Saturday, December 6, at 2 p.m. Tickets are $4 for adults and $1 for children. Parents will be admitted for half price to the December 6 matinee. SSC students, faculty and staff are admitted free. For tickets and other information, call ext. 6353.

Salisbury Symphony to Play

The Salisbury Symphony Orchestra presents its first performance of the 1986-87 season on Friday, December 12, at 8 p.m. in Holloway Hall Auditorium.

The program will include works by Beethoven, Johann Strauss, Sibelius and Telemann. Also featured will be Janice Price, soprano, who will sing selections from German lied and the aria, "Jewel Song," from the opera, Faust, by Gounod.

The Salisbury Symphony Orchestra originated about a year ago following a meeting of a small group of local enthusiasts of classical music, called by Dr. Thomas Elliot, chairman of the Music Department.

It is believed to be the first time that a musical organization of this scope has been organized on the Eastern Shore and to represent a significant new resource for the cultural enrichment of the community.

Designated as the Salisbury Symphony Orchestra, the new organization consists of some 50 members, both professional and amateur, who reside in Salisbury and various other communities on the Eastern Shore and lower Delaware. Dr. Elliot, who has a broad background of music teaching and orchestra conducting, is music director and has indicated that a number of the orchestra's members have previous playing experience with other symphonies.

Most members, however, are without such experience but have had extensive private training. The director continues to welcome inquiries from area residents interested in becoming future members of the orchestra. Ages of present members range from the early teens to the senior citizen level.

The orchestra has its own board of directors and is now fully incorporated as an organization existing exclusively for charitable and educational purposes. Officers of the board are: Joseph S. Bachman, chairman; David B. Ganoe, vice chairman; Valerie Dillehey, secretary; and Lester W. Simpson, treasurer. Additional board members are Daniel J. Savoy, A. Gillis Allen II, W. Jerome Sterling III, Audrey Stewart,

Dr. Roger A. Jackson and Robin R. Cockey. The board anticipates future expansion and those interested are invited to inquire.

Tickets are $5 each and are available in advance at Phillips Men's Shop in the Salisbury Mall, Dean Witter on East Main Street, the Salisbury Wicomico Arts Council at the Civic Center, and the Student Center Information Office.

Test Anxiety Program

The systematic management of test taking anxiety is being taught to students by the staff at Counseling Services.

Test performance anxiety is a common experience and will have a negative impact on the scores for many students. An effective, systematic training program is available at Counseling Services which teaches students new stress coping skills for the management of extraordinary stress which impedes clear thinking. While in no way a substitute for adequate preparation, this systematic approach, which includes daily practice of deep muscle relaxation and mental rehearsal, prepares students for the tension and anxiety of the test. When stress is reduced, clear thinking and recall are enhanced.

Details regarding this stress management program are available. Contact the Counseling Services Office.

Counseling Services

Counseling Services conducts walk-in hours from 1 - 3 p.m. Monday through Thursday. Anyone who wishes to see a counselor, and has not seen one before, is welcome between those hours.

China Skiing Presentation

"Skiing the Cold Country: Manchuria's Sights and People" is the subject of a presentation by Hank Levine, director of the Professional Ski Instructors of America, on Thursday, December 4, at 7:30 p.m. in Caruthers Hall Auditorium.

The lecture and slide show is part of the College's year-long program, "China: Tradition and Transformation," which is sponsored by the College Faculty Events Committee in conjunction with the SSC Foundation. Like all programs in the series, Levine's presentation is free and open to the public.

Winter Term Jobs

The work experience office is accepting applications for Winter Term and spring. Presently there are several positions open for the Winter Term paint crew.

Applications are also being accepted for '87 summer lifeguard positions on Friday, December 12, between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. in the Maintenance Building conference room. If interested, stop by, fill out an application and schedule an interview.

This is a joint exhibition of pottery by Beth Fusaro, painting by Keith Whitelock and still-lives by Jean Forney. Linda May, violinist, will provide entertainment for the opening. The show will run until December 24.

Open House

The College invites all prospective students and their families to an Open House on Saturday, December 13, from 9:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Originating at Holloway Hall, the Open House includes an informal coffee hour featuring presentations by faculty members and administrators about various aspects of College life and a walking tour of the campus and its facilities hosted by an SSC student. Individual counseling with representatives of the Admissions-Financial Aid Office is available at the conclusion of the Open House.

The College urges all students to visit Salisbury State College as part of the college selection process.

SSC, with an enrollment of some 4,500, offers undergraduate degree programs in 29 separate disciplines ranging from Business to Communication Arts to Physics/Microelectronics. Located in Salisbury with a metropolitan population of some 50,000, on U.S. Route 13, it is a 2½ hour drive from several major East Coast cities including Baltimore, Washington, D.C., Philadelphia and Norfolk, VA.

For more information on either Salisbury State or the Open House, call the Admissions Office at ext. 6160.

Choral Society Announces Concert

The Salisbury Choral Society announces its first concert of the season, to be held on Saturday, December 13. The beautiful nave of Asbury United Methodist Church on Camden Avenue, near the College, will be the setting for this "Christmas in Song" concert at 8 p.m. The society numbers about 50 singers whose voices will fill the air with a variety of Christmas sounds—old and new.

The evening will include old familiar favorites such as "O Come All Ye Faithful," "We Three Kings," and "Hark the Herald Angels Sing" as well as "Caroling, Caroling," "Jesus Child," and Randall Thompson's "Alleluia." The entire program was developed by Joanne Little, concert director and one of Salisbury's better known musicians. David Lawson, the Choral Society's accompanist, will play a solo work on Asbury's splendid Casavant organ.

The Choral Society depends upon contributions over and above the ticket price of its friends to keep their quality choral music program alive. The categories for donations are Sponsor—$25-50, Patron—$50-100, Benefactor—$100 and Angel—anything above $100. Anyone wishing to patronize the choral society may send his check, payable to the Salisbury Choral Society, to P.O. Box 2012, Salisbury, MD 21801.

Mark your calendars now for the date of Saturday, December 13, at 8 p.m. in Asbury United Methodist Church for "Christmas in Song" by the Salisbury Choral Society. All tickets are $6 and are available from any Choral Society member and in the Salisbury-Wicomico Arts Council office. Tickets may be purchased from Peggy Martin at SSC, HH 204.

U. S. Army Field Band And Soldiers' Chorus

The U.S. Army Field Band and Soldiers' Chorus presents a free concert on Tuesday, December 9, at 8 p.m. in Holloway Hall Auditorium. The event is co-sponsored by SSC and The Daily Times.

Tickets are available on a first come, first served basis from The Daily Times, the College Center information desk and the U.S. Army Recruiting Office in the Twilley Center.

The band's concert repertoire is designed to appeal to all audiences, offering classical, semi-classical and popular selections, choral arrangements, novelty numbers and military marches on each of its programs. On tours of other nations, the Field Band has performed the works of American composers as well as music indigenous to that country.

The band has earned considerable fame outside the United States on four tours sponsored by the Department of the Army and the State Department.

In addition to its concert tours, the Field Band is called upon to participate in a variety of ceremonial events. The band has marched in five Presidential Inaugural parades, escorted the President on special occasions and played for many visiting heads-of-state.

Formed more than 35 years ago, the chorus has thrilled audiences throughout the world with its own special arrangements of music as varied as the communities it has visited.

The Soldiers' Chorus has performed in all 50 states, Canada, Mexico, the United Kingdom, Europe, the Far East, Central and South America, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands. It was honored in 1961 when selected to sing at the Prayer Breakfast for the late President John F. Kennedy following his inauguration.

Notable performances since the inception of the Chorus have included concerts at the New York, Seattle and Knoxville World's Fairs, EXPO '67, at Caranegie Hall, New York's Lincoln Center, the Mormon Tabernacle in Salt Lake City and at the Hollywood Bowl. The group has also appeared in the Merriweather Post Pavilion in Columbia, on the Esplanade in Boston, in Philadelphia's Robin Hood Dell, at Disneyland and Walt Disney World, and at the Garden State Arts Center in Holmdel, NJ.

Fifteen great door prizes are to be given away. For every $5 worth of art work purchased, a ticket is placed in the drawing box making the purchaser eligible for one or more door prizes. The prizes are gift certificates and special items worth $5 to $25 donated by local merchants: Hess Apparel, City Florist, The Foto Lab, the Gallery Court Plaza, SSC Gulls Nest snack bar, SSC Book Rack, Art Express, Salisbury Wicomico County Arts Council, Thurston Studio, Lombardi's, Baskin Robbins, Ponzetti's English's Family Restaurant, LaRoma, Domino's and Tony's.

The drawing for the door prizes occur periodically. For those with a dessert appetite baked goods are for sale.

The sale is open to the public. All donations are tax deductible. Come and browse, buy, and help the Art Department earn money for art scholarships. Our goal is to have a scholarship available for a 1987 fall SSC freshman Art student.

If there are any questions, contact the SSC Art Department office at ext 6270, or Marie Tator Quillen, faculty advisor, at ext. 6543.

Bus Trip To See Chinese Acrobats

The Salisbury Wicomico Arts Council is now taking reservations for a bus trip in January to Ford's Theatre in Washington, D.C., to see the Chinese Golden Dragon Acrobats and Magicians of Taipei.

The bus trip will be on Sunday, January 4. Participants depart Salisbury mid-morning, arrive in Washington in time for a tour of the museum at historic Ford's Theatre, attend the performance at 3 p.m., stop for dinner on the return trip (not included in the ticket price), and return to Salisbury around 9 p.m. Tickets for the trip, which include the cost of the bus and the theatre tickets are: $32 for adults, $30 for SWAC members, and $25 for senior citizens and children under 12 (Ford's recommends the show for ages 5 and older).

The Chinese Golden Dragon Acrobats and Magicians of Taipei are a family troupe. Half of the 23 member company is part of the Chang family. This family has a long tradition of performing in the acrobatic arts, a form of entertainment that has been popular in China for both the masses and the emperor's court since 300 B.C.

The Chinese Golden Dragon Acrobats and Magicians of Taipei have performed throughout America, Europe, the Middle East and Latin America. Their show features the amazing acrobatic feats for which the Chinese acrobats are legendary: the Pagoda of Chairs, precision juggling, as well as dance and kung-fu exhibitions.

Since tickets for this bus trip are limited, anyone interested in attending the show are urged to send in their checks as soon as possible. Send your check (made payable to SWAC) to the Salisbury Wicomico Arts Council, P.O. Box 884, Salisbury, MD 21801.

Frost's 'Poems of Alienation' to be Staged

Nine Robert Frost poems including "The Hill Wife," "Mending Wall" and "Death of the Hired Man" will be dramatized in a production titled "Frost's Poems of Alienation" on Friday, December 12, at 7:30 p.m. in Caruthers Hall Auditorium.

Although alienation was a word popular in the 1960s, "No one generation has a monopoly on alienation," said Dr. Robert Wesley, who is directing the chamber theatre production.

"Frankly, I don't know if alienation is getting worse or better. In the 1960s, people looked inward and asked themselves, 'Who am I?' In the 1970s, it was the 'me' decade. 'What's best for me?' (As a result in the 1980s) . . . we have a hell of a divorce rate," said Wesley.

"Looking inward isn't enough. To grow, people need others. But in our heart of hearts, we don't really open up to one another because we're afraid of rejection. We can't see unless we're willing to be seen. Alienation is when people become frightened. They pull back." Then, according to Wesley, the ultimate alienation occurs, self-deception.

"I like Frost because he can be understood on a literal level by students, but also there is a deeper level. A poem is . . . (and) Frost is a good dramatist. He creates scenes and characters in just a few lines."

Fifteen students and faculty are performing in the one hour production. "We concentrate on the literature," Wesley said. "I say to students, 'Concentrate, concentrate, concentrate.'"

Wesley enjoys bringing literary works to the stage. He has directed Ray Bradbury's novella, Dandelion Wine, Edgar Lee Masters' Spoon River Anthology, and Neil Simon's adaptation of Chekhov's short stories, The Good Doctor. Play credits include The Shadow Box and The Dining Room. An experienced actor, he last appeared in Mark Twain's "Jim Baker's Blue Jay Yarn," part of Three American Works at the College.

ABQ to Perform The Spirit of Christmas Brassed

The Annapolis Brass Quintet performs "The Spirit of Christmas Brassed" on Tuesday, December 9, at 8 p.m. in the Trinity United Methodist Church.

The concert includes a wide range of Yuletide music. Tickets are $12 and $10 for Salisbury Wicomico Arts Council members and are available by calling 543-ARTS or by stopping by the Arts Council office in the Wicomico Youth and Civic Center. Tickets are also available at John Hanson Savings and Loan on the downtown plaza and on Riverside Drive or at any of the ten branches of Peninsula Bank during regular lobby hours.

The Annapolis Brass Quintet's season in Salisbury is made possible, in part, by grants from the National Endowment for the Arts and the Maryland State Arts Council.

Norman Mailer Lecture

Dr. Joseph Wenke will lecture on "Norman Mailer and the Politics of the American Dream" on Thursday, December 11, at 7:30 p.m. in Holloway Hall room 106 (the Art Wing) at Salisbury State College.

Admission is free and the public is invited.

Dr. Wenke's career has bridged both scholarly research and corporate communication. A corporate communication specialist for Avnet Inc., a multi-national electronics corporation in New York, he writes speeches for the multinational's executive officers, helps create reports, works with Avnet's investor relations, and has written A History of the Microprocessor.

He earned a Ph.D. in English from the University of Connecticut and his book, Mailer's America, will be published this spring by University Press of New England. He also has published articles on Bob Dylan, Mailer and their relation to the "Beat Generation" for the Dictionary of Literary Biography.

"His upcoming book will have the most complete discussion of Mailer's work to date," according to his brother, Dr. John Wenke, on the English Department faculty at SSC. It includes analyses of Mailer's most recent novels, American Evening and Tough Guys Don't Dance.

It took two years to complete Mailer's America, part of which was written standing up during a two-hour round trip daily commute to and from New York on the Long Island Rail Road.

Wenke's lecture is co-sponsored by the SSC English Department's Honor's Program and the College Center. A reception will follow in the SSC Honors House on College Ave.

Journey to the Soviet Union

Set aside the summer of 1987 to join Salisbury State's study-tour of the Soviet Union. Jointly sponsored by the Departments of History and Political Science, the study-tour will offer participants an in-depth survey of the history, politics, social structure and culture of the modern Soviet Union, capped by a two-week tour of the country from August 12 to August 26. Highlights of the tour include five days in Moscow, capital of the country; a train journey to Kiev, capital of the Ukraine and Russia's oldest city, and 5 days in Leningrad, the city of Peter the Great and heart of the Bolshevik Revolution. Special museum visits, guided tours and an excursion to Novgorod are all part of the tour.

The program is open to all students, faculty, staff, alumni and friends of Salisbury State, as well as to anyone interested in the Soviet Union today. A special interest meeting for anyone intrigued in details of visiting this fascinating country will be held on the SSC campus Wednesday, December 10, at 7 p.m. in Holloway Hall 223. Everyone is welcome! For further information contact the Summer School Office, ext. 6170, Dr. Robert Berry, ext. 6248 or Dr. Gregory Cashman, ext. 6247. Begin planning now for a most exciting summer!

Car for Sale

China Skiing Presentation

"Skiing the Cold Country: Manchuria's Sights and People" is the subject of a presentation by Hank Levine, director of the Professional Ski Instructors of America, on Thursday, December 4, at 7:30 p.m. in Caruthers Hall Auditorium.

Levine and John Dittle, a seasonal parks ranger who designs and prepares race courses for skiers, spent three weeks in China last winter coaching that country's national nordic ski team. They were accompanied by $25,000 in skiing and course grooming equipment.

The best skiers in China were not expected to be very good based on stories Levine and Dittle had heard. "We had heard that the last Americans in China, in 1980, found the Chinese on wooden skis with bamboo poles and no gloves. We knew that the group had left some equipment, but we were not sure what we would find," said Levine.

When they arrived in Quin Yun, they discovered the Chinese outfitted with fiberglass skis, vintage 1979-80, but "so worn out there was nothing left of them."

In addition to having old, worn-out skis, the Chinese were setting their tracks by skiing them. One area, located at an elevation of 500 meters, received a minimum amount of snow. The snow remained from November to March with little change because of cold temperatures.

"You could tell by the tools and what the workers said that they didn't have much snow," said Levine. "But, they also did not have obstacles to interfere with skiing."

"While Dittle worked to improve skiing conditions, Levine was teaching modern racing techniques."

"I coached two members of the national team for an eight-day period," said Levine. "The racing techniques they were using dated to 1980 and racing has changed a lot since then. They were fast and well-trained. A lot of what they knew they'd learned from photos in Japanese magazines, without understanding the text. The Chinese were fast learners."

However, Levine and Dittle noticed that very few Chinese citizens ski. Skiing is for the children and high school students. Most Chinese work six days a week and have no time to ski.

Levine hopes to return to China next year. "We want to go back to coach and to lead an organized tour of 320 kilometers from town-to-town on cross country skis," said Levine. "We hope to bring in the first group of foreigners for this sort of activity."

The lecture and slide show is part of the College's year-long program, "China: Tradition and Transformation." It is co-sponsored by the Outdoor Club and the College Faculty Events Committee in conjunction with the SSC Foundation. Like all programs in the series, Levine's presentation is free and open to the public.

Respiratory Lecture

Johanna Laird, program director of Medical Technology at Salisbury State, will give a respiratory lecture at 5 p.m. Thursday, December 4, in the Educational Center Conference Room at Peninsula General Hospital.

The title of her talk is "Elaboration of Isoenzymes Associated with Myocardial Infarction." Admission is free and a continuing education unit is available. Afterwards, refreshments will be served. The lecture is co-sponsored by the College Respiratory Association, Upjohn Pharmaceuticals and the American Lung Association.

For more information, contact Xavier Stewart of the School of Nursing and Health Sciences, at ext. 6418.

Student Publishes History Research

Bitter family feuding sometimes continued even after death, erupting into public record. One man wrote in his will, ". . . to my cruel and tyrannical wife" (she refused to co-habitate with him) ". . . (I leave only) the bed she lies in." Further documents show the wife contesting her husband's will and receiving the full widow's third of the estate.

The time is not today, but the mid-eighteenth century, the setting is Worcester County and the documents are 16 years of wills which College junior Sharon Jones has just abstracted, edited and published. A History major from Salisbury, Jones compared the wills to "jumping into a soap opera. I was immediately hooked. . . I had to see what comes next."

She culled through some 3,000 names from 1742-1758, cross-referencing them and creating a reference bibliography which is invaluable for anyone doing genealogical or property research from Worcester during that era.

In the process, she has become the first History student from Salisbury State to have her research published while still working toward her baccalaureate.

She also discovered aspects of American life and character which seem remarkably contemporary, despite a 230 year lapse, particularly in the lives of women. Contrary to popular belief, women were often the major benefactors of wills. One man left dwellings and a major estate to his daughters. To his son, he willed "one shilling and no more."

Women would also have wills, although the documents usually involved personal possessions, such as wearing apparel, household furnishings and dishes, rather than land.

During this period about 20 family names were repeated in the Worcester wills. Major clans with frequent property transfers included Brittingham, Shockley, Fassitt, Atkinson, Aydelotte, Brown, Cropper, Truitt, Davis, Handy, Henderson and Selby, among others.

Wills frequently showed concern for children's educations, parents providing for them to learn a trade "after they were educated," Jones said.

Jones' path to a History degree was almost reversed. After graduating from Wicomico Senior H.S. in 1969, she worked in the medical field. While recuperating from an accident three years ago, however, she took a summer school course in English at SSC for a lark. She liked it, tried History and was hooked.

She is currently continuing her research into the following decade, 1758-1769. "She's a natural History student," Mrs. Sylvia Bradley, who teaches in the department said.

Jones' current bibliography, an 80-page volume published by Family Line Publications of Silver Spring, is available at the Salisbury State Library or the SSC History Department in Holloway Hall.

RA's Attend Conference

Nearly 600 RAs from 42 schools attended the ninth annual MACUHO conference held November 15 at Rutgers College. Salisbury was represented by eight RAs and two area directors. Mary Leonardi, an RA at Dogwood Village presented a session on Basic Counseling Skills.

She is the first RA to present a program at a conference from Salisbury State. The response was positive from those who attended.

Other RAs who attended were Joe Heard, Nancy Eberhardt, Bill McSweeney, Julie Lloyd, Suzanne Nolan, Sharon Hurff and Kathleen McGonigle.

Bloodsworth Appointment

Carol Bloodsworth, graphic designer in the Publications Department, has been appointed to the Eastern Shore Hospital Center Citizens Advisory Board. The appointment is for a four-year term.

"It gives me great pleasure to make this appointment and I am confident that your judgment and ability in performing the duties of this office will be to the advantage of the State and its people," Governor Harry Hughes said.

Bloodsworth was program director and social worker for Maple Shades Residential (Group) Homes, before coming to the College.

SSC Foundation Faculty Grants

The Salisbury State College Foundation Inc. recently made grants totaling $2,784 to six SSC faculty members to assist on educational projects.

Dr. Bernard A. Fusaro, professor of Mathematical Sciences, received $500 in travel funds to assist him in his position as a member of the Board of Governors of the Mathematical Association of America, the main organization for undergraduate mathematics.

Dr. William L. Grogan Jr., associate professor of Biology, received a $500 grant to help defray the expenses for the publication of two of his research papers in entomological journals.

Dr. Andrew Hepburn, associate professor of Communication Arts and director of SSC Theatre, received a $400 grant for the construction of a "dragon" to be used at public events in conjunction with the College cultural events theme, "China: Tradition and Transformation." In the style of Chinese dragons used in parades, the dragon will be employed in SSC Children's Theatre.

Kathryn Martin, instructor of Physical Education and director of the SSC Dance Company, received a $500 grant to assist in the production costs for the College's December presentation of a full ballet adapted from the Hans Christian Andersen fairytale, "The Snow Queen." The production will involve a collaborative effort on the part of the Dance Company and the Communication Arts Department.

Dr. Michael O'Loughlin, assistant professor of Political Science, received a $384 grant to cover his transportation costs for his trip to the Southwestern Political Science Association Conference in March at which he will present a paper. His paper will be entitled, "What is Bureaucratic Accountability and How Can We Measure It?" It will focus on the problem of ensuring that bureaucratic agencies can be held to explain what they are doing and be forced, potentially, to change their actions if the public so wills it.

Dr. Connie White, assistant professor of English, received a $500 grant to defray the transportation costs for her recent trip to the Western Literature Association. She presented a paper, chaired a session and organized the second annual national syllabus exchange. The Western Literature Association requested that Dr. White continue the exchange for several more years, eventually resulting in a book on the teaching of western American literature.

The Salisbury State College Foundation Inc. is a voluntary organization of community leaders whose mission is to foster educational, charitable and scientific projects. For more information, call ext. 6175.

SSC Alum Receives Presidential Award

George M. Radcliff, a science teacher at Mace's Lane Middle School in Cambridge, is one of two teachers in the state to win the 1986 Presidential Award for excellence in Mathematics and Science Teaching. He was recently honored, along with Sharon Witt of Anne Arundel County, by the State Board of Education for the honor.

"I am delighted to receive the honor," said Radcliff, who earned a master's degree in Education in 1977 from Salisbury State College. "Part of my reaction is to be honored with the personal award, but another reaction is to share the honor with the Dorchester County science teachers. I feel the honor is a reflection of the county science teachers as a whole."

Radcliff, who teaches sixth and seventh grade science, is the president of the Maryland Outdoor Environment and Education Association and is also involved in the Maryland Association of Science.

"I view Salisbury State College as an important part of my educational background," said Radcliff, who uses the outdoors of Dorchester County heavily in his teaching methods.

Radcliff and his wife Jackie have three boys and they live in Cambridge.

Athlete Lecture

Deane Deshon, associate professor of Health and Physical Education and head baseball coach at the College, was the speaker at the November 18 meeting of the Lower Sussex Little League Awards Night in Selbyville, DE.

Deshon addressed some 500 in the audience on the subject, "The Athlete as a Special Person."

Listening

"Advanced Listening Skills" was the topic of Terry Martin's presentation to the Coastal Hospice on Thursday, November 20. Martin is a counselor in the Counseling Center at the College and is also a member of the Board of Directors of the Coastal Hospice.

Walsh Lectures In Toronto

The Philosophy Department's George Walsh was invited recently to deliver lectures in Toronto under the auspices of the Portland Institute.

The lectures, titled Rousseau and the Collectivist Concept of Freedom, were intended to show the vital importance of Rousseau's thought in preventing the "Anglo-Saxon" concept of political freedom, in its Lockean form, from taking root on the continent of Europe.

It was also Dr. Walsh's thesis that the new concept of freedom introduced by Rousseau is identical with the "German" concept of freedom, lying at the base of the later totalitarian movements of both the right and the left.

1986 Faculty Seminar Series

December 9, noon - 1 in the Chesapeake Room, Dr. Melvin Ang will present "A Slide Presentation of the 1986 China Trip."

History Club Christmas Dinner

The History Club Christmas Dinner is Friday 12 December, from 7-8 p.m. Reception is in the Teackle Mansion with 8 p.m. dinner at the Washington Hotel, Princess Anne. Cost is $10 per person. Money payable in the History Office HH 380 by Monday, December 8.

Shuttle Bus Schedule

As a convenience to Salisbury State students the College institutes a shuttle bus run from selected locations around Salisbury beginning Friday, November 7. The bus follows the accompanying schedule, Monday through Friday, providing transportation from each of the satellite parking locations to the campus every hour between 7:45 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. daily. The accompanying city map indicates the points of pick up and drop off at each location. For additional information concerning exact locations of pick-up/drop-off points, please contact the College Motor Pool at 543-6210 or consult the large city map depicting locations that is now posted by the College Center bulletin boards. Shuttle bus schedules are also available at the College Center information desk.

First Greek/American Dance on Eastern Shore

Enjoy a night in an Athenian atmosphere with Zorba the Greek, Bouzouki music, singers and a good time. Two top bands from Baltimore, the Greek Band, Helenics and the American Band, Rio, perform continuous music from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Saturday, December 6, at the Sheraton Ballroom in Ocean City.

This is a fundraiser for the new St. George Greek Orthodox Church in Ocean City. Open bar and deluxe breakfast are included in the price of $30.00 per person.

Dance tickets can be purchased before the dance from Barbara Keene, Physical Education and Athletic Department, ext 6351. No tickets will be sold at the door. There is also a raffle on $10,000 cash (only 2,000 tickets sold) at $10 per raffle ticket. The cash will be raffled off the night of the dance.

Personal Safety Tips

The campus and neighboring streets are not immune from activities frequently associated with metropolitan areas or larger, urban colleges. Personal safety tips, prepared by the Department of Public Safety, may lessen the likelihood of becoming a victim.

1. Do not walk or jog alone after dark.
 2. Walk in well-lit areas and stay near the curb, away from alleys, entry ways and bushes where someone could be hiding.
 3. Avoid short cuts. Walk where there are other people present.
 4. Do not hitchhike or accept rides from strangers. If a driver asks you for directions, stay far enough away so that you can not be pulled into the car. Do not pick up strangers.
 5. If you are being followed when walking, change directions, cross the street and vary your speed. Go to a well-lit area or a place where there are other people. If followed by someone in a car, turn and walk in the other direction. Record a license number.
 6. Park your car in a well-lit area and lock the door.
 7. Keep doors locked at all times. Don't unlock the door for strangers. Keep first floor windows locked.
 8. If you need an escort to or from your car or residence hall, call the Department of Public Safety, 543-6222.
 9. Locate someone in your class who is going in the same direction after class ends.
 10. Report any suspicious activity or crimes to the Public Safety Office, ext. 6222.
- You are your own best protection. For more information on personal safety, contact the Department of Public Safety, located in Holloway Hall room 22, ext. 6222.

Beta Beta Beta

Ten students will be inducted into the Lambda Psi Chapter of Beta Beta Beta, the National Biological Honor Society, at 5 p.m. on Sunday, December 7, in Caruthers Hall Auditorium.

To qualify for membership in the society, the Biology major must complete 15 hours of Biology credit with a minimum grade point average of 3.0 in his major and be in good standing.

The induction ceremony will be followed by a dessert buffet for inductees and their families and guests. Membership in the local Lambda Psi Chapter grows to 30.

Health Careers Day

On Friday, November 21, the Career Planning and Placement Office and the Nursing Department held their annual Health Careers Day.

There were 34 hospitals, military and health care agencies that traveled to the PGH Hall Education Center to inform health care students about opportunities for employment.

Approximately 49 students attended.

Montreal Ski Trip

This year's Outdoor Club Winter Term trip is to Montreal for cross-country and downhill skiing.

Cross-country skiing, which may be taken as a one credit course (PHEC 490.201), is in the vicinity of Shawbridge, Quebec, on some 50 miles of wooded trails maintained by the McGill (University) Outing Club. Downhill skiing is available at some of the finest slopes in the Laurentians, including St. Sauveur, Mont Ste. Anne and Mont Tremblant. Prior experience is recommended for downhill skiers. The trip also includes sightseeing in old Montreal and an optional side trip to the city of Quebec.

The trip lasts 11 days with departure on January 19 and return to SSC on January 29. Cost including lodging, transportation, and breakfast and dinner while at the McGill Outing Club house is $140.00. The side trip to Quebec costs about $17.00 extra. Those who have been attending Outdoor Club activities receive a reduced rate and are granted priority in sign up.

The $140.00 does not include rental fees for cross-country skis ($3.00 Canadian per day) or lift tickets for downhill skiers (about $20.00 Canadian per day or lower with group rates). Downhill skis may be rented in Salisbury or by day at the slopes in Canada.

A place on the trip may be guaranteed by giving a non-refundable deposit of $50.00 to club treasurer, Cathy Lynch (548-9472). A required meeting for those going on the Montreal Ski Trip will be at 6:30 p.m. on Thursday, December 1, in Tawes 116. Sign up is still possible then.

Trends in Contemporary Art Exhibit at Gallery

"Seeing/Thinking/Feeling: Drawings by Maryland Artists," an exhibition of 77 drawings by 41 Maryland artists, is in Blackwell Gallery through December 14. The exhibition, which surveys recent trends in contemporary art, was curated by Lee Fleming, art critic and Washington correspondent for ARTnews magazine, and is being circulated state-wide by Maryland Art Place, an artists' cooperative gallery in Baltimore. Its showings at Salisbury State are made possible, in part, by a grant from the Maryland State Arts Council.

Works in the exhibition range in style from realism to abstraction and are executed in many different media, including pencil, charcoal, conte crayon, ink, pastel and mixed media. They were selected, according to Fleming, "to show the enormous range of existing approaches to the act of seeing, thinking and feeling that results in art." Although every work of art incorporates all three processes, Fleming writes in the show's catalogue, she classified the works in the exhibition according to which process seemed to be dominant.

The "seeing" section of the exhibition, for example, includes those artists who give us "glimpse of their works in a representational way, so that we immediately see the forms of the reality they are giving back to us." The "thinking" section includes those artists who consciously exploit "the basic tenets of drawing—line, shadow, the illusions of volume and perspective," or who show "reactions to the world around us, reassessing or commenting on history, society and human values." The "feeling" category includes drawings chosen for "their manifest concern with emotional expression, either in the subject matter or execution."

According to Ursula Ehrhardt, the College Gallery's director, the exhibition also documents the emergence of drawing as a major art medium.

Ehrhardt said that in the past drawings were relatively small in size and were made by artists primarily for their own use, either as preparatory studies for other works or as a way of exploring and preserving their ideas. "Today's drawings," Ehrhardt said, "are often executed as finished works of art and rival paintings in their size and complexity of techniques." Many of the drawings in the exhibition are two feet or more in length with the largest work measured 42" by 78".

The College Gallery is located on the second floor of Blackwell Library and is open Monday and Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., Tuesday and Thursday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., and Saturday and Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m. Admission is free. Guided group tours of the exhibition, conducted by the Gallery's director, Ursula Ehrhardt, may be arranged by calling the Gallery at ext. 6271.

Grants Available for Arts Activities

The Salisbury Wicomico Arts Council has announced a December 5 deadline for grant applications for arts activities. Any arts activity taking place between January 1, 1987 - June 30, 1987 is eligible for funding consideration.

To be considered, an organization must show that the activity is in the field of the arts, of community benefit, be fiscally sound and have the potential for self-support in the future. The applicant organization must be a not-for-profit organization.

A packet of information including application

forms is available now at the Salisbury Wicomico Arts Council, located in the Wicomico Youth & Civic Center, or by calling 543-ARTS. The Salisbury Wicomico Arts Council, a not-for-profit organization that supports all the arts in Salisbury and Wicomico County, awards these cash grants in partnership with the Maryland State Arts Council in support of performances, exhibits and other arts-related activities sponsored by local organizations.

For more information on the grant deadline call the Arts Council at 543-ARTS.

Sea Gulls Advance to NCAA Division III Semi-Finals

For the second time in the College's history, the football team is headed for the NCAA Division III semi-finals. The Sea Gulls, 12-0 on the year, will travel to Ithaca on Saturday, December 6. Kickoff is scheduled for noon.

The Gulls defeated Susquehanna 31-17 on the road last Saturday, staging a second half comeback for the victory. SSC trailed 17-14 at the half, but rallied with 17 unanswered points in the second half. Halfback Mike Coppa rushed for 129 yards and scored three touchdowns to lead the Gull attack. Quarterback Kevin White had his best day ever, completing 15 of 20 passes for 237 yards and two touchdowns. The SSC secondary also intercepted four Susquehanna passes in the second half and shut down the Crusaders.

Ithaca, meanwhile, defeated Montclair State 29-15 as Shawn Almeida ran for 223 yards. The Ithaca defense, like SSC's defense, held Montclair scoreless in the second half.

The Bombers, 10-0 on the year, are ranked second in the nation (SSC is fifth) and first in the Lambert Poll (SSC is second).

Coming off an 11-2 1985 season in which it finished second in the NCAA Division III championship, Ithaca is lead by quarterback Mike Middaugh, who threw 10 touchdown passes while completing 60 of 125 during the regular season. The rushing offense is lead by Shawn Huth and Almeida, who had 417 and 388 yards respectively as the Bombers completed its fifth undefeated season.

George Mack set a school record catching 45 balls for 806 yards and 11 touchdowns. Mack and Middaugh teamed for the winning score against Montclair State on Saturday.

Defensively, Ithaca enjoyed an outstanding season as the Bombers shut out one opponent and held four others to a touchdown or less. Defensive tackle Bob Mason has 12 sacks and 92 tackles during the year—both team highs. Cornerback Niall Rosenzweig leads the way with five interceptions.

No other Division III school has made more appearances in the NCAA playoffs than Ithaca (seven) and no other team has gone to the Amos Alonzo Stagg Bowl more (five teams).

Salisbury State is now 4-2 in playoff action. The Gulls reached the semi-finals in 1983 but lost to Union 23-21 in Salisbury. SSC has won 12 straight games—a school record.

All-American candidate Tom Kress leads an SSC defense that set a school record for fewest points allowed in a season (10.2). Kress has 134 tackles and six sacks this year.

Salisbury State and Ithaca have never met before. The winner of the game will play the winner of the Augustana-Concordia game on Saturday, December 13 in the Amos Alonzo Stagg Bowl for the Division III championship in Phenix City, AL.

Sea Gull Basketball—Pointing to Another Banner Year

The 1986-87 men's basketball team returns eight lettermen—four of whom were starters last year.

Coming off the fifth consecutive winning season, the Sea Gull prospectus seems to point to another banner year. Head Coach Ward Lambert, in his 17th year as the Gull mentor, and assistant coach Dan King, who is in his first year at SSC, are optimistic about the season. The smiles on the Gull coaching staff come from the front line depth and the young (no seniors) but veteran ball players.

Ron Pritchett, a 6-5 junior from Millsboro, DE, (22.7 ppg and 9.8 rpg last year); Dave Jordan, a 6-6 junior from Wilmington, DE, (8.0, 4.0); Glenn Price, a 6-5 junior from Columbia, (2.7, 1.7); Matt Crow, a 6-2 sophomore from Baltimore; and John Gaddis, a 6-3 sophomore from Pocomoke City; return up front from last year's 14-12 squad. Transfers Darryl Hutt, 6-6, a junior from Hagerstown Junior College, Steve Smith, 6-7, a sophomore from Utica; and Dean Mitchell, 6-7, a sophomore from Wesley, join 6-6 freshman Doug McGee from Millsboro, DE, to help anchor the strong forward and center positions for the Gulls.

Reggie Alexander, a 6-4 junior from Edgewood (14.0, 6.2); Rick Sheets, a 6-0 junior from Claymont, DE, (6.4 and 120 assists); and Ronnie Siers, 6-0, a sophomore from Louisville, KY (3.7 ppg); provide the experience in the backcourt. Three freshmen—6-1 Danny Martin from Frederick; a 5-11 Russell Springmann from Silver Spring; and 6-0 Peter Luciano from Forked River, NJ will be pressing for playing time at the guard positions. In addition, transfer Kevin Purnell, 6-1, from Delaware State, will join the team in January and should add quickness and stability to this position.

Assistant Dan King (Boston University '79) will be handling the team defense in his first year at SSC. This season looks more and more like a return to the pressing defense that Salisbury had been known for in the 1970s and early 80s. King is an advocate of that style of play which should reap dividends for the abilities of the 1986-87 "running Gulls."

The schedule is similar to last season's predominately tough Division III clashes. Two newcomers, however, Ferrum and New England College, will visit the Maggs Activity Center. The Gulls opened the season on Friday, November 21, in the Upsala Tip-off Tournament—a very pivotal match-up of strong independent South-Atlantic teams. (The Gulls dropped two games at the tournament.) This is followed by a game with traditional rival UMES, and then the annual Gull Classic at SSC. Two of the top Eastern teams, Washington College and Trenton State, will visit the Gulls in January. February winds up with the ESAC Conference playoffs.

Veteran Influence Provides Key To Women's Basketball Team in 1986

The 1986-87 women's basketball team returns nine lettermen—three of whom were starters last season.

Coming off a 14-11 season last year, head coach Gail Gladding and assistant coach Dennis Bradford have an excellent group of returning veterans along with some outstanding freshmen to build on this season.

Dawn Webb, 5-11, a sophomore from Mansfield, NJ (10.3 ppg and 10.6 rebounds); Myra Sturgis, 5-9, a junior from Stockton, (14.0, 9.1); Kim Wheatley, 5-10, a junior from Salisbury, (4.6, 4.5); Phyllis Coleman, 5-10, a sophomore from Snowhill, (1.4, 2.2); and Kim Hatlee, 5-8, a sophomore from Ocean City, (2.4, 1.9); return up front for Gladding, who is entering her second year as head coach of the Gulls. Three newcomers this year—Joan Harris, 5-8, a sophomore from Delmar, DE; Christen Hawtin, 5-9, a sophomore from Havre de Grace; and Kim Whitehead, 5-10, a freshman from Arbutus—will have a big impact on the season in the frontcourt.

At the guard positions, Kim Fiedler, a 5-6 senior from Catonsville, (15.4, 4.5), who is expected to break the all-time scoring record during the season and has 1,059 career points in three years, is returning for her final season. Also returning is Kathy DeGrazia, 5-6, a senior from Turnersville, NJ, (6.0, 4.3); Gina Pirigyi, 5-7, a sophomore from Leetonia, OH, (1.6, 1.3); and Terry Candeloro, 5-7, a junior from Claymont, DE, (4.2, 1.5). Although the Gulls will be without point guard Diana DeJesus, who is the all-time leading assists player for SSC, three newcomers will play an important role in this year's team.

Sandy Jankevicius, 5-7, a freshman from Westminster; Jamey Griswold, 5-9, a junior from Bryn Mawr, PA; and Diane Bickford, 5-6, a freshman from Frederick, will see action in the backcourt.

The schedule for the 1986-87 women's basketball team poses a challenge. SSC opened the season at home on Saturday, November 22, against York College. (The Gulls won 80-53.) The Gull Classic, scheduled for December 12-13, features three visiting teams—Spring Garden, Marymount and Lincoln. SSC has home contests in January against St. Andrews, Shepherd and Virginia Wesleyan and also hosts Mary Washington and Frostburg State in February. The Eastern States Athletic Conference championship is February 20-21.

With the steady influence of veterans Fiedler, Webb, Sturgis and DeGrazia, and the outstanding freshmen entering the program, the SSC women's basketball team can look for good things to happen in the 1986-87 season.

VOL. XIII NO. 15

Alabama Bound!

The Sea Gull football team travels to Phenix City, AL, on Saturday, December 13, to play Augustana College of Rock Island, IL, for the NCAA Division III national championship in the Amos Alonzo Stagg Bowl.

The Gulls, 13-0 this season, are making their first visit to the finals. Augustana's Vikings, 11-0-1, have won the title for three straight years. The Vikings have gone 49 straight games without a defeat. Only a 1986 season-opening 0-0 tie to Elmhurst prevented Augustana from having 49 straight wins.

Like SSC, Augustana runs the Wing-T offense. However, its attack is much more ground oriented. Augustana averages 279.4 yards rushing per game and just 52.3 yards passing. Brad Price, a 5-5, 160 lb. running back, leads the Vikings with 1,049 yards this season while wing backs Bob Guerrieri and Dennis Franks have 542 and 510 yards respectively.

Augustana quarterback Greg Wallace has completed 23 of 60 passes during the year for 491 yards and four TD's. His favorite target is Eric Welgat who caught 17 passes for 358 yards and four TD's.

Defensively, Augustana is the nation's best. The Vikings have yielded just 0.7 yards per carry this season (SSC averages 5.4 yards per carry) and have given up just two rushing touchdowns all season (SSC has 48). The outstanding defense is led by All-American Lynn Thomsen, who started all 49 games which Augustana won. The secondary has picked off 38 passes during the year and is led by Mike Gray, who has 12 interceptions.

Augustana defeated Concordia 41-7 last week to earn the right to play for the national championship.

Salisbury State defeated Ithaca 44-40 in an offensive shootout that featured halfback Mike Coppa.

Coppa, a 5-10, 195 lb. junior who runs the 40 in 4.5 seconds, rushed for a NCAA Division III playoff record 271 yards and six touchdowns. He has rushed 1,764 yards in 12 games (147 yards per game) this season and has helped SSC establish the nation's second leading ground attack with 311 yards per game.

SSC quarterback Kevin White is coming off his best two games ever with 237 yards passing against Susquehanna and 243 yards against Ithaca. White completed a school mark 21 passes in 35 attempts in the 44-40 win last Saturday.

Kickoff is scheduled for 1 p.m. and tickets are available at the SSC Athletic Office. For more information, please call ext. 6340.

Kress Named All-American

The American Football Coaches Association (AFCA) today named Tom Kress of SSC to the Kodak All-American Team for College Division II.

The College Division II squad represents the best from NCAA Division III and NAIA Division II colleges and universities.

"No one is more deserving of the honor than Tom Kress," said SSC head coach Mike McGlinchey. "He is one of the best defensive players ever to play at Salisbury State College."

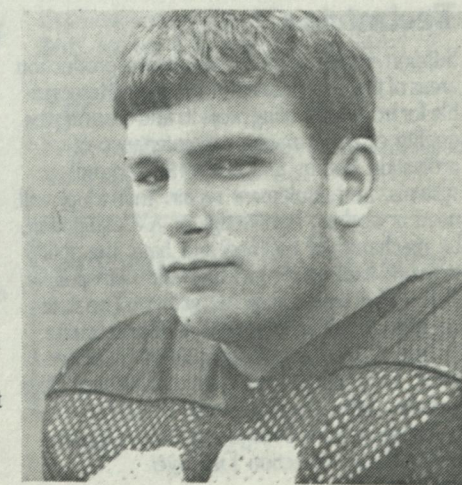

Kress, a 6-3, 230 lb. defensive end from Herndon, VA, transferred from East Carolina University three years ago. Since then, he has put some impressive numbers beside his name.

Kress led the 1986 team—the first team ever at SSC to go through the regular season undefeated and untied with a 10-0 mark—in tackles with 101. He also led the team for the third straight year in sacks with four. Kress has an SSC record of 28 sacks in his career.

"Tom is a very intelligent player," said McGlinchey, whose team is 13-0 and playing Augustana in the Division III national championship on Saturday. "He is always in the right place at the right time and has good speed and great vision. His outstanding leadership (Kress is a tri-captain for the 1986 team) has helped SSC achieve its greatest defensive season ever (10.2 points per game allowed—an SSC record)."

Kress is a pre-law student with an excellent grade point average. A scholar-athlete from Oakton High School, he is the son of Tom Kress, Sr.

All-American Tom Kress

Nurses Scholarships

Scholarship money is available for undergraduate pre-Nursing and Nursing students currently enrolled in state approved schools of Nursing. Criteria for selection include academic achievement, financial need, involvement in Nursing student organizations and community activities related to health care.

Details are available through the College of Nursing and Health Sciences, ext. 6420.

Test Anxiety Program

The systematic management of test taking anxiety is being taught to students by the staff at Counseling Services.

Test performance anxiety is a common experience and will have a negative impact on the scores for many students. An effective, systematic training program is available at Counseling Services which teaches students new stress coping skills for the management of extraordinary stress which impedes clear thinking. While in no way a substitute for adequate preparation, this systematic approach, which includes daily practice of deep muscle relaxation and mental rehearsal, prepares students for the tension and anxiety of the test. When stress is reduced, clear thinking and recall are enhanced.

Details regarding this stress management program are available. Contact the Counseling Services Office.

Counseling Services

Counseling Services conducts walk-in hours from 1 - 3 p.m. Monday through Thursday. Anyone who wishes to see a counselor, and has not seen one before, is welcome between those hours.

Minority Recruitment Directory

The Affirmative Action Office has received a copy of the CIC Directory of Minority Ph.D. Candidates and Recipients, which is published annually in an effort to increase the professional opportunities of minority graduate students and to aid colleges and other potential employers in the recruitment of highly educated underrepresented minorities. The CIC (Committee on Institutional Cooperation) is a consortium of the Big Ten Universities and the University of Chicago. The directory provides names, addresses, ethnic background, degree status, field and dissertation title of minority students who have agreed to have this information published. Please contact the Affirmative Action Office, ext. 6025, to see a copy.

Audio Visual Technician

Responsible for troubleshooting projects and ensuring the quality of performances, maintenance of projection booths and auditorium sound systems, and equipment repair. Individual will need a working knowledge of AV equipment, be mechanically inclined and have the ability to work well under pressure and with people. This is a full time contractual position (no state benefits). Starting date is Feb. 2. Send resume by Dec. 15 to Visual Communications Supervisor, Communications Center, Salisbury State College, Salisbury, Maryland 21801.

Salisbury State College is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer.

Norman Mailer Lecture

Dr. Joseph Wenke will lecture on "Norman Mailer and the Politics of the American Dream" on Thursday, December 11, at 7:30 p.m. in Holloway Hall room 106 (the Art Wing) at Salisbury State College.

Admission is free and the public is invited.

Dr. Wenke's career has bridged both scholarly research and corporate communication. A corporate communication specialist for Avnet Inc., a multi-national electronics corporation in New York, he writes speeches for the multinational's executive officers, helps create reports, works with Avnet's investor relations, and has written A History of the Microprocessor.

He earned a Ph.D. in English from the University of Connecticut and his book, Mailer's America, will be published this spring by University Press of New England. He also has published articles on Bob Dylan, Mailer and their relation to the "Beat Generation" for the Dictionary of Literary Biography.

"His upcoming book will have the most complete discussion of Mailer's work to date," according to his brother, Dr. John Wenke, on the English Department faculty at SSC. It includes analyses of Mailer's most recent novels, American Dream and Tough Guys Don't Dance.

It took two years to complete Mailer's America, part of which was written standing up during a two-hour round trip daily commute to and from New York on the Long Island Rail Road.

Wenke's lecture is co-sponsored by the SSC English Department's Honor's Program and the College Center. A reception will follow in the SSC Honors House on College Ave.

Salisbury Symphony To Perform

The Salisbury Symphony Orchestra presents its first performance of the 1986-87 season on Friday, December 12, at 8 p.m. in Holloway Hall Auditorium.

The program will include works by Beethoven, Johann Strauss, Sibelius and Telemann. Also featured will be Janice Price, soprano, who will sing selections from German lied and the aria, "Jewel Song," from the opera, Faust, by Gounod.

The Salisbury Symphony Orchestra originated about a year ago following a meeting of a small group of local enthusiasts of classical music, called by Dr. Thomas Elliot, chairman of the Music Department.

It is believed to be the first time that a musical organization of this scope has been organized on the Eastern Shore and to represent a significant new resource for the cultural enrichment of the community.

Designated as the Salisbury Symphony Orchestra, the new organization consists of some 50 members, both professional and amateur, who reside in Salisbury and various other communities on the Eastern Shore and lower Delaware. Dr. Elliot, who has a broad background of music teaching and orchestra conducting, is music director and has indicated that a number of the orchestra's members have previous playing experience with other symphonies.

Most members, however, are without such experience but have had extensive private training. The director continues to welcome inquiries from area residents interested in becoming future members of the orchestra. Ages of present members range from the early teens to the senior citizen level.

The orchestra has its own board of directors and is now fully incorporated as an organization existing exclusively for charitable and educational purposes. Officers of the board are: Joseph S. Bachman, chairman; David B. Ganoe, vice chairman; Valerie Dillehey, secretary; and Lester W. Simpson, treasurer. Additional board members are Daniel J. Savoy, A. Gillis Allen II, W. Jerome Sterling III, Audrey Stewart, Dr. Roger A. Jackson and Robin R. Cockey. The board anticipates future expansion and those interested are invited to inquire.

Tickets are $5 each and are available in advance at Phillips Men's Shop in the Salisbury Mall, Dean Witter on East Main Street, the Salisbury Wicomico Arts Council at the Civic Center, and the Student Center Information Office.

Messiah Sing-Along

A "Messiah Sing-Along," sponsored by the College Concert Choir, will be presented on Thursday, December 11, from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. in Holloway Hall. The Christmas portion of George Frederic Handel's oratorio, "The Messiah," will be sung in its entirety, with arias performed by students from the studio of Mrs. Norma Heyde.

Messiah sing-alongs take place in communities throughout the United States, giving people who love to sing, but who may not belong to a church, or have any other access to choral music, a chance to perform the great work. The atmosphere in a sing-along is very informal; the audience is the chorus and there should be no "listening audience" at all.

The idea is the brainchild of Dr. Nancy Cooper, director of the Concert Choir. She is encouraging everyone who loves to sing to come and take part. "We really would like this to be a community affair," she said. "A sing-along can be a wonderful experience; there is no performance pressure—just singing for the joy of it."

The sing-along is free and open to the public. SSC students and faculty are especially invited to attend. There will be a limited number of vocal scores available for use at the door; all singers who own their own scores are urged to bring them along.

SSC Holds High School Mathematics Contest

Salisbury State recently held its annual high school mathematics contest. All Eastern Shore schools were invited to participate, and three juniors or seniors were asked from each school. Each received a certificate of participation. Students with the highest scores were awarded a special gift and their schools received plaques indicating their achievement. Those participating were: Mark Badros, Parkside, first place; Bryan C. Zeigler, J.M. Bennett, second-place; and Tammy Graff, Wicomico Senior High, third-place. Badros's name and his school's name were engraved on a permanent plaque in the Mathematical Sciences Department.

The test consisted of two parts, each 45 minutes long. After the test, there was a mathematical talk by Dr. E. Lee May Jr. A luncheon and awards presentation followed in the Maryland Room.

Beta Beta Beta Inductees

Ten Salisbury State College students, including several from Delmarva, were inducted into the Lambda Psi Chapter of Beta Beta Beta, the national Biological honor society, on December 7.

To qualify for membership in the society, the Biology major must complete 15 hours of Biology credit with a minimum grade point average of 3.0 in his major and be in good standing.

The induction ceremony will be followed by a dessert buffet for inductees and their families and guests. Membership in the local Lambda Psi Chapter grows to 30.

FOUNDATION GRANTS

Deadline for applications for Salisbury State College Foundation grants has been extended to January 15, 1987.

ROBERT FROST'S "Poems of Alienation"

Approaching a poem like a mini-drama or a scene from a play, 15 SSC students and faculty are exploring the worlds and characters Robert Frost created in some of his most famous poetry in a program titled, "Frost's Poems of Alienation."

This chamber theatre production plays on Friday, December 12, at 7:30 p.m. at Caruthers Hall Auditorium.

"The mass of men lead lives of quiet desperation" Henry David Thoreau wrote, and Frost recreates such lives in just a few lines. Included in the evening are "Mending Wall," "Home Burial" and "Death of the Hired Man."

Directed by Dr. Robert Wesley of the Communication Arts Department, cast members include Paul Pfeiffer, Jeff Patterson, Rebecca Jaap, Andrew Stazi, Richard Smith, Stacy Anne Snider, Patt Snyder, Dale Whitel, Candace Swift, James Larson, Ruth Tribbitt, Stacey Klipp, Michael McGee and Laura Martin. Lighting is by Tom Godwin.

Admission to the one-hour program is free to students, faculty and staff. No reservations are necessary.

Wesley Workshops

Dr. Robert Wesley, Communication Arts professor, recently conducted workshops in how men and women both listen and evaluate what they hear differently.

The workshops were held on campus for the Institute of Retired Persons and in Cambridge for the Maryland Association of Education Office Personnel. Approximately 110 people attended the two workshops.

Dr. Wesley is part of the College Speaker's Bureau. The bureau offers area organizations several speakers discussing a variety of subjects. The service is free.

Any civic, service or educational organization desiring a speaker should contact the SSC Public Relations Office at (301) 543-6030.

Career Planning and Placement Workshops

GRADUATE SCHOOLS - This workshop is designed to help students learn the ins-and-outs of the graduate school maze. Information is provided on financial aid, picking a program, locating a school, required tests and study guide information.

ALL WORKSHOPS REQUIRE SIGN-UPS. CONTACT CAREER PLANNING AND PLACEMENT OFFICE, HH 273, OR CALL EXT. 6075.

Schiller Helps Launch Public Broadcasting Radio Station

Pamela Schiller has joined the staff of WSCL-89.5 FM to help launch the developing public broadcasting station based on the campus. Mark Handley, general manager of WSCL-FM, noted that, as the new office manager of the station, Mrs. Schiller comes with many years of experience in administration and office management. Formerly she has served as executive director of the Coastal Board of Realtors, as office manager of Peninsula Food Equipment, Inc., and as chief medical librarian of Peninsula General Hospital Medical Center.

Mrs. Schiller has a B.A. degree in Music Education and has attended Peabody Conservatory in Baltimore and The Turtle Bay Conservatory of Music in New York City. Since returning to Salisbury in 1968 she has worked to bring fine music to this area. She was a charter member and past president of the Eastern Shore Opera Society and served on the artistic selection committee of the Community Concert Series.

While attending college in Washington, D.C. and living in New York City for five years, Mrs. Schiller enjoyed the cultural music stations available in the metropolitan areas. She believes that airing a similar type of programming will be a milestone in broadcasting in this region because it will provide easy daily access to classical music and quality programming. She explained, "The quality of life on the Eastern Shore has so much to offer. A public radio station will broaden this appeal by adding another choice for those who live on the Delmarva Peninsula, and for those who come to visit the area."

Three years ago Mrs. Schiller and her husband, Joe, and their two daughters, Farah and Leya, moved to Nanticoke to enjoy the natural beauty of the Tangier Sound. The Schiller family lived in Salisbury for the previous 15 years.

Mrs. Schiller may be reached at the new radio station, phone 543-6895.

Kimmel Drawings Selected

Dr. Kent N. Kimmel, professor of Art recently had three drawings selected by a panel of three jurors for an exhibition entitled "57 Years of Art, Miami University: An Alumni Exhibition."

The Art Department, School of Fine Arts at Miami (OH) University from which Dr. Kimmel graduated with a Bachelor of Fine Arts in 1964 presented this first juried alumni exhibition in its Art Museum.

The museum director, David Berreth, wrote of the exhibit, "The Miami University Art Museum is pleased to have the opportunity to exhibit the finest current work of alumni of the Department of Art. While the Art Museum itself is less than eight years old, the department has been holding aloft the banner of the visual arts on campus for over 50 years, a period that spans several generations of artistic styles. Those various approaches, from the social realism of the American scene in the '30s to the allegorical realism and pure abstraction of today, encompass work in all media."

"The final selection of 180 works by 95 artists," continued Berreth, "is a group that speaks well for the teaching skills of current and former faculty, and for the talent and loyalty of the artists who took the time to enter their work and get it to us for exhibition."

Children's Art Workshops

"Drawing in the Gallery," an art workshop for children in the fifth through eighth grades, will take place at the College Gallery on Saturday, December 13, from 10 to 11:30 a.m.

Sponsored by the College Gallery in conjunction with its current exhibition, "Seeing/Thinking/Feeling: Drawings by Maryland Artists," the workshop will be conducted by Page Hammond, a member of the Art Department with extensive experience in teaching drawing. Using as examples drawings in the exhibition, participants will discuss the various purposes or goals of drawing and will explore different ways of making drawings. "A drawing is not only a picture of something that you see, but may also represent an idea or a feeling," Hammond said. "There is no one correct way to make a drawing, but instead there are many ways, depending on the artist's purposes."

The workshop is free. Participants are encouraged to preregister by telephoning either the College Gallery at 543-6271 or the College Center at 543-NEWS to ensure that adequate supplies will be available. Participants will be using charcoal, chalk and pencil and are advised to bring a smock or wear old clothes. Parents are also welcome.

The exhibition is a survey of recent drawings by Maryland artists and will be on view through December 14. It was curated by Lee Fleming, art critic and Washington correspondent for ARTnews magazine, and is being circulated statewide by Maryland Art Place, an artists' cooperative gallery in Baltimore. Its showing and the workshop were both made possible, in part, by a grant from the Maryland State Arts Council.

The exhibition's title refers to the three components of the creative process. In curating the show, Fleming says she selected drawings that "demonstrate how seeing/thinking/feeling coexist and work together to create a strong final product." Works in the exhibition range in style from realism to abstraction and are executed in many different media, including pencil, charcoal, conte crayon, ink, pastel and mixed media.

The College Gallery is located on the second floor of Blackwell Library and is open Monday and Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., Tuesday and Thursday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., and Saturday and Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m. Guided group tours of the exhibition may be arranged by calling the Gallery at 543-6271.

Final Issue

This is the last issue of the Newsletter for the fall semester. It will resume publication on Thursday, February 5. The deadline for that issue is Monday, February 2, by noon.

Our thanks to all who have helped the Newsletter inform the College community of events and activities during the past four months. Our best wishes for a happy holiday and new year.

Winter Term Jobs

The work experience office is accepting applications for Winter Term and spring. Presently there are several positions open for the Winter Term paint crew.

Applications are also being accepted for '87 summer lifeguard positions on Friday, December 12, between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. in the Maintenance Building conference room. If interested, stop by, fill out an application and schedule an interview.

WSCL Fundraiser

WSCL-FM, the new public radio station coming to the Delmarva Peninsula, is beginning a major fundraising campaign. The station, which has received considerable support from the College, a large federal grant, and several important private contributions, still needs approximately $35,000 to get on the air by this coming summer.

The station is seeking the support of 70 people to donate $500. This exclusive group of donors will constitute the WSCL Founders Club. They become life members of the station and receive a lifetime subscription to the station's program guide.

To supplement this effort and to build a base of community support, the station is also offering advance regular membership for a contribution of $35 or more. Members receive a one-year subscription to the station's program guide. In addition, Frank Pilgrim, Chairman of the WSCL Board noted that "there may be tax advantages for a person making a contribution prior to December 31."

Norman Mailer Lecture

Dr. Joseph Wenke will lecture on "Norman Mailer and the Politics of the American Dream" on Thursday, December 11, at 7:30 p.m. in Holloway Hall room 106 (the Art Wing) at Salisbury State College.

Admission is free and the public is invited.

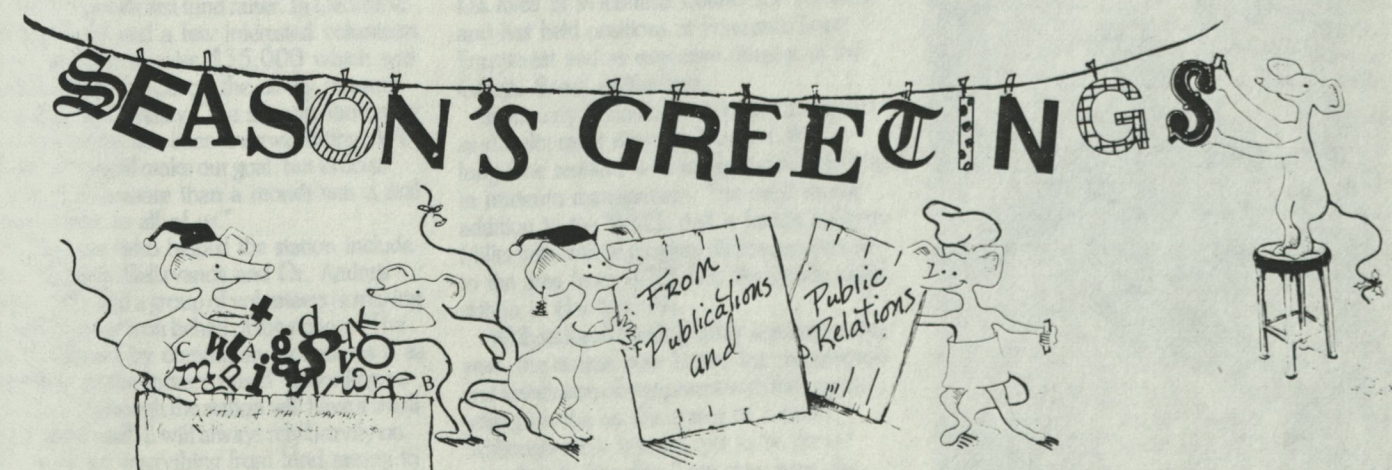

Dr. Wenke's career has bridged both scholarly research and corporate communication. A corporate communication specialist for Avnet Inc., a multi-national electronics corporation in New York, he writes speeches for the multinational's executive officers, helps create reports, works with Avnet's investor relations, and has written A History of the Microprocessor.

He earned a Ph.D. in English from the University of Connecticut and his book, Mailer's America, will be published this spring by University Press of New England. He also has published articles on Bob Dylan, Mailer and their relation to the "Beat Generation" for the Dictionary of Literary Biography.

"His upcoming book will have the most complete discussion of Mailer's work to date," according to his brother, Dr. John Wenke, on the English Department faculty at SSC. It includes analyses of Mailer's most recent novels, American Dream and Tough Guys Don't Dance.

It took two years to complete Mailer's America, part of which was written standing up during a two-hour round trip daily commute to and from New York on the Long Island Rail Road.

Wenke's lecture is co-sponsored by the SSC English Department's Honor's Program and the College Center. A reception will follow in the SSC Honors House on College Ave.

Mescon Named Dean of Perdue School of Business

The appointment of Timothy S. Mescon, Ph.D., as dean-elect of the Franklin P. Perdue School of Business was announced recently by Dr. Bellavance. Dr. Mescon currently serves as assistant dean for undergraduate studies at the University of Miami in Coral Gables, FL, and is an associate professor of policy and entrepreneurship in the University's School of Business Administration. He is scheduled to assume his duties at the Perdue School of Business in May.

Establishment of the Perdue School of Business was announced in February 1986 at which time Perdue, chairman of Perdue Farms Incorporated in Salisbury, made a gift of more than $2 million to the College. The new school offers programs leading to undergraduate and graduate business degrees and features a curriculum that emphasizes practical applications of business knowledge and skills.

Since the announcement, extensive interviews of candidates for the position of dean had been conducted. "In Dr. Mescon, we have found an individual with proven skills in teaching and administration at the college level, and with experience in line and staff management positions with industry," Dr. Bellavance said in introducing the new dean. "This combination fits perfectly with our goals for the new Perdue Business School, one of which is to develop a close relationship between business education and the application of business skills in the workplace."

Frank Perdue said, "The first major goal of the School of Business at Salisbury State was to find the right dean. In Timothy Mescon we have found such an individual. I enthusiastically welcome him to our community. I am sure his background and dynamism will make a major contribution to the growth of our school in the years ahead."

Dr. Mescon earned a Bachelor of Arts degree from Tulane University, an M.B.A. from Southern Methodist University with concentration in organizational behavior and administration, and his Ph.D. in strategic management from the University of Georgia. He began teaching at the University of Miami School of Business in 1982 and during his time there received the school's Alumni Award of Excellence in Teaching. Prior to this, he was an assistant professor in the College of Business at Arizona State University in Tempe. He also has been a guest lecturer at the University of Aston in Birmingham, England.

Dr. Mescon is the author of more than 70 articles and cases in academic and business journals, and is a contributing editor to Sky, the in-flight magazine of Delta Air Lines. His first full-length text, "Cases in Strategic Management: An Industry Perspective," will be published this year by Harper & Row. In addition to his prolific writing, he is a frequent speaker before industry and business groups on management-related topics.

Dr. Mescon is also active in many government, business and civic organizations. He is the recipient of the 1984 National Award for Excellence from the United States Small Business Administration, sits on the Commercial Panel of Arbitrators of the American Arbitration Association, is a board member of Panelume, Inc. and the Small Business Council of America. He recently completed a term as chair of the 1,600-member Entrepreneurship Division of the Academy of Management and currently is vice president of the United States Association for Small Business and Entrepreneurship.

WSCL Reaches $35,000 Goal

Mark Handley, general manager of WSCL, the public radio station based at the College, recently announced that the station has successfully completed its first fund raiser. In December a skeletal staff and a few interested volunteers began an effort to raise $35,000 which was needed to get WSCL on the air by summer. According to Handley, "The support shown by the community has been overwhelming. We felt sure we could make our goal, but to do so in only a little more than a month was a real morale boost to all of us."

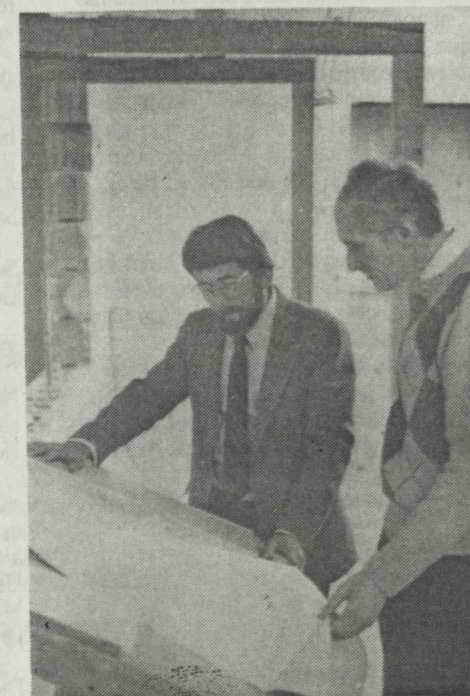

Individuals who helped the station include Mrs. Elizabeth Bellavance and Dr. Andrejs Strauss, who led a group of volunteers in making personal contacts on behalf of the station. "The support shown by community volunteers is as important as the money raised" according to Handley. "Although the station will have a small professional staff, it will always rely heavily on volunteers for everything from fund raising to on-air announcing and equipment operation."

The station has also just completed hiring of its professional staff. Mark Handley, general manager, and Bruce Blanchard, director of engineering, have been with the project since its inception 2 1/2 years ago. Pam Schiller was added as traffic and office manager. Mrs. Schiller has lived in Wicomico County for 18 years and has held positions at Peninsula Food Equipment and as executive director of the Coastal Board of Realtors.

In January Kenneth Basile joined the station as development director. Basile is also a long-time resident with many years experience in museum management. The most recent addition to the WSCL staff is Janine Kallgren-Miller who will be program director and comes to the area from WIFT-FM, the public radio station in Hershey, PA.

With staff and funding firmly in place for this year, the station now begins the construction and installation of equipment with the hope of getting on the air this spring or summer. "Although there is much yet to be done," according to Handley, "we now have the community support and a highly qualified staff. With that we have the basis for the finest public radio station that this country has to offer."

Ward Foundation Internships

The Ward Foundation and its Wildfowl Art Museum is offering an ongoing series of internships for college students with an interest in museum studies, publications, advertising or public relations.

Three students at SSC recently completed work study programs with the foundation.

Marion Billek, a Music/History major at the College, has been working on a five-year strategic plan for the museum. Ellen Hoopes has been working in museum historical research and gift shop inventory management. Laura Martin recently completed a semester working in the publications and public relations office of the Foundation, where she wrote articles, took photographs and assisted in the publication of the Foundation's magazine, Wildfowl Art Journal.

Pi Gamma Mu Inductees

Seven students at SSC have been initiated into Pi Gamma Mu, the international honor society in the Social Sciences.

New members are Wayne Ackerson, Waldorf; Susan Bettendorf, Westminster; Jim Daehnke, Ocean Pines; Jeff Davis, Fallston; David MacKendrick, St. Michaels; Stephanie Powers, Voorhes, NJ; and Robert Billek, Salisbury.

Pi Gamma Mu requires the junior or senior to complete at least 20 semester hours in specified areas of the Social Sciences with a B average or better and rank in the top third of his or her class.

Beth Jackson of Pocomoke City, local chapter president, presided over the initiation, which was followed by a speech by Dr. Nelson Butler, vice president of Academic Affairs, on the subject of excellence. Clara Small and Dr. G. Ray Thompson are advisers for the society.

Circulation Goes Online

During spring semester Blackwell Library will be putting circulation on the computer. To do this, barcodes will be affixed to everyone's I.D. and in all books checked out. Everyone checking out books should bring their I.D. with them. The library asks all for their understanding if service is just a bit slower. It will soon be better than ever.

Library Computer Searches Prices

The computer search service which provides a printout of information sources on a chosen topic, offered by Blackwell Library and available to all patrons, now costs a minimum of $1.00. The library pays the first $10.00 of the cost of each search for SSC faculty, administrators and students. This price change is effective February 9.

GMAT/GRE Tests

The GMAT test will be given on Saturday, March 21, at SSC. The deadline for registration is Tuesday, February 17.

The GRE test will be given on Saturday, April 11, at SSC. The deadline for registration is Friday, March 6. Booklets for both tests are available in the Graduate and Continuing Education Office, room 140, Holloway Hall.

CLEP Test

The CLEP test will be given on Wednesday, March 18. The deadline for registration is Wednesday, February 18. The CLEP Information Bulletin is available in the Admissions Office, HH 155.

Phi Alpha Theta Inductees

Nine SSC students were recently inducted into Phi Alpha Theta, the international History Honor Society. Students were taken through the seven ages of history as part of their initiation. The guest speaker for the evening was Dr. Florence Pritchard, assistant vice president for Academic Affairs at SSC. Following the ceremony, a coffee hour was held for the new initiates to meet society members and faculty.

Newly inducted were: Susan Bettendorf, Westminster; Robert Billek, Salisbury; Laura Campbell, Ocean City; Rita Kormann, Salisbury; Patricia Parkinson, Princess Anne; Richard Smith, Adelphi; Carol Willey, Vienna; Gail Samis, Parsonsburg; and Diane Nichols, Salisbury.

The advisers of Phi Alpha Theta are Clara Small and Dr. G. Ray Thompson of the History Department.

Psi Chi Inductees

Nine SSC students, six from Delmarva, were recently inducted into Psi Chi, the National Honor Society in Psychology.

The purpose of the society is to advance the study of Psychology and stimulate scholarship in that area. Inductees from the Eastern Shore are Karen Hanson, Berlin; Sandra Johnson, Hebron; Susan Maddox, Salisbury; Phyllis McNatt, Seaford; Charity Phillips, Laurel; and Janice Wienhold, Ocean City.

Inducted from the western shore are Deanne Dickens, Chesapeake Beach; Lauri Gross, Westminster; and Brian Rupple, Olney.

To be inducted into Psi Chi, students must have at least 33 semester hours at the College, 12 hours in Psychology and a B average.

Sanborn Fire Insurance Maps

Blackwell Library has acquired the microfilm edition of the Sanborn Fire Insurance maps for the city of Salisbury.

This series of maps was used from the 1880s until the 1950s by insurance companies to determine proper fire insurance premiums.

These maps not only illustrate in great detail the layout of streets, buildings and other features, but also usually tell what the buildings were used for and how they were constructed.

Viewed as a collection, the maps provide a clear picture of how the community developed over time.

Scouts To Serve Dinner

Boy Scout Troop No. 149 of Bethesda United Methodist Church holds its 22nd annual Boy Scout Spaghetti Dinner on Saturday, February 7, from 4 to 7 p.m. Tickets, which may be purchased from any United Methodist Men member or at the church office, are $3.00 each (including carryouts) and children under six eat for free.

The menu, which will be served by the scouts and leader Jack McGann, includes spaghetti with meatballs, coffee, salad, milk and dessert. Bethesda Church is located at the corner of W. William and N. Division Streets in Salisbury.

Beta, Beta, Beta Inductees

Ten SSC students, including several from Delmarva, were recently inducted into the Lambda Psi Chapter of Beta Beta Beta, the National Biological Honor Society.

To qualify for membership in the society, the Biology major must complete 15 hours of Biology credit with a minimum grade point average of 3.0 in his major and be in good standing.

The induction ceremony was followed by a dessert buffet for inductees and their families and guests. Membership in the local Lambda Psi Chapter grows to 30.

Talbot Historical Society Exhibits

Throughout the month of February, the Historical Society of Talbot County will present an exhibit in recognition of Black History Month. The exhibit features individuals who have contributed to American history, culture and society.

The Society will present an exhibit entitled, "Talbot Scenes - The Photographs of Charles C. Harris," during March.

The Historical Society's Museum and Museum Shop, located at 25 and 28 South Washington Street are open 10 to 4, Tuesday through Saturday; Sunday 1-4; closed Monday. For more information, you may call the Museum's office at (301) 822-0773.

International Film Series

The International Film Series is organized and operated by Jim Welsh, associate professor of English & Film, for the College Center.

All screenings in Devilbiss Science Hall Auditorium at 7 p.m.

Wednesday, February 18—Dim Sum: A Little Bit of Heart (Orion Classics, 1985)

With his first film, Chan Is Missing, Sino-American director Wayne Wang demonstrated that he could make a great film in San Francisco's Chinatown without a massive budget. His later independent feature Dim Sum focuses upon generational and cultural tensions in a Chinese-American family as an uncle, daughter and mother try to come to terms with each other and with their environment. Dim Sum was so well received that Wang is now considered a leading independent filmmaker. Cast: Laureen Chew, Kim Chew and Victor Wong. Dialogue in English and Cantonese with English subtitles.

'Blithe Spirit' Bus Trip

The Salisbury Wicomico Arts Council is now taking reservations for a bus trip to the Mechanic Theatre in Baltimore to see Richard Chamberlain in Noel Coward's hilarious comedy, "Blithe Spirit".

This production features an all-star cast, including this year's Oscar winning actress Geraldine Page, screen actress Blythe Danner and television, motion picture and stage actor Richard Chamberlain.

The bus trip is on Saturday, March 7. The bus departs Salisbury from the Civic Center parking lot at 9:30 a.m., makes a quick lunch stop at McDonald's, arrive in Baltimore in time for the matinee performance at 2 p.m., stops for dinner on the return trip (not included in the ticket price) and returns to Salisbury at 8 p.m. Tickets for the trip, which include the cost of the bus and the theatre tickets, are $42.00, $40.00 for SWAC members.

Tickets for the bus trip are limited; anyone interested in attending the show is urged to send in checks as soon as possible. Deadline for receipt of checks is February 21. Send check (make payable to SWAC) to the Salisbury Wicomico Arts Council, P.O. Box 884, Salisbury, MD 21801.

Baltimore Symphony Performs

The Eastern Shore Symphony Society sponsors a performance by the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra on Tuesday, February 17, at 8 p.m. in Holloway Hall Auditorium.

In the first half of the concert, the Symphony will play several works, Rossini's "Overture to La Scala di Seta", Faure's "Pavane" and J.S. Bach's "Suite No. 3." After intermission, the Salisbury Choral Society will join the Symphony in a performance of Vivaldi's "Gloria", a choral work for chorus, orchestra and two soloists, soprano and alto.

Edward Polochick, the choral director of the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra Chorus, will conduct both the Symphony Orchestra and the Choral Society in this concert.

Tickets are still available for the two concerts remaining for the 1986-87 season, February 17 and April 1. The adult ticket is $30.00 and the student ticket is $15.00. Any single admission tickets available for February 17 will go on sale 10 days before the concert. These prices are $17.50 for adults and $8.75 for students. For any ticket information, call Mrs. Becky Chalmers at 301-546-9607 or Mrs. Holly Schaefer at 301-546-3514.

Groutt Earns Ph.D.

Kathleen E. Groutt was awarded the Ph.D. degree in Health Education during the December graduation ceremonies at the University of Maryland College Park. Her research explored the motivations of health behavior in a dissertation entitled, "A Metahealth Analysis of the Lives of Gwendolyn Brooks, Dorothy Day, Ruth Gordon, Anais Nin and Georgia O'Keefe."

Groutt also holds a B.A. in Sociology from Seton Hall University, an M.A. in English from Villanova University and an M.A. in Psychology from Salisbury State. She is a member of the SSC Counseling staff. She and her husband, John, live in Salisbury.

Hedeen Discusses Book

Dr. Robert A. Hedeen, professor of Biological Sciences, presented the monthly program to the "Brown Bag Group" of the Friends of the Talbot County Library on February 3 at the library in Easton.

Dr. Hedeen reviewed his new book, The Oyster, the Life and Lore of the Glorious Bivalve, and described the research methods he employed while preparing the book.

Dr. Hedeen joined the faculty at Salisbury State in 1971, coming to the Eastern Shore from Chicago City College. His previous book, Naturalist on the Nanticoke, was published in 1982, and he is a frequent contributor to both national and regional magazines. In addition, he has written a weekly newspaper column on natural history for the past 2½ years.

Dr. Cashman Addresses Ocean Pines Kiwanis Club

Dr. Gregory G. Cashman, Political Science professor, addressed the Ocean Pines Kiwanis Club at Rudy's Restaurant in Ocean Pines on January 7. The topic of his presentation was American Foreign Policy.

Dr. Cashman is part of the Salisbury State College Speaker's Bureau. The Speaker's Bureau offers area organization several speakers discussing a variety of subjects. There is no charge for the service.

Any civic, service or educational organization desiring a speaker should contact the SSC Public Relations Office at 543-6030.

Wolinski to Speak

Dr. John T. Wolinski, associate professor in the Education Department, will be one of the speakers at the 67th annual National Conference of the Association of Teacher Educators to be held in Houston, TX, February 14-18.

Dr. Wolinski's co-presenter will be Dr. Bruce Mitchell of Michigan State University. Their topic will be: "Professors Teaching in Public School Classrooms: A Necessary Condition for an Effective Teacher Education Program."

Dr. Wolinski and Dr. Mitchell met at last year's Teacher Educators' Conference and collaborated throughout the year on this year's presentation.

Dr. Wolinski has also been requested by the Maryland State Department of Education to address the conference concerning a "Teaching Effectiveness" project in which the Salisbury State Education Department, the State Department and the Worcester and Wicomico school systems are actively involved.

SSC Sponsors Math Contest

Salisbury students took the top three places in the recent third annual High School Mathematics Contest sponsored by SSC and its Mathematical Sciences Department.

First place went to Mark Badros of Parkside High School, second to Bryan C. Zeigler of James M. Bennett High School and third to Tammy Graff of Wicomico Senior High School.

Ten high schools and 24 students participated in the competition. Each participant received a certificate; the top three finishers received gifts and their schools received plaques citing their achievements. Additionally, Badros' name and his high school will be inscribed on a permanent plaque in the SSC Math Department in Devilbiss Hall.

The test consisted of two parts, each 45 minutes long. Afterward, Dr. E. Lee May, Jr. of the SSC Math Department addressed the students. A luncheon and awards presentation followed.

The students who participated were: Mark Badros, Parkside; Edward Gordon, Kevin Harris and Rodolfo Cabarera, Laurel; David Kulp, Rob Burns and Tammy Graff, Wicomico; Bobby Cannon and Robin Lockerman, Woodbridge; Chris Holland and David Rabine, Pocomoke; Brian Zeigler, Dan Sterling and Menanie Watson, Bennett; M. Son Kang, Brian Molfitt and Drew Sammons, Cape Henlopen; James Horsey, Melinda Butler and Mickey Evans, Crisfield; Rusty Simmons, John Moore and Chris Hyde, Cambridge; and Kirby Travers, Mardela.

Fusaro Discussion Leader

Dr. Ben A. Fusaro, professor of Mathematical Sciences, led discussions on two separate topics at the joint meeting of the American Mathematics Society (AMS) and the Mathematics Association of America (MAA) on January 22 in San Antonio, TX.

In the afternoon, Dr. Fusaro organized a presentation of "The Mathematical Competition in Modeling." Following his introductory remarks, he presented the three winning solution papers from last year's Mathematical Contest in Modeling. Dr. Fusaro is the project director and founder of the national contest.

That evening, he moderated a program entitled, "What is a Master's Program in the Mathematical Sciences at a Master's Granting University or College." That and another session examining a master's program at a Ph.D. granting institution stemmed from an article Dr. Fusaro wrote in the September 1985 issue of the Society for Industrial and Applied Mathematics News entitled, "It's Time to Recognize the Value of a Master's Degree in Applied Math."

Additionally, Dr. Fusaro attended the board of governors meeting of the MAA and participate in minicourses at the joint meeting.

Mathematical Sciences Positions

The Department of Mathematical Sciences expects openings for the fall. A strong commitment to the mathematical sciences point of view and good teaching recommendations are essential. A Ph.D. is required for tenure-track positions. Candidates with knowledge of experimental design and survey sampling are encouraged to apply. Those interested in a temporary or visiting position are also invited to apply.

Send letter of application, resume and three letters of recommendation to: Search Committee, Department of Mathematical Sciences, Salisbury State College, Salisbury, MD 21801.

Lade, Steffes Bay Analysis

Dr. K. Peter Lade, professor, and Dr. Edward Steffes, assistant professor, both of the Department of Sociology and Anthropology, have completed an analysis of survey data for the Chesapeake Bay Critical Areas Commission.

The Commission conducted a survey of Maryland residents in order to solicit input regarding the provision of public access along the shoreline of the Chesapeake Bay and its tributaries, and the preservation of forested land within 1,000 feet of tidal waters or tidal wetlands.

Dr. Lade and Dr. Steffes supervised the coding of data and carried out the statistical analysis, using the VAX computer and the Statistical Package for the Social Sciences. The findings will be incorporated into the Commission's report to the governor and General Assembly.

White at Kiwanis

Eugene White, an instructor in the Department of Psychology, was the guest speaker at the December 9 dinner of the Salisbury Kiwanis Club. White addressed the issues of psychological development in adulthood, and specifically, the challenges that are often confronted by men at mid-life. He defined mid-life as beginning around the age of 40 and continuing through the mid-50s.

"One of the more common challenges for men," he said, "is the reassessment of The Dream." The Dream is the idealistic goals that men set for themselves in early adulthood. At mid-life, those goals may not have been achieved and the man is confronted with the feeling of failure and disappointment; or the goals have been achieved and the man often feels as though his state of "arrival" does not meet his expectations.

White recently spoke to college faculty and administrators on the issues of mid-life at the Professional and Organizational Development Conference at Hidden Valley, PA. He has been asked to address the faculty of the University of Minnesota, Duluth, in March on the topic of "Mid-life and Mid-career: Where Do We Go From Here?"

White is part of the Salisbury State College Speaker's Bureau. The Speaker's Bureau offers area organizations several speakers discussing a variety of subjects. There is no charge for the service.

Any civic, service or educational organization desiring a speaker should contact the SSC Public Relations Office at 543-6030.

Dr. Kimmel Presentation At Nat'l Art Convention

Dr. Kent N. Kimmel, professor of Art, has been invited to present a paper at the 27th annual National Art Education Association Convention in Boston, MA, on April 23.

Dr. Kimmel's presentation, in collaboration with Dr. Ronald L. Jones, Jr., chairman of the Creative Arts Division at Shepherd College in Shepherdstown, WV, is entitled "The Small College Art Department: A Question of Survival."

The presentation will focus on the fact that the small college art department is currently confronted with the very real survival issues of recruitment and retention. In particular, the presentation will provide participants with a model for evaluating their own institution and department service area, type, mission, reputation, accreditation, administrative structure, advisement methods, scholarship offerings, curriculum and faculty.

Nursing Scholarship Established

David Edwards of Cambridge has established the first scholarship at SSC providing assistance to School of Nursing incoming freshmen.

The Virginia Mills Edwards scholarships, established as a memorial to Edward's wife who died this past September, will be given to "someone with the aptitude and character of becoming a nurse, but doesn't have the money," Edwards said. The income from the gift "will be used to pay the special expenses an undergraduate Nursing student has."

Residents from Dorchester, then counties on the lower Eastern Shore, will be given priority consideration for the scholarship.

Mrs. Edwards, born and raised in Dorchester County, was a registered nurse who attended the old Cambridge Hospital Nursing School. She worked at the Cambridge Hospital in the 1940s as a nursing supervisor. She also worked at other hospitals on the western shore before her husband retired from the U.S. Department of Defense. They returned to Cambridge to live in 1977.

Dr. Elizabeth Barfield, dean of the School of Nursing at SSC, said, "Mrs. Edwards was a well-loved person and a respected nurse in this community. So I think it (the scholarship) is a very appropriate way to honor her memory."

Salisbury State has approximately 250 pre-Nursing and Nursing majors, and is the only four-year Nursing program leading to a baccalaureate on the Eastern Shore.

Outdoor Club Slides Into Spring On Skis

For the spring semester the Outdoor Club is planning a variety of informative and entertaining topics for its weekly meetings on Wednesdays. The February 11 meeting is in the Chesapeake Room, and every Wednesday thereafter in Tawes 118, at 6:30 p.m.

Also on tap are at least five trips which will offer outdoor activities for a wide range of interests and levels of ability. All students are welcome, especially those who are inexperienced in outdoor activities.

The first trip will be on February 13-15 or 20-22 to western Maryland for downhill skiing at The Wisp and cross country skiing at New Germany State Park. The cost will be $7.00 plus ski rentals and lift tickets. Lodging will be free of charge in Frostburg State's dorms. Attend the first meeting on February 11 to sign up; whether the trip will be on February 13-15 or 20-22 will depend on snow conditions.

Other trips planned for the spring include backpacking in northern Virginia on March 6-8, rock climbing at Great Falls on April 17-19 and canoeing on the Pocomoke River on May 8-10. For the spring break on March 27 to April 5, there will be both a 60- to 70-mile hike on the Appalachian Trail in southwestern Virginia and a five-day canoe trip in northern Florida. Plan now to go on at least one Outdoor Club trip this semester.

Arts Council Deadline

The Salisbury Wicomico Arts Council announces to all high school seniors and college freshmen, sophomores and juniors that March 13 is the deadline for applications for the Brent Scholarship Awards.

Established in memory of the late Herbert Brent, a leading arts supporter in the community, the Brent Scholarship Awards are made to students enrolled in formal study leading to a certificate or degree in the fine (media) and performing arts. Awards of up to $500 will be made to a maximum of four young artists. Scholarships are limited to use for tuition and fees for the 1987-88 academic year.

Applications must be received by the Arts Council Office, P.O. Box 884, Salisbury, MD 21801, no later than March 13. (No late entries will be accepted). All applicants will be interviewed by the Arts Council Scholarship Committee on Saturday, March 28. Artists must submit a portfolio and performers must audition for the Committee at the time of that interview. Scholarship recipients will be announced in May.

For more information or to obtain an application, call the Arts Council at 543-ARTS(2787). Also, for information on how the public may contribute to the Brent Scholarship fund so that more young artists may be recognized, please contact the Arts Council.

EEO Publications

The Affirmative Action Office receives the following publications which deal with issues concerning the employment and education of women and minorities. Please contact the Affirmative Action Office (HH-135 or ext. 6025) if you would like to see a copy.

Maryland Women, a quarterly newsletter of the Maryland Commission for Women.

EEO Review, designed for supervisors and department heads and covering advice on EEO issues (issued monthly).

Black Issues in Higher Education, articles on the status of blacks and other minorities in higher education (issued monthly).

On Campus With Women, published by the Project on the Status and Education of Women (Association of American Colleges), containing articles on current campus issues and events (issued quarterly).

Women and Minorities in Science and Engineering, National Science Foundation (1986), an assessment of the current situation and recent trends with respect to the participation of women and minorities in science and engineering (issued biennially).

Student Advisory Committees

The Office of Administrative Services is in the process of forming a student advisory committee for each of the following areas: energy conservation and management, food service, College Center, bookstore and telecommunications. Students with an earnest desire to participate are to call 543-6215 no later than March 4.

"The Dream Keeper Speaks: The World of Langston Hughes"

The Salisbury Wicomico Arts Council presents a one-man theatrical show entitled "The Dream Keeper Speaks: The World of Langston Hughes" on Wednesday, February 25. The performance at Parkside High School Auditorium at 8 p.m. features New York actor John S. Patterson. It is the Arts Council's presentation for Black History Month.

In addition to the performance, Patterson will conduct acting and poetry workshops at SSC, the University of Maryland Eastern Shore and at James M. Bennett, Mardela, Parkside and Wicomico Senior High Schools on February 23, 24 and 25.

Tickets for "The Dream Keeper Speaks" are $5.00 each and are available by calling 543-ARTS or stopping by the Arts Council office (located in the Wicomico Youth & Civic Center). Tickets are also available at John Hanson Savings & Loan on the Downtown Plaza and Riverside Drive or at any of the 10 branches of Peninsula Bank during regular lobby hours.

Selbyville Middle School Teacher-of-the-year

Howard Tyndall, a 1952 graduate of SSC, was recently named teacher-of-the-year at Selbyville Middle School. The science instructor earned similar honors in 1982.

Tyndall, who came to the Indian River School District in 1980 after 24 years of teaching science and math in Baltimore County, taught in Worcester County for three years following graduation from SSC.

He was lauded by his colleagues at Selbyville Middle School who nominated him for the award. Said one: "Combined with his positive outlook, his enthusiasm for his subject results in a classroom where learning takes place and the students enjoy it."

Said another: "This teacher's dedication, enthusiasm and positive influence make him a good example of what education is all about. He enjoys the students, his work, and this is reflected in all of his actions."

Business Internships Work

Understanding the business process, learning adaptability, gaining confidence, striving to work independently, realizing that life isn't all black and white—these are all qualities three recent SSC graduates learned they would need to work in today's marketplace, after they completed internships in the Franklin P. Perdue School of Business. Apparently, they did learn, for each company they interned with has hired them as full-time employees.

Carl Oursler of Fort Washington, MD, is a supervisor in the Distribution Department of Campbell Soup Co. in Salisbury.

Walter Willey of Cambridge is staff assistant in the Cambridge offices of C.W. Amos and Co., C.P.A.

And Richard Phillips of Centreville, MD is a manager trainee for First Shore Federal Savings and Loan.

As students, each spent 10 to 15 hours a week with their respective companies while still taking a normal courseload in college, and received three credits for completing the internship.

The program started in 1985 following discussions between then Business School dean, Dr. Gary Pielemeier, and Paul Rendine, chairman of the Education Committee with the Salisbury Area Chamber of Commerce. Rendine previously had worked with Duke University's internship program. Bob Leone, head of the chamber's internship subcommittee, and Rendine contacted local businesses for intern placement. Eight students were matched to different firms that fall for semester internships.

One of the main benefits of concurrent classroom internship study is students witness the theory and techniques they are being taught put into real-life use.

Oursler thinks any practical internship experience can be valuable, even if the student doesn't see himself working for that particular company later. The independence and self-starting spirit which the corporate world requires, without the constant reinforcement and monitoring of the classroom, demands individuals give their best effort.

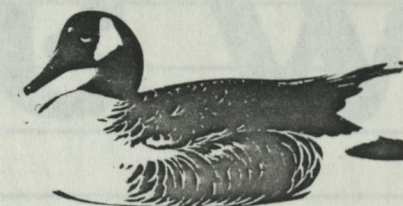

Oursler worked at Campbell Soup's Industrial Engineering Department, under the guidance of Clare Heffner, herself a graduate student at Salisbury State.

Willey wasn't sure he wanted to go into accounting—what it really entailed. His internship with C.W. Amos helped him to decide. Dealing with the pressures of on-the-job responsibilities, "learning to adapt to doing tasks a little differently than you were taught" because decisions in real life are not always as black and white as they are portrayed in textbooks, he said, gave him more confidence and helped him feel less nervous when starting his full-time job.

At First Shore Federal, Phillips' internship was not so much a task-oriented job but a chance to learn how a financial firm really operates. Guided by First Shore Federal President David Rodgers, Phillips was exposed to all facets of that institution's operations, from working as a teller to analyzing accounts and mortgage applications. "School supplies one with the basic knowledge and the internship teaches you to apply it," he said.

For more information on the internship program, contact H.R. Muller at 543-6315.

Ward Exhibit At Smithsonian

utilitarian duck decoy to intricate and expressive pieces of contemporary sculpture. This evolution will be shown in an exhibit at the Smithsonian

Institution in Washington, D.C., through May 2. The exhibit is being sponsored by the Smithsonian and by the Ward Foundation of Salisbury, which operates the Wildfowl Art Museum at SSC.

The theme of the exhibition is American Bird Sculpture - Decoys to Decoratives, and the exhibit will feature examples of the earliest working decoys, through intricate life like sculptures in which each feather is individually carved.

Jazz Ambassadors Here

The Jazz Ambassadors of the United States Army Field Band of Washington, D.C., brings its varied repertoire of jazz and popular music to SSC for an admission-free concert on Thursday, February 12, at 8 p.m. in Holloway Hall Auditorium.

Organized in 1969, this versatile 20-piece ensemble presents a musical package that appeals to audiences of all ages. It carries the sounds of pop and patriotic music, melodic big band tunes and modern jazz to every part of the nation. Vocalists round out the program with their special arrangements of ballads and Top 40 hits made famous by Frank Sinatra, Al Jarreau, Kenny Rogers, Tony Bennett, James Ingram and Kenny Loggins.

Members of the Jazz Ambassadors are selected through personal and highly competitive auditions to ensure that the Army's message of patriotism and goodwill is presented by the finest musicians. These players come from the country's leading universities and professional musical organizations. Former members of the Jazz Ambassadors have gone on to perform with the big bands of Stan Kenton, Buddy Rich, Maynard Ferguson, Woody Herman, Mel Lewis, the Tonight Show and others.

Each of the Jazz Ambassadors is a gifted soloist with his own personal style and sound. Yet when they combine their individual skills, they create a contemporary big band sound that is hard to surpass. Many of the players are also adept composers and arrangers whose works complement each performance by showcasing these individual and group talents.

The concert is sponsored locally by The Daily Times and Salisbury State. Free tickets may be obtained at The Daily Times, the College Center information desk or the U.S. Army Recruiter in the Twilley Center.

Donation to WSCL

WSCL-FM continues its progress toward going on air with a donation of office furniture from Second National. The furniture is to be used in new offices being built to accommodate station staff hired in January.

Second National's senior vice president, Eric W. Edstrom, presented the furniture to WSCL general manager Mark Handley. Handley said, "this furniture comes at just the right time and will save the station well over a thousand dollars that we would have had to spend to equip these offices."

The furniture donated consisted of desks and credenzas for two offices as well as chairs for a studio/conference room.

Arts Council Awards Grants

Eleven local organizations have received grant awards for arts projects as a result of the Art Council's granting process for a total of $14,325 awarded. The recipients of those grants include: Sister Circle, $400 for spring activities; Furnace Town, $200 for fall festival; Salisbury Symphony Orchestra, $2500 for spring performance season; Salisbury State College Children's Theatre, $250 for spring performance season; Salisbury State College Theatre Department, $350 for a Stanislavski videotape; The Art Institute & Gallery, a total of $2,665 for children's activities, 1986-87 Gallery exhibits and spring fine arts show; Wicomico County Recreation & Parks, a total of $2,610 for the Pemberton Colonial Fair, big band dance concerts, summer band camp program and summer fine arts program; Community Players, $3,000 for the 1986-87 season; Eastern Shore Symphony Society, $1,500 for promotions during the 1986-87 season; Wicomico Senior High School, $250 for fine arts week; and Wicomico County School System, $600 for school performances.

One of the major ways the Salisbury Wicomico Arts Council helps promote and sustain the activities of the non-profit arts groups in Salisbury and Wicomico County is by awarding cash grants to support performances, exhibits and activities. These grants are made possible by a partnership with the Maryland State Arts Council. The State Arts Council distributes funds to arts councils in each county in the state which are used for "re-granting" to local arts organizations. The program is based on the idea that arts councils on a local level can better judge the merit of area arts groups. The grants awarded are stipulated to be on a 3-to-1 matching basis. Last year, however, Wicomico County arts organizations matched the state funds at an impressive 7-to-1 match.

Attention May '87 Graduates

The College's commencement exercises will be held on Saturday, May 30, at 10 a.m. at the Wicomico Youth and Civic Center. Details concerning graduation will follow at a later date.

Art Gallery Schedule

The College Gallery has announced its spring exhibition schedule. According to Ursula Ehrhardt, the Gallery's director, the exhibitions offer viewers the opportunity to see a wide range of art forms and are intended to appeal to a broad cross-section of interests.

"A Decade of British and American Screenprints: 1967 - 1977," will be on view February 11 - February 26. Focusing on silkscreen prints produced by major American and British artists, the exhibition documents the emergence of the silkscreen process as a fine art medium in the 1960s and 70s. Because so many well known artists have created silkscreens, the exhibition is also a survey of modern art since World War II, including examples of Abstract Expressionism, Color Field, Hard Edge, Pop, Op, Minimalism and Photorealism.

A workshop on the silkscreen process intended for the general public of high school age and older, will take place at the Gallery on Saturday, February 21, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. It will be conducted by Kent Kimmel and Dean Peterson, who are artists with extensive experience in silkscreen.

"Photomontage," a national juried show of nearly 100 photographs by about 54 photographers, will be exhibited February 28 - March 26. This exhibit presents a broad overview of contemporary styles and techniques, including a number of experimental processes.

"Contemporary American Illustration" will be shown April 6 - April 30. Consisting of works made for a variety of commercial purposes by leading American illustrators, this exhibition is a smaller version of the Society of Illustrators' 28th Annual National Show, originally held at the Museum of American Illustration in New York City in 1986.

Concluding the semester will be the "Annual Senior Show," on display May 2 - May 21. It features work in various styles and media by senior art majors, who will also organize the exhibition and design the installation.

Funding for these exhibitions as well as various related programs has been provided, in part, by a grant from the Maryland State Arts Council.

To obtain a Gallery's exhibition schedule or information about upcoming programs, calling the College Gallery at 543-6271 or the College Center at 543-NEWS after Wednesday, February 11.

The College Gallery, located on the second floor of Blackwell Library, is open Monday and Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., Tuesday and Thursday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., and Saturday and Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m. Regularly scheduled Gallery talks on each exhibition, given by Karen Mitchell, take place Wednesday at 2 p.m. and 7 p.m. Group tours may be arranged by calling the Gallery at 543-6271 at least one week in advance of the desired tour date. Admission to the Gallery and to all Gallery programs is free.

VOL. XIII NO. 17

Warhol, Lichtenstein, Indiana Screenprints on Exhibit

An art workshop on the screenprinting process, intended for the general public of high-school age and older, will take place on Saturday, February 21, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Sponsored by the College Gallery in connection with its current exhibition, "A Decade of British and American Screenprints: 1967-1977," the workshop will be conducted by Kent Kimmel and Dean Peterson, both members of the Art Department and artists with extensive experience in screenprinting. It will begin in the College Gallery with a discussion of different approaches to the screenprinting process, using the works on display as examples, followed by a lecture-demonstration in the printmaking studio of the Art Department.

The workshop is free. Participants are asked to pre-register by telephoning either the College Gallery at ext. 6271 or the College Center at 543-NEWS.

The exhibition documents the emergence of screenprinting as a fine arts medium in the 1960s and 1970s. Essentially a stencil process, screenprinting has evolved from the use of hand-cut stencils, silk, and paint, to the use of glues, photographic gelatins, synthetic fabrics and mechanical printing presses. Because of its versatility, enabling the artist to produce a great variety of images and textures and to print on many different surfaces, screenprinting became increasingly prevalent in the 1960s, eventually rivalling and surpassing the popularity of the lithographic or the intaglio print among artists

Pop artist Andy Warhol's 1975 portrait of "Miss Lillian," President Jimmy Carter's mother, is one of about fifty screenprints in the Gallery's current exhibition, "A Decade of British and American Screenprints: 1967-1977," on view through February 26.

Pop artists such as Andy Warhol, Roy Lichtenstein and Robert Indiana, each of whom has a print in the exhibition, made extensive use of screenprinting, creating bold, colorful images inspired by popular culture, including commercial art, the comics and newspaper photography.

Because so many prominent artists began to make screenprints in the late 1960s and early 1970s, which was a period of great diversity in artistic styles and of boom in the art market, the exhibition is also a survey of modern art since World War II, including examples of Abstract Expressionism, Color Field, Hard Edge, Pop, Op, Minimalism, Conceptualism and Photorealism.

The exhibition was organized by David Ribar of the Fine Arts Center/Cheekwood in Nashville, TN, and is being circulated nationally by the Southern Arts Federation with the help of a grant from the National Endowment for the Arts. Its showing at the College was made possible, in part, by a grant from the Maryland State Arts Council.

The College Gallery, located on the second floor of Blackwell Library, is open Monday and Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., Tuesday and Thursday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., and Saturday and Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m. Regularly scheduled gallery talks on the exhibition, given by Karen Mitchell, are Wednesdays at 2 and 7 p.m. Group tours, also given by Mitchell, may be arranged by calling the Gallery at ext. 6271 about one week in advance of the desired tour date. Admission is free.

Famed Morgan Choir Returns

The internationally recognized Morgan State University Choir performs in concert on Monday, February 16, at 8 p.m. in Holloway Hall Auditorium. Admission is free and the public is cordially invited.

This outstanding 55-member choir has a distinguished history. It has toured both the United States and Europe, recording with the London Symphony and Helsinki Philharmonic Orchestras. It also has sung with the Baltimore Symphony and New York Philharmonic.

Last year, the Choir was a guest of the Oakland Symphony in California where they performed "Scenes From the Life of a Martyr" by Undine Smith, dedicated to the memory of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. This was the first stop in a California tour which included performances at Stanford University, San Francisco State and Robert Schuler's Crystal Cathedral. During Easter vacation the singers fulfilled return engagements on the island of Bermuda. Easter this year will find them again in Atlanta, kicking off the centennial celebration of Martin Luther King Jr.'s Church, Ebenezer Baptist.

Before going to California, the Choir performed "Scenes" with members of the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra at Turner Auditorium, Johns Hopkins Hospital, prompting Karen Muson, music critic for The Baltimore Sun, to write a glowing review titled, "Morgan Choirs Honor King With Verve, Vitality."

The Salisbury appearance of the MSU Choir is sponsored by the SSC Black Student Union, as part of its annual celebration of Black History Month at Salisbury State.

Wednesday, February 18—Dim Sum: A Little Bit of Heart (Orion Classics, 1985)

With his first film, Chan Is Missing, Sino-American director Wayne Wang demonstrated that he could make a great film in San Francisco's Chinatown without a massive budget. His later independent feature Dim Sum focuses upon generational and cultural tensions in a Chinese-American family as an uncle, daughter and mother try to come to terms with each other and with their environment. Dim Sum was so well received that Wang is now considered a leading independent filmmaker. Cast: Laureen Chew, Kim Chew and Victor Wong. Dialogue in English and Cantonese with English subtitles.

Baltimore Symphony Performs

The Eastern Shore Symphony Society sponsors a performance by the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra on Tuesday, February 17, at 8 p.m. in Holloway Hall Auditorium.

In the first half of the concert, the Symphony will play several works, Rossini's "Overture to La Scala di Seta", Faure's "Pavane" and J.S. Bach's "Suite No. 3." After intermission, the Salisbury Choral Society will join the Symphony in a performance of Vivaldi's "Gloria", a choral work for chorus, orchestra and two soloists, soprano and alto.

Edward Polochick, the choral director of the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra Chorus, will conduct both the Symphony Orchestra and the Choral Society in this concert.

Tickets are still available for the two concerts remaining for the 1986-87 season, February 17 and April 1. The adult ticket is $30.00 and the student ticket is $15.00. Any single admission tickets available for February 17 will go on sale 10 days before the concert. These prices are $17.50 for adults and $8.75 for students. For any ticket information, call Mrs. Becky Chalmers at 301-546-9607 or Mrs. Holly Schaefer at 301-546-3514.

Circulation Goes Online

During spring semester Blackwell Library will be putting circulation on the computer. To do this, barcodes will be affixed to everyone's I.D. and in all books checked out. Everyone checking out books should bring their I.D. with them. The library asks all for their understanding if service is just a bit slower. It will soon be better than ever.

Library Computer Searches Prices

The computer search service which provides a printout of information sources on a chosen topic, offered by Blackwell Library and available to all patrons, now costs a minimum of $1.00. The library pays the first $10.00 of the cost of each search for SSC faculty, administrators and students. This price change is effective February 9.

GMAT/GRE Tests

The GMAT test will be given on Saturday, March 21, at SSC. The deadline for registration is Tuesday, February 17.

The GRE test will be given on Saturday, April 11, at SSC. The deadline for registration is Friday, March 6. Booklets for both tests are available in the Graduate and Continuing Education Office, room 140, Holloway Hall.

CLEP Test

The CLEP test will be given on Wednesday, March 18. The deadline for registration is Wednesday, February 18. The CLEP Information Bulletin is available in the Admissions Office, HH 155.

'The Dream Keeper Speaks: The World of Langston Hughes'

The Salisbury Wicomico Arts Council presents a one-man theatrical show entitled "The Dream Keeper Speaks: The World of Langston Hughes" on Wednesday, February 25. The performance at Parkside High School Auditorium at 8 p.m. features New York actor John S. Patterson. It is the Arts Council's presentation for Black History Month.

In addition to the performance, Patterson will conduct acting and poetry workshops at SSC, the University of Maryland Eastern Shore and at James M. Bennett, Mardela, Parkside and Wicomico Senior High Schools on February 23, 24 and 25.

Tickets for "The Dream Keeper Speaks" are $5.00 each and are available by calling 543-ARTS or stopping by the Arts Council office (located in the Wicomico Youth & Civic Center). Tickets are also available at John Hanson Savings & Loan on the Downtown Plaza and Riverside Drive or at any of the 10 branches of Peninsula Bank during regular lobby hours.

Attention May '87 Graduates

The College's commencement exercises will be held on Saturday, May 30, at 10 a.m. at the Wicomico Youth and Civic Center. Details concerning graduation will follow at a later date.

Mathematical Sciences Positions

The Department of Mathematical Sciences expects openings for the fall. A strong commitment to the mathematical sciences point of view and good teaching recommendations are essential. A Ph.D. is required for tenure-track positions. Candidates with knowledge of experimental design and survey sampling are encouraged to apply. Those interested in a temporary or visiting position are also invited to apply.

Send letter of application, resume, and three letters of recommendation to: Search Committee, Department of Mathematical Sciences, Salisbury State College, Salisbury, MD 21801.

Arts Council Deadline

The Salisbury Wicomico Arts Council announces to all high school seniors and college freshmen, sophomores and juniors that March 13 is the deadline for applications for the Brent Scholarship Awards.

Established in memory of the late Herbert Brent, a leading arts supporter in the community, the Brent Scholarship Awards are made to students enrolled in formal study leading to a certificate or degree in the fine (media) and performing arts. Awards of up to $500 will be made to a maximum of four young artists. Scholarships are limited to use for tuition and fees for the 1987-88 academic year.

Applications must be received by the Arts Council Office, P.O. Box 884, Salisbury, MD 21801, no later than March 13. (No late entries will be accepted). All applicants will be interviewed by the Arts Council Scholarship Committee on Saturday, March 28. Artists must submit a portfolio and performers must audition for the Committee at the time of that interview. Scholarship recipients will be announced in May.

For more information or to obtain an application, call the Arts Council at 543-ARTS(2787). Also, for information on how the public may contribute to the Brent Scholarship fund so that more young artists may be recognized, please contact the Arts Council.

Student Advisory Committees

The Office of Administrative Services is in the process of forming a student advisory committee for each of the following areas: energy conservation and management, food service, College Center, bookstore and telecommunications. Students with an earnest desire to participate are to call 543-6215 no later than March 4.

Pre-Nursing Students

The application deadline for enrollment in the Nursing major for fall semester is March 1. This applies to those Pre-Nursing students anticipating registering for Nursing 300 Professional Nursing Concepts for fall, as well as other students interested in the major. The application form may be obtained from the Department of Nursing and submitted no later than March 1. The next application deadline is October 1.

For Rent

It's CLIO Time!

The Art Department presents the 1986 Clio Award Winners in international television commercials on Wednesday, February 18, in Caruthers Hall Auditorium at 7:30 p.m. The screening is open to the public and free of charge.

The film, which is annually presented by the Art Department includes the winners in the international categories. Last year's winners were chosen from 17,000 entries submitted from 44 countries around the world. The entries are from a variety of categories and include non-profit sponsors as well as conventional clients.

The Clio Awards has become a popular event on campus. Japan, Great Britain, Germany and the U.S. are usually well represented. The international content of the film grants a rare insight into the approach advertisers around the world apply to their respective audiences. The international language of humor is easily understood by all.

Viewing the cream of the past year's commercials gives the viewer a very different perspective on the impact of the 30 second art form. The film will run approximately 45 minutes.

1987 Senior Class Portraits

The final opportunity to be photographed for the 1987 yearbook will be February 16 & 17. Davor Photo Inc. will be located in the Chester Hall Lounge. Please sign up at the information desk in the College Center for an appointment. There will be a $3 sitting fee which is to be paid to the studio representative at the time of the sitting.

SSC Participation in the Salisbury Festival

The fourth Salisbury Festival will be held May 1, 2 and 3. If you, your department or your organization would like to be involved with the Festival in any manner (volunteer, performance, special booth) please contact Gains Hawkins no later than February 27. This year's Festival promises to be even more event-filled with an ever-increasing number of out-of-town guests visiting Salisbury. It should be an excellent opportunity for the College to display many of its diverse programs.

Calligraphy Lecture

On Thursday, February 19, Professor Wang Fang-yu will present a lecture entitled "Dancing Ink: An Exhibition of Calligraphy" and will demonstrate his technique at 3 p.m. in the Nanticoke Room of the College Center.

The exhibition is part of the year-long cultural events series at the College, "China: Tradition and Transformation." The series is sponsored by the Faculty Cultural Events Committee and the Salisbury State College Foundation Inc. Like all the programs in the series, the exhibition is free and open to the public.

For more information, call the College Center at ext. NEWS.

Phi Kappa Phi Eligibility

The College chapter of the national academic honor society of Phi Kappa Phi is preparing for its annual initiation of new members. The society is interdisciplinary, drawing from all departments within the College.

The purpose of Phi Kappa Phi is to recognize and encourage superior scholarship in all academic disciplines. The society hopes that by recognizing and honoring those persons who have excelled in scholarship, in whatever field, it will stimulate others to strive for excellence.

Membership is elected from the top five percent of the senior class with all candidates having substantially higher than a 3.5 grade point average on a 4.0 scale. Juniors, whose academic performance so merits, also are eligible for consideration by the society.

Those students interested in being considered for membership in Phi Kappa Phi should contact Dr. G. Ray Thompson HH 372, ext. 6251 or 6245, or Dr. George Whitehead, HH 334, ext. 6371, by February 28.

Education In-Service Workshops

The Maryland State Department of Education has awarded a grant to the College for a series of in-service workshops.

Art and Music teachers from Somerset and Worcester Counties are participating in the three scheduled workshops. Basic to these meetings is curriculum development according to the recent guidelines set in the Maryland Curriculum Frameworks of Art and Music.

James Burgess, Art Department chairman, will serve as coordinator; Ray Zeigler, associate professor of Music is assistant coordinator; and Tom Zimmerman, Wicomico County Board of Education arts specialist, is the LEA coordinator.

Topics to be covered during the sessions are: the development of creative and thinking skills; the development of classroom arts experiences that include aesthetics, history and criticism in preparation for subsequent lesson activities; different approaches to curriculum development and teaching strategies that integrate a discipline-based education; and career development.

Consultants participating are from the Maryland State Department of Education, SSC, the University of Maryland Eastern Shore, and teachers from Anne Arundel, Baltimore and St. Mary's Counties.

Outdoor Club Springs Into Spring

For the spring semester the Outdoor Club is planning a variety of entertaining and informative lectures, films and skill demonstrations for its weekly meetings on Tuesdays at 6:30 p.m. in Tawes 118. (Please note the change in meeting night.)

Also on tap are at least five trips with activities for a wide range of interests and levels of ability. After our ski trip on February 13, 14, and 15, there is a backpacking trip in northern Virginia on March 6-8, rock climbing at Great Falls on April 17-19, and canoeing on a local river on May 8-10. For the spring break on March 27 to April 5, tentative plans are for a 60 to 70 mile hike on the Appalachian Trail in southwestern Virginia and for a five day canoe trip in northern Florida. Attend the meeting on Tuesday, February 17, for further information on trips and weekly programs.

Nancy Joyce Cooper To Give Recital

Dr. Nancy Joyce Cooper, a member of the music faculty, is featured in a College-sponsored faculty recital at Asbury United Methodist Church on Tuesday, February 24, at 8 p.m. The program includes works by Bach, Hindemith, Messiaen and Dupre, and is free and open to the public.

Dr. Cooper conducted the College Concert Choir for two semesters, and is now in her third semester directing the SSC Collegium. Dr. Cooper founded this group in the spring of 1986, to sing a cappella music from the Baroque and pre-Baroque periods. The group has performed at Pemberton Hall's Colonial Fair and on the Downtown Plaza as part of the "Dickens of a Christmas" program, and at the Salisbury Festival.

Dr. Cooper received her Master's and Doctor of Musical Arts degrees from the Eastman School of Music. While at Eastman, she received both the Performer's Certificate and the Artist's Diploma in organ. The latter is the highest award in performance given by the Eastman faculty; she was the first performer on any instrument to receive the diploma in over 10 years.

In 1986 she gave concerts in New York City, Charlottesville and Virginia Beach, VA, and San Antonio, TX. In January she played on the inaugural series of new organs in Eastville, VA, and New Bern, NC. She has scheduled performances at Longwood Gardens, Kennett Square, PA, in March and at the National City Christian Church in Washington, D.C., in April.

In addition to her responsibilities at the College, Dr. Cooper is the organist and choir director at St. Peter's Episcopal Church in Salisbury.

Burgess Addresses Women's Club

James L. Burgess, chairman of the Art Department, recently addressed the Ocean Pines Women's Club at the Ocean Pines Community Hall. The topic of his presentation was "Art in Everyday Life."

Burgess is part of the College Speaker's Bureau. The bureau offers area organizations several speakers discussing a variety of subjects. There is no charge for the service.

Any civic, service or educational organization desiring a speaker should contact the Public Relations Office at ext. 6030.

Seidels Donate To Education

Sam and Marilyn Seidel of Salisbury recently donated an Apple II computer, printer and two disc drives to the Education Department.

"This generous gift will allow us to expand our capabilities, integrating computers into the educational experience of our students," said Dr. Maurice Bozman, chairman of the Education Department. "Elementary Education teachers in particular must be conversant in computers."

"The computer can be used for demonstration purposes in the classroom," continued Dr. Bozman. "Students can also use it for review and tutorial purposes."

Jennifer Duhe, a daughter of the Seidels, is an Elementary Education major at the College. She cited the Education Department's need for a computer to her parents who in turn made the gift to the College.

Jazz Ambassadors Here

The Jazz Ambassadors of the United States Army Field Band of Washington, D.C., brings its varied repertoire of jazz and popular music to SSC for an admission-free concert on Thursday, February 12, at 8 p.m. in Holloway Hall Auditorium.

Organized in 1969, this versatile 20-piece ensemble presents a musical package that appeals to audiences of all ages. It carries the sounds of pop and patriotic music, melodic big band tunes and modern jazz to every part of the nation. Vocalists round out the program with their special arrangements of ballads and Top 40 hits made famous by Frank Sinatra, Al Jarreau, Kenny Rogers, Tony Bennett, James Ingram and Kenny Loggins.

Members of the Jazz Ambassadors are selected through personal and highly competitive auditions to ensure that the Army's message of patriotism and goodwill is presented by the finest musicians. These players come from the country's leading universities and professional musical organizations. Former members of the Jazz Ambassadors have gone on to perform with the big bands of Stan Kenton, Buddy Rich, Maynard Ferguson, Woody Herman, Mel Lewis, the Tonight Show and others.

Each of the Jazz Ambassadors is a gifted soloist with his own personal style and sound. Yet when they combine their individual skills, they create a contemporary big band sound that is hard to surpass. Many of the players are also adept composers and arrangers whose works complement each performance by showcasing these individual and group talents.

The concert is sponsored locally by The Daily Times and Salisbury State. Free tickets may be obtained at The Daily Times, the College Center information desk or the U.S. Army Recruiter in the Twilley Center.

Models Needed

Models are needed for drawing and painting classes. The times are from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. on Tuesday and Thursday.

Please call the Art Department at ext. 6270 for further information.

Welcome Back

Allan (Buddy) Williams rejoins the College staff as director of the Book Store. Stop by the Book Rack and say hello and give Buddy your suggestions for improved services.

Position of Dean Open

Nominations and applications are invited for the position of dean of the school of Liberal Arts.

The dean reports to the vice-president for Academic Affairs and is the chief academic, budgetary, and personnel officer for the School of Liberal Arts. In addition, the dean will help define the School's mission within the larger College mission, will oversee liberal arts curriculum development and change, and will work with the deans of the other schools to strengthen the College. The deanship is an administrative 12-month position; salary is negotiable and commensurate with experience.

Qualifications are an earned doctorate in the humanities, social sciences, or administration with a strong liberal-arts background; and extensive teaching experience with evidence of teaching excellence and demonstrated administrative competence, e.g., as chairperson, associate dean, or dean. Applicants also should have strong interpersonal communication skills, sensitivity to the needs and resources of a diverse academic component, a well-developed perspective on liberal arts education and a demonstrated ability to promote the programs and efforts of the school within the wider community.

Application receipt deadline is Monday, March 2. Send a resume, a letter highlighting relationships between applicant experience and requirements for the present position, and four letters of reference with current phone numbers and addresses to: Dr. Polly Stewart, Chair, Dean's Search Committee, Department of Liberal Studies, Salisbury State College, Salisbury, MD 21801 (301) 543-6452.

Salisbury State College is an equal-opportunity, affirmative-action employer.

Physical Education Faculty/Head Football Coach

The College seeks an individual for a tenure-track position teaching in the Department of Physical Education, serving as head coach of football, and other departmental responsibilities. Inasmuch as the position is defined as approximately 60% teaching and 40% coaching, the successful candidate will possess an area of academic expertise compatible with the department's curricular offerings as well as the ability to coach football. Excellent oral and written communication skills also are required. The successful applicant will hold at least a master's degree, and the rank and salary of the position will be commensurate with degree status and experience.

The Department of Physical Education provides general education experiences for the entire student body as well as a multi-track P.E. major with options in teacher education, health-fitness, athletic training and dance. Athletically, the College competes in NCAA Division III with an athletic program committed to academic integrity and personal growth among student-athletes.

Please send letters of application and resumes to Dr. Keith J. Conners, dean of the School of Professional Studies, Salisbury State College, Salisbury, Maryland 21801, no later than March 4. SSC is an affirmative action, equal opportunity employer.

Women's Softball Note

Any students wishing to play women's varsity softball during the spring semester should call head coach Dawn McCrumb at ext. 6359 as soon as possible.

Chinese Painting, Calligraphy and Poetry

Dr. Robert Mowry, associate curator of Oriental Art at the Sackler Museum at Harvard University, presents a lecture entitled, "The Inseparable Arts: Chinese Painting, Calligraphy and Poetry," on Monday, February 16, at 7:30 p.m. in Caruthers Hall Auditorium.

"In China," said Mowry "painting, calligraphy and poetry have been linked as the 'Three Sister Arts' since remote antiquity. They employ similar materials (brush, ink, inkstone and paper or silk), and an artist who was gifted in one of the Three Arts was typically talented in the other two as well."

"Since Chinese calligraphy was largely pictographic in its earliest phase of evolution," continued Mowry, "It most likely shared a common origin with painting; as the Chinese writing system became more ideographic (rather than strictly pictographic), however, calligraphy continued to utilize many of the same brushstrokes found in Chinese painting, so there is a definite unity between these two arts."

"And, of course, the characters that are used to compose poetry are written in calligraphy," he added, "so that there is a unity between those two arts as well. Similar themes are expressed in poetry and painting, so the Chinese see a unity there as well. In fact, the Chinese refer to painting as wu-sheng shih (silent poetry)."

"For this reason it has been the practice of the literati or scholar-artists to inscribe their painting with elegant poetry in fine calligraphy. The unity of these three arts will be the subject of my lecture."

Mowry also will present a brief overview of the history of Chinese painting, including the styles and subject matters of various periods.

Mowry was formerly curator of the Rockefeller Collection of Asian Art at New York's Asia Society. He has taught in the Fine Arts Department at Harvard as well as at the Cooper-Hewitt Museum (master's program in Decorative Arts), the Parsons School of Design and New York's Institute for Asian Studies.

Widely published, he is currently collaborating on The Chinese Scholar's Studio: Artistic Life in the Late Ming Period, the catalog for a major exhibition that will tour the U.S. for a year starting in October.

For more information on Mowry's lecture or other "China" programs, call 543-NEWS.

The presentation, part of the College's year-long cultural events program, "China: Tradition and Transformation," is sponsored by the Faculty Cultural Events Committee and the Salisbury State College Foundation Inc. The lecture, like all the programs in the series, is free and open to the public.

Free Throw Championship

The 1987 Salisbury State College-Knights of Columbus Free Throw championship will be held on Saturday, February 14, at the Maggs Activity Center at 2 p.m.

All boys and girls ages 11 to 14 are eligible to participate.

Last year 117,768 boys and girls competed at over 1,800 contests nationwide. The participants shot their way through local, district, regional and state competitions.

All contestants on the local level are recognized for their participation and achievement. Winners will receive awards and advance to further competition.

For more information or entry forms, please contact the SSC athletic office at ext. 6340.

Kim Fiedler

Fiedler Becomes SSC's All-Time Leading Scorer

Kim Fiedler became the College's all-time leading scorer on February 3, as SSC defeated Mary Washington 75-51.

Fiedler, a 5-6 senior from Catonsville, netted a game-high 18 points on her way to breaking the school mark of 1,293, points by Josie Harper. She needed 14 points to set the new mark coming into the game and she opened the second half with the record basket.

A four-year player at SSC, Fiedler has been a steady performer since her freshman year when she averaged 13.4 points per game—second on the team. Her average went up to 14.1 ppg in her sophomore year as she was again second on the team. She finally led SSC in scoring as a junior last year averaging 15.4 ppg and is currently sporting a 14.0 average.

Being a Mathematics major, Fiedler has no problem in getting the big numbers.

SSC Wrestling Team Takes Two of Three Matches at OD

The College wrestling team, led by Bob Kays' three wins, took two of three matches in the Old Dominion Tournament on Saturday in Norfolk, VA.

SSC defeated Loyola 36-11 and Hampton-Sydney 33-12 but lost 46-11 to Virginia Tech.

Kays, a junior from Severn, MD, won all three of his individual matches in the 158 pound weight class, all by decisions. Three SSC wrestlers—DeWayne Harris, Dan Masucci and George Bethard—won two of three matches. Teige McShane, Jim Nestor and Joe Mamana all split their matches on the day.

SSC, now 5-3 on the season in dual matches, will wrestle in the NCAA Regionals at Washington & Lee in Lexington, VA, on February 20-21.

Chinese Fashion Lecture

Dr. Valerie Steele, author of numerous articles on the history of fashion, presents a lecture entitled, "Chinese Fashion and Costume," on Wednesday, February 25, at 7:30 p.m. in Caruthers Hall Auditorium.

Dr. Steele, who earned her Ph.D. in History from Yale University in 1983, said the lecture will present an overview of traditional Chinese costume and a more detailed examination of changes in clothing and fashion in China during the 20th century.

"In traditional societies, such as pre-modern China," said Dr. Steele, "upper class clothing tended to be characterized by richness of materials and ornamentation and by strict symbolic identification of status within a stratified society. The design of the clothing changed relatively slowly over long periods of time."

"After the 1911 revolution," continued Dr. Steele, "Chinese clothing was strongly influenced by Western styles and became characterized by fashion in the modern sense, including rapid changes in style and a weakening of class symbolism. The woman's qipao and the man's 'Sun Yat-sen suit' represented inspired compromises between traditional Chinese styles and modern Western dresses and suits."

"From the 1950s until the death of Mao in 1976," added Dr. Steele, "Chinese dress constituted mainly of a drab proletarian 'uniform.' In recent years, however, fashion has made a dramatic comeback, in accordance with the current political line that to try to look beautiful is not incompatible with citizenship in a socialist nation."

The lecture will be illustrated by slides. For more information about this or other "China" series programs, call 543-NEWS.

The lecture, part of the College's year-long cultural events series, "China: Tradition and Transformation," is sponsored by the Faculty Cultural Events Committee and the SSC Foundation Inc. Like all programs in the series, the lecture is free and open to the public.

Assistant Director of Programs Sought

The College is seeking an energetic and resourceful individual to fill immediately the position of assistant director of programs.

A successful candidate will be responsible for assisting students in planning and implementing contemporary entertainment and will serve as key advisor to student organizations. The individual will work closely with the College community and will need to be experienced in the development of student programs.

A bachelor's degree is required, a master's degree in higher education administration, student personnel or a related area is preferred. Familiarity with the Arts, Recreation and Business Administration is valuable. Experience in college programming desirable.

Salary is competitive and commensurate with experience. Excellent fringe benefits. Submit letter of application and resume by March 15 to John H. Fields, assistant dean of Students, Salisbury State College, Salisbury, MD 21801. If you plan to attend the Association of College Unions-International Conference scheduled for March 22 through March 25, please indicate in your letter. We will have a representative there who may conduct a few preliminary interviews.

Salisbury State College is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer.

'87 Gala Planning Underway

Brush off your black bow tie and burnish your beads. The College Foundation's eighth annual Gala will be held on Saturday evening, April 11, in the Ruth Powell Dining Hall.

Like last year, the Gala features dining and dancing. Diane Savage of Berlin is this year's chairwoman. A soon-to-be announced orchestra will play music from the '40s to the '80s following a standing rib dinner.

The monies raised from the $125 a couple event go to the Salisbury State College Foundation, born 14 years ago out of a necessity to supplement the College's financial needs with private support. That need has become even more apparent today when state support has fallen below 45 percent of the institution's total annual budget.

In many areas the Foundation, whose assets have increased from $50,000 during its first year of existence to $750,000 in 1986, has succeeded in filling the void left by the public sector. It has provided Salisbury State with funds for scholarships, research grants, program expansion, library acquisitions, field trips, lectureships and student internships. In short, as a private, non-profit mechanism through which gifts can be solicited, received, managed and administered for the benefit of the College, the Foundation has played an integral role in Salisbury State's growth in strength and stature over the past 15 years.

The Foundation's goals over the next several years are even more ambitious. It anticipates funding future projects such as: college enhancement projects like an alumni house, honors

Sam Seidel, chairman of the Salisbury State Foundation Executive Committee, Diane Savage, Gala chairman and President Bellavance meet to discuss the '87 Foundation Gala house, art gallery, campus beautification and a Delmarva Archives project; capital improvements for the renovation of the schools of Science, Business and Nursing; a college guild for a distinguished American in Residence, the visual and performing arts, a film series, a visiting scholars and lecture series and a theatre; academic special needs such as a small business computer training lab, a biology study nature area, a rural health mobile lab, a physics microelectronics program, a marine lab and distinguished teaching awards; and the funding of additional scholarships, internships, library acquisitions and other special projects.

For more information on the Salisbury State College Foundation or ticket information for the Gala, call the Office of College Advancement at ext. 6175.

Of Funny Dragons, Mysterious Tales and Spectro-whatevers The SSC Foundation Makes a Difference

The storyteller stood center stage in front of the children and told them about the evil king who was changing himself into the "biggest, most fierce. . . ." Suddenly, from the audience a 22-foot fiercely painted red-eyed dragon, operated by three actors from Salisbury State College, charged down the aisle, its six feet flying. The roar from the children was "overwhelming," play director Dale Whitzel said. One third-grader later wrote the troupe, "It was funny," (and his favorite story). "I yelled at the top of my lungs," a second student said.

John C. Bailey sat back in his easy chair. In his 70s and retired, he enjoyed talking to the three SSC co-eds who were taping stories about his native Quantico. "One of the great mysteries out here . . . in the Devil's Woodyard Swamp, there was an enormous ditch . . . I always heard it took nine slaves nine years to dig it and (then) they gave them their freedom . . . What it was dug for no one seems to know. . . ." His reminiscence of the ditch, now overgrown and increasingly inaccessible because of briars and brambles, is the sole surviving tribute to the work of these forgotten men from a world receding into the past.

The purpose of the equipment is clear cut: to analyze substances to tell what they're made of. But how to pronounce its name? "Spectrophotometer." "No, Spectro. . . ." "Spectrophotom." "Whatever, it's for Devilbiss Hall," quipped Bob Gearhart, executive director of the Salisbury State College Foundation. "It's for the science labs and it costs $2,000."

From a spectrophotometer, a Quantico reminiscence and a funny dragon, to scholarships, a public radio station for Delmarva listeners and $2.5 million from Franklin Perdue for a new business school—connecting all these projects, big and small, is the Salisbury State Foundation and the men and women who are this public service.

"A lot of people know the Foundation for an annual gala and a fall golf tournament which create goodwill with the community and townspeople," Gearhart said. "But what is not publicized on a daily basis is the support for projects like the oral histories, lab equipment, the Lower Shore (Drug and Alcohol) Prevention Resource Center, the Salisbury Symphony Orchestra, Chesapeake Bay environmental

John Patterson

Professional Actor to Speak and Perform Here

John Patterson, a professional actor who tours the country performing his one-man show, "The Dream Keeper Speaks: The World of Langston Hughes" will talk to SSC students on Wednesday, February 25, at noon in Caruthers Hall Auditorium.

The talk entitled "On Being an Actor" is sponsored by Salisbury State Theatre and the Black Student Union. All SSC students and faculty are invited.

In 1986, Patterson established The Oral Archives Project, a program for the development and presentation of stage productions of black literature, not expressly written for the stage, which draws on the oral tradition. Under this heading he has created his second full scale production, "Hoodoo Revelations: A Conjure of Black Prose and Poetry," a collage of contemporary black writing, music and movement which debuted to rave reviews in Seattle, WA; work in progress includes "Zora, When She's Laughing," excerpts from the works of Zora Neale Hurston and "Dunbar, Lyrics of Love, Laughter, and Politics," a staging which includes both the dialect and standard English poetry of Paul Laurence Dunbar.

Patterson received his B.A. from Colgate University, in French, his M.F.A. from Ohio University, in Theater Arts. He taught acting and directed for four years at Livingston College of Rutgers University and worked as a theater critic for six years for various New York periodicals. When not touring he divides his time between New York City and Seattle.

A performance of "The Dream Keeper Speaks: The World of Langston Hughes" will take place at 8 p.m. in Parkside High School Auditorium on February 25. Tickets are $5.00 and may be purchased at the Salisbury Wicomico Arts Council (543-ARTS) or at the auditorium entrance.

Code of Conduct, Judicial System, Sexual Harassment Policy

To provide students with information on expectations for responsible citizenship and/or procedures for judicial proceedings, a written Student Code of Conduct now exists along with a revised Judicial System Guide.

Topics included in the Code of Conduct include academic and computer dishonesty; theft; possession, storage, use of firearms; drug and alcohol use; misuses of College property; false information; assault and verbal harassment; violence and extremism; disruptive behavior; sexual harassment; and hazing.

The Judicial Guide explains disciplinary proceedings in residence halls and campus wide, the function of student advocates, procedural and due process, and sanctions and appeals. Copies of both brochures will be widely circulated and available from the College Center information desk and Dean of Students Office.

The recently developed and approved Sexual Harassment Policy will also be available from the Dean of Students Office, College Center information desk and departmental offices.

Rights and Privacy Act

SSC will assume the right, under the provisions of the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act, to provide student directory information without prior consent of the student. Directory information is defined as a student's name, local address (if listed), date and place of birth, major field of study, participation in officially recognized activities and sports, weight and height of an athletic team member, dates of attendance, degrees and awards received, most recent previous educational agency or institution attended and listing of officers of student organizations (including names and addresses).

In the event a student wants more or less than directory information released, please notify the Office of the Dean of Students, ext. 6080, or stop by room 243, Holloway Hall.

Security Insurance Plan

SSC students and/or their dependents now have an opportunity to enroll in a flexible and convenient insurance plan, The Sentry Student Security Plan.

Any student under the age of 65 who is registered and attending a state accredited college or university that formally authorizes the Sentry plan is eligible to enroll. There are no restrictions based on the number of credits or non-credit scholastic hours.

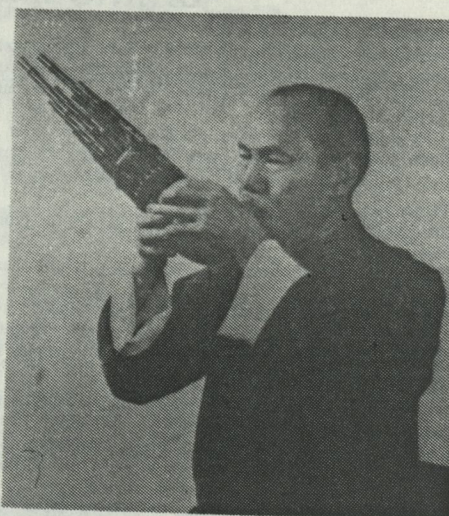

Coverage may also be maintained during the summer vacations and up to one term after graduation. This program offers several good options. Please stop by the Health Center for a brochure or application. The College has authorized this insurance program.

Wesley Speaks to Unitarians

Dr. Robert J. Wesley, Communication Arts professor, addressed the Salisbury Unitarian Fellowship on Sunday, February 8, at their 11 a.m. worship service. The topic of his presentation was "Listening is the Orphan of Education."

Dr. Wesley is part of the College's Speaker's Bureau. The Speaker's Bureau offers area organizations several speakers discussing a variety of subjects. There is no charge for the service.

Any civic, service or educational organization desiring a speaker should contact the Public Relations Office at 543-6030.

Tsuan-nien Chang, Chinese Musician

Chinese Music Ensemble To Perform March 1

The Chinese Music Ensemble, presented by the Asia Society, performs on Sunday, March 1, at 5:30 p.m. in Caruthers Hall Auditorium.

The presentation, part of the College's year-long cultural events series, "China: Tradition and Transformation," is sponsored by the Faculty Cultural Events Committee and the SSC Foundation Inc. Like all programs in the series, the concert is free and open to the public.

Tsuan-nien Chang is the founder and director of the Chinese Music Ensemble of New York, which is the only complete Chinese orchestra in the U.S. He is a versatile musician who performs on several Chinese instruments equally well.

He has played at the Asia Society, China Institute, Town Hall, Carnegie Hall, Alice Tully Hall at Lincoln Center, the Museum of Natural History and at several colleges in the New York area.

During the 1978-79 concert season, Chang appeared at the University of Michigan, Oberlin College and the Toledo Museum of Art in a successful tour of "Aspects of Peking Opera." Chang has also appeared on radio and television and has played on two records, Music and Food of the Orient (Music Minus One) and Flower Drum and Other Chinese Folk Songs (Monitor Records).

Three of the instruments to be used during the performance are the sheng (mouth organ), the ti (flute) and the erh-huy (two-string violin).

The sheng is one of the oldest Chinese musical instruments in existence, said to have been invented in the year 2700 B.C. It consists of 17 vertical bamboo reed-pipes, graduated in length and in pitch and placed in a cylindrical base with an attached mouth piece. It is played by blowing and sucking one to four pipes at the same time, thus producing harmonic combinations.

The ti is made of bamboo. Of its eight holes, one is to be blown by mouth, six are to be played by the fingers, and one is covered by a thin reedy membrane which makes the sound very bright.

The erh-hu was said to be imported to China in the North-South Dynasty (420-588 A.D.), and now has become one of the most popular and important instruments in China. The body of the instrument is made of a wooden cylinder covered by snakeskin. The bow passes between two strings which are usually tuned a fifth apart.

Position of Dean Open

Nominations and applications are invited for the position of dean of the school of Liberal Arts.

The dean reports to the vice-president for Academic Affairs and is the chief academic, budgetary, and personnel officer for the School of Liberal Arts. In addition, the dean will help define the School's mission within the larger College mission, will oversee liberal arts curriculum development and change, and will work with the deans of the other schools to strengthen the College. The deanship is an administrative 12-month position; salary is negotiable and commensurate with experience.

Qualifications are an earned doctorate in the humanities, social sciences, or administration with a strong liberal-arts background; and extensive teaching experience with evidence of teaching excellence and demonstrated administrative competence, e.g., as chairperson, associate dean, or dean. Applicants also should have strong interpersonal communication skills, sensitivity to the needs and resources of a diverse academic component, a well-developed perspective on liberal arts education and a demonstrated ability to promote the programs and efforts of the school within the wider community.

Application receipt deadline is Monday, March 2. Send a resume, a letter highlighting relationships between applicant experience and requirements for the present position, and four letters of reference with current phone numbers and addresses to: Dr. Polly Stewart, Chair, Dean's Search Committee, Department of Liberal Studies, Salisbury State College, Salisbury, MD 21801 (301) 543-6452.

Salisbury State College is an equal-opportunity, affirmative-action employer.

Physical Education Faculty/Head Football Coach

The College seeks an individual for a tenure-track position teaching in the Department of Physical Education, serving as head coach of football, and other departmental responsibilities. Inasmuch as the position is defined as approximately 60% teaching and 40% coaching, the successful candidate will possess an area of academic expertise compatible with the department's curricular offerings as well as the ability to coach football. Excellent oral and written communication skills also are required. The successful applicant will hold at least a master's degree, and the rank and salary of the position will be commensurate with degree status and experience.

The Department of Physical Education provides general education experiences for the entire student body as well as a multi-track P.E. major with options in teacher education, health-fitness, athletic training and dance. Athletically, the College competes in NCAA Division III with an athletic program committed to academic integrity and personal growth among student-athletes.

Please send letters of application and resumes to Dr. Keith J. Connors, dean of the School of Professional Studies, Salisbury State College, Salisbury, Maryland 21801, no later than March 4. SSC is an affirmative action, equal opportunity employer.

Women's Softball Note

Any students wishing to play women's varsity softball during the spring semester should call head coach Dawn McCrumb at ext. 6359 as soon as possible.

Interest Meeting: SSC Trip to the Soviet Union

Dr. Robert Berry of the History Department and Dr. Greg Cashman of the Political Science Department are offering a three-credit course this summer entitled, Contemporary Soviet Union. The course is designed to provide a multi-faceted survey of Soviet history, culture, politics and economics.

The classroom study will be capped with a two-week tour of the USSR, including visits to Moscow, Leningrad, Kiev and Novgorod. The trip begins August 12 and ends August 26.

For more information call Dr. Berry or Dr. Cashman at ext. 6245.

Outdoor Club Stomps Into Spring

The next Outdoor Club trip will be a weekend of backpacking in northern Virginia on March 6, 7 and 8. Inexperienced backpackers are welcome, and equipment (except for sleeping bags) may be borrowed from the club. Attend weekly club meetings on Tuesdays at 6:30 in Tawes 118 for information. Sign up begins at the meeting on February 24.

Planning is also underway for the two spring break trips: backpacking on the Appalachian Trail in southwestern Virginia or canoeing on the Suwannee River in Florida. Both trips will run from March 27 to April 4.

WSSC Radio

WSSC Radio 73AM 107.5 CAFM, the campus radio station, welcomes the student body back for the spring semester. Some openings for DJs, news/sports and advertising departments are still open.

If you are interested in radio as a hobby or a career goal, the next meeting is on Tuesday, February 24, at 5:30 p.m. in Caruthers Hall Auditorium.

Burgess, Peterson Address Seaford Art Teachers

During the recent teacher professional ay for Seaford, DE, public schools, James L. Burgess, SSC chairman of the Department of Art, and Dean A. Peterson, assistant professor of Graphic Design/Visual Communications, were the program presenters for the K-12 art teachers. The meeting was held at Seaford Middle School.

Burgess spoke about the varied course offerings in the SSC Art Department, the new Bachelor of Fine Arts degree, cultural programs, speakers bureau available to the community area, gallery exhibitions, etc.

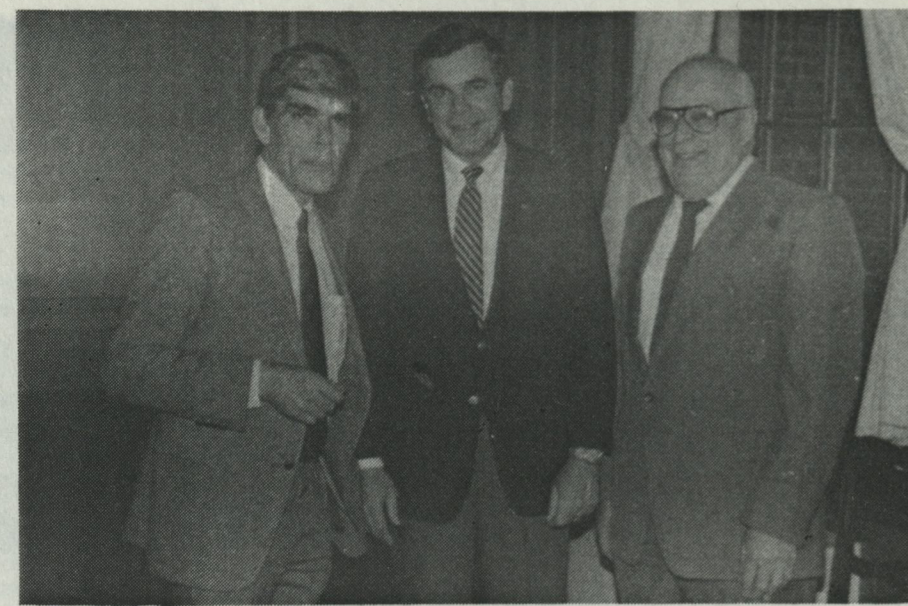

Peterson gave a slide and portfolio presentation of his professional work in advertising, printmaking, drawings, paintings and photography. A question and answer period followed the afternoon session.

Norma Heyde Adjudicator

On January 10, Norma Heyde, associate professor of Music, acted as an adjudicator for the National Federation of Music Clubs Pennsylvania State Auditions.

The auditions were held on the campus of West Chester University for young artists preparing for concert careers in the fields of piano, strings and voice. Mrs. Heyde was one of a panel of three judges in the voice auditions.

On February 22, Mrs. Heyde will be an adjudicator for the annual Concerto Competition at the University of Delaware at which time the most outstanding students of the Department of Music will be selected to perform a special concert with the Delaware Symphony.

Dr. Bellavance is shown with Gordon Gladden of Avery Hall Insurance and Klein Leister, former chairman of the Board of Directors of the SSC Foundation. Avery Hall Insurance is a three-time sponsor of the SSC Golf Classic, which annually raises money for the Foundation.

Chinese Fashion Lecture

Dr. Valerie Steele, author of numerous articles on the history of fashion, presents a lecture entitled, "Chinese Fashion and Costume," on Wednesday, February 25, at 7:30 p.m. in Caruthers Hall Auditorium.

Dr. Steele, who earned her Ph.D. in History from Yale University in 1983, said the lecture will present an overview of traditional Chinese costume and a more detailed examination of changes in clothing and fashion in China during the 20th century.

"In traditional societies, such as pre-modern China," said Dr. Steele, "upper class clothing tended to be characterized by richness of materials and ornamentation and by strict symbolic identification of status within a stratified society. The design of the clothing changed relatively slowly over long periods of time."

"After the 1911 revolution," continued Dr. Steele, "Chinese clothing was strongly influenced by Western styles and became characterized by fashion in the modern sense, including rapid changes in style and a weakening of class symbolism. The woman's qipao and the man's 'Sun Yat-sen suit' represented inspired compromises between traditional Chinese styles and modern Western dresses and suits."

"From the 1950s until the death of Mao in 1976," added Dr. Steele, "Chinese dress constituted mainly of a drab proletarian 'uniform.' In recent years, however, fashion has made a dramatic comeback, in accordance with the current political line that to try to look beautiful is not incompatible with citizenship in a socialist nation."

The lecture will be illustrated by slides. For more information about this or other "China" series programs, call 543-NEWS.

The lecture, part of the College's year-long cultural events series, "China: Tradition and Transformation," is sponsored by the Faculty Cultural Events Committee and the SSC Foundation Inc. Like all programs in the series, the lecture is free and open to the public.

Counseling Services

Counseling Services conducts walk-in hours from 1 - 3 p.m., Monday through Thursday. Anyone who wishes to see a counselor, and has not seen one before, is welcome between those hours.

Spring String Festival

The 1987 Salisbury Symphony "Spring String Festival" will bring the internationally renowned composer Vaclav Nelhybel back to the College on Sunday, April 5 for a gala concert featuring children of all school ages on string instruments with the Salisbury Symphony Orchestra.

The event is sponsored by the SSC Foundation, Inc. and the Salisbury Wicomico Arts Council.

More than 100 children are invited to participate. Any child from grade four through 12 who would like to join the Salisbury Symphony Orchestra for the Festival is asked to contact the school coordinator, Mrs. Bobbie Thamer, at East Salisbury School, telephone 749-3488 or 749-5494.

Dr. Nelhybel will conduct the orchestra including music he has written especially for the occasion.

Dr. Thomas G. Elliot, chairman of the Department of Music at the College and conductor of the Salisbury Symphony Orchestra, commented on the importance of supporting young string players.

"They will be the future members of the Symphony Orchestra," said Dr. Elliot. "Young string players don't have the glitter and attention that the school band does, and they need special encouragement to continue their studies. Dr. Nelhybel was so favorably impressed with the turnout last year that he composed a new piece of music and dedicated it to the orchestra and children for this festival."

PTA Panel Discussion

The Wicomico County Council of PTAs and TRAC sponsors a special panel discussion on Wednesday, February 25, at Wicomico Senior High School from 7-8:30 p.m. Please enter via the Long Avenue entrance.

Questions to be discussed include: What programs designed to prevent child exploitation are available in your school? What role does your school play in dealing with the problem of missing children? How widespread is the problem?; and How can we, as parents, work with our school and community to deal with the problem of missing and exploited children?

Panel members are Dr. Louis Kadushin, Ph.D., Psychological Associates and Wor-Wic Tech; Constance Stewart, supervisor of instruction with the Wicomico County Board of Education; Deborah Paparella, clinical director of Life Crisis; and Det. Sgt. Robert Tunney of the Maryland State Police.

Warhol, Lichtenstein, Indiana Screenprints on Exhibit

An art workshop on the screenprinting process, intended for the general public of high-school age and older, will take place on Saturday, February 21, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Sponsored by the College Gallery in connection with its current exhibition, "A Decade of British and American Screenprints: 1967-1977," the workshop will be conducted by Kent Kimmel and Dean Peterson, both members of the Art Department and artists with extensive experience in screenprinting. It will begin in the College Gallery with a discussion of different approaches to the screenprinting process, using the works on display as examples, followed by a lecture-demonstration in the printmaking studio of the Art Department.

The workshop is free. Participants are asked to pre-register by telephoning either the College Gallery at ext. 6271 or the College Center at 543-NEWS.

Chinese Myths, Symbols

Dr. John S. Major, director of New York Lecture Program for the Asia Society, presents a lecture entitled, "Chinese Myths and Symbols," on Thursday, February 26, at 7:30 p.m. in Caruthers Hall Auditorium.

The lecture, part of the College's year-long cultural events series, "China: Tradition and Transformation," is sponsored by the Faculty Cultural Events Committee and the SSC Foundation, Inc. Like all programs in the series, the lecture is free and open to the public.

"Myths, in any culture, are good stories," said Dr. Major, "but they are also much more. Myths serve to conserve and transmit, through an oral tradition, a culture's essential understanding of the nature of reality."

"China's ancient myths tell tales of emperors and demons, of floods and battles; they also, on a deeper level, describe the shape of heaven and earth, the paths of the sun and planets across the sky and the reasons things are so," continued Dr. Major. "Symbols linked to these myths (such as the emblematic beasts of the four directions) reinforce the message."

Dr. Major received his Ph.D. in History and East Asian Languages at Harvard. As a graduate student, he lived for one year in Taiwan and two years in Japan. Upon his return, he joined the faculty of Dartmouth College, where he taught Chinese and Japanese history from 1971 to 1984. Dr. Major has travelled extensively throughout Asia, including a year's residence in Japan, most of a year in Indonesia, and six trips to the People's Republic of China. During 1981-82 he was a Visiting Fellow at Clare Hall, Cambridge University. In December 1984, Dr. Major became director of the China Council of The Asia Society, a national educational program dedicated to increasing American awareness of and understanding of China and Sino-American relations. In 1986, Dr. Major moved to his new assignment as director of New York Lecture Programs.

Dr. Major's main field of academic research is the history of traditional Chinese science and cosmology. He is the co-author or editor of three books: The Hall of Heavenly Records: Korean Astronomical Instruments and Clocks, 1380-1780; Myth and Symbol in Chinese Tradition; and China Briefing 1985. He has lectured throughout the United States on recent trends in Chinese culture and society.

For more information on this and other "China" series programs, call 543-NEWS.

Dr. DiGiovanna Addresses Nurses

Dr. Augustine DiGiovanna, known better to students as "Dr. D.", was one of the guest lecturers for the American Lung Association of Maryland's respiratory care course for nursing homes. The course, offered at Deers Head Center on February 16, was approved by the Maryland Nurses Association for continuing education credit for participants.

Dr. DiGiovanna started the instructional part of the program by explaining the normal structure and functioning of the respiratory system. He then went on to describe the development and effects of several respiratory diseases. The last portion of his lecture dealt with the changes which normally occur in the human respiratory system as a person ages. Dr. DiGiovanna pointed out that, while the changes significantly reduce the efficiency and maximum rate of service which the lungs can provide, a healthy respiratory system can be expected to serve a person well regardless of age.

Dr. DiGiovanna has been invited to present another lecture next summer when the course will be offered again.

The National Teachers Examinations - Things You've Wanted to Know but Didn't Know Where to Ask

- Q. What is the NTE?
A. The NTE (National Teachers Examination) is a nationally standardized test composed of three core battery tests (communication skills, general knowledge, professional knowledge) and a specialty area test.
- Q. Who should take the NTE?
A. Anyone seeking initial teaching certification in Maryland and Virginia. States in other parts of the country also require the NTE.
- Q. When does the NTE requirement become effective in Maryland?
A. As of April 21, 1986. Since no qualifying scores have been established in Maryland, individuals applying for certification up to July 1, 1987, do not have to achieve any specific test scores. After July 1, 1987, applicants must meet qualifying scores which will be decided upon this year.
- Q. When should college students register for taking the NTE?
A. As late in their college career as possible. Information gained in coursework and in student teaching will be extremely helpful in understanding and responding to questions on the NTE tests. In some cases, students even register for the NTE after graduation.
- Q. Is the NTE a graduation requirement?
A. No, it is a Maryland State Department of Education Teaching Certification requirement.
- Q. Where can specific information be obtained about test registration, test centers, cost, etc.?
A. From Education Department advisors and/or Alvah Constantine, director of Field Experiences, Caruthers Hall B-150.

Chinese New Year Celebration Dinner

The Fire Plume World Story and Music Ensemble presents tales from China while diners enjoy a sumptuous feast at a Chinese New Year Celebration Dinner on Tuesday, February 24, from 4:30-6:30 p.m. at the Ruth Powell Dining Hall.

The dinner is part of the College's year-long cultural events series, "China: Tradition and Transformation," and is sponsored by the Faculty Cultural Events Committee and the SSC Foundation, Inc.

Students with meal cards are admitted free while the cost for all others is $4.95.

The menu for the evening features Won Ton soup with noodles, braised chicken with snow peas, Mandarin pork, rainbow rice, stir fried vegetable medley, fresh fruit salad, Chinese jelly roll, green tea and hot breads.

Additionally, Dr. Geraldine N. Rossi, associate professor in the SSC Education Department, demonstrates a "Tangrams" game to the audience at the celebration dinner.

In a spellbinding blend of dramatic narration and music, the Fire Plume World Story and Music Ensemble presents a program of tales drawn from the treasure chest of Chinese oral tradition.

Margaret Wolfson, who has retold the tales, presents them in a fascinating mix of narration, acting and singing. Original music as well as traditional folk melodies performed by Paula Chan Bing on Chinese flutes, temple blocks, medieval harp, dulcetta and other Asian instruments, expands the emotions and meanings of the stories.

The stories feature a Taoist teaching tale, a traditional Chinese ghost story and a strange and moving story about the love between emperor of the House of Tang and his wife, Fragrant Flower. There will also be a recitation of ancient classical Chinese poetry with musical accompaniment and a brief introduction to the Chinese instruments used in the performance.

Models Needed

Models are needed for drawing and painting classes. The times are from: 9:30-11:30 a.m. on Tuesday and Thursday.

Please call the Art Department at ext. 6270 for further information.

research, faculty grants and development and student scholarships.

Also unsung is a notable board and executive committee. Its chairman is Sam Seidel, for 20 years a Salisbury city councilman and president of the largest privately owned insurance operation in Maryland. Vice chairmen are Klein Leister, president of WKRE radio in Exmore, VA, and former owner of Leister and Wilkinson Accounting and Tax Service of Pocomoke City; Ann Coates, Snow Hill city councilwoman, American Heart Association activist and a member of the Chesapeake Bay Critical Areas Commission; and Donald Mabe, president of Perdue Farms, Inc. Secretary/treasurer is George Fitzgerald, for 24 years associated with Salisbury National, then First National Bank of Maryland, and a supporter of scouting for more than a half-century.

The board advises the Foundation in investing and deciding which projects to sponsor. "It includes some of the best business and civic minds in the region," Gains Hawkins, director of Public Relations at SSC said. "We call them for advice and use their expertise." They are people who know how to ask the right questions, and answer them.

While the new public radio station was being planned, for example, some serious issues on liability arose. Although the station has its own staff and board, the Foundation is technically the station owner. The liability questions, which centered on the antenna, "... could have threatened the whole project. We just wouldn't have had a radio station," Gearhart said. Seidel's expertise not only resolved the complex problems, but he introduced Joseph Brechner, owner of WMDT television, to the College. Brechner made a $100,000 contribution and it was used to match a more than $200,000 federal grant for the station. This past year a prominent Delmarva citizen, Franklin Perdue, endowed the College for some $2.5 million for a new school of Business. "Don Mabe was an important participant," Gearhart said, "playing a leading role in the planning and development of the new school."

Board members also enthusiastically have endorsed environmental research by Dr. K. Peter Lade. Lade worked long and hard to get a combination of grants totaling $400,000. The Foundation was technically responsible for distributing $71,000 of that money, frequently advancing funds from its own accounts for vital equipment purchases when government checks were delayed. Lade called this assistance "crucial in allowing him and the College to compete successfully against other major research institutions for the grants. Scientists from across the country, and as far away as Nigeria, have come to Salisbury to discuss his and his students' work. "Without the Foundation's help, it would not have been possible to compete as successfully," Lade said.

The Foundation is not only College and community leaders; in a larger sense it embraces SSC students and alumni. Each spring students man telephones to call alumni, update them on College activities and solicit contributions. In 1986, 300 students raised $45,000 from 1500 alumni during a two-week Phonathon. In the last two weeks of 1986, Delmarva residents donated $250,000 to the Foundation—monies for Business, Nursing, Education and Communications programs, as well as across the board scholarships.

In the folktale of the dragon, the moral was "one person can make a difference." The Foundation, believing in that truth, has helped many to "make a difference" in the life of the College, and the Eastern Shore in 1986. Said Gearhart, "We've come a long way."

Phi Kappa Phi Eligibility

The College chapter of the national academic honor society of Phi Kappa Phi is preparing for its annual initiation of new members. The society is interdisciplinary, drawing from all departments within the College.

The purpose of Phi Kappa Phi is to recognize and encourage superior scholarship in all academic disciplines. The society hopes that by recognizing and honoring those persons who have excelled in scholarship, in whatever field, it will stimulate others to strive for excellence.

Membership is elected from the top five percent of the senior class with all candidates having substantially higher than a 3.5 grade point average on a 4.0 scale. Juniors, whose academic performance so merits, also are eligible for consideration by the society.

Those students interested in being considered for membership in Phi Kappa Phi should contact Dr. G. Ray Thompson HH 372, ext. 6251 or 6245, or Dr. George Whitehead, HH 334, ext. 6371, by February 28.

Human Volunteers Committee

It has come to the attention of the College's Human Volunteers Committee that, from time to time, persons not affiliated with the College come on the campus and solicit student volunteers for "research surveys." The committee strongly urges students who are approached by such persons to inquire about their affiliation and the purpose of their "research." Oftentimes, these persons are conducting bogus surveys geared only to getting a list of student names and addresses for future use and solicitation.

If you have any questions, please call either Fran Kane (ext. 6426) or Karin Johnson (ext. 6416) of the Human Volunteers Committee. This committee has been specifically established to protect all College personnel from unwarranted research that might endanger your rights.

Catholic Mass

Roman Catholic Mass is being held in Caruthers 118 through Sunday, March 1, at 3:30 p.m. Services after March 1 are in the College Center, Nanticoke Room, also at 3:30 p.m.

A New Degree for SSC!

BFA Program Is the Only One at a Maryland State College

The Bachelor of Fine Arts degree has been approved by the Maryland State Board for Higher Education for Salisbury State College. James L. Burgess, Art Department chairman, has announced. The Art Department already offers a Bachelor of Art degree.

Salisbury State becomes the only Maryland supported institution to offer the Bachelor of Fine Arts degree. The only other BFA program in the state is at a private institution located in Baltimore.

"The BFA will be more of a professional type degree, requiring additional hours of concentrated study," Burgess said. Students will have the option of concentrating in Graphic Design/Visual Communications that includes advertising and photography; Two-Dimensional Design Studio of drawing, painting and printmaking; Three-Dimensional Design Studio areas of ceramics and sculpture; or Arts Administration. The programs are available for alumni, transfer students, incoming and present B.A. students, starting in September.

"The department faculty is in the process of putting the entrance criteria into printed form and will soon be available to all interested people who write or phone the department for more information," Burgess added. "The department is planning to keep the enrollment low in order to emphasize the quality of our graduates."

The department offers two majors and a minor in art. The Bachelor of Fine Arts major requirements are: 60 semester hours of art, 45 semester hours of general education and 18 semester hours of electives. Admission into the BFA program is made by petition request or by faculty invitation. The Bachelor of Arts major requirements are: 51 semester hours of electives. Both majors require that a minimum of 30 semester hours, from the total number of hours required for graduation, be completed on the 300/400 level. A grade of C or better will be required in all art and the 300/400 level courses. To assist students with programs, career and graduate work planning, Art faculty advising is mandatory.

Cooperative programming is available between SSC; Maryland College of Art and Design; and the Design Schools of America: the Art Institutes of Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Denver, Houston, Atlanta, Seattle, Dallas and Ft. Lauderdale.

The general objective of the programs at Salisbury is to provide the student with options in an art career. The intention of the department is to provide both a general and specific approach to a specialized study in the visual arts, and to provide the student with a strong aesthetic foundation by utilizing his background in liberal arts general education as an asset to his artistic development, and to give him a realistic understanding of the use of his specialization. This general objective is an investigative, intensive study founded on solid fundamentals: one that focuses on the analysis and synthesis, and the important interplay of universal and personal issues with aesthetics, history and craft.

The specific educational objective of the Bachelor of Art and the Bachelor of Fine Arts degrees test the practical and aesthetic skills of the student, and their relationship to his liberal arts background by requiring in-depth study in specific areas of the discipline. Specifically, the student will prepare professionally and will apply his aesthetic and liberal arts background in one area of concentration which require the student to be skilled in drawing and design as an essential tool of communication; to understand important general issues and to use those issues as a foundation for study; to be well-versed in visual methods of communication, color, theory, fundamentals of design and art history, and general skills in a variety of media; to be focused upon one particular material and related media for the purpose of in-depth study and achievement not realized on a more generalized scale; to be able to converse intelligently on the chosen area of concentration and to show this gained knowledge visually; and to use this liberal arts education as a vital part of his specialized study.

Theatre to Present Steinbeck's Of Mice & Men

John Steinbeck's stage adaptation of his classic novel, Of Mice and Men, opens Friday, March 13, in Holloway Hall on stage, for a two weekend run.

This retelling, more than most stage interpretations of literary works, closely followed the novel. Stark Young wrote in The New Republic. And "There is considerable magnificence in the tight-lipped retelling of this singular tragedy. . . ." Brooks Atkinson wrote in The New York Times.

The story centers on two drifters, George and Lennie, working on an isolated ranch in California. A young bride there, desperate for companionship, searches out the company of the ranch hands and provokes her jealous husband to violence.

Lennie, a shy brute of a man with the mind of a child, also is desperate for love. Unaware of his own strength, however, he destroys anything he touches, whether it be a harmless field mouse or a newborn puppy. Despite fierce efforts by George who acts as Lennie's likeable protector and guide, the gentle giant and the confused woman come together with tragic results.

Steinbeck "... is a virtuoso in the free-hand sketching of a narrative," Atkinson said. "Under the comedy and the gusto of ranch life the note of doom is constantly echoing. . . ."

Of Mice and Men "shoots across the foot-lights," George Jean Nathan wrote in Newsweek.

In the Salisbury State production, Lennie is played by Leonard Harrington, George by David Cherry and the restless bride by Robyn Wesley. Directing and costume and sound design are by T. Paul Pfeiffer. Set and lighting design are by Gerald Patt.

Of Mice and Men is performed at 8 p.m. on March 13, 14, 19, 20 and 21, with a matinee on Sunday, March 15, at 2 p.m. For reservations and ticket information, call the box office at ext. 6228.

Models are needed for drawing and painting classes. The times are from: 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. on Tuesday and Thursday.

Please call the Art Department at ext. 6270 for further information.

Attention May '87 Graduates

The College's commencement exercises will be held on Saturday, May 30, at 10 a.m. at the Wicomico Youth and Civic Center. Details concerning graduation will follow at a later date.

Dog Auditions

Salisbury State Theatre announces auditions on Thursday, February 26, at 6 p.m. in Holloway Hall for a dog to appear in the upcoming production of "Of Mice and Men" by John Steinbeck.

Paul Pfeiffer, director of the show, is looking for a mixed breed, medium to large, relatively long-haired dog to be in a couple of scenes during the play. The dog will be on a leash while on stage and cared for by a student while off-stage. "Of Mice and Men" will play March 13, 14, 19, 20 and 21 at 8 p.m. with a 2 p.m. matinee on Sunday, March 15.

For information and questions, call the SSC Dept of Communication Arts at ext 6229.

SSC Participation in the Salisbury Festival

The fourth Salisbury Festival will be held May 1, 2 and 3. If you, your department or your organization would like to be involved with the Festival in any manner (volunteer, performance, special booth) please contact Gains Hawkins no later than February 27. This year's Festival promises to be even more event-filled with an ever-increasing number of out-of-town guests visiting Salisbury. It should be an excellent opportunity for the College to display many of its diverse programs.

Phi Kappa Phi Eligibility

The College chapter of the national academic honor society of Phi Kappa Phi is preparing for its annual initiation of new members. The society is interdisciplinary, drawing from all departments within the College.

The purpose of Phi Kappa Phi is to recognize and encourage superior scholarship in all academic disciplines. The society hopes that by recognizing and honoring those persons who have excelled in scholarship, in whatever field, it will stimulate others to strive for excellence.

Membership is elected from the top five percent of the senior class with all candidates having substantially higher than a 3.5 grade point average on a 4.0 scale. Juniors, whose academic performance so merits, also are eligible for consideration by the society.

Those students interested in being considered for membership in Phi Kappa Phi should contact Dr. G. Ray Thompson HH 372, ext. 6251 or 6245, or Dr. George Whitehead, HH 334, ext. 6371, by February 28.

Human Volunteers Committee

It has come to the attention of the College's Human Volunteers Committee that, from time to time, persons not affiliated with the College come on the campus and solicit student volunteers for "research surveys." The committee strongly urges students who are approached by such persons to inquire about their affiliation and the purpose of their "research." Oftentimes, these persons are conducting bogus surveys geared only to getting a list of student names and addresses for future use and solicitation.

If you have any questions, please call either Fran Kane (ext. 6426) or Karin Johnson (ext. 6416) of the Human Volunteers Committee. This committee has been specifically established to protect all College personnel from unwarranted research that might endanger your rights.

Catholic Mass

Roman Catholic Mass is being held in Caruthers 118 through Sunday, March 1, at 3:30 p.m. Services after March 1 are in the College Center, Nanticoke Room, also at 3:30 p.m.

Mathematical Sciences Positions

The Department of Mathematical Sciences expects openings for the fall. A strong commitment to the mathematical sciences point of view and good teaching recommendations are essential. A Ph.D. is required for tenure-track positions. Candidates with knowledge of experimental design and survey sampling are encouraged to apply. Those interested in a temporary or visiting position are also invited to apply.

Send letter of application, resume, and three letters of recommendation to: Search Committee, Department of Mathematical Sciences, Salisbury State College, Salisbury, MD 21801.

Equal Opportunity-Affirmative Action Employer.

Arts Council Deadline

The Salisbury Wicomico Arts Council announces to all high school seniors and college freshmen, sophomores and juniors that March 13 is the deadline for applications for the Brent Scholarship Awards.

Established in memory of the late Herbert Brent, a leading arts supporter in the community, the awards are made to students enrolled in formal study leading to a certificate or degree in the fine (media) and performing arts. Awards of up to $500 will be made to a maximum of four young artists. Scholarships are limited to use for tuition and fees for the 1987-88 academic year.

Applications must be received by the Arts Council Office, P.O. Box 884, Salisbury, MD 21801, by March 13. (No late entries will be accepted). All applicants will be interviewed by the Arts Council Scholarship Committee on Saturday, March 28. Artists must submit a portfolio and performers must audition for the Committee at the time of that interview. Scholarship recipients will be announced in May.

For more information or to obtain an application, call the Arts Council at 543-ARTS(2787). Also, for information on how the public may contribute to the Brent Scholarship fund so that more young artists may be recognized, please contact the Arts Council.

Student Advisory Committees

The Office of Administrative Services is in the process of forming a student advisory committee for each of the following areas: energy conservation and management, food service, College Center, bookstore and telecommunications. Students wishing to participate are to call 543-6215 by March 4.

Pre-Nursing Students

The application deadline for enrollment in the Nursing major for fall semester is March 1. This applies to those Pre-Nursing students anticipating registering for Nursing 300 Professional Nursing Concepts for fall, as well as other students interested in the major. The application form may be obtained from the Department of Nursing and submitted no later than March 1. The next application deadline is October 1.

Can We Buy Your Gas?

Accomack-Norhampton Transportation District Commission is sponsoring a ridesharing incentive program. A month of free gasoline is being given to the first five vanpools and the first 25 carpools formed from the Eastern Shore of Virginia going to Norfolk, Salisbury, or surrounding localities. For more information call 787-POOL or 787-7665. The program is funded through a Virginia Department of Highways and Transportation grant.

Karen Weaver

Weaver Elected National President of Field Hockey Coaches Association

Karen Weaver, head field hockey and lacrosse coach, has been elected president of the College Field Hockey Coaches Association.

Weaver, who guided the SSC field hockey team in 1986 to a 21-0 mark in route to the NCAA Division III national championship, was elected president by a unanimous vote of all college field hockey coaches throughout the nation. She becomes the first Division III coach to ever serve as president of the organization.

"I feel so honored," said Weaver. "I had to call someone when I found out about being elected president to see if they were joking. I have tremendous respect for the organization and its members."

Weaver will take office in 1988 and will remain president until her term ends in 1990. Current president is Jean Stettler of William and Mary.

"The College Field Hockey Coaches Association is a liaison between the NCAA and the United States Field Hockey Association," added Weaver. "We will work with the NCAA to refine the rules and help govern the sport. We will also work with the USFHA to help develop field hockey nationally and internationally."

Weaver has coached field hockey at SSC for five years and become the school's all-time leading coach this past season with a 655-26-2 record. She brought the sport from a 120th ranking in 1981 to the top in 1986.

Working with the U.S. Olympic Field Hockey team, Weaver has brought national attention to Salisbury. She has been head clinician for U.S. developmental clinics since 1981 and was selected by the Governor of Barbados last August to help develop the Barbados national team.

Aside from her duties as field hockey and lacrosse coach at SSC, Weaver is an instructor in the Physical Education Department. She earned her master's degree in Physical Education at Purdue University with a concentration in Sports Sociology.

Planned Parenthood of Maryland in Salisbury announces hours for the 1987 spring semester:

The Supply Clinic is Tuesdays, 4-6 p.m.; appointments are Wednesdays, 3-7 p.m. and Thursdays, 10 a.m.-1:30 p.m.

The services provided include annual gynecological examinations (breast, pap smear, and pelvic exam), contraceptive education and supplies, sexually transmitted disease screening and treatment, free pregnancy testing, counseling and referral.

Every Tuesday that school is in session supplies, including condoms, are provided from 4-6 p.m. No appointment is necessary.

College students and others may make appointments by calling Planned Parenthood at the Health Center, at 543-6265.

Position of Dean Open

Nominations and applications are invited for the position of dean of the school of Liberal Arts.

The dean reports to the vice-president for Academic Affairs and is the chief academic, budgetary, and personnel officer for the School of Liberal Arts. In addition, the dean will help define the School's mission within the larger College mission, will oversee liberal arts curriculum development and change, and will work with the deans of the other schools to strengthen the College. The deanship is an administrative 12-month position; salary is negotiable and commensurate with experience.

Qualifications are an earned doctorate in the humanities, social sciences, or administration with a strong liberal-arts background; and extensive teaching experience with evidence of teaching excellence and demonstrated administrative competence, e.g., as chairperson, associate dean, or dean. Applicants also should have strong interpersonal communication skills, sensitivity to the needs and resources of a diverse academic component, a well-developed perspective on liberal arts education and a demonstrated ability to promote the programs and efforts of the school within the wider community.

Application receipt deadline is Monday, March 2. Send a resume, a letter highlighting relationships between applicant experience and requirements for the present position, and four letters of reference with current phone numbers and addresses to: Dr. Polly Stewart, Chair, Dean's Search Committee, Department of Liberal Studies, Salisbury State College, Salisbury, MD 21801 (301) 543-6452.

Salisbury State College is an equal-opportunity, affirmative-action employer.

Physical Education Faculty/Head Football Coach

The College seeks an individual for a tenure-track position teaching in the Department of Physical Education, serving as head coach of football, and other departmental responsibilities. Inasmuch as the position is defined as approximately 60% teaching and 40% coaching, the successful candidate will possess an area of academic expertise compatible with the department's curricular offerings as well as the ability to coach football. Excellent oral and written communication skills also are required. The successful applicant will hold at least a master's degree, and the rank and salary of the position will be commensurate with degree status and experience.

The Department of Physical Education provides general education experiences for the entire student body as well as a multi-track P.E. major with options in teacher education, health-fitness, athletic training and dance. Athletically, the College competes in NCAA Division III with an athletic program committed to academic integrity and personal growth among student-athletes.

Please send letters of application and resumes to Dr. Keith J. Conners, dean of the School of Professional Studies, Salisbury State College, Salisbury, Maryland 21801, no later than March 4. SSC is an affirmative action, equal opportunity employer.

Women's Softball Note

Any students wishing to play women's varsity softball during the spring semester should call head coach Dawn McCrumb at ext. 6359 as soon as possible.

Code of Conduct, Judicial System, Sexual Harassment Policy

To provide students with information on expectations for responsible citizenship and/or procedures for judicial proceedings, a written Student Code of Conduct now exists along with a revised Judicial System Guide.

Topics included in the Code of Conduct include academic and computer dishonesty; theft; possession, storage, use of firearms; drug and alcohol use; misuses of College property; false information; assault and verbal harassment; violence and extremism; disruptive behavior; sexual harassment; and hazing.

The Judicial Guide explains disciplinary proceedings in residence halls and campus wide, the function of student advocates, procedural and due process, and sanctions and appeals. Copies of both brochures will be widely circulated and available from the College Center information desk and Dean of Students Office.

The recently developed and approved Sexual Harassment Policy will also be available from the Dean of Students Office, College Center information desk and departmental offices.

Rights and Privacy Act

SSC will assume the right, under the provisions of the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act, to provide student directory information without prior consent of the student. Directory information is defined as a student's name, local address (if listed), date and place of birth, major field of study, participation in officially recognized activities and sports, weight and height of an athletic team member, dates of attendance, degrees and awards received, most recent previous educational agency or institution attended and listing of officers of student organizations (including names and addresses).

In the event a student wants more or less than directory information released, please notify the Office of the Dean of Students, ext. 6080, or stop by room 243, Holloway Hall.

Security Insurance Plan

SSC students and/or their dependents now have an opportunity to enroll in a flexible and convenient insurance plan, The Sentry Student Security Plan.

Any student under the age of 65 who is registered and attending a state accredited college or university that formally authorizes the Sentry plan is eligible to enroll. There are no restrictions based on the number of credits or non-credit scholastic hours.

Coverage may also be maintained during the summer vacations and up to one term after graduation. This program offers several good options. Please stop by the Health Center for a brochure or application. The College has authorized this insurance program.

Interest Meeting: SSC Trip to the Soviet Union

Dr. Robert Berry of the History Department and Dr. Greg Cashman of the Political Science Department are offering a three-credit course this summer entitled, Contemporary Soviet Union. The course is designed to provide a multi-faceted survey of Soviet history, culture, politics and economics.

The classroom study will be capped with a two-week tour of the USSR, including visits to Moscow, Leningrad, Kiev and Novgorod. The trip begins August 12 and ends August 26.

For more information call Dr. Berry or Dr. Cashman at ext. 6245.

Spring String Festival

The 1987 Salisbury Symphony "Spring String Festival" will bring the internationally renowned composer Vaclav Nelhybel back to the College on Sunday, April 5 for a gala concert featuring children of all school ages on string instruments with the Salisbury Symphony Orchestra.

The event is sponsored by the SSC Foundation, Inc. and the Salisbury Wicomico Arts Council.

More than 100 children are invited to participate. Any child from grade four through 12 who would like to join the Salisbury Symphony Orchestra for the Festival is asked to contact the school coordinator, Mrs. Bobbie Thamer, at East Salisbury School, telephone 749-3488 or 749-5494.

Dr. Nelhybel will conduct the orchestra including music he has written especially for the occasion.

Dr. Thomas G. Elliot, chairman of the Department of Music at the College and conductor of the Salisbury Symphony Orchestra, commented on the importance of supporting young string players.

"They will be the future members of the Symphony Orchestra," said Dr. Elliot. Young string players don't have the glitter and attention that the school band does, and they need special encouragement to continue their studies."

WSSC Radio

WSSC Radio 73AM 107.5 CAFM, the campus radio station, welcomes the student body back for the spring semester. Some openings for DJs, news/sports and advertising departments are still open.

If you are interested in radio as a hobby or a career goal, the next meeting is on Tuesday, February 24, at 3:30 p.m. in Caruthers Hall Auditorium.

Outdoor Club Stomps Into Spring

The next Outdoor Club trip will be a weekend of backpacking on the northern part of the Appalachian Trail in Maryland on March 6, 7 and 8. Inexperienced backpackers are welcome, and equipment (except for sleeping bags) may be borrowed from the club. Attend weekly club meetings on Tuesdays at 6:30 in Tawes 118 for information. Sign up continues at the meeting on March 3. Cost is $4.

Planning is also underway for the two spring break trips: backpacking on the Appalachian Trail in southwestern Virginia or canoeing on the Suwanee River in Florida. Both trips will run from March 27 to April 4.

Stop Smoking Clinic

"Breathe-Free," a Stop Smoking Clinic sponsored by Salisbury State College, the Seventh Day Adventist Church and the American Cancer Society, is once again being offered to anyone wishing to be free from smoking. The eight-session program meets March 3, 5, 8-12 and 16, at 7-9 p.m., at the Salisbury Nursing Home on Route 50 and Civic Avenue.

To register for Breathe-Free, call the American Cancer Society at 749-1624. The cost for the program is $10 per person.

Counseling Services

Counseling Services conducts walk-in hours from 1-3 p.m. Monday through Thursday. Anyone who wishes to see a counselor and has not seen one before, is welcome between those hours.

The National Teachers Examinations - Things You've Wanted to Know but Didn't Know Where to Ask

- Q. What is the NTE?
A. The NTE (National Teachers Examination) is a nationally standardized test composed of three core battery tests (communication skills, general knowledge, professional knowledge) and a specialty area test.
- Q. Who should take the NTE?
A. Anyone seeking initial teaching certification in Maryland and Virginia. States in other parts of the country also require the NTE.
- Q. When does the NTE requirement become effective in Maryland?
A. As of April 21, 1987, applicants must meet qualifying scores which will be decided upon this year.
- Q. When should college students register for taking the NTE?
A. As late in their college career as possible. Information gained in coursework and in student teaching will be extremely helpful in understanding and responding to questions on the NTE tests. In some cases, students even register for the NTE after graduation.
- Q. Is the NTE a graduation requirement?
A. No, it is a Maryland State Department of Education Teaching Certification requirement.
- Q. Where can specific information be obtained about test registration, test centers, cost, etc.?
A. From Education Department advisors and/or Alvah Constantine, director of Field Experiences, Caruthers Hall B-150.

There will be a one-man show in Gallery I by Barbara Sticher.

Dr. Bellavance accepts check from Klein Leister

Leister Donates To Foundation

Klein Leister of Pocomoke City has donated $1500 to the College—$500 each to the new public radio station, the Class of '43 Memorial Fund and the President's Club.

A former owner of WKHI radio and president of WKRE radio in Exmore, he not only is contributing money but time to the new public radio station, WSCL-FM, by serving on its board of directors. He believes an emphasis on "quality programming" will help the new station to attract listeners.

His wife, Mary Lee Moore Leister, is a member of the Class of '43.

In donating to the President's Club, Leister said, "I wanted to show support for the school and for Thomas Bellavance. I'm very impressed with his energy, he's a hard worker and he's a fine president."

Leister also is chairman of the board of trustees of Hartley Hall nursing home in Pocomoke City and on the executive committee of the Salisbury State Foundation.

Chinese Economic Reform - A Banker's Viewpoint

"The Viability of Economic Reform in China" is the topic of a presentation by Dr. John R. Stuermer, regional manager of the Country Risk Management Division of First Chicago Bank, whose responsibilities include Asia and Eastern Europe, on Monday, March 9, at 7:30 p.m. in Caruthers Hall Auditorium.

"The economic reform process in China," said Dr. Stuermer, "has scored a series of stunning successes in agriculture, urban light industry and services. Success in agriculture has been achieved largely by dismantling the commune system, while progress in urban light industry and services has been achieved by allowing the establishment of small-scale enterprises on an individual or collective basis."

"However," continued Dr. Stuermer, "continuation of the economic reform process involves taking on the most persistent and unsolvable problem facing all socialist economic systems: imposing financial responsibility and discipline on larger-scale industrial enterprises."

"This is a key problem," said Dr. Stuermer, "faced by all socialist systems, both more orthodox ones, such as the Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia, as well as ones which have attempted to introduce market oriented reforms, such as Hungary and Yugoslavia. Financial discipline is a problem, because enterprises have limited incentive to produce quality merchandise at reasonable cost without the discipline of market competition."

"Furthermore, failure to produce profitably is rarely a problem under a Socialist economy, because operating losses are either subsidized directly via disbursements from the state budget, or credit is extended by state banking organizations, suppliers and other affiliated organizations. The capitalist remedy of bankruptcy, even when it is a legal possibility—as it has been in China since the middle of last year—is rarely enforced due to the political embarrassment of unemployment and loan write-offs that would be required.

"Thus," said Dr. Stuermer, "the Dengist leadership is at a point where it must decide exactly how serious its commitment to economic reform really is. It must proceed to implement the bankruptcy law in 1987 while expanding price liberalization, previously extended to consumer and agricultural goods, to key industrial commodities as well. The ability of the Dengist leadership to deal with the unemployment and price rises—that must follow at least in the short run—will be a more significant indicator of China's future prospects than handling of the student demonstrations that broke out in the latter part of 1986 and early this year."

The presentation, part of the College's year-long cultural events series, "China: Tradition and Transformation," is sponsored by the Faculty Cultural Events Committee and the SSC Foundation Inc. Like all programs in the series, the lecture is free and open to the public.

International Film Series: East and West

Wednesday, March 11

DODES'KA-DEN (Akira Kurosawa for Toho Motion Picture Co., 1970). Based on The Town Without Seasons, a collection of short stories by Shogoro Yamamoto. A retarded boy named Rokkuchan thinks he is a trolley car. Kurosawa, Japan's greatest living director, takes a potentially depressing topic and makes it light, bright and endearing.

The film series is organized and operated by Jim Welsh, Associate Professor of English and Film for the College Center. All screenings in Devilbiss Science Hall Auditorium at 7 p.m.

Scholarships for the Physically Disabled

Eligible students are encouraged to apply for two tuition scholarships for physically disabled students to be awarded for the 1987-88 academic year.

The tuition scholarship program is coordinated by the College's Admissions Office; Dean of Students Office; and its student organization for the physically disabled, PROUD (Progressively Reaching Out toward Understanding Disabilities).

To be eligible to apply, a student must be a resident of Maryland, have completed high school with a 2.5 grade point average, have scored at least 800 on the Scholastic Aptitude Test, submit an essay to the SSC Financial Aid Office outlining college ambitions and career goals, and meet the certifiable physical disability requirements.

The scholarship is renewable each year, provided the student maintains at least a 2.5 grade point average.

Deadline for registration is June 15.

Physically disabled students may also qualify for partial funding for their college education through the State Department of Vocational Rehabilitation and other Federal financial aid programs such as the Pell Grant.

For more information on the tuition scholarship and other financial aid programs for the physically disabled, contact the SSC Admissions Office at 1-800-492-1175 (Maryland residents) or 1-800-638-7655 (non-Maryland residents) or call PROUD at (301) 543-6082.

Growing Up Chinese

"Growing Up Chinese: The Influence of Culture and Schools" is the topic of a presentation by Dr. Jean Grambs, professor of Education in the Department of Human Development at the University of Maryland College Park, on Thursday, March 5, at 7:30 p.m. in Caruthers Hall Auditorium.

"Chinese education 'fits' the culture far more closely than is the American experience," said Dr. Grambs. "Children (especially boys) are deeply valued and cherished, but there is an express displeasure with any effort to place oneself ahead of the group. In school and out, children learn very early that the group is more important than the individual. Individualism is quickly squashed although individual talents are recognized and supported."

"The family and the culture place high value on education," continued Dr. Grambs. "Learning the Chinese language is very time consuming and children are expected to spend most of their time out of school on homework. The Cultural Revolution disrupted education for a number of years in People's Republic of China."

"However," added Dr. Grambs, "the school system of Taiwan, the Republic of China, represents the traditional system with some modern emphasis. The organization of the school day, the classroom procedures, the role of entrance examinations, are all consistent with a Chinese view of how learning takes place and how children should behave in and out of school."

The presentation, part of the College's year-long cultural events series, "China: Tradition and Transformation," is sponsored by the Faculty Cultural Events Committee and the SSC Foundation Inc. Like all programs in the series, the lecture is free and open to the public.

Three SSC Wrestlers Qualify for NCAA Nationals

Three Salisbury State wrestlers—DeWayne Harris, Dan Masucci and Bob Kays—are wrestling in the NCAA Division III national championships on March 6-7 at SUNY-Buffalo, NY.

The three wrestlers each placed third this past weekend in the NCAA regionals at Washington & Lee University in Lexington, VA. Overall SSC had four wrestlers place third, two place fourth and two place fifth.

Harris, a junior from Dover, DE, won two and lost two in the 142 pound weight class. He defeated Jim Dougherty of Kean College in the quarterfinals 13-3, and came back to decision Dougherty for third place 16-3.

Masucci, a junior from Salisbury (J.M. Bennett) won four straight matches after losing his opener in the 150 pound class. He defeated Brian Petrakakos of Kean (fall, 6:00), Kim Hughes of Montclair (13-3), Joe Matraizzo of Rutgers-Newark (pin, 3:50) and John Talton of Rutgers-Camden (5-2).

Kays, a junior from Severn, lost his opening match in the 158 class to John Gligor of Rutgers-Camden 6-5, but came back to defeat Gligor 7-6 for third place. Kays also defeated Jim Williamson of Glassboro State 16-6.

Although the top two finishers from each weight class qualify for the nationals, Harris, Masucci and Kays qualified by a coaches vote because of the strong competition faced during the season and the expectations of each wrestler.

Also taking third place for the Sea Gulls was Sean Fitzpatrick, a sophomore from Rockville. Fitzpatrick, after losing his opener in the 177 pound class to Rick Redfoot of Washington & Lee 13-5, defeated Kim Taylor of Kean (pin, 3:33) and Jim Reynolds of Glassboro State (pin, 1:58).

Teige McShane, a junior from Salisbury (J.M. Bennett) placed fourth in the 126 pound class. McShane, 2-2 in the regionals, defeated Harry Xenitelis of Glassboro 8-3 and Larry O'Rourke of Kean 8-2 before losing to Rob Carscadden of Hampden-Sydney 15-0.

Also taking a fourth place was George Bethard, a sophomore from Wilmington, DE. Bethard was 1-2 in the heavyweight class, pinning Don Olivio of Montclair State in a time of 5:44. He lost the third place match to Bill Navengast of Rutgers-Newark in 1:43.

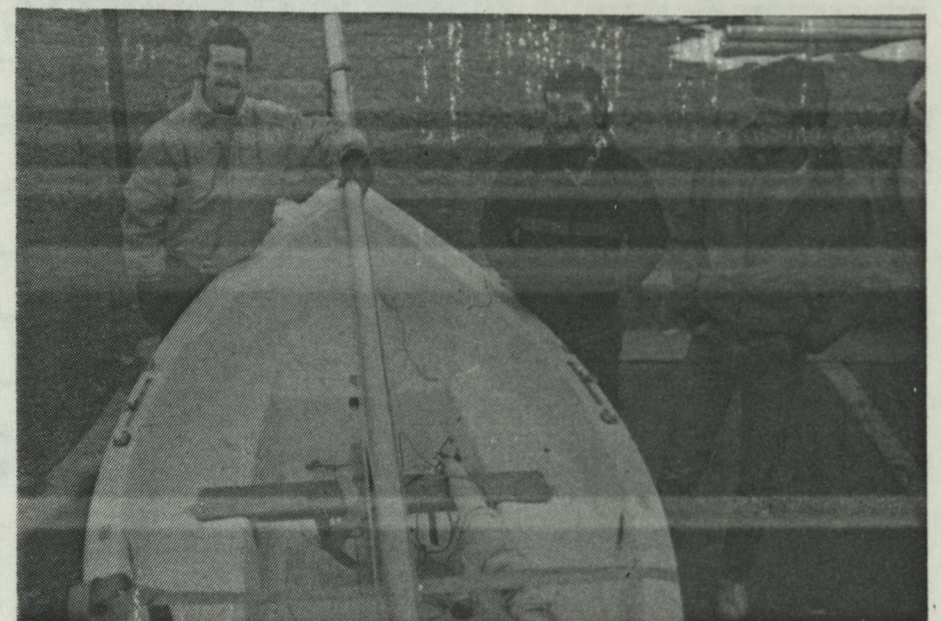

A fifth place winner for SSC was Seong Kim, a freshman from Alexandria, VA. Kim defeated Chris Brockman of Glassboro State (injury default) in the 134 pound class for fifth. He was 2-2 during the regionals.

Jim Nestor, a sophomore from Laurel, MD, also took fifth place in the regionals. Nestor defeated Camino Matarozzo by injury default for fifth place in the 167 pound class after winning one of three matches.

"We wrestled quite well," said SSC head coach Ron Otto, who guided the Gulls to a 5-3 dual match record during 1986-87. "We are pleased to have three guys going to the nationals."

The last SSC wrestler to place in the nationals was Jim O'Halloran (heavyweight) in 1984-85. O'Halloran placed third overall.

Trenton State was the only team to qualify out of the region for the nationals.

Sailing Club Holds Spring Meeting

The Salisbury State Sailing Club holds its initial spring meeting Wednesday, March 4, at 8 p.m. in Room 113 of Caruthers Hall.

It will plan its spring activities, show video tapes of the recent America's Cup races and discuss renaming a 14-foot sloop recently donated by William Netting of Street, MD, whose daughter is a student at the College.

The sloop will hold two people comfortably, John Morris, advisor to the club, said. It currently is being docked on the Wicomico River in Mt. Vernon. The boat will be available to all members of the Sailing Club. All members of the College community are welcome to attend meetings.

SSC Women Win ESAC South Division

Kim Fiedler scored a career high 30 points to lead the College's women's basketball team to a 90-70 win over Frostburg State College in the championship game of the Eastern States Athletic Conference South Division on Saturday night in Salisbury.

The Sea Gulls shot a sizzling 71 percent from the floor in the first half as Fiedler tallied 24 points en route to a 58-40 halftime lead. SSC missed just nine of 31 shots in the opening half. Myra Sturgis, who hit 10-13 for the game, had 23 points and Dawn Webb had 18 points, 10 of those at the free throw line.

Margie Morris scored 28 points for Frostburg State, finishing its season with a 14-12 record. Salisbury, 17-9, defeated Frostburg all three times in which the two schools met this season. Prior to this year, SSC had not beaten Frostburg in the last seven years.

The Sea Gulls will play Spring Garden on Saturday at a time to be determined. It will be played in Philadelphia, PA. Spring Garden, the defending ESAC champs, defeated Allentown 88-70 on Saturday to win the ESAC North Division.

Chinese Myths, Symbols

Dr. John S. Major, director of New York Lecture Program for the Asia Society, presents a lecture entitled, "Chinese Myths and Symbols," on Thursday, February 26, at 7:30 p.m. in Caruthers Hall Auditorium.

The lecture, part of the College's year-long cultural events series, "China: Tradition and Transformation," is sponsored by the Faculty Cultural Events Committee and the SSC Foundation, Inc. Like all programs in the series, the lecture is free and open to the public.

A New Volume by Michael Waters

A small volume of poems by Michael Waters, titled The Barn in the Air, will be published this spring by Livingston University Press. The book contains a baker's dozen poems that have been previously published in journals such as Kansas Quarterly, The Poetry Miscellany, The Greenfield Review and Tar River Poetry.

During January, Dr. Waters was a guest for three weeks at Yaddo, the artists' colony in Saratoga Springs, NY. This residency at Yaddo was Waters' fifth.

Hedeen Lecture February 26

Dr. Robert A. Hedeen, professor of Biological Sciences, will present the program at the regular meeting of The Friends of the Salisbury Zoo at 8 p.m. on Thursday, February 26, at the Salisbury Elks Club. The subject of Dr. Hedeen's lecture-slide show will be "The Natural History of the Salt Marsh."

Dr. Hedeen has been a faculty member at SSC since 1971 and is the author of two books, numerous magazine articles and a newspaper column dealing with the natural history of the Eastern Shore.

American Poetry And Oriental Thought

"American Poets as Affected by Eastern Thought" is the topic of a presentation by Dr. Anthony Piccione, an associate professor of English at the State University of New York at Brockport, on Tuesday, March 10, at 7:30 p.m. in Caruthers Hall Auditorium.

Dr. Piccione will discuss the four major moves of Zen poetry, and Eastern influence upon the work of contemporary American poets such as Robert Bly, Gary Snyder and Lucien Stryk. Dr. Piccione, author of several volumes of poetry, has taught in China and has translated Chinese poetry.

"Before us are a few shaggy stream-bank bushes, in dim light mist," said Dr. Piccione. "Steep sharp crags rise up all around, from our own mossy haze down here to the gray wash over the horizonless peaks. Incredibly, a man-speck is halfway up the mountain path, tiny in such distance. What we love about Sumie painting and ancient Chinese poetry is in it, simple and clear."

"I remember first, though," continued Dr. Piccione, "that I loved the likelihood that the questing man, calmly alone, may have just left a few hermit friends after drinking wine and sharing poems for the night of it. So, clean, nonconceptual awakening to spirit matters, love of nature, distance from the market place, kindness and lots of undisciplined cheap wine are there, in our kinship with the old robed saints!"

"In the poetry," he said, "we find this deeply known but commonly overlooked province that rises and disappears over the centuries, lost, recovered, rediscovered. Its genesis is in any man or woman who truly wakes, alive to the return of the world, to the shine of the Way dimmed or forgotten since childhood. Tang poets showed us. Li Po, Po Chu-yi, Han Shan. A seed or two sang in our own lyric poetry. Blake saw it, Thoreau, Whitman too. By luck of timing, we are born to Archibald MacLeish, W.C. Williams, Theodore Roethke, Robert Bly, Denise Levertov, Lucien Stryk, Gary Snyder, James Wright, Galway Kinnell.

"All of it calls us, simply, to see as the child sees, as on the first day of the world. That's all, or central, and it's not very complex: to witness, beyond pre-conception, the world here and now, in the unfolding present. We are reminded to pay close, loving attention to minute particulars, one at a time. In this, the great secret is no secret, the universe packed into the particle, the great unity of all connections includes us, the world is at hand, right here, for the one who wakes again to that first waking."

The presentation, part of the College's year-long cultural events series, "China: Tradition and Transformation," is sponsored by the Faculty Cultural Events Committee and the SSC Foundation Inc. Like all programs in the series, the lecture is free and open to the public.

For more information on this and other "China" series programs, call (301) 543-NEWS.

Liszkowska Addresses New Center Club

Agata Liszkowska, a graduate student with the Dance Company and an international student from Poland, addressed the New Center Club of Delmar on Tuesday, February 17. She talked about her native Poland.

Any civic, service or educational organization desiring a presentation by one of SSC's international students or a member of the SSC Speaker's Bureau should contact the SSC Public Relations Office at ext. 6030.

Donna Sue Thomas

First Female Battalion Commander Named at SSC

Donna Sue Thomas, a senior from La Plata, MD, has been named the first female battalion commander in the seven-year history of U.S. Army ROTC at SSC. This is a milestone for Salisbury's ROTC program, which began in 1980 with 58 cadets and has since grown to almost 200 cadets.

The decision to select Thomas, a Geography major, as battalion commander was based on her ROTC grade point average, semester and cumulative grade point averages, ROTC Advanced Camp performance, as well as on-campus activities. In addition, she scored the highest in the Order of Merit List among her peers.

Thomas, who completed training at the U.S. Army Airborne School last summer, finished 400 at ROTC Advanced Camp out of 3,400 cadets, scoring 827 points out of a possible 1,000. She was ranked third from Salisbury State for overall camp performance and eighth in a combined Order of Merit List with the University of Delaware and Salisbury State College. Thomas is also a recipient of the Distinguished Military Student Award, the Physical and Military Proficiency Awards, as well as an active member of the campus Geography Club.

Thomas's most recent accomplishment included being nominated for the Pallas Athene Award, which if selected, would recognize her as the top female cadet in the First ROTC Region which encompasses much of the East Coast. She will serve on active duty in Military Intelligence after being commissioned second lieutenant in May.

Beth Israel Offers Correspondence Course

What Is a Jew-ish Home?

A Jewish home is one in which a Jew lives; however, a Jewish home can be much more, according to Rabbi Silber of Beth Israel Congregation. To learn about Judaism in the comfort of your home at your own pace and level consider the Beth Israel Correspondence Course (B.I.C.C.).

"Since I have been in Salisbury there is evidence of a trend to get back to Judaism itself as well as its connection with surrounding social and religious trends," Rabbi Silber said. "Signs of this I see by the fact that not I alone ask the questions, but they are being asked of me; such as, 'What is a Jew? In what way am I different from my neighbor?' plus many others. This correspondence course allows you to work in your own home. A Jewish home is an excellent place for study, so please call the office to register for B.I.C.C. I hope to hear from all of you." Upon completion of this course participants are awarded a certificate.

The Chinese Garden—A Lesson in Philosophy

"The Gardens of China" will be the topic of a presentation by Ms. Alfreda Murck, the associate curator-administrator for the Department of Far Eastern Art at The Metropolitan Museum of Art, on Wednesday, March 18, at 7:30 p.m. in the Caruthers Hall Auditorium.

"The Chinese scholars' garden is more than an outdoor extension of the home for everyday activities," said Ms. Murck. "It also functions as a special quiet place of retreat and contemplation."

"On the philosophical level," she said, "it is a condensation of the universe, a man-made landscape that embodies the principles of nature and expresses the Chinese attitude toward the world."

"Illustrated with slides of gardens and scenery, the lecture will describe the origins of Chinese gardens and the theory of their design."

Ms. Murck has been associate curator at The Metropolitan Museum of Art since 1978. She was previously curator of the Far Eastern Seminar and lecturer on Chinese art, Art and Archaeology at Princeton University from 1976 to 1978.

The presentation, part of the College's year-long cultural events series, "China: Tradition and Transformation," is sponsored by the Faculty Cultural Events Committee and the SSC Foundation, Inc. Like all programs in the series, the lecture is free and open to the public.

Zemarel Orchestra To Perform at Gala

Zim Zemarel and his Orchestra, one of the East Coast's top dance bands, will perform at the eighth annual Salisbury State College Foundation Gala on Saturday evening, April 11, in the Ruth Powell Dining Hall.

Like last year, the Gala features dining and dancing. Diane Savage of Berlin is this year's chairwoman. The Zim Zemarel Orchestra will play music from the 40s and the 80s following a standing rib dinner.

Zemarel's Orchestra was chosen as 1983's "Band of the Year" by Big Bands International Magazine. The London-based magazine chose Zemarel's Orchestra for its innovative "Swazze" sound which features precision ensemble playing, fine soloists and a relaxed swing sound in fresh, new arrangements.

The monies raised from the $125 a couple event go to the Salisbury State College Foundation, born 14 years ago out of a necessity to supplement the College's financial needs with private support.

For more information on the Foundation or ticket information for the Gala, call the Office of College Advancement at (301) 543-6175.

Code of Conduct, Judicial System, Sexual Harassment Policy

To provide students with information on expectations for responsible citizenship and/or procedures for judicial proceedings, a written Student Code of Conduct now exists along with a revised Judicial System Guide.

Topics included in the Code of Conduct include academic and computer dishonesty; theft; possession, storage, use of firearms; drug and alcohol use; misuses of College property; false information; assault and verbal harassment; violence and extremism; disruptive behavior; sexual harassment; and hazing.

The Judicial Guide explains disciplinary proceedings in residence halls and campus wide, the function of student advocates, procedural and due process, and sanctions and appeals. Copies of both brochures will be widely circulated and available from the College Center information desk and Dean of Students Office.

The recently developed and approved Sexual Harassment Policy will also be available from the Dean of Students Office, College Center information desk and departmental offices.

Rights and Privacy Act

SSC will assume the right, under the provisions of the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act, to provide student directory information without prior consent of the student. Directory information is defined as a student's name, local address (if listed), date and place of birth, major field of study, participation in officially recognized activities and sports, weight and height of an athletic team member, dates of attendance, degrees and awards received, most recent previous educational agency or institution attended and listing of officers of student organizations (including names and addresses).

In the event a student wants more or less than directory information released, please notify the Office of the Dean of Students, ext. 6080, or stop by room 243, Holloway Hall.

SSC Trip to the Soviet Union

Dr. Robert Berry of the History Department and Dr. Greg Cashman of the Political Science Department are offering a three-credit course this summer entitled, Contemporary Soviet Union. The course is designed to provide a multi-faceted survey of Soviet history, culture, politics and economics.

The classroom study will be capped with a two-week tour of the USSR, including visits to Moscow, Leningrad, Kiev and Novgorod. The trip begins August 12 and ends August 26.

For more information call Dr. Berry or Dr. Cashman at ext. 6245.

SSC Participation in the Salisbury Festival

The fourth Salisbury Festival will be held May 1, 2 and 3. If you, your department or your organization would like to be involved with the Festival in any manner (volunteer, performance, special booth) please contact Gains Hawkins no later than February 27. This year's Festival promises to be even more event-filled with an ever-increasing number of out-of-town guests visiting Salisbury. It should be an excellent opportunity for the College to display many of its diverse programs.

Women's Softball Note

Any students wishing to play women's varsity softball during the spring semester should call head coach Dawn McCrumb at ext. 6359 as soon as possible.

Spring String Festival

The 1987 Salisbury Symphony "Spring String Festival" will bring the internationally renowned composer Vaclav Nelhybel back to the College on Sunday, April 5 for a gala concert featuring children of all school ages on string instruments with the Salisbury Symphony Orchestra.

The event is sponsored by the SSC Foundation, Inc. and the Salisbury Wicomico Arts Council.

More than 100 children are invited to participate. Any child from grade four through 12 who would like to join the Salisbury Symphony Orchestra for the Festival is asked to contact the school coordinator, Mrs. Bobbie Thamer, at East Salisbury School, telephone 749-3488 or 749-5494.

Dr. Nelhybel will conduct the orchestra including music he has written especially for the occasion.

Dr. Thomas G. Elliot, chairman of the Department of Music at the College and conductor of the Salisbury Symphony Orchestra, commented on the importance of supporting young string players.

"They will be the future members of the Symphony Orchestra," said Dr. Elliot. Young string players don't have the glitter and attention that the school band does, and they need special encouragement to continue their studies."

Stop Smoking Clinic

"Breathe-Free," a Stop Smoking Clinic sponsored by Salisbury State College, the Seventh Day Adventist Church and the American Cancer Society, is once again being offered to anyone wishing to be free from smoking. WSCL Needs You

WSCL-FM is seeking a special person with an interest in American music—big band, bluegrass, folk, blues, show tunes, etc. If you have a sizeable record collection that fits this general category, and if you would like to share your love of music with others, then we would like to talk with you. We have a Sunday night slot where we would like to feature fine American music. This is a volunteer position. For information call WSCL-FM at ext. 6895.

Bus Trip Set to See Jesus Christ Superstar

The Salisbury Wicomico Arts Council is now taking reservations for a bus trip to Toby's Dinner Theatre in Columbia to see the Webber and Rice musical, Jesus Christ Superstar.

Jesus Christ Superstar is Webber and Rice's first successful musical, that took the theatre world by storm in the early 1970s. They went on to write such popular musicals as Evita and Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat. Superstar may be an unusual way to refer to a religious figure but Webster's Dictionary defines superstar as someone with exceptional skill and talent. With all the reverence deserved, Webber and Rice have, through modern words and music, defined Jesus as the brightest and greatest "Superstar" the world has ever known. Many inspiring songs in this musical, such as "I Don't Know How to Love Him," take part in the telling of the story of Jesus and his followers through the time of his crucifixion.

The bus trip is on Sunday, March 29. It departs Salisbury from the Civic Center parking lot at 9:30 a.m. and arrives at Toby's Dinner Theatre in time for Sunday brunch and the performance at 1 p.m. The bus returns to Salisbury at approximately 7 p.m. Tickets for the trip, which include the cost of the bus and the Sunday brunch performance are: $35 and $33 for SWAC members.

Since tickets for this bus trip are limited, anyone interested in attending the show is urged to send in their check as soon as possible. Deadline for the receipt of checks for this trip is March 20. Send your check (made payable to SWAC) to the Salisbury Wicomico Arts Council, P.O. Box 884, Salisbury, MD 21801

AIDS Program At UMES on March 5

The Maryland Health Education Resource Organization (HERO) will present a program titled "What Everyone Should Know About AIDS" on Thursday, March 5, at 7 p.m. in The Ella Fitzgerald Center for Performing Arts. Students, faculty, staff and the general public are invited to attend free-of-charge. There is ample parking directly behind the Fitzgerald Center.

Racine Winborne, assistant director of field services, who operated community education programs for HERO, will head up the UMES program. It is sponsored by the UMES Student Health Center and the Somerset County Health Department.

According to Winborne, HERO is the State of Maryland's solely designated non-profit AIDS Education Group. Founded in 1983, HERO provides, in addition to education, non-medical patient services to AIDS virus-infected individuals, trains professionals in AIDS education, provides an AIDS network, operates an AIDS hotline, and staffs over 30 paid employees and 300 volunteers.

Community education programs are involved in three general areas: outreach to the minority community, outreach to the gay and lesbian community and outreach to the IV drug community. AIDS (Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome) is caused by a virus known as HTLV-III which damages the body's natural immune system. Thus the person's ability to fight disease becomes severely weakened. AIDS patients frequently develop rare and unusual diseases. Most common among these are Kaposi's sarcoma (a form of cancer) and pneumonia caused by Pneumocystis carinii, a parasite that does not usually cause disease in human beings.

Arts Council Deadline

The Salisbury Wicomico Arts Council announces to all high school seniors and college freshmen, sophomores and juniors that March 13 is the deadline for applications for the Brent Scholarship Awards.

Established in memory of the late Herbert Brent, a leading arts supporter in the community, the awards are made to students enrolled in formal study leading to a certificate or degree in the fine (media) and performing arts. Awards of up to $500 will be made to a maximum of four young artists. Scholarships are limited to use for tuition and fees for the 1987-88 academic year.

Applications must be received by the Arts Council Office, P.O. Box 884, Salisbury, MD 21801, by March 13. (No late entries will be accepted). All applicants will be interviewed by the Arts Council Scholarship Committee on Saturday, March 28. Artists must submit a portfolio and performers must audition for the Committee at the time of that interview. Scholarship recipients will be announced in May.

For more information or to obtain an application, call the Arts Council at 543-ARTS(2787). Also, for information on how the public may contribute to the Brent Scholarship fund, contact the Arts Council.

Can We Buy Your Gas?

Accomack-Norhampton Transportation District Commission is sponsoring a ridesharing incentive program. For more information call 787-POOL or 787-7665.

Australia/New Zealand Trip Interest Meeting

Jim Welsh and Tom Erskine of the English Department and Edna Quinn of the Nursing Department will hold an interest meeting for a Winter Term travel course to Australia and New Zealand. The projected trip will take place during the last two and a half weeks of January 1988 and will be preceded and followed by readings, lectures and appropriate films. The projected English courses include a three-hour course in literature and film and a three-hour course in culture and media. Cultural Considerations in Nursing, an elective for Nursing majors, is the projected Nursing course.

The meeting will take place from 5-6 p.m., March 10, in 108 Devilbiss Science Hall. Information will be distributed and two short films will be shown. Estimated cost for the trip, including hotel, transportation, and some meals, is $2,700.

Personal Safety Tips

These personal safety tips, compiled by the Department of Public Safety, apply when on campus as well as in the Salisbury area or wherever you may reside. The precautions may lessen the likelihood of becoming a victim. Increasing our awareness of crime prevention techniques may decrease the opportunity for a person to commit a criminal offense.

1. You are your own best protection.
2. Keep your door locked at all times. Don't unlock the door for strangers. Keep your first floor windows locked.
3. Walk in well-lit areas and stay near the curb, away from alleys, entry ways and bushes where someone could be hiding.
4. Do not walk or jog alone after dark.
5. Avoid short cuts. Walk where there are other people present.
6. Do not hitchhike or accept rides from strangers. If a driver asks you for directions, stay far enough away so that you cannot be pulled into the car. Do not pick up strangers.
7. If you are being followed when walking, change direction, cross the street and vary your speed. Go to a well-lit area or a place where there are other people. If followed by someone in a car, turn and walk in the other direction. Record the license number.
8. Park your car in a well-lit area and lock the doors.
9. If you need an escort to or from your car, call the Department of Public Safety, ext. 6222.
10. Report any suspicious activity or crimes to the Public Safety Office.

For more information on personal safety, contact the Department of Public Safety, located in Holloway Hall, room 022, ext. 6222.

- Wednesday, March 11 - 4 - 5 p.m.
- Monday, March 16 - 4 - 5 p.m.
- Tuesday, March 17 - 6 - 7 p.m.
- Wednesday, March 18 - 4 - 5 p.m.

All classes are in the Word Processing Lab, on the first floor of Blackwell Library. Enrollment is limited, so please sign up in advance for these classes. Sign-up sheets are in the Word Processing Lab.

American Poetry And Oriental Thought

"American Poets as Affected by Eastern Thought" is the topic of a presentation by Dr. Anthony Piccione, an associate professor of English at the State University of New York at Brockport, on Tuesday, March 10, at 7:30 p.m. in Caruthers Hall Auditorium.

Dr. Piccione will discuss the four major moves of Zen poetry, and Eastern influence upon the work of contemporary American poets such as Robert Bly, Gary Snyder and Lucien Stryk. Dr. Piccione, author of several volumes of poetry, has taught in China and has translated Chinese poetry.

The presentation, part of the College's year-long cultural events series, "China: Tradition and Transformation," is sponsored by the Faculty Cultural Events Committee and the SSC Foundation Inc. Like all programs in the series, the lecture is free and open to the public.

For more information on this and other "China" series programs, call (301) 543-NEWS.

Open House Saturday

The College invites all prospective students and their families to an Open House on Saturday, March 7, from 9:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Originating at Holloway Hall, the Open Houses include an informal coffee hour featuring presentations by faculty members and administrators about various aspects of the College and a walking tour of the campus and its facilities hosted by an SSC student. Individual counseling with representatives of the Admissions-Financial Aid Office is available at the conclusion of the Open House.

The College urges all students to visit as part of the college selection process. For more information on the Open House, call the Admissions Office at ext. 6160.

Ward Foundation Plans Annual Dinner

The annual members' dinner sponsored by the Ward Foundation is on Saturday, March 14, at the Ruth Powell Dining Hall. The dinner is held each March to honor the members of the non-profit, wildfowl art foundation, which currently number about 7,000 worldwide.

According to Marcia Wilson, program manager for the foundation, tickets are available for the occasion. Tickets are priced at $20 each and include complimentary cocktails and a dinner of roast sirloin and baked chicken.

A special feature of this year's dinner will be an auction of selected working decoys, wildfowl carvings, and wildfowl prints, with Pete Richardson serving as the auctioneer. A 1948 Ward Brothers black duck decoy will be raffled during the dinner.

Willie Crockett, a watercolor artist from the Eastern Shore of Virginia, will present a painting demonstration from 6 until 7 p.m.

For ticket information, call the Ward Foundation administrative office at 742-4988.

Burgess and Slattery Judge District Show

James Burgess, chairman of the Art Department, and senior Art major Timothy Slattery, were the invited judges for the 8th Annual Youth Art Exhibition on Sunday, March 2, in Princess Anne. The show is sponsored by the Somerset Women's Civic Club for students, grades 7-12.

Winners from the show, held at Washington High School, will be eligible for the state show this spring.

Local Organist Plans Longwood Debut Concert for March 8

Dr. Nancy Joyce Cooper of the Musical Arts Department continues the Winter Organ Series at Longwood Gardens on Sunday, March 8, with a 2:30 p.m. recital. For her Longwood debut, Cooper has programmed the complete Dudley Buck transcription of the William Tell Overture by Rossini. She will also perform Prelude and Fugue in B major by Marcel Dupre.

The recital is planned for the Conservatory Ballroom and there is unreserved seating for 300 on a first come, first served basis. The program is included in the regular garden admission of $5 for adults, $1 for children aged 6-14, and is free for children under age 6.

The Longwood Gardens Aeolian pipe organ was installed in 1929-30 for the late Pierre S. DuPont in a building especially designed for it adjacent to the main display conservatories. Considered to be one of the most complete organs in the country, the instrument has 10,010 pipes, weighs approximately 55 tons and is operated by three separate motors.

Longwood Gardens is located on U.S. Route 1, near Kennett Square, PA. For further information, call 215-388-6741.

Pritchard and Wolinski at National Teaching Seminar

Dr. Florence Fay Pritchard, assistant vice president for Academic Affairs, and Dr. John T. Wolinski, associate professor of Education, will conduct a workshop at the National Seminar on Successful College Teaching to be held in Orlando, Florida, March 8-11.

Pritchard and Wolinski's workshop, "A Model for College Teaching" is one of only eight workshops selected for presentation at this national forum which will attract college faculty and administrators from throughout the United States. Pritchard and Wolinski derived their "college teaching model" from their extensive study of the research on "teaching effectiveness" and its practical application in the college curriculum.

Townsend Berlin Library Speaker

Dr. Barbara A. Townsend spoke Saturday, February 21, at the Berlin Library in a program sponsored by the Friends of the Library.

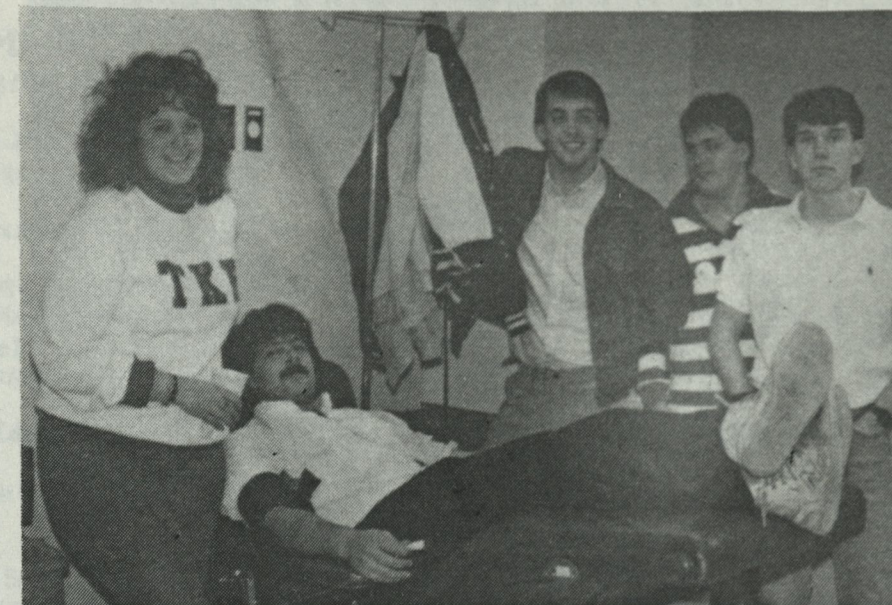

The topic, "You, Your Child and the Magic Pebble," dealt with how parents and teachers can use picture books to enrich the lives of the children and increase the development of skills. The program included slides of children's books, the use of puppets, magnetic stories, and other story-telling techniques to help children with verbal skills, vocabulary, experiential background, memory, sequencing, socialization and manipulative ability.

Bradley Speaks On Constitution

Mrs. Sylvia Bradley, addressed the Berlin Middle School assembly on Thursday, January 15. The topic of her presentation was "Why We Celebrate the Bicentennial of the Constitution."

A member of the History Department, Mrs. Bradley is part of the Speaker's Bureau. The Speaker's Bureau offers area organizations several speakers discussing a variety of subjects. There is no charge for the service.

Any civic, service or educational organization desiring a speaker should contact the SSC Public Relations office at (301) 543-6030.

Fraternity Donates Blood

Chinese Economic Reform - A Banker's Viewpoint

"The Viability of Economic Reform in China" is the topic of a presentation by Dr. John R. Stuermer, regional manager of the Country Risk Management Division of First Chicago Bank, whose responsibilities include Asia and Eastern Europe, on Monday, March 9, at 7:30 p.m. in Caruthers Hall Auditorium.

"The economic reform process in China," said Dr. Stuermer, "has scored a series of stunning successes in agriculture, urban light industry and services. Success in agriculture has been achieved largely by dismantling the commune system, while progress in urban light industry and services has been achieved by allowing the establishment of small-scale enterprises on an individual or collective basis."

"However," continued Dr. Stuermer, "continuation of the economic reform process involves taking on the most persistent and unsolvable problem facing all socialist economic systems: imposing financial responsibility and discipline on larger-scale industrial enterprises."

"This is a key problem," said Dr. Stuermer, "faced by all socialist systems, both more orthodox ones, such as the Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia, as well as ones which have attempted to introduce market oriented reforms, such as Hungary and Yugoslavia. Financial discipline is a problem, because enterprises have limited incentive to produce quality merchandise at reasonable cost without the discipline of market competition."

"Furthermore, failure to produce profitably is rarely a problem under a Socialist economy, because operating losses are either subsidized directly via disbursements from the state budget, or credit is extended by state banking organizations, suppliers and other affiliated organizations. The capitalist remedy of bankruptcy, even when it is a legal possibility—as it has been in China since the middle of last year—is rarely enforced due to the political embarrassment of unemployment and loan write-offs that would be required.

"Thus," said Dr. Stuermer, "the Dengist leadership is at a point where it must decide exactly how serious its commitment to economic reform really is. It must proceed to implement the bankruptcy law in 1987 while expanding price liberalization, previously extended to consumer and agricultural goods, to key industrial commodities as well. The ability of the Dengist leadership to deal with the unemployment and price rises—that must follow at least in the short run—will be a more significant indicator of China's future prospects than handling of the student demonstrations that broke out in the latter part of 1986 and early this year."

The presentation, part of the College's year-long cultural events series, "China: Tradition and Transformation," is sponsored by the Faculty Cultural Events Committee and the SSC Foundation Inc. Like all programs in the series, the lecture is free and open to the public.

For more information about this and other "China" series programs, call (301) 543-NEWS.

Growing Up Chinese

"Growing Up Chinese: The Influence of Culture and Schools" is the topic of a presentation by Dr. Jean Grambs, professor of Education in the Department of Human Development at the University of Maryland College Park, on Thursday, March 5, at 7:30 p.m. in Caruthers Hall Auditorium.

"Chinese education 'fits' the culture far more closely than is the American experience," said Dr. Grambs. "Children (especially boys) are deeply valued and cherished, but there is an express displeasure with any effort to place oneself ahead of the group. In school and out, children learn very early that the group is more important than the individual. Individualism is quickly squashed although individual talents are recognized and supported."

The presentation, part of the College's year-long cultural events series, "China: Tradition and Transformation," is sponsored by the Faculty Cultural Events Committee and the SSC Foundation Inc. Like all programs in the series, the lecture is free and open to the public.

For more information on this and other "China" series programs, call (301) 543-NEWS.

The Salisbury State Program Board presents "People in Conflict" a program on self-defense. A sensible and informative, yet entertaining lecture about dealing with the threat of personal violence. This program is on Tuesday, March 17, at 7:30 p.m. in Holloway Hall Auditorium. No tickets are necessary. The event is free and open to the public.

Wellness Day

The College's third annual "Wellness Day" has been scheduled for Monday, April 27, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Red Square. (Rain date is Monday, May 4.) Please start thinking now about how you would like to become involved in Wellness Day '87. Your department will be contacted in the not too distant future. For further information, call Ann Patey (Health Center, ext. 6262) or Phyllis Banks (School of Nursing, ext. 6403).

Daffodil Day

Daffodil Day on campus is Thursday, March 12, and is part of the four-day annual event to benefit the American Cancer Society. Members of the Student Health Advisory Committee (SHAC) are proud to be involved for the third year in this worthy cause. $449.00 was raised on campus last year, and more than $300.00 in 1985.

SHAC Members will again take orders for daffodils, or orders may be called in to the Health Center on March 3, 4, and 5. Single daffodils are 75¢ each, three for $1.50, and bunches of 10 selling for $4; price includes a gift card. Orders may be picked up between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. in room 101 of the College Center on March 12. Additional flowers also may be purchased during these hours.

Plan to buy and brighten your day and someone else's as well!

Defense Is Strong for SSC Men's Lacrosse Team in '87

This year's men's lacrosse team will have a slightly different look from last season. The Sea Gull defense is stronger now and head coach Joe Rotellini believes his team will give up fewer goals.

"The strongest area of the team is the defense because of our depth and returning players," said Rotellini, who led SSC to a 12-4 record last season including the first round of the NCAA playoffs. "As a whole, the team's talent level is pretty even. Everyone knows his role and for us to be successful, everyone has to carry his role on the team."

Defensively, the Gulls now can rotate five to six people without losing much. Senior Mike Murray (Bowie) leads the group which also includes senior Jim Toner (Valley Cottage, NY), juniors Pete Roskovich (Catonsville) and Brian King (Baltimore) and sophomores Jeff Ransom (Silver Spring) and Tom Bruchman (Reisterstown).

The depth on the defense goes much deeper. Juniors Brett Imirie (Gathersburg) and Glen Wingrove (Baltimore) lead a list of talented freshmen George Geise (Pasadena), Tim Lebling (Ellicott City), Robert Lynch (Centerport, NY), Chris Olsen (Bel Air) and Rick Stevenson (Easton).

The midfield has three strong groups of players. The frontline group is very explosive offensively and includes senior co-captain Ron Sansone (Maplewood, NJ), senior Jeff Cross (Corning, NY) and junior Rick Maranto (Crofton). The second group at midfield has good skills in the transition game and defense. Senior Alan Abe (Severna Park) heads the group with junior Ron McGann (Westfield, NJ) and sophomore Mike Frick (Pasadena).

Providing depth at midfield is a group of players, many of whom are pushing the first two groups. Juniors Ray Bowen (Lothian), Mark Ferrier (Kent Island) and Steve Potter (Cambridge) along with senior Steve Kline (Fallston) sophomore Pat McNulty (Catonsville) and freshman Regie Scales (Abingdon) will see action and could be vital to SSC's success.

Returning at face-off for the Gulls are two experienced and talented players. Doug Boozer (Towson) and Carlos Mir (Martinsville, NJ) are both juniors who have done a great job of winning a majority of their face-offs.

The attack has returning senior and co-captain Jim Sturgell (Deale). Sturgell is the leading scorer returning from last season as he had 34 goals and 28 assists. Two players who saw playing time last season will be counted on this year for additional scoring. They are Tim Berquist (Towson) and Jerry Judge (Queenstown), both sophomores.

Behind them are newcomers Mike Provenzano (Chester, NJ) and Greg Pasko (Baltimore), both juniors and sophomore Brent Whalen (Westminster).

The goalie situation is similar to last year at this time with Rotellini still trying to decide on a starter. Four goalies are on the team including returnee Mike Parks (Cambridge), a junior. Junior Bill Collinson (Harwood), sophomore Butch Marsh (Pasadena) and freshman David Slomkowski (Laurel) will vie for playing time.

Overall, Rotellini feels his young squad will get better as the season goes on. The scoring won't be as high as last year but the defense has the experience and depth to hold opponents to fewer goals per game.

The competition on SSC's schedule this season will be tough. Some of the best teams in Division III including Washington College, Ithaca, Roanoke, Lynchburg, LeMoyne and Pfeiffer will travel to Sea Gull Stadium. SSC also will have road games against Guilford, Kutztown, Mt. St. Mary's and St. Mary's. Division I foe Loyola will be an opponent in Salisbury during the year.

The salary is in the upper teens. The position is available immediately. The application deadline is March 15. Submit application to: Director of Financial Aid, Salisbury State College, Salisbury, MD 21801.

Salisbury State College is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer.

Art Entries Solicited

An exhibit of "Flowers" will be in Gallery II of the Art Institute and Gallery from Monday, March 23, through Friday, April 24. This is a judged show open to all artists 18 years and older, professional and amateur. All works are original. Entries will be accepted on Saturday, March 21, from 9 a.m. to noon. For further information call A.I.G. at 546-4748 or Phyllis Billman at 546-0313.

Artists and guests are invited to the reception on Sunday, March 22, from 2 to 4 p.m. Awards will be presented at that time.

The Gallery is located on Route 50 & Lemmon Hill Lane in downtown Salisbury. The public is invited to this exhibit and to visit Monet's Corner Gift Shop, the place to buy fine art books and gifts in Salisbury. Gallery hours are Monday through Saturday, noon to 4 p.m.

There will be a one-man show in Gallery I by Barbara Stichter.

Batter Up! Baseball Opens Friday

A more experienced and seasoned baseball team in 1987 will help lift the College to greater heights in the upcoming season.

Head coach Deane Deshon (Maine Maritime '53) enters his 24th season (374-281-11) at the Sea Gull helm with 18 returnees among the 35 prospects on the preseason roster.

"Compared to last year (when the Gulls went 12-28-1), all aspects of the team are improved," said Deshon. "We had giant holes to fill last year, but the young kids that experienced 1986 are back. I think we made sufficient strides this year to feel comfortable going into the season. Our offense, pitching and fielding are improved."

SSC has the nucleus to build a strong outfield in 1987. Returning from two years ago is junior Randy Collett (Glen Burnie). Collett hit .362 in 1985 and will be positioned in right field. Senior Bruce Matthews (Salisbury), who played first base for much of last season, is slated as the centerfielder. Matthews led the team last year in hitting with a .396 average. Leftfield appears to have Allen Cook (Smyrna, DE) penciled in. Cook hit .348 last year, coming on strong at the end. Don Bennett (Jhamsville), a freshman with good talent, is the top backup in the outfield.

Only one position in the infield has a returning starter from last year—second base. Senior co-captain Devin Warwick (Salisbury) had a fine season in 1986, hitting .304 and leading the Gulls from second. However, the remaining infield positions are being battled for.

Senior Jeff Stokes (Worton) and sophomore Russ Smith (Westminster) seem to have the inside track at shortstop and third base, respectively. Stokes saw limited playing time two years ago.

At first base, Deshon hopes one of the three M.'s—senior pitcher C.R. Murphy (Cambridge), sophomore Chris Manouse (Baltimore) or freshman Mike Marinelli (Leonardtown)—will be able to handle the job.

Several players qualify for excellent backups in the infield including a newcomer to the program, junior Russ Reeling (Berlin).

Three players will vie for the catching duties. Junior Rob Hartwell (Keene, NH) saw time behind the plate last season and could be the starter. However, sophomore Greg Hook (Ocean View, DE) and freshman Artie Purdue (Seaford, DE) will push Hartwell for playing time.

Pitching will have to be improved upon if the Gulls are to have an excellent season. Last year SSC pitchers gave up almost seven runs per game. However, Deshon does have some solid returnees to build on.

Senior co-captain Craig Shreeves (Salisbury) and Murphy head the list of pitchers in camp. Juniors Ted Peters (Fort Washington) and Ricky Collett (Glen Burnie) also return from last year along with sophomore Kevin Smith (Kingsville). Newcomers hoping to help SSC's pitching are junior Mike Nees (Flemington, NJ) sophomores Dean Mitchell (Dagsboro, DE) Steve Smith (Cape Charles, VA) and Al Pritchett (Easton) and freshmen Mark Perry (Laurel, DE), John King (Laurel, MD), and Mike Wiseman (Wilmington, DE).

SSC will have a 32-game schedule (10 games at home) in 1987 with the opener on Friday at Christopher Newport. Traditional rivals Frostburg State, Spring Garden, Mt. St. Mary's and Virginia Wesleyan will travel to Sea Gull Stadium during the season. SSC will make its spring trip to the Carolinas and face Division I foes Baptist and The Citadel while also playing tough teams such as NC Wesleyan, Francis Marion and Methodist.

The National Teachers Examinations - Things You've Wanted to Know but Didn't Know Where to Ask

- Q. What is the NTE?
- A. The NTE (National Teachers Examination) is a nationally standardized test composed of three core battery tests (communication skills, general knowledge, professional knowledge) and a specialty area test.
- Q. Who should take the NTE?
- A. Anyone seeking initial teaching certification in Maryland and Virginia. States in other parts of the country also require the NTE.
- Q. When does the NTE requirement become effective in Maryland?
- A. As of April 21, 1987, applicants must meet qualifying scores which will be decided upon this year.
- Q. When should college students register for taking the NTE?
- A. As late in their college career as possible. Information gained in coursework and in student teaching will be extremely helpful in understanding and responding to questions on the NTE tests. In some cases, students even register for the NTE after graduation.
- Q. Is the NTE a graduation requirement?
- A. No, it is a Maryland State Department of Education Teaching Certification requirement.
- Q. Where can specific information be obtained about test registration, test centers, cost, etc.?
- A. From Education Department advisors and/or Alvah Constantine, director of Field Experiences, Caruthers Hall B-150.

Anderson on National Panel

At the request of the U.S. Department of Education, Office of Special Education and Rehabilitative Services, Dr. Eva K. Anderson, assistant professor of education recently served on a national panel of field reviewers of grant proposals.

The proposals were submitted by colleges and universities throughout the nation. The grant competition concerned the development of post-secondary educational services for learning disabled individuals.

The nationally selected panel met in Washington, D.C. in January. Dr. Anderson, a licensed psychologist, has extensive experience as a consulting psychologist to rehabilitation agencies in Maryland and New York.

Cheerleading Tryouts

Cheerleading tryouts for the 1987 football season are Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, March 11, 12 and 13 from 4 to 6 p.m. in the upstairs gym of Maggs. Men as well as women are invited to try out. For more information call ext 6341.

Dance Classes for Children

A ten-session workshop in creative movement for children from four to 10 years old will be offered by Salisbury State College starting Saturday, March 14.

The classes are from 10 to 11 a.m. on Saturdays, culminating in a recital on May 23 in the Dance Studio of Maggs Physical Activities Center. The cost is $40 per child; $38 if payment is made before Wednesday, March 11.

Instructor for the class is Jacqueline Cole, a four-year member of the SSC Dance Company with experience teaching children.

Checks should be made payable to the SSC Dance Company. For more information call Dance Company director, Kathryn Martin at 543-6353.

Photonational: Playing with the Photographic Image

"Photonational," a national exhibition of contemporary photographs juried by Judy Dater and William Larsen, both photographers with international reputations whose works are represented in collections throughout the world, are on view at the Gallery, located on the second floor of Blackwell Library, until March 26.

The two jurors selected 139 photographs by 94 different artists from nearly 1,500 works submitted by 537 artists from throughout the United States and Canada. Despite these numbers, this is still a relatively select group, according to John Vanco, director of the Erie Art Museum of Pennsylvania, which organized the show. "Both jurors felt that the overall quality of the submissions was exceptional," Vanco said.

Including both color as well as black and white photographs, the exhibition shows a wide range of individual styles and technical approaches to photography. According to a college spokesman, about two-thirds of the works are examples of "synthetic or manipulated" photography, in which the original photographic image is altered through any number of modifications, including darkroom manipulation, multiple printings, collage, and the addition of drawing and handcoloring. "Straight" photography, on the other hand, essentially reflects what the photographer saw at the moment the image was snapped. Yet even in the "straight" works, which comprise about one-third of the exhibition, the emphasis is on personal expressions, as opposed to objective documentation.

Photographic processes represented in the exhibition include silver prints, photoetchings, and type C and R prints.

The showing of "Photonational" at the College Gallery was made possible, in part, by a grant from the Maryland State Arts Council.

Gallery talks on the exhibition, given by Karen Mitchell, take place each Wednesday at 2 p.m. and 7 p.m. Gallery hours are Monday and Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., Tuesday and Thursday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., and Saturday and Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m. Admission is free.

John Steinbeck's classic, Of Mice and Men, opens Friday, March 13. Leonard Harrington and Robyn Wesley play two lonely people, whose lives touch with tragic results.

Of Mice & Men Opens March 13

John Steinbeck's stage adaptation of his classic novel, Of Mice and Men, opens Friday, March 13, in Holloway Hall on stage, for a two weekend run.

This retelling, more than most stage interpretations of literary works, closely followed the novel, Stark Young wrote in The New Republic. And "There is considerable magnificence in the tight-lipped retelling of this singular tragedy..." Brooks Atkinson wrote in The New York Times.

The story centers on two drifters, George and Lennie, working on an isolated ranch in California. A young bride there, desperate for companionship, searches out the company of the ranch hands and provokes her jealous husband to violence.

Lennie, a shy brute of a man with the mind of a child, also is desperate for love. Unaware of his own strength, however, he destroys anything he touches, whether it be a harmless field mouse or a newborn puppy. Despite fierce efforts by George who acts as Lennie's likeable protector and guide, the gentle giant and the confused woman come together with tragic results.

Steinbeck "... is a virtuoso in the free-hand sketching of a narrative," Atkinson said. "Under the comedy and the gusto of ranch life the note of doom is constantly echoing..."

Of Mice and Men "shoots across the footlights," George Jean Nathan wrote in Newsweek.

In the Salisbury State production, Lennie is played by Leonard Harrington, George by David Cherry and the restless bride by Robyn Wesley. Directing and costume and sound design are by T. Paul Pfeiffer. Set and lighting design are by Gerald Patt.

Of Mice and Men is performed at 8 p.m. on March 13, 14, 19, 20 and 21, with a matinee on Sunday, March 15, at 2 p.m. For reservations and ticket information, call the box office at ext. 6228.

We would like to invite you to an evening of art on Sunday, March 15th from three to six p.m. at

Christopher's

We think you will delight in both the playful abstractions and nostalgic period portraiture of the exhibit. Join us for an opening celebration and viewing of paintings and silkscreens by Gretchen Altergott. Refreshments will be served. ■

People In Conflict—How Not to Fight and Win

A Program on Self Defense

Between Bernhard Goetz vigilantism, stun guns, and the rash of self-defense books and courses on the market, public debate over the best means to protect people against violence in conflict has continued, with no satisfactory solutions in sight. On Tuesday, March 17, at 7:30 p.m. in Holloway Hall Auditorium, Robert Oran Hall will present his highly acclaimed lecture/program, "People in Conflict," about dealing with the threat of personal violence.

Hall is a black belt self-defense instructor at the Rochester Institute of Technology where most of his time is spent teaching students how not to fight and win. Having studied and taught fighting arts together since 1969, he is well qualified to speak on the realities of physically violent alternatives. More importantly, however, research indicating that most violent crimes initiate non-violently and escalate, gave cause for Hall to question the validity of traditional approaches which don't begin to deal with conflicts until they have already escalated to violence.

The actual program involves a unique and entertaining demonstration of the problems with commonly recommended self-defense techniques, followed by a discussion on the realities of physical combat. Also issues are discussed such as date rape, bar conflicts and other social situations which may begin non-violently but give rise to aggressive measures.

Hall, in addition to his experience in the martial arts, has studied criminal research on the interaction of crime victims and offenders. He also has researched rape and sexual assault (including sexual aggression in dating relationships), and has reviewed over 100 books and courses on self-defense education.

He has co-authored a 20-hours course on conflict management in self-defense, which has been taught at the Rochester Institute of Technology since 1984. His work has been the topic of radio and television talks shows including CBS affiliate Channel 10 in Rochester and WGR radio in Buffalo. The courses and lectures have won support from law enforcement professionals and martial artists alike, and are regarded by many as the most realistic and practical approach to self-defense in recent years.

His lecture is sponsored by the Salisbury State Program Board. Admission is free and open to the public. No tickets are necessary.

Arts Council Deadline

The Salisbury Wicomico Arts Council announces to all high school seniors and college freshmen, sophomores and juniors that March 13 is the deadline for applications for the Brent Scholarship Awards.

Established in memory of the late Herbert Brent, a leading arts supporter in the community, the awards are made to students enrolled in formal study leading to a certificate or degree in the fine (media) and performing arts. Awards of up to $500 will be made to a maximum of four young artists. Scholarships are limited to use for tuition and fees for the 1987-88 academic year.

Applications must be received by the Arts Council Office, P.O. Box 884, Salisbury, MD 21801, by March 13. (No late entries will be accepted). All applicants will be interviewed by the Arts Council Scholarship Committee on Saturday, March 28. Artists must submit a portfolio and performers must audition for the Committee at the time of that interview. Scholarship recipients will be announced in May.

For more information or to obtain an application, call the Arts Council at 543-ARTS(2787). Also, for information on how the public may contribute to the Brent Scholarship fund, contact the Arts Council.

On-Campus Housing

During the week of March 9-13, any full-time student (either on- or off-campus) wishing to request a room for the fall 1987 semester must come to the Housing Office, HH-130, from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Personal Safety Tips

These personal safety tips, compiled by the Department of Public Safety, apply when on campus as well as in the Salisbury area or wherever you may reside. The precautions may lessen the likelihood of becoming a victim. Increasing our awareness of crime prevention techniques may decrease the opportunity for a person to commit a criminal offense.

1. You are your own best protection.
2. Keep your door locked at all times. Don't unlock the door for strangers. Keep your first floor windows locked.
3. Walk in well-lit areas and stay near the curb, away from alleys, entry ways and bushes where someone could be hiding.
4. Do not walk or jog alone after dark.
5. Avoid short cuts. Walk where there are other people present.
6. Do not hitchhike or accept rides from strangers. If a driver asks you for directions, stay far enough away so that you cannot be pulled into the car. Do not pick up strangers.
7. If you are being followed when walking, change direction, cross the street and vary your speed. Go to a well-lit area or a place where there are other people. If followed by someone in a car, turn and walk in the other direction. Record the license number.
8. Park your car in a well-lit area and lock the doors.
9. If you need an escort to or from your car, call the Department of Public Safety, ext. 6222.
10. Report any suspicious activity or crimes to the Public Safety Office.

For more information on personal safety, contact the Department of Public Safety, located in Holloway Hall, room 022, ext. 6222.

Word Processing Training Sessions

Anyone wishing to use the work-processing package SuperScripsit, on the RadioShack microcomputers, is encouraged to sign up for one of the following training sessions:

- Monday, March 16 - 4 - 5 p.m.
Tuesday, March 17 - 6 - 7 p.m.
Wednesday, March 18 - 4 - 5 p.m.

All classes are in the Word Processing Lab, on the first floor of Blackwell Library. Enrollment is limited, so please sign up in advance for these classes. Sign-up sheets are in the Word Processing Lab.

SSC Participation in the Salisbury Festival

The fourth Salisbury Festival will be held May 1, 2 and 3. If you, your department or your organization would like to be involved with the Festival in any manner (volunteer, performance, special booth) please contact Gains Hawkins no later than February 27. This year's Festival promises to be even more event-filled with an ever-increasing number of out-of-town guests visiting Salisbury. It should be an excellent opportunity for the College to display many of its diverse programs.

Attention May '87 Graduates

The College's commencement exercises will be held on Saturday, May 30, at 10 a.m. at the Wicomico Youth and Civic Center. Details concerning graduation will follow at a later date.

Ward Foundation Plans Annual Dinner

The annual members' dinner sponsored by the Ward Foundation is on Saturday, March 14, at the Ruth Powell Dining Hall. The dinner is held each March to honor the members of the non-profit, wildfowl art foundation, which currently number about 7,000 worldwide.

According to Marcia Wilson, program manager for the foundation, tickets are available for the occasion. Tickets are priced at $20 each and include complimentary cocktails and a dinner of roast sirloin and baked chicken.

A special feature of this year's dinner will be an auction of selected working decoys, wildfowl carvings, and wildfowl prints, with Pete Richardson serving as the auctioneer. A 1948 Ward Brothers black duck decoy will be raffled during the dinner.

Willie Crockett, a watercolor artist from the Eastern Shore of Virginia, will present a painting demonstration from 6 until 7 p.m.

For ticket information, call the Ward Foundation administrative office at 742-4988.

Zemarel Orchestra To Perform at Gala

Zim Zemarel and his Orchestra, one of the East Coast's top dance bands, will perform at the eighth annual Salisbury State College Foundation Gala on Saturday evening, April 11, in the Ruth Powell Dining Hall.

Like last year, the Gala features dining and dancing. Diane Savage of Berlin is this year's chairwoman. The Zim Zemarel Orchestra will play music from the 40s and the 80s following a standing rib dinner.

Zemarel's Orchestra was chosen as 1983's "Band of the Year" by Big Bands International Magazine. The London-based magazine chose Zemarel's Orchestra for its innovative "Swazze" sound which features precision ensemble playing, fine soloists and a relaxed swing sound in fresh, new arrangements.

The monies raised from the $125 a couple event go to the Salisbury State College Foundation, born 14 years ago out of a necessity to supplement the College's financial needs with private support.

For more information on the Foundation or ticket information for the Gala, call the Office of College Advancement at (301) 543-6175.

Counseling Services

Counseling Services conducts walk-in hours from 1 - 3 p.m. Monday through Thursday. Anyone who wishes to see a counselor and has not seen one before, is welcome between those hours.

Tenure Track Position Open In Chemistry

Tenure track position starting September 1987, to teach both upper and lower division Chemistry courses in a growing baccalaureate Chemistry program. The rank and salary are contingent on experience. A Ph.D. in Inorganic Chemistry is required and some teaching experience is desirable. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply. Applicants should send a resume and names of three references to: Chairman, Chemistry Search Committee, Chemistry & Physics Department, Salisbury State College, Salisbury, MD 21801. The committee will start evaluating applications as of March 15, 1987. Salisbury State College is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer.

No Newsletter March 26

No Newsletter will be printed Thursday, March 26, because of the spring break. It will resume publication Thursday, April 2.

The SSC News is a newsletter for the campus community published each Thursday during fall and spring semesters, unless noted. The deadline is noon on Monday prior to publication. Newsletter stories and items usually are proofed and typeset on a first come, first served basis, so don't feel you have to wait until Monday to get your article to the Public Relations Office (HH 264).

Any story relating to the life of the campus, whether it be of interest to students, faculty or staff, is welcomed. Because we cannot canvass the campus personally, we are grateful to those who keep us current on the activities and issues affecting College life.

Leon Fleisher To Play March 24

The Salisbury Wicomico Arts Council has announced that the Maryland Brass Quintet will close their 1986-87 performance season in Salisbury with a Gala Concert on Tuesday, March 24 at 8 p.m. in the Parkside High School Auditorium. Joining the Annapolis Brass will be special guests, the acclaimed Maestro Leon Fleisher and his wife pianist Katherine Jacobson. Tickets are $12.00 ($10.00 for Arts Council members).

Leon Fleisher is one of the most celebrated pianists of our time. He made his Carnegie Hall debut at the age of 16, was named by the Ford Foundation as one of the "top ten concert artists representing America's musical resources at their highest level," and was a "superstar" pianist with a hectic concert schedule.

At the height of his career, in 1964-65 a muscular problem in his right hand forced Fleisher to withdraw from performing. But his misfortune did not keep him out the music world. He began teaching at the Peabody Institute, became Music Director of the Annapolis Symphony and began a conducting career. He was the associate conductor of the Baltimore Symphony for five years. In 1982, he came out of retirement to play with the Baltimore Symphony when it opened the Meyerhoff Concert Hall.

Fleisher is an extraordinary man, of talent, dedication to his music and personal courage. The Salisbury Wicomico Arts Council is proud to welcome him to Salisbury for his performance on the finale of the Annapolis Brass Quintet's season.

Tickets are available at the Arts Council office in the Civic Center or at John Hanson Savings & Loan on Riverside Drive and the Downtown Plaza. They may also be purchased at any of the ten branches of the Peninsula Bank during regular lobby hours. For more information call the Arts Council at 543-ARTS.

The Chinese Garden— A Lesson in Philosophy

"The Gardens of China" will be the topic of a presentation by Ms. Alfreda Murck, the associate curator-administrator for the Department of Far Eastern Art at The Metropolitan Museum of Art, on Wednesday, March 18, at 7:30 p.m. in the Caruthers Hall Auditorium.

"The Chinese scholars' garden is more than an outdoor extension of the home for everyday activities," said Ms. Murck. "It also functions as a special quiet place of retreat and contemplation."

"On the philosophical level," she said, "it is a condensation of the universe, a man-made landscape that embodies the principles of nature and expresses the Chinese attitude toward the world."

The presentation, part of the College's year-long cultural events series, "China: Tradition and Transformation," is sponsored by the Faculty Cultural Events Committee and the SSC Foundation Inc. Like all programs in the series, the lecture is free and open to the public.

For more information on this and other "China" series programs, call (301) 543-NEWS.

China Lecture Date Changes

Please announce to classes: The Sam Goldstein lecture, scheduled for March 16, has been changed to April 30.

Spring String Festival

The 1987 Salisbury Symphony "Spring String Festival" will bring the internationally renowned composer Václav Nelhybel back to the College on Sunday, April 5 for a gala concert featuring children of all school ages on string instruments with the Salisbury Symphony Orchestra.

The event is sponsored by the SSC Foundation, Inc. and the Salisbury Wicomico Arts Council.

More than 100 children are invited to participate. Any child from grade four through 12 who would like to join the Salisbury Symphony Orchestra for the Festival is asked to contact the school coordinator, Mrs. Bobbie Thamer, at East Salisbury School, telephone 749-3488 or 749-5494.

Dr. Nelhybel will conduct the orchestra including music he has written especially for the occasion.

Dr. Thomas G. Elliot, chairman of the Department of Music at the College and conductor of the Salisbury Symphony Orchestra, commented on the importance of supporting young string players.

"They will be the future members of the Symphony Orchestra," said Dr. Elliot. Young string players don't have the glitter and attention that the school band does, and they need special encouragement to continue their studies."

WSSC Derby Days

WSSC 73 AM—107.5 Cable FM announces Derby Days! Derby Days are a week of concerts, movies and games. Derby Days teams are made up of female SSC students. Each team is led by one male captain. The Derby Days week is from April 20-25. Deadline for entry is March 27 at 4 p.m. Teams may file for entry at WSSC in Tawes Gym during regular business hours, or by calling WSSC at ext. 6195. Ask for Susan Dedeyan or Chris Peach. Teams should consist of 10-15 people. So come on and get involved in the biggest activity of the year.

Wellness Day

The College's third annual "Wellness Day" has been scheduled for Monday, April 27, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Red Square. (Rain date is Monday, May 4.) Please start thinking now about how you would like to become involved in Wellness Day '87. Your department will be contacted in the not too distant future. For further information, call Ann Patey (Health Center, ext. 6262) or Phyllis Banks (School of Nursing, ext. 6403).

Daffodil Day

Daffodil Day on campus is Thursday, March 12, and is part of the four-day annual event to benefit the American Cancer Society. Members of the Student Health Advisory Committee (SHAC) are proud to be involved for the third year in this worthy cause. $449.00 was raised on campus last year, and more than $300.00 in 1985.

SHAC Members will again take orders for daffodils, or orders may be called in to the Health Center on March 3, 4, and 5. Single daffodils are 75¢ each, three for $1.50, and bunches of 10 selling for $4; price includes a gift card. Orders may be picked up between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. in room 101 of the College Center on March 12. Additional flowers also may be purchased during these hours.

Plan to buy and brighten your day and someone else's as well!

To register for Breathe-Free, call the American Cancer Society at 749-1624. The cost for the program is $10 per person.

Cheerleading Tryouts

Cheerleading tryouts for the 1987 football season are Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, March 11, 12 and 13 from 4 to 6 p.m. in the upstairs gym of Maggs. Men as well as women are invited to try out. For more information call ext 6341.

Dance Classes for Children

A ten-session workshop in creative movement for children from four to 10 years old will be offered by Salisbury State College starting Saturday, March 14.

The classes are from 10 to 11 a.m. on Saturdays, culminating in a recital on May 23 in the Dance Studio of Maggs Physical Activities Center. The cost is $40 per child; $38 if payment is made before Wednesday, March 11.

Instructor for the class is Jacqueline Cole, a four-year member of the SSC Dance Company with experience teaching children.

Checks should be made payable to the SSC Dance Company. For more information call Dance Company director, Kathryn Martin at 543-6353.

Scholarships for the Physically Disabled

Eligible students are encouraged to apply for two tuition scholarships for physically disabled students to be awarded for the 1987-88 academic year.

The tuition scholarship program is coordinated by the College's Admissions Office; Dean of Students Office; and its student organization for the physically disabled, PROUD (Progressively Reaching Out Toward Understanding Disabilities).

To be eligible to apply, a student must be a resident of Maryland, have completed high school with a 2.5 grade point average, have scored at least 800 on the Scholastic Aptitude Test, submit an essay to the SSC Financial Aid Office outlining college ambitions and career goals, and meet the certifiable physical disability requirements.

The scholarship is renewable each year, provided the student maintains at least a 2.5 grade point average.

Deadline for registration is June 15.

Physically disabled students may also qualify for partial funding for their college education through the State Department of Vocational Rehabilitation and other Federal financial aid programs such as the Pell Grant.

For more information on the tuition scholarship and other financial aid programs for the physically disabled, contact the SSC Admissions Office at 1-800-492-1175 (Maryland residents) or 1-800-638-7655 (non-Maryland residents) or call PROUD at (301) 543-6082.

AAUW Scholarship

Applications are now being accepted for the Doris Gay Calcott Memorial Scholarship, offered by the Salisbury branch of the American Association of University Women.

The $1,000 scholarship was named last year in memory of the longtime Salisbury civic leader. Junior or senior women attending Salisbury State College who are residents of the Eastern Shore of Maryland and show financial need may qualify.

Applications may be obtained from the Dean of Students Office, room 243, Holloway Hall. The deadline is April 6.

Mrs. Calcott, who died in 1985, was president of the Salisbury branch of AAUW when it began its scholarship program 19 years ago. A vigorous supporter of the AAUW, she spearheaded its scholarship fundraising drives, brought the American Field Service exchange student program to Salisbury, started the first senior girl scout troop here and was active in the United Way.

For many years, Mrs. Calcott was a writer for The Daily Times.

Art Entries Solicited

An exhibit of "Flowers" will be in Gallery II of the Art Institute and Gallery from Monday, March 23, through Friday, April 24. This is a judged show open to all artists 18 years and older, professional and amateur. All works are original. Entries will be accepted on Saturday, March 21, from 9 a.m. to noon. For further information call A.I.G. at 546-4748 or Phyllis Billman at 546-0313.

Photonational: Playing with the Photographic Image

"Photonational," a national exhibition of contemporary photographs juried by Judy Dater and William Larsen, both photographers with international reputations whose works are represented in collections throughout the world, are on view at the Gallery, located on the second floor of Blackwell Library, until March 26.

The two jurors selected 139 photographs by 94 different artists from nearly 1,500 works submitted by 537 artists from throughout the United States and Canada. Despite these numbers, this is still a relatively select group, according to John Vanco, director of the Erie Art Museum of Pennsylvania, which organized the show. "Both jurors felt that the overall quality of the submissions was exceptional," Vanco said.

Including both color as well as black and white photographs, the exhibition shows a wide range of individual styles and technical approaches to photography. According to a college spokesman, about two-thirds of the works are examples of "synthetic or manipulated" photography, in which the original photographic image is altered through any number of modifications, including darkroom manipulation, multiple printings, collage, and the addition of drawing and handcoloring. "Straight" photography, on the other hand, essentially reflects what the photographer saw at the moment the image was snapped. Yet even in the "straight" works, which comprise about one-third of the exhibition, the emphasis is on personal expressions, as opposed to objective documentation.

Photographic processes represented in the exhibition include silver prints, photoetchings, and type C and R prints.

The showing of "Photonational" at the College Gallery was made possible, in part, by a grant from the Maryland State Arts Council.

Gallery talks on the exhibition, given by Karen Mitchell, take place each Wednesday at 2 p.m. and 7 p.m. Gallery hours are Monday and Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., Tuesday and Thursday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., and Saturday and Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m. Admission is free.

Two contractual housekeeping, one licensed plumber and a maintenance services worker positions are now available.

Please contact the Personnel Office, HH 205, prior to Thursday, March 19, if you are interested.

Dawn Taylor, last year's most valuable player leads the team

Softball Looking for Banner Season

After two straight 18-win seasons, the women's softball team is looking for even bigger things in 1987.

Head coach Dawn McCrumb, who is entering her third season at the Sea Gull helm, has 10 returning players to work with this season, including all the pitchers and catchers and the entire infield.

The number one pitcher for the Gulls for the last two seasons, Dawn Taylor (Salisbury), is back for her senior season. Taylor, the team's MVP last year after winning 10 games and posting a 1.02 ERA, will team with sophomore Teri Sharpless (Princess Anne), who won seven games with her blazing fastball.

At catcher, Jodi Yingling (Rehoboth, DE) and Karen Sipple (Felton, DE) are back. Yingling hit .293 last year and gives the Gulls a good defensive glove behind the plate. Sipple led the team as a freshman in hitting with a .357 average.

The infield is set with junior Julie Taylor (Seaford, DE) at first base, senior Mary Beth Wulff (Salisbury) at second base, Teri Timmons (Salisbury) at third base and junior Cathy Bryan (Seaford, DE) at shortstop. Taylor and Timmons hit .318 and .319 respectively last season.

The outfield has senior Elaine Allnut (Germantown) and Tracey Short (Vienna) back with a year's experience under their belts. Two freshmen—Diane Bickford (Frederick) and Kristy Keil (Leonardtown)—will vie for the third outfield spot.

Other freshmen who SSC will count on for depth this season include infielders Debbie Clarke (Haddon Heights, NJ), Laura Fisher (Hampstead), Tina DeJaco (Glen Burnie) and Colleen McFadden (Leonardtown). DeJaco will see some time at pitcher while Clarke will be available to do some catching.

SSC will have four home dates with NCAA Division III power Trenton State heading the list. One team seeking revenge this season is Eastern Connecticut State University, the defending national champion. Salisbury opened last season with a double header win over the number one ranked ECSU team. SSC will participate in the ECSU Tournament.

"I look for us to have another outstanding season," said McCrumb, who has a 36-16 record as a coach at SSC. "We have some talented players returning to the team and some very good freshmen coming into the program. We look for another NCAA Division III playoff bid."

Assistantships

The English Department has available four assistantships (covering tuition plus approximately $4,000) for graduate students pursuing the M.A. in Writing. This two-year program of study (33 credit hours) involves courses in language and rhetoric, as well as other related areas. In addition to taking courses, each graduate assistant will work in the Writing Center and in the College's freshman English program. For further information call the Department of English at 543-6445, or contact Dr. Connie White, program director, 543-6441. Deadline for applications is March 31. SSC is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer.

Government and Economy In Traditional China

"Government and Economy in Traditional China" is the topic of a presentation by Dr. Robert M. Hartwell, professor of History at the University of Pennsylvania, on Thursday, March 19, at 7:30 p.m. in Caruthers Hall Auditorium.

"The lecture," said Dr. Hartwell, "focuses on two major periods of transition in Chinese agrarian technology, 750-1500 and 1600-1800, and traces the outlines of the social, economic and political character of Chinese society before, during and after each of these periods of transformation."

"The talk will show how, on the one hand, there were seemingly large-scale changes in societal and governmental organization that were closely associated with demographic and economic development at the same time as the fundamental infrastructure of the civilization remained stable," he said.

Like all programs in the China series, the lecture is free and open to the public. For more information on this and other "China" series programs, call (301) 543-NEWS.

Sexual Differences in Listening

Dr. Robert J. Wesley, Communication Arts professor, recently addressed the People's Life Insurance Co. at their Awards Banquet in Ocean City. His topic was, "Sexual Differences in Listening Habits in Contemporary American Society."

Dr. Wesley is part of the College Speaker's Bureau. The bureau offers area organizations several speakers discussing a variety of subjects. There is no charge for the service.

Any civic, service or educational organization desiring a speaker should contact the Public Relations Office at ext. 6030.

Smith Guest Conductor

Dr. Charles F. Smith Jr., associate professor in the Department of Music, guest conducts the Virginia All-Shore Band in its Fifteenth Annual Concert on Thursday, March 12.

The program is at Northampton High School in Eastville, VA, beginning at 7:30 p.m. The Junior All-Shore Band opens the concert and is conducted by Theresa Fowler, band director at Chincoteague High School, followed by the Senior Band with Dr. Smith conducting.

The Senior Virginia All-Shore Band is a select group of high school musicians representing Arcadia, Cape Charles, Chincoteague, Nantuxa and Northampton High Schools. The 73 selected bandmen will rehearse with Dr. Smith on March 10 and 11 at Northampton High School.

State Archives Announces Summer Intern Program

The Maryland State Archives is offering seven internships for the 11-week 1987 summer internship program. The internships are available to Maryland college students (graduate or advanced undergraduate) or Maryland residents attending an out-of-state school.

The nationally recognized program began in 1968. It is an opportunity for students to learn about archival operations. Student work includes establishing control over historical records and providing reference services by answering mail and working with the public in the search room.

Qualifications for candidates include demonstrated academic excellence, preferably with an interest in archival science, history, library science or related fields. The salary is $1,815 each (before taxes). For information and application materials write to Archival Internship Program, Maryland State Archives, 350 Rowe Boulevard, Annapolis, MD 21401. Application deadline is April 6.

Hospice Course

Are you interested in becoming a hospice volunteer? Would you like to learn more about the hospice concept or how to care for a cancer patient at home?

Coastal Hospice is a non-profit organization which specializes in giving licensed home health care to terminally-ill patients and their families.

Coastal Hospice is offering a six-week course on consecutive Mondays beginning March 30 until May 4 from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. The classes are at Holy Savior Hall, 17th and Philadelphia Ave., Ocean City.

This course, which is an introduction to hospice care, is being offered free of charge to anyone desiring to become a hospice volunteer or interested in learning more about hospice care. Faculty for this spring course will include the executive director, hospice nurses, the volunteer coordinator, a local minister, a registered dietician and several active volunteers.

Reserve your seat for the course today by calling Coastal Hospice at 742-8732. If you have any further questions, please ask for Marion Keenan or Virginia Lawrence.

Tennis: Never Say Die

The men's tennis team compiled an outstanding 18-5 record last season under head coach Dean Burroughs (14th season, 204-80). Burroughs was most pleased with the aggressive, never-say-die brand of play his team displayed, and he hopes it will continue into the 1987 season.

"This will be another outstanding tennis team at Salisbury State," said Burroughs, who is the school's acting athletic director. "We have a good mixture of senior experienced players, outstanding freshmen and good transfers. Those three elements, combined with the depth of the other players, gives us a bright outlook for the upcoming season."

Returning from last year's team are seniors Peter Hall (Washington, D.C.) and Brian Ruppel (Olney). Other seniors to watch are Thomas Porter (Salisbury), Sam David (Hampstead) and Kevin Cassidy (Wheaton).

Mark Buzzell (Mt. Airy) is a junior coming off a record setting year last year—best winning percentage, 16-1, .941 and most consecutive wins, 14. He will return with junior Pete Meeks (Salisbury) and sophomore John Trimp (Lockesville).

New players expected to contribute are freshmen David Gardner (Columbia) and Patrick Baggott (Ellicott City) and sophomore Robert Van Leer (Elston).

Burroughs is excited about the challenge of entering his 14th season. "I'm looking forward to working with the 1987 squad," he said. "We have talent, depth, experience, leadership and determination—all of the ingredients needed for a successful year."

Spring practice began for the netters in February. They will open their 1987 season at home on March 15 against Skidmore College. A spring trip will soon follow near the end of the month to the Virginia area. The Gulls will participate in the Capitol Conference Tournament and host the Eastern States Conference Tournament in April. The 15-match schedule will wind up with the NCAA Division III National Tournament which also is scheduled in Salisbury on May 11 through May 17. The nation's best Division III players and teams will be gathered in Salisbury for seven exciting days of tennis.

"There will be a lot of excitement in 1987," said Burroughs. "With a tough Division III schedule and the fact we are hosting the NCAA National Tournament, the season will be interesting. Much incentive will be added to the program this year."

Theatre Starts Spring School Tour

Three delightful children's folktales and stories from around the world come alive for Shore children this spring, when Salisbury Children's Theatre performs at their schools.

The program consists of children's stories from China, Poland and the culture of the American Indians. From China, Nehza and the Dragon tells about a small boy who overcomes insurmountable odds, and features a 22-foot dragon. In the Polish folktale, King Popieo and the Mice, an evil king reaps what he sows. Finally, in the American Indian story, Little No Name, a small girl earns recognition for her talent as an artist.

The action is performed with masks, dancing, puppetry and mime. The dragon and masks for the Chinese folktale are designed by Dr. Andrew Hepburn, with construction by Gerry Patt and T. Paul Pfeiffer.

The show is directed by Dale Whitel, a graduate student in English. This semester Whitel will also be appearing in Of Mice and Men and directing Tartuffe. Last year, he won the College's best supporting actor award for his performance in Antigone.

The children's theatre program is available for bookings at area elementary schools. This season it is scheduled at: Hurlock Elementary, March 17; Mt. Pleasant Elementary, March 23; Showell Elementary, March 25; and Salisbury School, March 27. There will also be a performance at the Salisbury Festival on May 2.

SSC Wrestlers Fare Well In Nationals

Three College wrestlers participated in the NCAA Division III National Wrestling Championships at Buffalo, NY, this past weekend.

DeWayne Harris, a junior from Caesar Rodney High School in Dover, DE, was one win away from being an All-American in the 142-pound weight class. Harris started out by losing 3-0 to John Smith of Delaware Valley, a two-time defending champion. He then defeated Joe Balog 4-3 of SUNY-Albany and Joe Broaderick 12-6 of Loras. However, Mount Union's Todd Higgs decided Harris 3-2 for an All-American honor.

Dan Masucci, a junior from J. M. Bennett High School in Salisbury, lost his only two matches in the 150-pound weight class. Tom Bennett of John Carroll decided Masucci 4-2 before Marty Nichols of Ithaca eliminated him in a pin in 3:20.

Bob Kays, a junior from Old Mill High School in Severn, was one win away from being an All-American in the 158-pound weight class. After having a bye in the first round, Kays lost 6-0 to Dwayne Standridge of Trenton State. He wrestled back to defeat Ed McShan of St. Lawrence 17-15 and Mitch Lance of Capitol 8-3. Kays lost his final match to Dave McLaughlin of William Penn 4-2.

Trenton State was the overall team champion with 107 1/2 points followed by Brockport State with 70, SUNY-Albany with 66 1/2 and Montclair State with 60.

1987 Honors Convocation Deadline

The 1987 Honors Convocation is scheduled for Friday, May 1, at 3 p.m. (coinciding with the annual Salisbury Festival).

To make the Convocation run smoothly, the Honors Convocation Committee notes several important procedures/deadlines:

Awards given by department and organizations last year will be included in the 1987 program upon request. Forms and instructions have been mailed to these departments/organizations. Deadline for submission of information (type of award, recipient etc.) is due not later than March 27.

Doctors' Fees

Blackwell Library has in its Maryland State Documents Collection booklets containing comparative price lists of doctors' fees. These are the controversial publications that recently received a great deal of attention in the media.

Softball Game Changed

The College women's softball team will open its 1987 season at home instead of on the road.

Departments and organizations wishing to include new awards may petition the Honors Convocation Committee for inclusion of same in this year's program. Please pick up appropriate form from the Dean of Students Office, HH 243. Deadline for such petitions is March 20.

Actual awards are to be hand delivered to the Dean of Students Office not later than April 10.

The Honors Convocation Committee sincerely appreciates everyone's cooperation in meeting these deadlines.

There are nine booklets in the set, plus a supplement on how to read the lists. The State Documents call number is LAW 5.11: F32. Also, there is a Health Care Shoppers' Guide, with a call number of LAW 5.8: Sh7.

The March 19 contest against Catholic has been changed to a home contest. Game time is 2:30.

WSCL - Looking for A Few Good Men and Women

WSCL-FM, the new public radio station to be based at the College, is looking for a few good people. WSCL will be providing a classical music and public affairs radio service to ten counties on Maryland's Eastern Shore and in Delaware. Although managed by a professional staff, the station will depend upon volunteers to handle much of the day-to-day operations. According to WSCL Program Director Janine Kallgren-Miller, "The station needs people who want to add a valuable experience to their resumes; people who want to contribute their time to add something of quality to their community; people who want to have fun while doing something important!"

WSCL needs volunteers to do radio production, announcing, fund-raising, publications and clerical support. People who have an interest in public radio and are reliable and hard-working and can spare a few hours a week can gain valuable training, experience and a good time working in an exciting medium.

Interested people should call 543-6895.

"Living History Visit"

A "living history visit" on Henry David Thoreau by David Barto will be presented on Monday, March 23, at 8 p.m. at Holloway Hall at Salisbury State College. Admissions is free and the public is invited.

Sponsored by the SSC College Center and the SSC Foundation, Inc., Barto portrays Thoreau, the noted philosopher, mystic, poet writer and naturalist, at age 33 while residing at Walden Pond. Barto delivers a monologue, then entertains questions from the audience.

Thoreau, one of the first native American writers to receive international critical acclaim, is probably best known for his classic work, Walden. Among his other many works were his first book "A Week on the Concord and Merrimack Rivers," and his essay, "On the Duty of Civil

The Department of Mathematical Sciences expects openings for the fall. A strong commitment to the mathematical sciences point of view and good teaching recommendations are essential. A Ph.D. is required for tenure-track positions. Candidates with knowledge of experimental design and survey sampling and those interested in a temporary or visiting position are invited to apply.

Send letter of application, resume, and three letters of recommendation to: Search Committee, Department of Mathematical Sciences, Salisbury State College, Salisbury, MD 21801.

Equal Opportunity-Affirmative Action Employer.

RAs Needed

The Department of Residence Life invites all students who are in good academic and social standing, energetic, outgoing, creative and caring to apply for a position as a resident assistant next year. Compensation includes $1,100 for fall semester, the opportunity for leadership development, and to make a difference in the lives of those who live on-campus.

Applications are available in the Housing Office, 130 Holloway Hall or from an RA. Return applications to the Housing Office by 4 p.m. Friday, March 20.

Three information sessions are scheduled. These will be at 7 p.m. Monday, March 2; 10 p.m. Tuesday, March 3; and 7 p.m. Wednesday, March 11. All sessions will be held in Caruthers Hall room 108.

Assistantships

The English Department has available four assistantships (covering tuition plus approximately $4,000) for graduate students pursuing the M.A. in Writing. This two-year program of study (33 credit hours) involves courses in language and rhetoric, as well as other related areas. In addition to taking courses, each graduate assistant will work in the Writing Center and in the College's freshman English program. For further information call the Department of English at 543-6445, or contact Dr. Connie White, program director, 543-6441. Deadline for applications is March 31. SSC is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer.

No Newsletter March 26

No Newsletter will be printed Thursday, March 26, because of the spring break. It will resume publication Thursday, April 2.

The SSC News is a newsletter for the campus community published each Thursday during fall and spring semesters, unless noted. The deadline is noon on Monday prior to publication. Newsletter stories and items usually are proofed and typeset on a first come, first served basis, so don't feel you have to wait until Monday to get your article to the Public Relations Office (HH 264).

Any story relating to the life of the campus, whether it be of interest to students, faculty or staff, is welcomed. Because we cannot canvass the campus personally, we are grateful to those who keep us current on the activities and issues affecting College life.

Spring String Festival

The 1987 Salisbury Symphony "Spring String Festival" will bring the internationally renowned composer Vaclav Nelhybel back to the College on Sunday, April 5 for a gala concert featuring children of all school ages on string instruments with the Salisbury Symphony Orchestra.

The event is sponsored by the SSC Foundation, Inc. and the Salisbury Wicomico Arts Council.

More than 100 children are invited to participate. Any child from grade four through 12 who would like to join the Salisbury Symphony Orchestra for the Festival is asked to contact the school coordinator, Mrs. Bobbie Thamer, at East Salisbury School, telephone 749-3488 or 749-5494.

Dr. Nelhybel will conduct the orchestra including music he has written especially for the occasion.

Dr. Thomas G. Elliot, chairman of the Department of Music at the College and conductor of the Salisbury Symphony Orchestra, commented on the importance of supporting young string players.

"They will be the future members of the Symphony Orchestra," said Dr. Elliot. Young string players don't have the glitter and attention that the school band does, and they need special encouragement to continue their studies."

Counseling Services

Counseling Services conducts walk-in hours from 1 - 3 p.m. Monday through Thursday. Anyone who wishes to see a counselor and has not seen one before, is welcome between those hours.

Time Running Out, Ladies

Sign up for the WSSC/SSPB Derby Days 1987 is now being accepted in the WSSC offices between 1 and 4 p.m. daily, or by contacting Chris Peach at 543-6195 or 543-6513.

Deadline for entry is March 27. All teams must consist of 10 and 15 females and one male coach. Derby Days Week is April 20-25. The events of the week include all of the usual spine-tingling competitions plus "The Rocky Horror Picture Show" in Red Square and a concert in the Quad featuring Indecisions.

Art Entries Solicited

An exhibit of "Flowers" will be in Gallery II of the Art Institute and Gallery from Monday, March 23, through Friday, April 24. This is a judged show open to all artists 18 years and older, professional and amateur. All works are original. Entries will be accepted on Saturday, March 21, from 9 a.m. to noon. For further information call A.I.G. at 546-4748 or Phyllis Billman at 546-0313.

Personal Safety Tips

These personal safety tips, compiled by the Department of Public Safety, apply when on campus as well as in the Salisbury area or wherever you may reside. The precautions may lessen the likelihood of becoming a victim. Increasing our awareness of crime prevention techniques may decrease the opportunity for a person to commit a criminal offense.

1. You are your own best protection.
2. Keep your door locked at all times. Don't unlock the door for strangers. Keep your first floor windows locked.
3. Walk in well-lit areas and stay near the curb, away from alleys, entry ways and bushes where someone could be hiding.
4. Do not walk or jog alone after dark.
5. Avoid short cuts. Walk where there are other people present.
6. Do not hitchhike or accept rides from strangers. If a driver asks you for directions, stay far enough away so that you cannot be pulled into the car. Do not pick up strangers.
7. If you are being followed when walking, change direction, cross the street and vary your speed. Go to a well-lit area or a place where there are other people. If followed by someone in a car, turn and walk in the other direction. Record the license number.
8. Park your car in a well-lit area and lock the doors.
9. If you need an escort to or from your car, call the Department of Public Safety, ext. 6222.
10. Report any suspicious activity or crimes to the Public Safety Office.

For more information on personal safety, contact the Department of Public Safety, located in Holloway Hall, room 022, ext. 6222.

Attention May '87 Graduates

The College's commencement exercises will be held on Saturday, May 30, at 10 a.m. at the Wicomico Youth and Civic Center. Details concerning graduation will follow at a later date.

Wellness Day

The College's third annual "Wellness Day" has been scheduled for Monday, April 27 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Red Square. ("Wellness Day" is Monday, May 4.) Please start thinking about how you would like to become involved in Wellness Day '87. Your department contacted in the not too distant future. For further information, call Ann Patey (He. Center, ext. 6262) or Phyllis Banks (Sc. of Nursing, ext. 6403).

Blackwell Library has in its Maryland State Documents Collection booklets containing comparative price lists of doctors' fees. These are the controversial publications that recently received a great deal of attention in the media.

There are nine booklets in the set, plus a supplement on how to read the lists. The State Documents call number is LAW 5.11: F32. Also, there is a Health Care Shoppers' Guide, with a call number of LAW 5.8: Sh7.

Program Changes

Faculty please announce to students the following change in the date of the programs: Adele Rickett, from April 9 to April 7. April 30: Morton Holbrook, day in the brochure stated Wednesday. Actual day is Thursday.

Midnight Breakfast

A spring midnight breakfast will be held on Wednesday, May 27, from 11:50 p.m. to 1 a.m. If interested in joining in the fun as a cook, server, greeter, etc., please contact the Office of Administrative Services (ext. 6215) prior to Wednesday, May 20.

Outdoor Club Meeting

The Outdoor Club will be holding its weekly meeting on Tuesday, March 24, at 6:30 p.m. in Tawes 118. Meetings feature speakers on a variety of topics and include discussions of upcoming trips.

Final preparations for the Spring Break hiking and canoeing trips will be discussed at this meeting.

Sign Language Club

Yes, sign language classes are available once again this semester on Wednesdays at 8 p.m. in Caruthers Hall, room 114.

Basic sign language skills will be taught and interpreting skills developed. Any student (on or off campus), administrator, faculty, or staff are welcome to attend.

The Sign Language Club hopes to be more active in the deaf community of the Eastern Shore, as well as more active on the SSC campus.

For further information, call Belinda "Bee" Cathey at 749-9653 or stop by Manokin Hall, room 9.

Rifle Club Gets Sighted In

The SSC Rifle Club recently purchased two match-grade pellet rifles to begin competing with other schools.

Pellet gun competition was selected by the club due to the relatively low cost of equipment and since a special range is not needed. A match is fired from four positions: standing, kneeling, sitting and prone by individuals or with four people to a team.

The club also now has a pellet "range" on campus in Tawes Hall, room 106, and is practicing to fire a match against the University of Delaware club later this semester.

Anyone interested in learning how to shoot or in joining the Rifle Club should come to Tawes, room 106, on Thursdays at 3:30 p.m.

Final Performances of Of Mice and Men

George and Lennie, two ranch hands played by David Cherry and Leonard Harrington, dream of a better life in John Steinbeck's Depression-era classic, which plays Thursday, Friday and Saturday at Holloway Hall on stage at 8 p.m.

1987 Honors Convocation Deadline

The 1987 Honors Convocation is scheduled for Friday, May 1, at 3 p.m. (coinciding with the annual Salisbury Festival).

To make the Convocation run smoothly, the Honors Convocation Committee notes several important procedures/deadlines:

Awards given by department and organizations last year will be included in the 1987 program upon request. Forms and instructions have been mailed to these departments/organizations. Deadline for submission of information (type of award, recipient etc.) is due not later than March 27.

Departments and organizations wishing to include new awards may petition the Honors Convocation Committee for inclusion of same in this year's program. Please pick up appropriate form from the Dean of Students Office, HH 243. Deadline for such petitions is March 20.

Actual awards are to be hand delivered to the Dean of Students Office not later than April 10.

The Honors Convocation Committee sincerely appreciates everyone's cooperation in meeting these deadlines.

Workshop for the Fine Arts

The third workshop for art and music teachers from Wicomico County and invited guests from Somerset and Worcester Counties was held last Saturday at the College. Curriculum development, based upon the recent Maryland State Department of Education curricular arts framework, provided teachers with special consultants.

According to James Burgess, SSC Art Department Chairman and workshop coordinator, "This type of inservice helps art and music teachers to develop a common vocabulary and a more directed approach to better sequential lesson planning."

During the morning session, consultants from Anne Arundel and Baltimore Counties gave presentations to a better discipline-based education, based upon the recent studies of the fine arts into today's curriculum, was conducted by Ruth Kline, MSDE Arts Specialist and Carrie Fickes, specialist/teacher from St. Mary's County.

The closing sement was a presentation of career development/directions by Tom Elliot, SSC Music Department; Gerald Johnson, UMES Music Department, Dean Peterson and Kent Kimmel, SSC Art professors.

These workshops were made possible by a grant from the MSDE, to SSC. Other than Burgess, the assistant coordinators were Ray Zeigler, SSC Music Department and Tom Zimmerman, Wicomico County Board of Education arts specialist.

International Film Series: East and West

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 25: I Live in Fear/Record of a Living Being (Kurosawa for Toho, 1955). This film by Akira Kurosawa centers upon a family squabble involving an elderly man who "lives in fear" of atomic extinction and wants to make his extended family emigrate with him from Japan to South America. The family not only resists but takes the man to court to have him judged incompetent. The court is upset, however, because in reality the judges share his fears.

Organized and operated for the College Center by Jim Welsh, associate professor of English and Film. All screenings are in Devilbiss Science Hall Auditorium at 7 p.m.

Auction at the Delaware Ag Museum

The Delaware Agricultural Museum will hold its third annual Fundraising Auction at the Museum on Saturday, April 4, starting at 10:30 a.m. Just a few of the items which have been donated or consigned for the Auction are:

An early 1928 Model A Ford two door sedan, Xerox copiers, electric typewriters, dairy supplies, auto supplies, a piano, books, a Micro-Dak film reader, a brass bed, paint, household goods, a blacksmith vise, antiques, collectibles, a radio shack computer printer, new and used farm equipment, an oak bureau, Ford tractor and manure spreader, 1951 Ford truck with antique tags and trophies, lawn and garden equipment, toy tractors, Smoker funnel wagon, side delivery rake on steel, John Deere hay crimper, four section rotary hoe, weed eater, golf cart with clubs and local sightseeing flight for two people.

Donations to the Auction are still being accepted. All proceeds from the Auction will benefit the Delaware Agricultural Museum, a private, non-profit organization. Admission to the Auction is free. The Delaware Agricultural Museum is located at 866 N. DuPont Highway, just south of Delaware State College. For further information call the Museum at 734-1618.

Art Institute Spring Show at Civic Center

34th Annual Spring Fine Art Show

The Art Institute and Gallery of Salisbury presents its 34th annual Spring Fine Art Show in the Midway Room of the Wicomico Youth and Civic Center March 27, 28 and 29.

Hundreds of original artworks by various artists will be on exhibit and many works will be offered for sale. Show chairman, Kimberly Huey Purnell, has announced that this year's theme, "Young at Art" and will highlight a special competition for children in kindergarten through sixth grade. Children's art may be mailed to or dropped off at the Art Institute before March 24.

The first 50 entrants will receive a certificate for one of the Art Institute's Sunday children's art classes. The first 100 entrants will receive an invitation to a party with Funtime Express (Sunshine the Clown and Paul the Juggler.) This will be an excellent opportunity for children to exhibit their works along with adult amateur and professional artists.

An exhibit of junior and senior high school students' works is also incorporated into the show. Jim Rehak and Myra McGrath are the judges of the student show.

Amateur and professional awards will be presented in seven different media categories. Judges for the event will be Hans A. Baum and DiAnn Grimes of Rockville, MD.

The public is invited to meet the artists during a special Artists Preview Nite on Friday, March 27, from 7-9 p.m. Show hours will continue from 10 a.m. until 9 p.m. on Saturday, March 28, and 1-6 p.m. on Sunday, March 29. Donation at the door is $1.

More information can be obtained by contacting Grover Cantwell, entry chairman, at 742-2880 or by calling the Art Institute at 546-4748.

The Art of Thinking

Artworks Gallery in Berlin begins its 1987 season with a two-person show opening March 21, 7:30-11 p.m.

Thomas Hedrick, a German sculptor now living in Delaware, will show along side photo etchings by Tim Wilson, of Pemberville, O. Both artists use their media to explore similar areas of intellect. The pieces represent the surface of deeper thought aimed to provoke the public into parallel reflection. Art geared to stir the perception of a theory or object was a tool of the Surrealists, but extends throughout art history. A highly visible use of "thought-provoking art" are the daily political cartoons-juxtaposing images to drive a point.

Both Hedrick and Wilson will be present at the March 21 opening and exhibit of their work. Artworks Gallery invites the public to the opening at the corner of Jefferson & Main St., Berlin, call 641-0100 for information.

Victorian Dining Exhibit

"Savory Suppers and Fashionable Feasts: Dining in Victorian America," an exhibition examining the rituals, practices and material culture of middle-class dining during 1850-1900, opens May 2, at the Historical Society of Talbot County in Easton. It continues through August 23.

The exhibition was researched and organized by the Strong Museum, Rochester, NY, and will travel nationally through May 1989 under the Smithsonian Institution Traveling Exhibition Service (SITES).

Approximately 200 artifacts and graphics are featured in the exhibit including etiquette books, dining room furnishings, dinneware and flatware dating from the Victorian era.

This exhibition analyzes the impact of technological advancements, demographic changes, aesthetic and literary influences and religious attitudes on dining practices during the second half of the 19th century. It examines manners and etiquette, mealtime rituals and implements and depicts how the changing circumstances of people's lives affected how meals were structured and eaten.

The Historical Society's Museum and Museum Shop, located at 25 and 28 South Washington Street, Easton, are open 10 a.m.-4 p.m., Tuesday through Saturday, Sunday 1-4 p.m., closed Monday. Admission will be charged for the exhibit. For more information, call the Museum Office at 822-0773.

Photonational: Playing with the Photographic Image

"Photonational," a national exhibition of contemporary photographs juried by Judy Dater and William Larsen, both photographers with international reputations whose works are represented in collections throughout the world, are on view at the Gallery, located on the second floor of Blackwell Library, until March 26.

The two jurors selected 139 photographs by 94 different artists from nearly 1,500 works submitted by 537 artists from throughout the United States and Canada. Despite these numbers, this is still a relatively select group, according to John Vanco, director of the Erie Art Museum of Pennsylvania, which organized the show.

Including both color as well as black and white photographs, the exhibition shows a wide range of individual styles and technical approaches to photography. About two-thirds of the works are examples of "synthetic or manipulated" photography, in which the original photographic image is altered through any number of modifications. "Straight" photography, on the other hand, essentially reflects what the photographer saw at the moment the image was snapped. Yet even in the "straight" works, which comprise about one-third of the exhibition, the emphasis is on personal expressions, as opposed to objective documentation.

Photographic processes represented in the exhibition include silver prints, photoetchings, and type C and R prints.

The showing of "Photonational" at the College Gallery was made possible, in part, by a grant from the Maryland State Arts Council.

Gallery talks on the exhibition, given by Karen Mitchell, take place each Wednesday at 2 p.m. and 7 p.m. Gallery hours are Monday and Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., Tuesday and Thursday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., and Saturday and Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m. Admission is free.

Notice to Prescriptive Students

Freshmen and transfer students whose score on the reading placement test, given during orientation, was in the 32-37 range are classified as prescriptive students in reading. These students must register to take further diagnostic tests designed to determine areas of strength and weakness. Various test dates and times have been scheduled to accommodate all students. The test sessions are:

Session One: Monday, April 13, 11 a.m.-Noon; Wednesday, April 15, 11 a.m.-Noon; Friday, April 17, 11 a.m.-Noon
Session Two: Tuesday, April 14, 2-3:30 p.m.; Thursday, April 16, 2-3:30 p.m.

Students need to register for one session of testing. Registration will be conducted in the Reading Center, Caruthers Hall, 210 A.

If the diagnostic test scores indicate no serious reading problems, the prescriptive student will have fulfilled the requirement just by taking the test. If, however, deficiencies are found, the student must work in the Reading Center until those deficiencies are remediated. Failure to fulfill this requirement, by testing out or working in the Reading Center until remediated, by the completion of the sophomore year may result in dismissal from the College.

If a student is in doubt about his test score, he should contact his advisor or the Reading Center at ext. 6391.

'85, '86 Prescriptive Reading Students

Prescriptive students who completed diagnostic tests in reading during the 1985-86 and 1986-87 academic year are urged to resume working in the Reading Center, on their individual prescription.

Prescriptive students who fail to demonstrate an appropriate level of competency by the completion of their sophomore year will not be allowed to continue at SSC. To resume your prescription, report to the Reading Center, Caruthers Hall, 210A, or contact Mrs. Patricia Dale, Caruthers Hall, 209A, at ext. 6391.

WSCL Posts Available

WSCL-FM is seeking dedicated, reliable volunteers to work as announcers at the new public radio station.

Air-shifts are still available during weekday nights (between 8 p.m. and midnight), Saturdays between 2 p.m. and 8 p.m. (these hours can be divided into two three-hour shifts), and Sundays between noon and 4 p.m., 4-8 p.m. and 8 p.m. until midnight.

These shifts involve running a control board and airing programs which are a combination of local, live via satellite or taped programs. Prior experience is preferred but not essential. Complete training will be given.

If you are a responsible individual with a pleasant voice and interest in public broadcasting, please contact Janine Kallgren-Miller at ext. 6895.

Spaghetti Dinner

The Student Nurses' Association is sponsoring a dinner and presentation in the PGH Education Center on Tuesday, March 24, at 5 p.m. Elizabeth Rettew, RN, will present "Lifestyles and Lifepractices of the Rural Indians in Guatemala" a presentation compiled from her visit last summer to Guatemala.

Everyone is welcome and the cost is 50 cents to attend and meet the Nursing students at SSC.

SCHOLARSHIP FIRST. The Salisbury High School Association has given its first scholarship for college students to Salisbury State College. The $500 scholarships will be used to defray the cost of books for Black students at SSC. From left to right are Louis Givens, association member; Elizabeth Sykes, association second vice president; SSC president Dr. Thomas Bellavance; and Leon Burks, SSC associate dean of Admissions and Financial Aid, and a life member of the association.

Salisbury High Makes SSC Donation

The Salisbury High School Association, whose membership was affiliated with the former all-Black high school before its closing in 1966, has given its first scholarship for college students to Salisbury State College.

A $500 check was recently presented to Dr. Bellavance, the money to be used to defray the cost of books for Black students at SSC.

Previous activities of the association have included work or contributions for the Martin Luther King Jr. youth program, college and career programs, the Chipman Foundation and the Wicomico County Library.

"We can remember how expensive books were when we went to college," Elizabeth Sykes, second vice president of the association, and Louis Givens, association member and both alumni of SSC said.

"The book scholarship will help educate young minds. It's a way of showing the association's commitment to education," Leon Burks added. Burks, who is associate dean of Admissions and Financial Aid at SSC, is a life member of the association. Other SSC faculty and staff associated with Salisbury High School include Wavie Gibson of the English faculty and John Fields, assistant dean of students.

The association, in existence since 1983, has some 400 members. It includes not only former students but staff and faculty—anyone with an affiliation to the school. Open meetings are held quarterly; the annual convention for the association is scheduled for the weekend of June 20 this year.

For more information on the association, its activities and membership, write to Elizabeth Sykes, P.O. Box 4181, Salisbury, MD 21801. Contact Burks in the Admissions and Financial Aid Office to apply for the scholarship.

Government and Economy In Traditional China

"Government and Economy in Traditional China" is the topic of a presentation by Dr. Robert M. Hartwell, professor of History at the University of Pennsylvania, on Thursday, March 19, at 7:30 p.m. in Caruthers Hall Auditorium.

"The lecture," said Dr. Hartwell, "focuses on two major periods of transition in Chinese agrarian technology, 750-1300 and 1600-1800, and traces the outlines of the social, economic and political character of Chinese society before, during and after each of these periods of transformation."

"The talk will show how, on the one hand, there were seemingly large-scale changes in societal and governmental organization that were closely associated with demographic and economic development at the same time as the fundamental infrastructure of the civilization remained stable," he said.

Like all programs in the China series, the lecture is free and open to the public. For more information on this and other "China" series programs, call (301) 543-NEWS.

SSC Mystery Tour of England and Ireland

Over the last several years the College has sponsored successful study tours to England, France, Italy, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Austria and China. In August of 1987, Jim Welsh of the English Department and Paul Pfeiffer of Communication Arts plan to conduct courses abroad tracing English drama and theatre history by touring cities in the English countryside where drama developed during the Middle Ages, notably York, the ecclesiastical capital of the North, picturesque Chester, and Coventry, where the mystery play cycles will be performed this summer.

Another course has been proposed treating the city of Dublin and the fiction of James Joyce. Dublin is also home for the famous Abbey Theatre that has featured the work of Irish playwrights. The trip will conclude in London, concentrating on its wealth of historic theatres.

The emphasis, however, will be on the countryside, away from London, which is always crowded with tourists in August. "On the way to Ireland, we plan to travel across the south of Wales, stopping at Cardiff, the Welsh capital, before going on the Waterford, Killarney and Dublin." Welsh notes. "Returning from Ireland we will tour the famous castles at Caernavon, Conway and Flint in the north of Wales, and after visiting Chester, York and Lincoln, we plan to include a pilgrimage to Stratford-upon-Avon in Shakespeare country."

Details of the proposed trip and courses will be outlined during an interest meeting to be held at 5 p.m. on Tuesday, March 24, in Devilbiss Auditorium. Jim Welsh, who has led several trips to London for the College, knows that August is the best time of the year to tour the British Isles. "By taking a chartered bus," he advises, "people will be able to travel in relative comfort during the prime tourist season, and accommodations at hotels and country inns along the way should be superior to what one could obtain for the same price in London."

Calcott Scholarship

Applications are now being accepted for the Doris Gay Calcott Memorial Scholarship, offered by the Salisbury branch of the American Association of University Women.

The $1,000 scholarship was named last year in memory of the long time Salisbury civic leader. Junior or senior women attending Salisbury State College who are residents of the Eastern Shore of Maryland and show financial need may qualify.

Applications may be obtained from the Dean of Students office, room 243, in Holloway Hall. The deadline is April 6.

Mrs. Calcott, who died in 1985, was president of the Salisbury branch of AAUW when it began its scholarship program 19 years ago. A vigorous supporter of the AAUW, she spearheaded its scholarship fundraising drives, brought the American Field Service exchange student program to Salisbury, started the first senior girl scout troop here and was active in the United Way.

For many years, she was a writer for The Daily Times.

Lackie Earns Doctorate

James C. Lackie has completed the doctoral degree in Human Development at the University of Maryland College Park.

Dr. Lackie's research focused upon identity theory during a study of over 400 college freshmen at several institutions of higher learning. His dissertation is titled "A Comparison of Overall Adjustment to College Between Freshmen Students With Decided and Undecided Majors."

Dr. Lackie also holds a bachelor's degree in Art and a master's degree in History. In addition to his present assignment as SSC's director of Career Planning and Placement, he has served as the College's director of Veteran's Affairs; director of Career Development; and assistant Dean of Students. Prior to joining the College, he held positions including operations director, store manager, and director of corporate computerization for a major worldwide corporation.

Spring Is Perfect For SSC Sports

The 1987 Salisbury State College Spring sports action has gotten off to a perfect start as the men's lacrosse team is 3-0 and the men's tennis and baseball teams are both 1-0.

The Sea Gull lacrosse team won two big matches over the weekend, defeating Ithaca 8-6 on Saturday and Southampton 15-10 on Sunday. Mike Provenzano had three goals in the win over Ithaca while Ron McGann had two. Tim Berquist passed for three assists in the win. Against Southampton, Jerry Judge led SSC with five goals while Rick Maranto had three. Berquist, along with Jeff Cross had three assists.

C.R. Murphy led a 17-hit attack for the baseball team as SSC defeated Pittsburgh-Bradford 17-2 in the opening game of the season on Saturday. Murphy had a double and a home run as he knocked in four runs. Bruce Matthews each added two hits. Craig Shreeves went five innings, striking out five batters, for the win.

Salisbury State won all six singles matches as the men's tennis team netted Skidmore 8-1 here on Sunday. Tom Porter, Pete Hall, Scott Thornton, David Gardner, Mark Buzzell and Brian Ruppel all won their opening matches of the season.

Medical Technology— An Exciting Health Care Center

"The caliber of the Salisbury State College Medical Technology program, with the support and resources that the professors have, is just amazing," said Denise Stayton, a 1983 Medical Technology graduate of SSC. "My background at Salisbury enabled me to take over a position in Medical Technology right out of college."

The fastest growing service industry in the United States today is health care. More than 6.7 million workers are employed in medical services. With the aging of the population, it is estimated that by 1990 health care will be the number one service industry in the country. There is a growing need for highly trained professionals in all areas of health.

SSC provides an excellent opportunity for students interested in a career in health care—Medical Technology. Medical Technology is a profession which combines the challenges and rewards of medicine and science. It is a branch of medicine which deals with laboratory procedures in the diagnosis, prognosis and treatment of disease as well as the maintenance of health.

"A more proper term used to describe the field of Medical Technology is laboratory sciences," said Johanna Laird, chairman of the Medical Technology Department at SSC. "If an individual would like to pursue a career in virtually any laboratory setting, medical technology would provide the ideal background."

The Medical Technology program is a department in the School of Nursing and Health Sciences at SSC. The four-year Bachelor of Science degree program meets essentials set forth by the National Accrediting Agency for Clinical Laboratory Sciences and is accredited by the Committee on Allied Health Education and Accreditation of the American Medical Association. Graduates of the program are eligible to take certification examinations offered by various national organizations.

"Certified graduates have demonstrated a competency set forth on a national level, much as registered nurses demonstrate by way of licensure," said Laird. "It is important that the public be aware that the certified medical technologists who are performing laboratory tests in hospital settings have successfully completed a rigorous science curriculum and have earned four-year degrees prior to practice."

In today's laboratories, medical technologists are performing more than five billion tests each year. These tests range from simple pre-marital blood tests to more complex procedures, associated with heart attack, cancer, diabetes and anemia. Salisbury State provides diversified learning experiences that really help students learn about medical technology. This is done through lecture as well as actual laboratory clinical experience.

"In addition to having a small teacher-student ratio, SSC has a student lab where students are able to practice what they have been taught prior to placement in a clinical situation," said Laird. "Also, because of a recent donation from Chesapeake College, we have expanded the lab equipment available for student use at the College."

Following the development of competence in the student laboratory, students work in hospital laboratories under the direction of SSC faculty and hospital-employed adjunct faculty. This allows the student to experience real world situations while still supervised as a student.

"The experience at SSC was important because right after graduation I took a job in Medical Technology in the South Pacific," said Stayton, who came to SSC because the program and the people impressed her. "I not only had to handle the position, but I was in charge and had to explain the whys and hows to every procedure."

"There is an excellent future for obtaining a job in Medical Technology anywhere," said Laird, who has many graduates working in hospitals as well as others who have gone on to seek advanced degrees in medicine, dentistry, research and education. "It is projected that there will be a tremendous shortage of medical technologists in the near future."

Technologists pursue diverse career opportunities. Since training included instruction and practice in chemistry, physiology, pathology, hematology, immunology, blood banking and microbiology, graduates are employed in laboratories in physicians' offices, clinics, hospitals, commercial firms, research facilities, the Armed Forces, public health centers, and even veterinary or animal-related facilities.

No matter what career options a graduate chooses, all medical technologists have a strong desire to be a part of the health care team. They enjoy the sciences with a special emphasis on problem-solving and meeting challenges associated with diagnosing disease states and improving the quality of life.

New Book in Book Rack

The newest addition to SSC's collection of faculty written books is Late Stars by Jeffrey Skinner, a member of the English Department. This little volume of poetry, Skinner's first, sells for $9.95 and is available in the poetry section.

Dr. Ulm Addresses Nat'l Bank Women

Dr. Ronald R. Ulm, Psychology professor at SSC, addressed the National Association of Bank Women at the Cambridge Yacht Club on Wednesday, March 11. The topic of his presentation was "Achievement Motivation."

Dr. Ulm is part of the College Speaker's Bureau. The bureau offers area organizations several speakers discussing a variety of subjects. There is no charge for the service.

Any civic, service or educational organization desiring a speaker should contact the Public Relations Office at ext. 6030.

Attention Sophomore Med Tech Majors

Applications for admission into the Medical Technology major are now being accepted. Deadline for admission is May 1. Application forms may be obtained from Mrs. Marylane McGlinchey, Hall Ed Center, ext. 6409.

Brownies Hear Bosserman

Dr. C. Phillip Bosserman, Sociology professor at SSC, addressed the Brownies Troop #870 at the East Salisbury School on March 5. The topic of his presentation was worldwide hunger.

Dr. Bosserman is part of the College Speaker's Bureau. The bureau offers area organizations several speakers discussing a variety of subjects. There is no charge for the service.

Any civic, service or educational organization desiring a speaker should contact the Public Relations Office at ext. 6030.

Churches to Sponsor Evangelical Program

Trinity United Methodist Church and Wesley Temple United Methodist Church will jointly sponsor a four-day evangelical program titled, "Offer Them Christ," from Sunday, March 29 through Wednesday, April 1. Each evening's service will be from 7-8:30 p.m. and will feature a different theme.

The program, designed to include participation by every United Methodist Church in Delaware and the Eastern Shore of Maryland, was launched recently by a core planning committee of the Peninsula Annual Conference. The conference is the regional governing board for United Methodist churches in Delaware and Maryland's Eastern Shore.

"Offer Them Christ" draws its name from the admonition John Wesley, the founder of Methodism, gave to Dr. Thomas Coke, whom Wesley sent to superintend the American Methodists. It is aimed to recreating the enthusiasm for evangelism at characterized early Methodism.

Trinity and Wesley Temple are unique in that they are putting together, a joint "Offer Them Christ" program, alternating services each evening from one church to the other. Dr. Edwin Thomas, former Salisbury District superintendent, (1977-1981) will deliver the sermon at each of the four services.

Thomas is the senior pastor of Grace United Methodist Church in Wilmington, the so-called "Cathedral Church of Methodism on the Peninsula."

"Family Night" will be the theme for Sunday, March 29, and will feature a combined children's choir from both churches at Wesley Temple.

"Friendship/Neighborhood Night," on Monday, March 30, will be at Trinity and will feature the Wesley Choir. Friends and neighbors of the Wesley and Trinity congregations will be especially urged to attend.

On Tuesday, March 31, the program will return to Wesley Temple for "Community Night." Civic, business and government leaders from the area will be invited to share and participate in the worship service. The Trinity Choir will perform.

The four-day "Offer Them Christ" series of programs concludes Wednesday, April 1, with "Heritage Night" at Trinity. Congregations from other churches in the area with a shared Wesleyan background will join in worship with the congregations from Trinity and Wesley Temple. A choir from one of the other Wesleyan churches will perform.

The pastors at both churches, the Rev. Gonzalee Matthews at Wesley Temple and the Rev. Howard L. Gordy Jr. at Trinity, urge everyone in the community to participate and take advantage of this unique opportunity for the community to worship together and to find out more about one another's religious heritage.

Donations collected at each of the "Offer them Christ" services will be split equally among the Joseph House, the Salvation Army, Christian Shelter, and REACH, an overseas mission project.

The public is invited each evening. Nursery facilities will be provided each evening. For more information, telephone Wesley Temple at 742-1680 or Trinity at 749-5562.

Trinity is located at North Division and Broad Streets. Wesley Temple is on West Road.

Women's Lacrosse Team Looking For Big Season

Coming off a record-setting 1986 season, the Salisbury State College women's lacrosse team is going full steam ahead in 1987.

Last year was the season in which the program turned the corner. The team set a school record for wins (11) and also went undefeated against Division III teams—the first time that has ever happened. SSC was ranked (seventh) for the first time in the sport's history here and a new commitment was established. The outstanding season gave SSC greater hopes for this season.

"Last season was important in that it helped us boost our pride in women's lacrosse at SSC," said Karen Weaver, entering her fifth year as head coach. "The players are now working on their game in the offseason, and we are bringing in some recruits who have played several years of high school lacrosse."

In 1986, SSC was able to blend some excellent freshmen players with some experienced returnees. And 1987 will be no different.

The Sea Gulls return 15 players off last year's team including the College's first all-American, Stacy Stem (Westminster). Stem, a midfielder who is a three-time All-American in field hockey, is an excellent passer and leader for the Gulls.

Also returning are two excellent defensive players—Dora Scalzo (Laurel) and Brenda Bowlin (Sykesville). Scalzo was an all-region player last year.

A super freshman came into the program and led the team in scoring with 34 goals in 1986—Linda Lombardi (Cinnaminson, NJ). Lombardi is a threat to score anytime, according to Weaver. Two other freshmen from last year were important in SSC's success—Sue Siok (Rockville) and Patti Schlegel (Cherry Hill, NJ).

Weaver has three goalies this season. Niki Dorn (Ft. Washington) returns along with two newcomers—Kim Whitehead (Baltimore) and Lisa Kallis (Pasadena). This gives SSC more depth at goalie than the school has ever had.

SSC is returning a good portion of its midfield and Weaver has been working the players hard at that area to get the ball out to the attack for more goals.

Seniors Ava Hartman (Easton) and Susan Seling (Baltimore) return at attack for the Gulls. Junior Shelia Conley (Towson) played defense last year but has been impressive at midfield in the preseason. She will get playing time at midfield along with juniors Terri Buyse (Rockville), Theresa Kelly (Frederick) and Diane Swetnam (Oxford, NJ). Sophomore Yette Routt (Annapolis) will see time at attack and midfield.

Freshmen Susan Michalski (Mt. Holly, NJ) and Andrea Phillips (Arnold) will give SSC depth at attack also.

"We have the talent and nucleus to build a solid program on," said Weaver, who guided SSC's women's field hockey team to the Division III national championship in the fall. "However, we have a difficult schedule to contend with in 1987."

SSC will make its first ever spring trip to women's lacrosse this year when it travels to Ohio to face Wittenberg, Kenyon and Denison. On the return trip, SSC will play Frostburg State and Sweet Briar. The schedule features Washington College, Mary Washington and Georgetown at home.

"The schedule is difficult," said Weaver. "But, I hope it gives us a chance to improve and grow for bigger things in the future."

China's Health System: Successes and Tensions

"Health and the Health Delivery System in Modern China" is the title of a presentation by Dr. Gail Henderson, research assistant professor in the Department of Social and Administrative Medicine at the University of North Carolina, on Wednesday, March 25, at 7:30 p.m. in Caruthers Hall Auditorium.

"Under the leadership of Mao Zedong," said Dr. Henderson, "the Chinese developed a model of primary health care which became the model for the Third World. Without raising per capita income, the infant mortality rate declined to match that of most developed nations. Life expectancy rose to almost 70 years old."

China's success in public health has changed the leading causes of death as well, from infectious diseases to heart diseases, cancer and stroke," she said. "This 'epidemiological transition' has brought with it a rise in the demand for a different kind of medical care."

"In the West, treatment of chronic disease has resulted in expensive, hospital-based, physician-oriented medical care. Ultimately, this kind of care has raised financial and ethical questions about the value of our approach to health problems."

"In China," she continued, "under the post-Mao regime of Deng Xiaoping, the new policies of market socialism, decentralization of authority and open door to the West have created a revolution in medical care. The earlier policies which focused upon public health and primary care have been de-valued. Now, China stands on the brink of the 'new technological revolution.' Canton has more CT scanners than London. The demand for Western, high-tech medicine cannot be met."

"My presentation will explore the issues involved in the realignment of public health to high tech," she added. "It will focus upon the ethical issues which a socialist society faces as it entertains justifications for inequality even in a public good such as medical care. It concludes with the consideration of the difficult choices which China must confront in the modernization of its medical care system."

The presentation, part of the College's year-long cultural events series, "China: Tradition and Transformation," is sponsored by the Faculty Cultural Events Committee and the SSC Foundation Inc. Like all programs in the series, the lecture is free and open to the public.

"Disobedience."

A colleague of other noted writers of the time such as Ralph Waldo Emerson, Nathaniel Hawthorne and Louisa May Alcott, Thoreau also has had a profound effect on many of history's great leaders and reformers including Martin Luther King, Jr. and Mahatma Gandhi.

Barto, 37, a long-time student of Thoreau, has performed at Walden Pond itself on some 200 occasions.

According to Barto, his performance of Thoreau emphasizes: self worth and personal dignity and standing up for what one believes; the importance of having personal goals and dreams of pursuing them; the importance of following one's conscience; the importance of following a simple life free of materialism; and a respect for, finding special moments in, and seeking knowledge and parallels for living from, the natural words and what nature offers.

VOL. XIII NO. 23

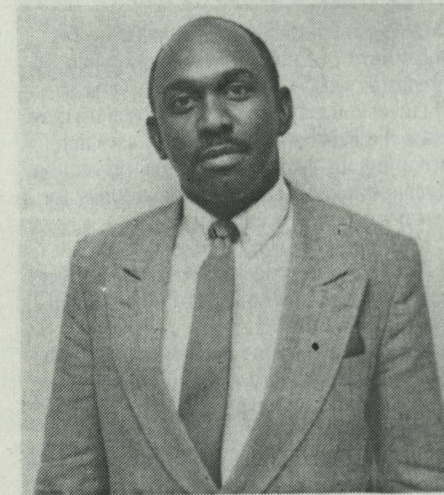

Lide Named New Athletic Director

Dr. William Lide, chairman of the Department of Physical Education at Winston-Salem State University in North Carolina, has been named the chairman of Physical Education, Intramurals and Athletics at SSC, it was announced recently by Dr. Keith Conners, dean of Professional Studies.

"I am excited about the opportunity at Salisbury State College," said Lide, who will assume the position full-time in July. "I feel honored to have been chosen."

Lide brings a wealth of experience with him from Winston-Salem State, where he has worked since 1984. He has been in charge of the administration of the curriculum, personnel and program planning there, while also being the supervisor of the intramural and recreation sports programs and facility operations.

Having served higher education for over 12 years, Lide was also the chairman of the Department of Health and Physical Education at Johnson C. Smith University in Charlotte, NC, from 1980-84. He has also served as an academic counselor and instructor at Ohio State University, where he earned a Ph.D. in Physical Education.

Dr. William Lide

A native of Darlington, SC, Lide received a Master of Education degree at the University of North Carolina-Charlotte and a Bachelor of Science degree from Johnson C. Smith.

"I hope to observe Salisbury State College for the next few months," said Lide, who coached football and tennis at Johnson C. Smith for two years. "We need to study and know exactly where the Physical Education and athletic programs are now and to formulate a plan which would continue to build the athletic program in conjunction with the academic plan."

An active college and community leader in Winston-Salem, Lide is noted for enhancing faculty and student development. Among his accomplishments are implementing a $100,000 Title III grant for a new Wellness Center at Winston-Salem and creating two new degree programs—A Therapeutic Recreation and Sports Management. He has increased full-time faculty by one-third over a two-year period and the GPAs of students have seen an increase over that period also.

"I hope to work with the faculty and staff at Salisbury State and continue the excellent job they are doing," said Lide, a noted speaker and researcher in Physical Education.

Lide is married to the former Cheryl Leverett of Detroit, MI, and has one daughter, Desiree Daniel, 3.

Spring String Festival, April 5

Vaclav Nelhybel, internationally renowned composer, conducts a "Spring String Festival" on Sunday, April 5, at 2 p.m. in Holloway Hall Auditorium. The concert features some 120 school children in grades three through 12 on string instruments with the Salisbury Symphony Orchestra. Admission is $3 and the public is invited. For more information, contact the Public Relations Office at ext. 6030.

Born in 1919 in Polanka, Czechoslovakia, Nelhybel studied musicology at universities in Prague and in Fribourg, Switzerland, and composition and conducting at the Conservatory of Music in Prague.

He was conductor at Radio Prague and City Theater in Prague from 1939-1942 before his career was temporarily interrupted by World War II. He resumed that blossoming career in 1945 as assistant to Rafael Kubelik at the Czech Philharmonic Orchestra in Prague.

A year later he began a four-year stint as conductor and composer in residence at Swiss Radio and lecturer at the University of Fribourg. Then, in 1950, he became musical director of Radio Free Europe in Munich and guest conductor with Vienna Symphonic, Salzburg Mozarteum Orchestra, Orchestra de la Suisse Romande in Geneva, Orchestre de Chambre de Lausanne, Basel Radio Orchestra, Munich Philharmonic Orchestra and Bavarian Symphony Orchestra.

In 1957 he moved to the United States where he became a citizen in 1962. He has remained active as a composer, conductor and lecturer at universities throughout the U.S.,

Canada and Australia in the intervening years as a list of his awards, honors and memberships attests.

He holds honorary doctorates in Music from Lebanon Valley (PA) College and Ohio Northern University, is an honorary member of the music fraternity KKPsi and of the Symphonians, is a member of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers, the board of advisors of the music magazine The Instrumentalist and the board of directors of Blue Lake (MI) Fine Arts Camp and holds an honorary doctorate in Humanities from the University of Scranton (PA).

His list of awards is equally impressive. In 1947 he received Prague's First National Prize for the best radiophonic composition. In 1954 in New York he received first prize of the Ravitch Music Foundation for the opera, "A Legend." A year later in Paris he received first prize for the motion picture score to "La Beaute des Formes" at the Exposition des Arts.

In 1957 he was recognized with the Prize for Horn Quartet in Los Angeles, and in 1968 was named the University of Notre Dame's "Man of the Year in Music" with its St. Cecilia Award. He was also acknowledged by the U.S. Treasury Department in 1968 with its Patriotic Service Award.

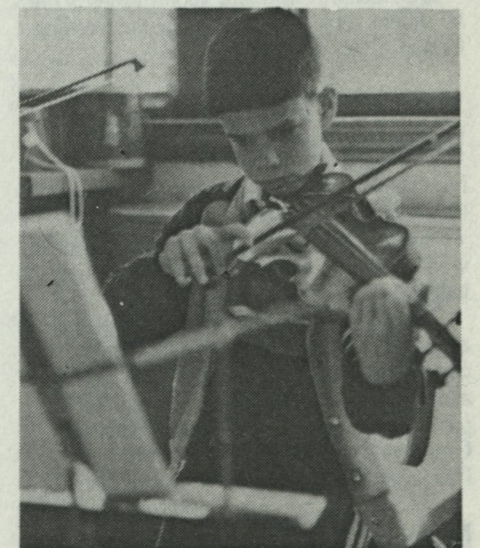

Nelhybel's opera "Everyman," which had its first performance in 1977 at the opening night of the American Opera Association's Convention in Memphis, TN, was subsequently videotaped and broadcast on Public Educational Television.

His opera "The Station" was premiered in 1979 by a professional cast in cooperation with Lowell (MA) University.

His first composition, "String Quartet No. IX," was published in 1950; today his list of compositions comprises almost 200 works.

The concert is sponsored by the SSC Foundation, Inc. and the Wicomico Arts Council.

Simeon Yurek, a fourth grader at North Salisbury Elementary, is one of some 120 third through 12th graders primarily from schools in Wicomico County who are currently practicing for a string instrument concert with the Salisbury Symphony Orchestra.

1987 Honors Convocation Deadline

The 1987 Honors Convocation is scheduled for Friday, May 1, at 3 p.m. (coinciding with the annual Salisbury Festival).

To make the Convocation run smoothly, the Honors Convocation Committee notes several important procedures/deadlines:

Awards given by department and organizations last year will be included in the 1987 program upon request. Forms and instructions have been mailed to these departments/organizations. Deadline for submission of information (type of award, recipient etc.) is due not later than March 27.

Departments and organizations wishing to include new awards may petition the Honors Convocation Committee for inclusion of same in this year's program. Please pick up appropriate form from the Dean of Students Office, HH 243. Deadline for such petitions is March 20.

Actual awards are to be hand delivered to the Dean of Students Office not later than April 10.

Notice to Prescriptive Students

Freshmen and transfer students whose score on the reading placement test, given during orientation, was in the 32-37 range are classified as prescriptive students in reading. These students must register to take further diagnostic tests designed to determine areas of strength and weakness. Various test dates and times have been scheduled to accommodate all students. The test sessions are:

Session One: Monday, April 13, 11 a.m.-Noon; Wednesday, April 15, 11 a.m.-Noon; Friday, April 17, 11 a.m.-Noon

Session Two: Tuesday, April 14, 2-3:30 p.m.; Thursday, April 16, 2-3:30 p.m.

Students need to register for one session of testing. Registration will be conducted in the Reading Center, Caruthers Hall, 210 A.

If the diagnostic test scores indicate no serious reading problems, the prescriptive student will have fulfilled the requirement just by taking the test. If, however, deficiencies are found, the student must work in the Reading Center until those deficiencies are remediated. Failure to fulfill this requirement, by testing out or working in the Reading Center until remediated, by the completion of the sophomore year may result in dismissal from the College.

If a student is in doubt about his test score, he should contact his advisor or the Reading Center at ext. 6391.

'85, '86 Prescriptive Reading Students

Prescriptive students who completed diagnostic tests in reading during the 1985-86 and 1986-87 academic year are urged to resume working in the Reading Center, on their individual prescription.

Prescriptive students who fail to demonstrate an appropriate level of competency by the completion of their sophomore year will not be allowed to continue at SSC. To resume your prescription, report to the Reading Center, Caruthers Hall, 210A, or contact Mrs. Patricia Dale, Caruthers Hall, 209A, at ext. 6391.

Morton Holbrook Lecture Date Changes

Faculty, please announce the following change in the date of the Morton Holbrook lecture from Wednesday, April 30 to Thursday, April 30.

Attention Sophomore Med Tech Majors

Applications for admission into the Medical Technology major are now being accepted. Deadline for admission is May 1. Application forms may be obtained from Mrs. Marylane McGlinchey, Hall Ed Center, ext. 6409.

Midnight Breakfast

A spring midnight breakfast will be held on Wednesday, May 27, from 11:50 p.m. to 1 a.m. If interested in joining in the fun as a cook, server, greeter, etc., please contact the Office of Administrative Services (ext. 6215) prior to Wednesday, May 20.

Personal Safety Tips

These personal safety tips, compiled by the Department of Public Safety, apply when on campus as well as in the Salisbury area or wherever you may reside. The precautions may lessen the likelihood of becoming a victim. Increasing our awareness of crime prevention techniques may decrease the opportunity for a person to commit a criminal offense.

1. You are your own best protection.
2. Keep your door locked at all times. Don't unlock the door for strangers. Keep your first floor windows locked.
3. Walk in well-lit areas and stay near the curb, away from alleys, entry ways and bushes where someone could be hiding.
4. Do not walk or jog alone after dark.
5. Avoid short cuts. Walk where there are other people present.
6. Do not hitchhike or accept rides from strangers. If a driver asks you for directions, stay far enough away so that you cannot be pulled into the car. Do not pick up strangers.
7. If you are being followed when walking, change direction, cross the street and vary your speed. Go to a well-lit area or a place where there are other people. If followed by someone in a car, turn and walk in the other direction. Record the license number.
8. Park in a well-lit area and lock car doors.
9. If you need an escort to or from your car, call the Department of Public Safety, ext. 6222.
10. Report any suspicious activity or crimes to the Public Safety Office.

For more information on personal safety, contact the Department of Public Safety, located in Holloway Hall, room 022, ext. 6222.

Attention May '87 Graduates

The College's commencement exercises will be held on Saturday, May 30, at 10 a.m. at the Wicomico Youth and Civic Center. Details concerning graduation will follow at a later date.

Wellness Day

The College's third annual "Wellness Day" has been scheduled for Monday, April 27, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Red Square. (Rain date is Monday, May 4.) Please start thinking now about how you would like to become involved in Wellness Day '87. Your department will be contacted in the not too distant future. For further information, call Ann Patey (Health Center, ext. 6262) or Phyllis Banks (School of Nursing, ext. 6403).

Counseling Services

Counseling Services conducts walk-in hours from 1 - 3 p.m. Monday through Thursday. Anyone who wishes to see a counselor and has not seen one before, is welcome between those hours.

MS 150 K Bike Tour

The Eastern Shore Branch of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society will sponsor its first annual "MS 150 K Bike Tour," on Saturday, April 25, and Sunday, April 26.

Cyclers will begin at 8:00 a.m. from Ocean City Health and Racquet Club and will bike along the coastline to Lewes, DE. From Lewes the ferry will usher everyone across to Cape May County. Cyclists will be spending the night at Big Timber Lake Campground in Cape May County. After returning to Ocean City on Sunday, there will be a wrap up party hosted by WQHQ-SBY radio and the Ocean City Health and Racquet Club.

A team of professionals from Salisbury Schwinn and Delmar CB Club will ensure biking safety. Bikers will ride with cyclers of their own cycling ability, led by the Salisbury Bicycling Club. A "sag" wagon will be giving out refreshments throughout the tour and transporting weary cyclers. Support trucks will transport overnight gear.

To join in the fun, contact Cheryl Pitman, 111 Baptist Street, Suite 202, Salisbury, MD 21801, (301) 543-0007.

Ganoe, Handley Address Women's Club

David Ganoe, director of the College Center, recently spoke to the Lord Baltimore Women's Club in Ocean View. The topic of his presentation was Eastern Shore history. Mark Handley, director of the Communication Center, also addressed the club. His subject was the new public radio station which is coming to the College.

Ganoe and Handley are part of the College's Speaker's Bureau. The Speaker's Bureau offers area organizations several speakers discussing a variety of subjects. There is no charge for the service. Any civic, service or educational organization desiring a speaker should contact the Public Relations Office at ext. 6030.

McBrien Presents Program

Dr. Robert J. McBrien, director of Counseling Services, recently presented his program on systematic counseling procedures for the treatment of depression at two national conferences.

On February 26, Dr. McBrien presented a one-day workshop at the North American Society of Adlerian Psychology, Orlando Conference in Orlando, FL. On March 6, he was in Storrs, CT, and presented a program at the National Conference for Student Development at the University of Connecticut.

Dr. McBrien's workshop and programs are based on his article "Managing Depression: An Adlerian Approach" which was published in the Journal of Individual Psychology in 1985. Dr. McBrien has been using his systematic counseling methods for 10 years with clients experiencing depression and has been associated with SSC's Counseling Services for 15 years.

Congro Named to 'Who's Who'

Patricia A. Congro, a 1983 graduate of Parkside High School majoring in Liberal Studies at SSC, was recently named to Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities. A member of the College Honors Program, the Business and Economics Society, the Chamber and Concert Choirs, the Collegium Musicum, and a leader of song for the St. Francis de Sales Church Choir, she has performed an arts administration internship with the Washington Opera. A Dean's List student, she hopes to pursue marketing following graduation.

Victor Borge and the National Symphony

The Salisbury Wicomico Arts Council is now taking reservations for a bus trip to see Victor Borge and The National Symphony at the Kennedy Center in Washington, D.C. on Friday, May 22.

The performance will combine music and comedy in a way that is seriously symphonic, sublimely silly and certainly characteristic of Victor Borge and The National Symphony.

The bus departs Salisbury from the Civic Center parking lot at approximately 5:30 p.m. and arrives in Washington, D.C. in time for the 8:30 p.m. performance and returns to Salisbury at approximately 1:00 a.m. A box dinner is being considered at an additional fee for those who won't have time to catch a quick dinner before the bus leaves Salisbury. Tickets for the trip, which include bus fare and the concert, are $40 ($38.00 for SWAC members).

Since tickets to see Victor Borge are limited, anyone interested in attending the show is urged to send in a check as soon as possible. Deadline for receipt of checks is April 20. Send checks (made payable to SWAC) to: The Salisbury Wicomico Arts Council, P.O. Box 884, Salisbury, MD 21801.

Orientation Assistants

A limited number of students are being hired to assist with the Summer Orientation (testing, advising and registration) Program for new students and their families. Upperclass student assistants will be needed to work June 8-19, July 7-9 and August 4,5.

Applicants should be in good academic standing, be involved with extracurricular activities, have knowledge about services/organizations on campus, be good role models and be articulate about SSC. A brief training program is required.

Interested students should fill out an application in the Dean of Students Office, room 243, Holloway Hall, by April 15.

Advanced Lifesaving Course

An advanced lifesaving course will be offered through the Continuing Education Office, April 20-May 3, Monday, Wednesday and Friday, 4:30-6:30 p.m., Saturday, 9:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m., and Sunday, 1-5 p.m. The cost is $40. Register at Continuing Education Office, Holloway Hall. For further information, call Rosie Barretta, aquatic director, ext. 6357.

Lifeguarding Course

An American Red Cross lifeguarding course will be offered May 8-10. All interested in taking this course must be currently certified in advanced lifesaving, CPR and first aid. The cost of $25 includes the book. For further information, contact Rosie Barretta, aquatic director, ext. 6357.

Summer Work-Pool

Summer employment is available at Maggs pool as lifeguard and swimming instructors—current lifesaving is required. Water safety instructor certification preferred. Pay is $4.00 to $5.75 an hour depending on qualifications. Individual must be able to work starting June 1 through August 31.

Apply Campus Recreation Office or call Rosie Barretta, aquatic coordinator.

China Lecture

"Literature of the Chinese Revolution" will be the topic of a presentation by Dr. Adele A. Rickett, recently retired professor in the University of Maryland's Hebrew and East Asian Languages and Literatures Department, on Tuesday, April 7, at 7:30 p.m. in Caruthers Hall Auditorium.

The presentation, part of the College's year-long cultural events series, "China: Tradition and Transformation," is sponsored by the Faculty Cultural Events Committee and the SSC Foundation Inc. Like all programs in the series, the lecture is free and open to the public.

"Twentieth-century Chinese literature has been closely tied to the political, economic and social changes that have taken place in the society," said Dr. Rickett. "The literature has both reflected these changes and played a part in shaping them."

In this presentation, Dr. Rickett analyzes the influence of traditional Chinese literature on the fiction and drama written by men and women in the '20s and '30s as well as in the Communist period. Revolution and reform, the role of women in bringing about change, love and the family, and other social themes are examined in the context of the writers' role in society and the forces for change in the society itself.

For more information on this and other "China" series programs, call 543-NEWS.

China Film

Return from Silence, a documentary about five Chinese communist writers restored to positions of honor by the current regime after years of persecution during the Cultural Revolution, will be aired Tuesday, April 7, and Thursday, April 9, at 3:30 p.m. in Caruthers Hall Auditorium.

The presentation, part of the College's year-long cultural events series, "China: Tradition and Transformation," is sponsored by the Faculty Cultural Events Committee and the SSC Foundation Inc. Like all programs in the series, the airing is free and open to the public.

The film was produced by Dr. Chung-wen Shih, a professor of Chinese at George Washington University, following her recent trip to China. It examines the five Chinese writers whose works have had great impact on the emergence of modern China.

The interviews are intercut with rare historical footage, including scenes of the May 4 movement (1919), the land reform (1949) and the Cultural Revolution (1966-76).

Dr. Shih, a Chinese native who calls Shanghai her "home town," is chairman of the Asian Language and Literature Department at George Washington. With a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities, she and Washington cinematographer Bob Sullivan went to China and produced this documentary.

For more information on this and other "China" series programs, call 543-NEWS.

Mayor's Prayer Breakfast

Salisbury Mayor's Prayer Breakfast Committee members recently mailed nearly 1000 invitations to the 12th annual Salisbury Mayor's Breakfast which will be held at the Wicomico Youth and Civic Center on Friday, April 10, beginning with a musical prelude at 7:10 a.m.

The Salisbury Mayor's Prayer Breakfast is open to the public and $8 tickets which must be purchased in advance can be obtained from the Gospel Shop in Court Plaza or at Jack's Religious Gift Shops on Snow Hill Road or in the Salisbury Mall. This year's speaker will be Lawrence Eck, national coordinator of the Christian Conciliation Service.

Townsend Presents Tribute

Barbara Townsend, associate professor of Education at the College, recently presented a tribute to noted book illustrator Randolph Caldecott to the Sussex County Organization for Reading Excellence at Delaware Technical and Community College in Georgetown.

Caldecott, born on March 18, 1841, was one of the first artists to put fun and action into his illustrations. The American Library Association presents an annual award in his name for the year's best picture book, the most prestigious award among book illustrators.

Hepburn Workshops

Dr. Andrew Hepburn, director of Theatre, recently conducted workshops in Masks for Theatre at the following places: Wicomico High School, the Ocean Pines Players and Greenwood Middle School in Princess Anne.

Heyde Adjudicator

Mrs. Norma Heyde, associate professor of Music, recently acted as an adjudicator for the National Federation of Music Clubs Pennsylvania State Auditions.

The auditions were held on the campus of West Chester University for young artists preparing for concert careers in the fields of piano, strings and voice. Mrs. Heyde was one of a panel of three judges in the voice auditions, in which two singers were selected in the opera category and one singer in the oratorio category.

On February 22, Mrs. Heyde was an adjudicator for the annual Concerto Competition at the University of Delaware at which time the most outstanding students of the Department of Music were selected to perform a special concert with the Delaware Symphony.

State Archives Summer Intern Program

The Maryland State Archives is offering seven internships for the 11-week 1987 summer internship program. The internships are available to Maryland college students (graduate or advanced undergraduate) or Maryland residents attending an out-of-state school.

The nationally recognized program began in 1968. It is an opportunity for students to learn about archival operations. Student work includes establishing control over historical records and providing reference services by answering mail and working with the public in the search room.

Qualifications for candidates include demonstrated academic excellence, preferably with an interest in archival science, history, library science or related fields. The salary is $1,815 each (before taxes). For information and application materials write to Archival Internship Program, Maryland State Archives, 350 Rowe Boulevard, Annapolis, MD 21401. Application deadline is April 6.

Agar Scholarship

Applications for the Jane Agar Scholarship sponsored by the Eastern Shore of Virginia Business and Professional Women are available in the Financial Aid Office, room 155, Holloway Hall.

Two $500 scholarships will be given to persons, either recent high school seniors or students currently enrolled in college, who meet the criteria of the Scholarship Fund and are residents of the Eastern Shore of Virginia. Candidates for the scholarship will be chosen by the club on proven scholastic ability, character and future citizenship.

This is the second year the scholarship will be awarded. The awards will be made in May. The application deadline is April 15.

File Today for Student Loan

All students planning to apply for a Guaranteed Student Loan for the 1987-88 academic year must complete a Financial Aid Form and mail it to the College Scholarship Service in Princeton, NJ so that the analysis can be returned to the Salisbury State Financial Aid Office.

Loan applications cannot be processed until this information is received. If you have not already done so, file the Financial Aid Form immediately, as it takes three to four weeks for processing.

Art Award Available for SSC Seniors

The Art Institute and Gallery of Salisbury will award one $200 award to a meritorious SSC student and will schedule the recipient to exhibit his or her work in Gallery I at the Art Institute May 25 through June 26. A reception will be held in honor of the student.

To be eligible an applicant must be a full-time SSC senior Art major with a 3.0 grade point average. The applicant must present the senior portfolio for review, a statement about the portfolio and include an academic transcript (or copy) for the first semester of the senior year. All applications will be reviewed April 15.

Deliver applications to the Art Institute and Gallery, Rt. 50 and Lemmon Hill Lane, Salisbury, MD between noon and 4 p.m., Monday - Saturday, or call 546-4748 or 742-0201 to make other arrangements.

Notification of the award will be made on Monday, April 20.

Calcott Scholarship

Applications are now being accepted for the Doris Gay Calcott Memorial Scholarship, offered by the Salisbury branch of the American Association of University Women.

The $1,000 scholarship was named last year in memory of the long time Salisbury civic leader. Junior or senior women attending Salisbury State College who are residents of the Eastern Shore of Maryland and show financial need may qualify.

Applications may be obtained from the Dean of Students office, room 243, in Holloway Hall. The deadline is April 6.

Mrs. Calcott, who died in 1985, was president of the Salisbury branch of AAUW when it began its scholarship program 19 years ago. A vigorous supporter of the AAUW, she spearheaded its scholarship fundraising drives, brought the American Field Service exchange student program to Salisbury, started the first senior girl scout troop here and was active in the United Way.

For many years, she was a writer for The Daily Times.

Student Teacher Application Meetings

Students who are eligible to student teach in the fall semester should follow the steps listed: Contact advisor to determine eligibility, competency tests, professional program application completed, GPA; and attend one of the meetings scheduled during the second week of classes in April.

Since no other meetings will be held, students must attend a scheduled meeting in order to receive an application for student teaching. Questions about the application process should be directed to Alvah Constantine, director of Field Experiences, Caruthers Hall, B-153.

Meeting dates are: Tuesday, April 14, 3:30 p.m., Caruthers Hall B-162; and Wednesday, April 15, 3:30 p.m., Caruthers Hall B-167.

Kappa Delta Pi Installation

A Salisbury State chapter of Kappa Delta Pi will be installed Wednesday, April 22, at 7:30 p.m. in the Social Room of Holloway Hall. Kappa Delta Pi is an honor society for Education students.

In order to make this organization a success, faculty members across the campus who were members in the past are urged to reinstate their membership and support this effort. Anyone interested should contact Dr. Barbara Townsend in the Education Department or call the Education office, ext. 6280.

Spring Art Classes

The Art Institute and Gallery offers art classes to children and adults. The classes offer a wide variety of instructions.

Spring art classes and instructions are as follows: Basic Drawing I and II, Georganne McElroy; Opaque and Transparent Watercolor, Tom Jones; Weaving, Judith Peterson; Oils, John Ambrosio Losonczy; Drawing from a Live Model, Mary Rose Rehak; Creative Art for Children (ages six to eight and nine to 12), Nancy Mysak; and Watercolor Open Studio, Phyllis Billman.

Call the Art Institute at 546-4748 for more information, or visit the Art Institute and "Monet's Gift Shop" in downtown Salisbury at Lemmon Hill Lane and Route 50. Classes begin the first week of April.

The Art Institute's current exhibit of original art is "Flowers" in Gallery II and a one-woman show in Gallery I by Barbara Sticher. This exhibit can be seen between noon and 4 p.m., Monday through Saturday.

Travel Canada Card

Canadian University and College Conference Officers Association (CUCCOA) is in the process of introducing the Travel Canada Card. The card offers to the holder a 20 percent discount on overnight accommodations at participating college and university residences across Canada.

For many years, colleges and universities have offered comfortable summer lodging at very economical prices.

CUCCOA was formed to promote to conference groups and individual travelers the various conference and accommodation facilities available on campuses across Canada.

In 1986, the association coordinated the efforts of 22 academic institutions to offer the Travel Canada Card. This year, more institutions are joining the program. From Halifax to Victoria, affordable accommodations are further discounted by the card.

For further information, contact Travel Canada Card National Office, Suite 210, Student Union Building, Dalhousie University, Halifax, Nova Scotia, B3H 4J2 Canada.

Men's Tennis Team Is Undeclared

The Salisbury State College men's tennis team ran its 1987 record to a perfect 6-0 last week with 7-2 wins over Catholic and Virginia Wesleyan and a 9-0 shutout over Hampden-Sydney. The Gulls have won an amazing 34 of 36 singles matches thus far this season. Freshman David Gardner is 6-0 while Mark Buzzell and Brian Ruppel have 5-0 marks. Also undefeated in singles play are Peter Hall (4-0), Mike Horvath (4-0), John Trimp (2-0), Sean Coon (2-0) and Paul Allen (2-0). The team is on a spring trip to Virginia this week.

Women's Tennis Team Gets Underway

Although dropping its first two matches of the season, the SSC women's tennis team has high hopes and some talented players to build on. SSC has lost two 6-3 matches to Catholic and Christopher Newport. Debbie Diedrick and Donna Midcap are undefeated in doubles play with two wins. Kelly Pfeiffer, Diedrick and Midcap have also won a singles match while losing one. The team will play its next match on Wednesday, April 8, against Wesley at home.

Softball Team Splits DH

The SSC women's softball team split a doubleheader on Sunday at Wilmington College in its only games last week. SSC defeated Wilmington 3-1 in the opener behind the debut of pitcher Dawn Taylor. Taylor allowed just three hits while striking out six. Terri Timmons provided the big blow for Salisbury with a two-run double in the fifth inning. The loss was the first of the year for Wilmington, which came back to win the nightcap 4-1. The Gulls are 7-3 on the season and play in the Methodist Tournament in Raleigh, NC over the weekend.

Baseball Team Nipped By Francis Marion

Francis Marion defeated the SSC baseball team 2-1 on Sunday in Florence, SC as the Gulls started their spring trip to the Carolinas. Mark Perry, a freshman who tossed a one-hitter in his first outing ever earlier in a 6-0 win over Catholic, yielded just seven hits while going the distance in the loss. Francis Marion scored an unearned run in the bottom of the eighth for the decisive run. SSC had tied the game in the top of the eighth when Russ Smith singled, went to second on a bunt by Artie Perdue, took third on a ground out and scored on a throwing error by the pitcher. SSC, 5-3, returns home on Wednesday, April 8, against Christopher Newport.

Men's Lacrosse Team Beaten In OT

St. Lawrence scored a goal just seven seconds into overtime on Saturday to defeat SSC 13-12 in men's lacrosse. Jim Sturgell led SSC with four goals while Jeff Cross added three. Bill Collinson had 25 saves in goal for the Gulls, 4-3. SSC lost a heartbreaker earlier in the week when Roanoke scored two late goals for an 11-9 win. Mike Provenzano leads SSC in goals with 18 on the year while Tim Berquist has 16 assists. The Gulls host Division I Loyola on Saturday at 2 p.m. at Sea Gull Stadium.

Carmina Burana—Joan Siekfer of Ocean City, Brigitte Tenor of Hyattsville, Lee Ann Mills of Cambridge and Agata Liszkowska, an international student from Warsaw, Poland, perform in the Salisbury State College Dance Company production of Carmina Burana; Spring and Other Works opening Friday, April 10, in Holloway Hall Auditorium.

Lombardi Leads SSC Women's Lax Team

Linda Lombardi scored four goals to lead SSC to a 12-5 win over rival Washington College last week in women's lacrosse at Salisbury. SSC jumped out to a 7-1 halftime advantage and coasted home with its second win of the year. However, two days later Mary Washington edged SSC 6-5. Lombardi again paced SSC with two goals in the game. The Gulls, 2-1, travel to Ohio and western Maryland for a spring trip this week.

Relay Team Wins

The SSC relay team of Darren Purcell, Krah Plunkert, Steve Tiller and Jim Sumstine won the 3200 meter relay in a time of 7:59.1 and then placed fourth in the distance medley in 10:52.7 at the Battleground Relays at Mary Washington College. Also placing for the Gulls were Nancy Gugerty and Kim Hatlee in the women's events. Gugerty finished sixth in the 1500 meter run and the 3000 meter run. Hatlee took third in the triple jump and sixth in the long jump. The team was at the Captain's Classic at Christopher Newport this weekend.

Student-Faculty Poetry Reading

Scarab, SSC's student literary magazine, and the English Department will sponsor a student-faculty poetry and fiction reading on Thursday, April 9, at 7:30 p.m. in the Social Room. Participants will be reading from their own work. All students, staff and faculty are encouraged to attend.

13 Faculty Members Receive Foundation Grants

Oliver Williams, chairman of the SSC Foundation Grants Commission, recently announced grants to 13 SSC faculty members totaling $3,800. The Foundation, established for the encouragement and enrichment of education at the College, is incorporated as a voluntary association of community leaders solely for educational, charitable and scientific purposes.

Williams is a retired educator who spent 21 years as a teacher and assistant principal in Worcester County and 17 years as principal in Somerset County. During that 38-year span, he joined, and was active, in many organizations including the Maryland State Teachers' Association, National Educational Association and National Association of Secondary Principals.

For three years prior to retirement, Oliver served as chairman of the Status and Welfare Committee of the Maryland Association of Secondary Principals, representing all secondary principals in the state at national conventions.

Since retirement, he has joined the Association of Retired Teachers and the Association of Retired Persons. He was elected as the first Black president of the 8,000 member Maryland State Retired Teacher's Association. He is the past chairperson and vice-chairperson of the Worcester County Commission On Aging; he now serves on the board of directors of the Area Agency On Aging. He was also appointed by the Governor of Maryland to serve as a member of the Worcester County Board of Education.

Oliver and his wife, Anna, reside in Snow Hill. Faculty development is an area of considerable emphasis on the part of the Foundation and its members.

The following individuals have been awarded Grants from the Foundation:

Dr. David Block, assistant professor in the Department of Geography and Regional Planning, received $250 for the development of a new course which will allow science teachers to become certified in Earth Science.

Dean Burroughs, associate professor in the Physical Education Department and acting athletic director, received $250 to attend and participate in the Outdoor Educators Course at the National Outdoor Leadership School.

Dr. Bernard Fusaro, professor in the Department of Mathematical Sciences, received $200 to attend a seminar at the Lozanov Learning Institute in Silver Spring, MD.

Dr. Daniel Gallagher, associate professor in the Department of Psychology, received $200 for assistance as he does research in marine resources during his sabbatical.

Dr. Polly Stewart, chairman of the Liberal Studies Department and professor in the English Department, received $250 to attend a National Endowment for the Humanities Institute.

Karen Weaver, instructor of Physical Education and coach of women's field hockey and lacrosse, received $250 to assist in her pursuit of a doctoral degree at Temple University.

Dr. John Wolinski, associate professor in the Department of Education, received $400 to present a paper on "Teaching Effectiveness" at a conference to be held in Houston, TX.

Dr. G. Ray Thompson, professor in the Department of History, received $250 to assist on a research project in Roman History during a sabbatical.

Edna B. Quinn, associate professor in the Department of Nursing, received $250 toward financial support of expenses related to her Ph.D. dissertation.

Dr. Andrew Hepburn, associate professor in the Department of Communication Arts and director of Theatre, received $300 as a matching fund toward the residency of Yuri Belov, a noted director and teacher of acting.

Dr. Kent Kimmel, professor in the Department of Art, received $400 toward travel expenses to attend the Annual National Art Education Convention.

Dr. David Heidler, instructor in the Department of History, received $400 toward the expenses of presenting a paper at the Fifth Citadel Conference.

Dr. Ronald Ulm, professor in the Department of Psychology, received $400 toward expenses to present a paper at the Southeastern Psychological Association Convention.

Dance Company Presents Carmina Burana: Spring and Other Works

Joan Siekfer, Brigitte Tenor, Lee Ann Mills and Agata Liszkowska will perform in the SSC Dance Company production of Carmina Burana

Images of life renewing itself—swimmers breaking the surface of the ocean, women shedding stereotypical roles, even lusty patrons erupting from a tavern—these and other moments are celebrated in the Dance Company concert, Carmina Burana: Spring and Other Works, opening Friday, April 10, for four performances at Holloway Hall Auditorium.

The concert includes new works by guest artist choreographers; an array of musical selections—from an original composition by Michael Zinn (on faculty at the University of Delaware) to Igor Stravinsky's tribute to Woody Herman; with settings ranging from an abandoned Delaware amusement park to a woman's psyche.

The title work is a half-hour excerpt from Carl Orff's 20th century masterpiece, Carmina Burana, choreographed by SSC Dance Company director, Kathryn Martin. According to musicologist, Michael Mackelmann, "... the bright primary colours make this music immediate and exciting." Carmina is partially based on medieval drinking songs and melodies and at times is satirical. Featured selections are "Shopkeeper, Give Me Colour," "Round Dance," "Cupid Flies Everywhere" and "In the Tavern."

Also choreographing with Martin are guest artists Trina Collins, artistic director of Danceteller of Philadelphia, and Jan Abramovitz, who will be choreographing at Swarthmore College this spring and Amherst College this summer. Collins and Abramovitz have created three new works for the SSC Dance Company.

"Things That Almost Seem To Be," by Collins, originally performed by Danceteller, an established Philadelphia dance/theatre group, has music by Zinn, which was commissioned by the Delaware State Music Teachers Association and the Delaware State Arts Council.

Notice to Prescriptive Students

Freshmen and transfer students whose score on the reading placement test, given during orientation, was in the 32-37 range are classified as prescriptive students in reading. These students must register to take further diagnostic tests designed to determine areas of strength and weakness. Various test dates and times have been scheduled to accommodate all students. The test sessions are:

Session One: Monday, April 13, 11 a.m.-Noon; Wednesday, April 15, 11 a.m.-Noon; Friday, April 17, 11 a.m.-Noon
Session Two: Tuesday, April 14, 2-3:30 p.m.; Thursday, April 16, 2-3:30 p.m.

Students need to register for one session of testing. Registration will be conducted in the Reading Center, Caruthers Hall, 210 A.

If the diagnostic test scores indicate no serious reading problems, the prescriptive student will have fulfilled the requirement just by taking the test. If, however, deficiencies are found, the student must work in the Reading Center until those deficiencies are remediated. Failure to fulfill this requirement, by testing out or working in the Reading Center until remediated, by the completion of the sophomore year may result in dismissal from the College.

If a student is in doubt about his test score, he should contact his advisor or the Reading Center at ext. 6391.

'85, '86 Prescriptive Reading Students

Prescriptive students who completed diagnostic tests in reading during the 1985-86 and 1986-87 academic year are urged to resume working in the Reading Center, on their individual prescription.

Prescriptive students who fail to demonstrate an appropriate level of competency by the completion of their sophomore year will not be allowed to continue at SSC. To resume your prescription, report to the Reading Center, Caruthers Hall, 210A, or contact Mrs. Patricia Dale, Caruthers Hall, 209A, at ext. 6391.

Morton Holbrook Lecture Date Changes

Faculty, please announce the following change in the date of the Morton Holbrook lecture from Wednesday, April 30 to Thursday, April 30.

Kappa Delta Pi Installation

A Salisbury State chapter of Kappa Delta Pi will be installed Wednesday, April 22, at 7:30 p.m. in the Social Room of Holloway Hall. Kappa Delta Pi is an honor society for Education students.

In order to make this organization a success, faculty members across the campus who were members in the past are urged to reinstate their membership and support this effort. Anyone interested should contact Dr. Barbara Townsend in the Education Department or call the Education office, ext. 6280.

Honda for Sale Correction

1985 Honda Prelude, dark gray with A/C, sunroof, stereo cassette, PS, PB Mag wheels, etc. Only 18,000 miles and in perfect condition. Price $10,500 ($1,000 below dealer price, not $100 as printed previously). If interested, contact Ron Ulm, ext. 6371 or at home at 546-1959.

Orientation Assistants

A limited number of students are being hired to assist with the Summer Orientation (testing, advising and registration) Program for new students and their families. Upperclass student assistants will be needed to work June 8-19, July 7-9 and August 4-5.

Applicants should be in good academic standing, be involved with extracurricular activities, have knowledge about services/organizations on campus, be good role models and be articulate about SSC. A brief training program is required.

Interested students should fill out an application in the Dean of Students Office, room 243, Holloway Hall, by April 15.

Advanced Lifesaving Course

An advanced lifesaving course will be offered through the Continuing Education Office, April 20-May 3, Monday, Wednesday and Friday, 4:30-6:30 p.m., Saturday, 9:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m., and Sunday, 1-5 p.m. The cost is $40. Register at Continuing Education Office, Holloway Hall. For further information, call Rosie Barretta, aquatic director, ext. 6357.

Lifeguarding Course

An American Red Cross lifeguarding course will be offered May 8-10. All interested in taking this course must be currently certified in advanced lifesaving, CPR and first aid. The cost of $25 includes the book. For further information, contact Rosie Barretta, aquatic director, ext. 6357.

Summer Work-Pool

Summer employment is available at Maggs pool as lifeguard and swimming instructors—current lifesaving is required. Water safety instructor certification preferred. Pay is $4.00 to $5.75 an hour depending on qualifications. Individual must be able to work starting June 1 through August 31.

Apply Campus Recreation Office or call Rosie Barretta, aquatic coordinator.

Student Teacher Application Meetings

Students who are eligible to student teach in the fall semester should follow the steps listed: Contact advisor to determine eligibility, competency tests, professional program application completed, GPA; and attend one of the meetings scheduled during the second week of classes in April.

Since no other meetings will be held, students must attend a scheduled meeting in order to receive an application for student teaching. Questions about the application process should be directed to Alvah Constantine, director of Field Experiences, Caruthers Hall, B-153.

Meeting dates are: Tuesday, April 14, 3:30 p.m., Caruthers Hall B-162; and Wednesday, April 15, 3:30 p.m., Caruthers Hall B-167.

File Today for Student Loan

All students planning to apply for a Guaranteed Student Loan for the 1987-88 academic year must complete a Financial Aid Form and mail it to the College Scholarship Service in Princeton, NJ so that the analysis can be returned to the Salisbury State Financial Aid Office.

Loan applications cannot be processed until this information is received. If you have not already done so, file the Financial Aid Form immediately, as it takes three to four weeks for processing.

Attention Sophomore Med Tech Majors

Applications for admission into the Medical Technology major are now being accepted. Deadline for admission is May 1. Application forms may be obtained from Mrs. Marylane McGlinchey, Hall Ed Center, ext. 6409.

Personal Safety Tips

These personal safety tips, compiled by the Department of Public Safety, apply when on campus as well as in the Salisbury area or wherever you may reside. The precautions may lessen the likelihood of becoming a victim. Increasing our awareness of crime prevention techniques may decrease the opportunity for a person to commit a criminal offense.

1. You are your own best protection.
2. Keep your door locked at all times. Don't unlock the door for strangers. Keep your first floor windows locked.
3. Walk in well-lit areas and stay near the curb, away from alleys, entry ways and bushes where someone could be hiding.
4. Do not walk or jog alone after dark.
5. Avoid short cuts. Walk where there are other people present.
6. Do not hitchhike or accept rides from strangers. If a driver asks you for directions, stay far enough away so that you cannot be pulled into the car. Do not pick up strangers.
7. If you are being followed when walking, change direction, cross the street and vary your speed. Go to a well-lit area or a place where there are other people. If followed by someone in a car, turn and walk in the other direction. Record the license number.
8. Park in a well-lit area and lock car doors.
9. If you need an escort to or from your car, call the Department of Public Safety, ext. 6222.
10. Report any suspicious activity or crimes to the Public Safety Office.

For more information on personal safety, contact the Department of Public Safety, located in Holloway Hall, room 022, ext. 6222.

Attention May '87 Graduates

The College's commencement exercises will be held on Saturday, May 30, at 10 a.m. at the Wicomico Youth and Civic Center. Details concerning graduation will follow at a later date.

Wellness Day

The College's third annual "Wellness Day" has been scheduled for Monday, April 27, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Red Square. (Rain date is Monday, May 4.) Please start thinking now about how you would like to become involved in Wellness Day '87. Your department will be contacted in the not too distant future. For further information, call Ann Patey (Health Center, ext. 6262) or Phyllis Banks (School of Nursing, ext. 6403).

Counseling Services

Counseling Services conducts walk-in hours from 1 - 3 p.m. Monday through Thursday. Anyone who wishes to see a counselor and has not seen one before, is welcome between those hours.

TV For Sale

13-inch color TV set, with remote control and TV stand. In perfect condition . . . only one year old. $150 or best offer. Please contact Janine Kallgren-Miller at ext. 6895.

Escort Service

The Department of Public Safety offers an escort service during the hours of darkness to any person walking alone on campus and to nearby off-campus locations. Call 543-6222 or ext. 6222 from a centrex phone for the escort. An officer will meet you at your location and escort you to your destination. This service is provided to anyone who feels uncomfortable walking alone at night.

Blue Light Phones

Blue light phones have been installed at various locations on campus for your use. The number for Public Safety is ext. 6222. These phones are particularly useful to call for assistance, including stalled vehicles, escorts or any emergency.

Get to know the locations of these phones so you can take advantage of their convenience when you need one. The locations are: running track near St. Martin Hall; temporary parking lot, on the wall of Holloway Hall Annex; Caruthers Hall next to the parking lot; Devilbiss lot near Devilbiss Hall; and Dogwood Village.

SSC Cycling Club

The Salisbury State College Cycling Club begins Saturday morning rides on April 11 and continues riding each Saturday through the month of May. Join the club as it tours the back roads of Salisbury. The rides are stimulating and spring scenery is marvelous.

Rides range from 10 to 30 miles depending on the individual's time, interest and level of fitness. A club member will be present each Saturday to help organize a suitable group for all. Everyone is welcome.

Weekend History Club Trip To Harper's Ferry

An overnight trip to Harper's Ferry, sponsored by the History Club, is scheduled for the weekend of April 24. The trip includes a visit to the Antietam battlefield. The vans depart from Maggs Circle at 6:30 a.m. sharp on Saturday, April 25, and return Sunday evening before 8 p.m.

The cost is $10 for transportation and motel bed (no single rooms). Please pay in the History Department office (Holloway Hall, third floor south) by 4 p.m. Wednesday, April 22.

For further information see Dr. Timothy Miller, or call ext. 6243.

Outdoor Club Meeting

The Outdoor Club holds its weekly meetings in Tawes 118 at 6:30 p.m. on Tuesdays to discuss upcoming trips. Trips include a rock climbing trip in Great Falls, MD on the weekend of May 2. Meetings also include speakers on a variety of topics. Everyone is invited to attend.

Men's Tennis Nets Opposition

Completing its first ever undefeated spring trip, the Salisbury State men's tennis team upped its 1987 record to a perfect 8-0. The Gulls served losses to Virginia Wesleyan, Hampden-Sydney, Roanoke and Lynchburg last week. SSC has now won 43 of 48 (90 percent) of its singles matches on the year with Brian Ruppel leading the way with a 7-0 mark. Peter Hall is also undefeated at 6-0 followed by Mike Horvath at 5-0. David Gardner is 7-1 and Mark Buzzell is 6-1. In doubles play, top seeded Tom Porter and Hall lost their first match of the season in six tries in the final match at Lynchburg. SSC hosts Averett College on Sunday at 1 p.m.

China Going Capitalist? Lecture on April 16

"Is China Going Capitalist? Economic and Political Reform in Modern China" is the title of a presentation by Dr. Harry Harding, senior fellow at The Brookings Institution, on Thursday, April 16, at 7:30 p.m. in Caruthers Hall Auditorium.

The lecture, part of the College's year-long cultural events series, "China: Tradition and Transformation," is sponsored by the Faculty Cultural Events Committee and the SSC Foundation, Inc. Like all programs in the series, the performance is free and open to the public.

"In the 10 years since the death of Mao Zedong in 1976, the People's Republic of China has been enmeshed in an extraordinary program of economic and political reforms," said Dr. Harding. "The changes are evident in a host of small details: the T-shirts, blue jeans, make-up and jewelry worn by Chinese youth; the disco music that blares from radios and loudspeakers on Chinese streets; the television antennas mushrooming both from urban apartment complexes and from the homes of many suburban farmers; the bustling free markets selling meat, vegetables and clothing in China's major cities; the enthusiastic reception given to Western films ranging from The Turning Point to Rambo; the throngs of foreign tourists and businessmen in major coastal cities, filling modern new hotels managed by Sheraton, Holiday Inn and other international chains; and the fleets of imported Japanese cars, trucks and busses that are creating unprecedented traffic jams in Peking and Shanghai.

"These highly visible changes," continued Dr. Harding, "are symptomatic of a substantial liberalization in the Chinese political and economic system. The reforms of recent years have given society greater autonomy from the state, the economy greater autonomy from the plan, political and economic institutions greater autonomy from the Party, and intellectual and cultural life greater autonomy from doctrine.

"Moreover, even more radical changes are now being discussed in the Chinese press or being introduced on an experimental basis," said Dr. Harding. "These include the issuance of shares of stock in Chinese enterprises and the gradual redefinition of the role of the Party in Chinese political life.

"As of now, the reforms are not creating a democratic China, nor even a capitalistic one. But in creating 'socialism with Chinese characteristics,' the Chinese leadership is designing a new version of Marxism that, taken as a whole, is without precedent in the Communist world. Moreover, although one can still ask about the chances for retrogression after Deng Xiaoping leaves the Chinese political stage, one can ask with equal justification how much further the reforms are likely to go in the decades ahead.

"I intend my lecture to offer a brief overview of the origins and content of the reforms, their successes and failures to date, their prospects after the death of Deng Xiaoping, and their implications for the United States," concluded Dr. Harding.

Elliot Guest Conductor

Dr. Thomas G. Elliot, chairman of the Department of Music, was the guest conductor of the All-Sussex County High School Band Festival at the Indian River High School on April 2.

Dr. Elliot was also selected by the Eastern Shore Choral Directors Association to adjudicate its annual Choral Festival on April 8 and 9 in Easton, MD. Students representing all of the junior and senior high schools on the Eastern Shore will perform for evaluation and awards.

Shadow Theatre Monday

The Asia Society presents the "Yueh Lung Shadow Theater" on Monday, April 13, at 7:30 p.m. in Caruthers Hall Auditorium.

The performance, part of the College's year-long cultural events series, "China: Tradition and Transformation," is sponsored by the Faculty Cultural Events Committee and the SSC Foundation, Inc. Like all programs in the series, the performance is free and open to the public.

Preserving a 2,000 year-old tradition, the troupe uses animated Peking-type shadow figures to bring to life drama based on classical Chinese literature and history. The program includes an introduction to Chinese shadow theatre, followed by a scene from the Legend of the White Snake—"The Borrowed Umbrella." The adventure of a third century warrior, "100,000 Borrowed Arrows," taken from A Romance of the Three Kingdoms is the third presentation. The program concludes with A Journey to the West, featuring the famous monkey king, Sun Wu Kung.

Performers featured are Jo Humphrey, director; Kuang Yu Fong; and Shirin Sorabi. Voices are provided by Anna Lisa Hefgren, Larry Hernan, Jo Humphrey, Richard Knapp, Dan Peterson, Ron Sopyla and Rod Young. Music is courtesy of Folkways and Lyricord Records.

Chinese Paintings Exhibit

The Marson Galleries Exhibition and Sale featuring contemporary Chinese paintings opens Tuesday, April 14, from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m., in the Chesapeake Room of the College Center.

The exhibit, part of the College's year-long cultural events series, "China: Tradition and Transformation," is sponsored by the Faculty Cultural Events Committee and the SSC Foundation, Inc. Like all programs in the series, the exhibit is free and open to the public.

Marson Galleries Ltd. of Baltimore specializes in exhibiting for sale a distinguished collection of original etchings, woodcuts, lithographs, serigraphs and watercolors by old and modern masters. The collection consists of approximately 800 pieces of original graphic art by leading American, European and Oriental artists.

Represented in this unique collection are antique works by Hiroshige, Kuniyoshi, Daumier, Goya, Hogarth and others. Also included is a fine selection of Indian miniature paintings and manuscripts.

There is a large group of works by such world renown distinguished contemporary artists as Altman, Amano, Azechi, Baskin, Calder, Chagall, Elgi, Eggers, Fink, Gantner, Maki, Miro, Rayburn, Tajima, Saito and many others. Additionally, there are numerous contemporary Chinese paintings, watercolors, embroideries, batiks, rubbings and folk art. A comprehensive collection of Twentieth Century Impressions of the Ukiyo-E prints are also included.

A representative will be present to discuss the collection and to answer questions about the work, the artists and the various graphic techniques employed. The prints are shown in open portfolios in an informal atmosphere and the public is invited to browse through this fascinating and well described collection.

Marson Galleries Ltd. is the largest firm in the nation specializing in arranging exhibitions and sales of original graphic art at colleges, universities, museums and art centers throughout the United States.

Agar Scholarship

Applications for the Jane Agar Scholarship sponsored by the Eastern Shore of Virginia Business and Professional Women are available in the Financial Aid Office, room 155, Holloway Hall.

Two $500 scholarships will be given to persons, either recent high school seniors or students currently enrolled in college, who meet the criteria of the Scholarship Fund and are residents of the Eastern Shore of Virginia. Candidates for the scholarship will be chosen by the club on proven scholastic ability, character and future citizenship.

This is the second year the scholarship will be awarded. The awards will be made in May. The application deadline is April 15.

A Creative Writing Celebration

Scarab, the student literary magazine, with the English Department, is sponsoring "A Creative Writing Celebration," a reading of original works by faculty and students, on Thursday, April 9, at 7:30 p.m. in the Social Room in Holloway Hall. Admission is free and the public is invited.

The program, which will last approximately 90 minutes according to organizer Michelle Gibson, includes readings by professors Michael Waters and John Wenke; Deborah Creasy of Salisbury and Donna Harrington of Washington, D.C., graduate students in the English Master's Writing Program; and Diane Nichols and Sandra Hart Christian of Salisbury, Leslie Lovelace of Hebron, James Antonelli of Ocean City and Michelle Gibson of Preston, undergraduates who are studying or have studied creative writing, among others.

Waters will be reading poetry from his forthcoming volume, The Burden Lifters, Wenke from a novel, and students from original poetry and fiction.

Basehart with SAR

Dr. Harry Basehart, chairman and professor in the Political Science Department, addressed the Colonel Tench Tilghman Chapter of the Sons of the American Revolution on March 21 at the Talbot Country Club near Easton. The topic of his presentation was "Two Centuries Under the U.S. Constitution: Would the Founding Fathers Recognize Us Today?"

Dr. Basehart is part of the Salisbury State College Speaker's Bureau. The Speaker's Bureau offers area organizations several speakers discussing a variety of subjects. There is no charge for the service.

Any civic, service or educational organization desiring a speaker should contact The SSC Public Relations Office at 543-6030.

Butler Team Member For Mid States Review

Dr. K. Nelson Butler, vice president of Academic Affairs, was selected as a team member of the Commission on Higher Education—Middle States Association of Colleges and Schools Program/Services Review of West Chester University of Pennsylvania. The visit last week constituted an accreditation review of the entire university.

Dr. Butler was appointed vice president of the College in June 1986. Prior to that appointment he was the dean of the School of Professional Studies. He came to SSC in 1974 from the University of South Florida in Tampa where he was an associate professor in the College of Social and Behavioral Sciences.

He received his undergraduate degree from the University of Tampa, an M.A. from Appalachian State University and the doctorate at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville. He has done post-doctoral work at the University of Florida.

Dr. Butler has received a number of honor awards from several professional associations. He has published extensively in more than 15 periodicals and authored sections or chapters in six books. He has or does serve on the editorial boards of several national and international publications.

He has presented research papers and general education addresses in many states and foreign countries including West Germany, Sweden, England and Canada. He routinely serves as a consultant to private corporations and public agencies such as Maryland State Board for Higher Education, National Education Association and Middle States Association of Colleges and Schools.

Dr. Butler resides in Delmar, MD with his wife, Lucy and son, Anthony.

Shore Jazz/87 Artists

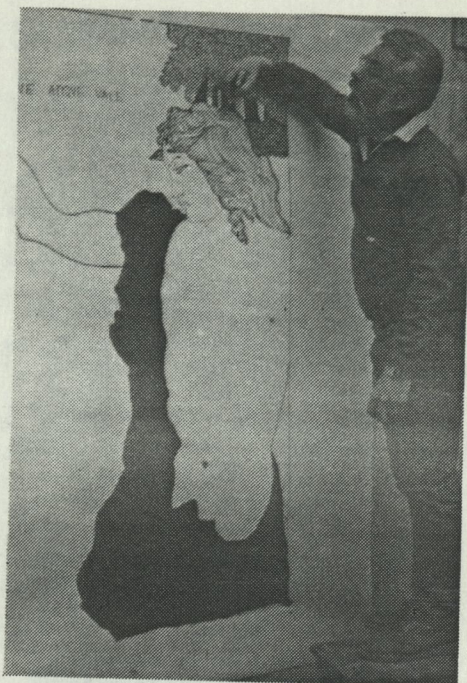

Shore Jazz/87 will be held at the ballrooms of the Salisbury Sheraton Hotel on Sunday, May 3, from 1 - 7 p.m.

Headlining Shore Jazz/87 will be jazz and blues singer/pianist/composer Mose Allison. Allison is a unique musical artist who performs and attracts fans of jazz, blues, country and rock. He easily blends the music of Duke Ellington, Hank Williams and Willie Dixon all in one performance. The Washington Post said of Allison, "he possesses a country singer's ear for a good story, a jazzman's flair for telling it, and a blues musician's ability to make it all sound first-hand."

Born in 1927 in Tippoe, MS, Allison has performed with Stan Getz, Gerry Mulligan and many other jazz greats and has been an inspiration to musicians of all music. In fact, Pete Townshend of The Who, said of Allison, "The man's voice was heaven. So cool, so decisively hip, uncomplicated, Mose was MY MAN."

Opening and closing Shore Jazz/87 as they did last year will be the Shore Jazz All Stars. But this year the group will be the Shore Jazz All Stars Plus, with guest artists J. R. Montrose on tenor sax and Hope Clayton singing vocals. Montrose has toured with Buddy Rich and Lionel Hampton and has recorded with Charlie Mingus, Teddy Charles and Lionel Hampton. He is currently Jazz Artist in Residence at Utica College of Syracuse University. Clayton used to sing with Ray Battle and the Altones and has made numerous appearances in the Washington-Baltimore area and has been featured on MPT's program "Weekend Alive."

Tickets for Shore Jazz/87 may be purchased at the Arts Council office located in the Wicomico Youth and Civic Center. Tickets are $15 each. For more information on Shore Jazz/87 call the Arts Council at 543-ARTS.

Gerry Patt of the Communication Arts faculty works on the decor for the Foundation Gala. The decor is styled after drawings by Aubrey Beardsley.

Gala Goes Get Kinzie Prints

Each person attending this spring's Foundation Gala will receive one of two prints by noted Eastern Shore artist Mary Elizabeth Ellis Kinzie.

This year's Gala, the eighth annual, is on Saturday evening, April 11, at the Ruth Powell Dining Hall. Jim Zemarek and his Orchestra, one of the East Coast's top dance bands, will perform music from the '40s to the '80s following dinner. Tickets are now on sale and available to the public for this spring's Gala.

The monies raised from the $125 a couple event go to the SSC Foundation, born 14 years ago out of a need to supplement the College's financial needs with private support. The Foundation, established for the encouragement and enrichment of education at the College, is incorporated as a voluntary association of community leaders solely for educational, charitable and scientific purposes.

Mrs. Kinzie, a native of Salisbury who died in 1983, was a realist artist whose paintings of fishing and boating scenes celebrate the life and region of the Chesapeake Bay. The two prints available for those attending the Gala are entitled, "Coming In" and "Going Out." Both are Chesapeake Bay area boating scenes.

The menu for the Gala has also been determined, according to Gala chairman, Diane Savage of Berlin. This year's menu features fresh fruit supreme, crab and kiwi with dressing, tourmedos antoine, French baked potato, marce' doine, homemade dinner rolls, Maryland wine, cherries jubilee and Irish coffee.

For more information, call the SSC Foundation at 543-6175.

Wesley With Exchange

Dr. Robert Wesley, Communication Arts professor, addressed the Salisbury Exchange Club on Saturday, March 28. The topic of his presentation was "Everybody's Talking . . . Is Anyone Listening?"

Dr. Wesley is part of the Salisbury State College Speaker's Bureau. The Speaker's Bureau offers area organizations several speakers discussing a variety of subjects. There is no charge for the service.

Any civic, service or educational organization desiring a speaker should contact the Public Relations Office at 543-6030.

Soviet Union Study-Tour

Imagine yourself this summer in the heart of Moscow walking among the throngs in Red Square, marvelling at the towers of the Kremlin, visiting Lenin's tomb. As a participant in the study-tour of the Soviet Union, all of this and more can be a part of an unforgettable summer.

On August 12, SSC study-tour will begin a 15-day odyssey, departing for Moscow. This ancient city, hub of the Soviet system, has much to offer the visitor. The high walls of the Kremlin enclose not only the nerve centers of the government, but also magnificent tsarist cathedrals.

The sparkling cleanliness of Red Square is bordered by St. Basil's Cathedral, the Kremlin and GUM, Moscow's unique department store. Just a short distance away are the Bolshoi Theater and KGB headquarters. Museums, such as the Pushkin Museum and the Armory, abound. Further from the center, Moscow University, situated in the Lenin Hills, overlooks the older part of the city.

The efficient, beautiful subway system, the Metro, whisks visitors quickly to such places as the All-Soviet Exhibit of Economic Achievements and the Olympic Stadium. Other highlights to be seen include the Novodevichy Monastery. Of course there will be free time to stroll the streets of the city, browsing, shopping or simply drinking in the atmosphere of this intriguing city.

After a four-day sojourn the study-tour continues by overnight train to Kiev where Christianity first came to Russia 1000 years ago. There the group will visit St. Sophia's Cathedral and the Lavra Monastery as well as other important places in the city on the Dnieper River. The study-tour then flies on to Leningrad, the "Venice of the North."

Prior to departure, the History and Political Science Departments will jointly offer a course, Survey of the Soviet Union, for participants. The course may be taken for undergraduate credit in either department, for graduate credit in History, or as a non-credit offering.

The cost of the study-tour is $1879, plus tuition, which includes all transportation, all meals (except two) and hotels, guided tours of the cities and all visa fees.

For more information about the study-tour, call or write Dr. Robert Berry, History (543-6248), Dr. Greg Cashman, Political Science (543-6247), or the Office of Continuing Education (543-6170). Space is limited.

According to Martin, the dance, which is set in a closed amusement park, has a haunting quality. Its three movements explore the ethereal atmosphere of the quiet park. "Things That Almost Seem To Be," with its ambiguous, hermetic world, counterpoints the rest of program's dances, which celebrate life's renewal.

In "Es Vakeves," Hebrew for "goat and sheep are shorn," Abramovitz choreographs a lively duet inspired by Israeli folk dances. Two international students at SSC, Kalia Kilili of Cyprus and Agala Liszkowska from Poland perform the fast footwork required for this sprightly ritual. Abramovitz, who has studied in Israel, has toured Europe and North America with the Kaleidoscope Dancers and performed with the Bread and Puppet Theatre.

He also choreographs a new solo work, "Matinee," about women performed by Martin. "This dance is about shedding the facades that hide us from ourselves, the roles we wear like clothes, that make us what our society expects us to be," Martin said. "It's about discovering the person inside. I feel Jan's dance is most powerful." The abstract piece includes Stravinsky's tribute to jazz clarinetist, Woody Herman ("Ebony Concerto"), as well as music by rockers Sting and Eurythmics. Spoken dialogue from such film classics as Casablanca, Gone With the Wind and The Wizard of Oz intercuts the music, creating a plastic, surreal world.

Also in the program are "Voices in the Night," a comic dance set in a lily pond, which pleased audiences at last year's spring concert; and a restaged "Mackerel Sky," choreographed by Martin last fall and now expanded, exploring life beneath the ocean and on a beach. Music is by Cocteau Twins and Pagan Waves.

This innovative concert plays Friday and Saturday, April 10 and 11, and Thursday and Friday, April 16 and 17, with an 8 p.m. curtain for all performances. The program with intermission is approximately 90 minutes.

Tickets are available from the College Center, the Salisbury Wicomico Arts Council or at the door. Admission is free to SSC students, faculty and staff. Phone 543-6353 for reservations.

Taylor Pitches and Pitches And Pitches for SSC Women

Dawn Taylor pitched 35 innings over the weekend as the SSC women's softball team placed second in the Methodist Tournament and swept a twinbill against North Carolina Wesleyan. Taylor lost the opening game 2-1 in extra innings to Lander but came back to pitch 10 innings in a 5-4 win over Virginia Wesleyan. She pitched her third straight extra inning game as SSC defeated Methodist 4-1. Lander came back to beat the Gulls 8-3 for the tournament title. On Sunday Taylor tossed a one-hitter as the Gulls defeated N.C. Wesleyan 6-0. The SSC hitting attack exploded in the second game as the Gulls rapped out 13 hits. Terri Timmons collected three hits while Elaine Allnut and winning pitcher Tina DeJaco each had two. SSC, 11-5, plays host to Methodist College, ranked 15th in the nation, on Sunday at noon.

SSC Lacrosse Team Splits

The SSC men's lacrosse team split two games last week as it defeated St. Mary's 17-9 but lost to Division I Loyola 20-8. Rick Maranto and Jerry Judge led the SSC attack in the win with three goals each. Tim Berquist passed for four assists and goalie Bill Collinson saved 20 shots. Jim Sturgell had three goals in the loss to Loyola. The Gulls, 5-4, are on the road this week. The JV team hosts Washington College JVs on Friday at 4 p.m. at Sea Gull Stadium.

Baseball Team Closes Trip With Big Win

Salisbury State's baseball team closed its spring trip with an 8-5 win over N.C. Wesleyan on Saturday. N.C. Wesleyan had won 23 straight games but Ricky Collett pitched a great game to help SSC to the win. During the week SSC lost to the Citadel (19-11), Baptist (3-0), Methodist (12-7) and St. Augustine's (15-3). The Gulls did manage a split with Division I Baptist as they won the second game 9-7. Kevin Smith got the win with a little help from Al Pritchett who recorded a save. The Gulls are 7-7 on the season and host Wilmington College on Friday at 3 p.m.

Snow Grounds Women's Lacrosse Team

Scheduled to make its first ever spring trip, the SSC women's lacrosse team ran into a problem before it got started—snow. Five games in Ohio and western Maryland were postponed due to bad weather but head coach Karen Weaver is hopeful that the games can be made up. SSC hosts the College of Notre Dame on Tuesday, April 14, at 4:00 p.m. in the next home contest.

Riall Continues Dedication to Teaching, SSC

BY RICHARD CULVER

According to longtime friend, Paul Hyde, "When 9 o'clock came, she closed the door, taught school and taught hard... What made her tick was her job. Her whole heart and soul was her job."

For 40 years, E. Pauline Riall, teacher, then principal of the campus "Demonstration School" at Salisbury State College, made educating children her life. For friends and colleagues, it comes as no surprise, therefore, that this conscientious educator, who died last October, has willed approximately $300,000—the bulk of her estate—for scholarships and educational programs at Salisbury State.

"Her money came from the College and that's where she wanted to leave it," said Hyde.

"She lived, slept and ate education," another friend, Mrs. Marshall Stewart said.

"But Pauline knew the value of politics," Hyde added. In a 1955 picture taken at the dedication of the new campus elementary school, Governor Theodore McKeldin is shown presenting Riall with a desk standard for her new office. The dedication was for the first modern campus-type school built in Maryland for training teachers and it served as a model for other teachers colleges. Wooing and winning the backing of influential area citizens, Riall had been instrumental in planning and securing financing from Annapolis for what became the T.J. Caruthers Campus School. According to Hyde and others, the new campus building was "almost a single-handed achievement of hers."

(With the campus school's closing in 1969, mandated at all state college campuses, the building complex became Caruthers Hall, now home of the Education and other academic departments, and one of the main classroom buildings for College students.)

E. Pauline Riall

Riall was not born into a politically prominent, nor a wealthy family. Raised on a farm in Tyaskin, from early childhood she had wanted to be a teacher. With no place on the Eastern Shore providing teacher education in 1917, the year she graduated from Nanticoke High, she crossed the Chesapeake Bay by Victor Lynn boat to Baltimore for the State Normal School at Towson. Later in the 1930s and '40s, she would attend the Teachers College at Columbia University during summer sessions to earn her B.S. and M.A. degrees. She began teaching in 1920, in village schools in Tyaskin, then Fruitland and Willards, before being recommended by Wicomico school superintendent, James M. Bennett, to teach third and fourth grades at the normal school.

During the Depression, the state repeatedly threatened to close the new Normal School at Salisbury (opened in 1925) to save money. Despite political wrangling in the bureaucracy, however, teachers and students recall the years as happy ones.

Salisbury City Councilman, S. Norman Holland Jr., who began attending in 1928, remembers skating on the track field, which was flooded and iced in winter, sleigh rides down Camden Ave. (the main north-south corridor) and a College surrounded by peach orchards, watermelon fields and not much else.

According to Hyde, Route 13 went as far south as College Ave. and the school owned the land all the way east to the railroad tracks. In early summer, children would pluck the trees for ammunition and battle with green peaches where Rt. 13 and fast food restaurants now stand.

Tuition at the campus school was free, but as the school increased in popularity, a waiting list for admission grew. Stories abound of parents placing the names of their new-born on the list before the infants even had returned home from the hospital.

During the 1930s, life at the College was gentle and genteel and appealing to a rural teacher like Riall, and to many, especially with the horizon dimmed by war clouds and the ever-present shadow of economic Depression.

Although she dated, she never married. Women were not expected to marry and teach school at the same time, even in the 1930s. And Riall may have felt like many other women

Art Scholarship Fund Features Local Artists' Work

Tom Elliot and Mary Rex, senior Art majors at SSC, are preparing a raffle of Eastern Shore Art. Hundreds of dollars worth of original work by local artists are being donated. The drawing will be held in May and the proceeds will go to the Art Scholarship Fund at SSC. Advertisement and ticket information will be posted in local businesses.

The Art Department is sponsoring a raffle of Eastern Shore art. Hundreds of dollars worth of original work by local artists have been donated. Proceeds for the raffle will go to the Art Department Scholarship Fund.

The Art Department is pleased to have works donated by Grover Cantwell, Beth Fusaro and Ron Lambert. First prize is a 27 1/4 x 22 1/2 inch framed print titled "Southward Bound" by Cantwell, framing by the Gallery, Court Plaza. Second prize is from potter Beth Fusaro of Salisbury who has contributed a large crockery piece in an early American style, titled "Salisbury, MD 1987", and an original framed Eastern Shore watercolor landscape by artist and SSC alumnus Ron Lambert is given as third prize. (The framing is donated by Salisbury Art and Framing.) In addition, there will be a "Mystery Piece" for fourth prize. Works of the

The Department of Public Safety offers an escort service during the hours of darkness to any person walking alone on campus and to nearby off-campus locations. Call 543-6222 or ext. 6222 from a centrex phone for the escort. An officer will meet you at your location and escort you to your destination. This service is provided to anyone who feels uncomfortable walking alone at night.

Looking for Summer Excitement

If you plan to be in the Salisbury area this summer and want something fun and interesting to do which also looks great on a resume, then why not consider working as a WSCL volunteer?

WSCL can give you valuable experience working in an exciting medium. It carries programs which are unique and of a greater variety than is usually found in commercial radio. The broadcast schedule includes classical music, news and information, jazz, blues, folk and radio drama.

If you are interested in gaining hands-on experience with professionals and other volunteers, WSCL can brighten up your summer. If you would like to enrich your summer and have a good time doing so, please contact WSCL at ext. 6895.

Advanced Lifesaving Course

An advanced lifesaving course will be offered through the Continuing Education Office, April 20-May 3, Monday, Wednesday and Friday, 4:30-6:30 p.m., Saturday, 9:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m., and Sunday, 1-5 p.m. The cost is $40. Register at Continuing Education Office, Holloway Hall. For further information, call Rosie Barretta, aquatic director, ext. 6357.

Lifeguarding Course

An American Red Cross lifeguarding course will be offered May 8-10. All interested in taking this course must be currently certified in advanced lifesaving, CPR and first aid. The cost of $25 includes the book. For further information, contact Rosie Barretta, aquatic director, ext. 6357.

Summer Work-Pool

Summer employment is available at Maggs pool as lifeguard and swimming instructors—current lifesaving is required. Water safety instructor certification preferred. Pay is $4.00 to $5.75 an hour depending on qualifications. Individual must be able to work starting June 1 through August 31.

Apply Campus Recreation Office or call Rosie Barretta, aquatic coordinator.

File Today for Student Loan

All students planning to apply for a Guaranteed Student Loan for the 1987-88 academic year must complete a Financial Aid Form and mail it to the College Scholarship Service in Princeton, NJ so that the analysis can be returned to the Salisbury State Financial Aid Office.

Loan applications cannot be processed until this information is received. If you have not already done so, file the Financial Aid Form immediately, as it takes three to four weeks for processing.

Sam Goldstein Lecture Date Changes

Faculty, please announce the following change in the date of the Sam Goldstein lecture to Thursday, April 30.

Notice to Prescriptive Students

Freshmen and transfer students whose score on the reading placement test, given during orientation, was in the 32-37 range are classified as prescriptive students in reading. These students must register to take further diagnostic tests designed to determine areas of strength and weakness. Various test dates and times have been scheduled to accommodate all students. The test sessions are:

Session One: Monday, April 13, 11 a.m.-Noon; Wednesday, April 15, 11 a.m.-Noon; Friday, April 17, 11 a.m.-Noon
Session Two: Tuesday, April 14, 2-3:30 p.m.; Thursday, April 16, 2-3:30 p.m.

Students need to register for one session of testing. Registration will be conducted in the Reading Center, Caruthers Hall, 210 A.

If the diagnostic test scores indicate no serious reading problems, the prescriptive student will have fulfilled the requirement just by taking the test. If, however, deficiencies are found, the student must work in the Reading Center until those deficiencies are remediated. Failure to fulfill this requirement, by testing out or working in the Reading Center until remediated, by the completion of the sophomore year may result in dismissal from the College.

If a student is in doubt about his test score, he should contact his advisor or the Reading Center at ext. 6391.

'85, '86 Prescriptive Reading Students

Prescriptive students who completed diagnostic tests in reading during the 1985-86 and 1986-87 academic year are urged to resume working in the Reading Center, on their individual prescription.

Prescriptive students who fail to demonstrate an appropriate level of competency by the completion of their sophomore year will not be allowed to continue at SSC. To resume your prescription, report to the Reading Center, Caruthers Hall, 210A, or contact Mrs. Patricia Dale, Caruthers Hall, 209A, at ext. 6391.

Morton Holbrook Lecture Date Changes

Faculty, please announce the following change in the date of the Morton Holbrook lecture to Wednesday, May 7.

Kappa Delta Pi Installation

A Salisbury State chapter of Kappa Delta Pi will be installed Wednesday, April 22, at 7:30 p.m. in the Social Room of Holloway Hall. Kappa Delta Pi is an honor society for Education students.

In order to make this organization a success, faculty members across the campus who were members in the past are urged to reinstate their membership and support this effort. Anyone interested should contact Dr. Barbara Townsend in the Education Department or call the Education office, ext. 6280.

Honda for Sale Correction

1985 Honda Prelude, dark gray with A/C, sunroof, stereo cassette, PS, PB Mag wheels, etc. Only 18,000 miles and in perfect condition. Price $10,500 ($1,000 below dealer price, not $100 as printed previously). If interested, contact Ron Ulm, ext. 6371 or at home at 546-1959.

Blue Light Phones

Blue light phones have been installed at various locations on campus for your use. The number for Public Safety is ext. 6222. These phones are particularly useful to call for assistance, including stalled vehicles, escorts or any emergency.

Get to know the locations of these phones so you can take advantage of their convenience when you need one. The locations are: running track near St. Martin Hall; temporary parking lot, on the wall of Holloway Hall Annex; Caruthers Hall next to the parking lot; Devilbiss lot near Devilbiss Hall; and Dogwood Village.

Attention Sophomore Med Tech Majors

Applications for admission into the Medical Technology major are now being accepted. Deadline for admission is May 1. Application forms may be obtained from Mrs. Marylane McGlinchey, Hall Ed Center, ext. 6409.

Personal Safety Tips

These personal safety tips, compiled by the Department of Public Safety, apply when on campus as well as in the Salisbury area or wherever you may reside. The precautions may lessen the likelihood of becoming a victim. Increasing our awareness of crime prevention techniques may decrease the opportunity for a person to commit a criminal offense.

1. You are your own best protection.
2. Keep your door locked at all times. Don't unlock the door for strangers. Keep your first floor windows locked.
3. Walk in well-lit areas and stay near the curb, away from alleys, entry ways and bushes where someone could be hiding.
4. Do not walk or jog alone after dark.
5. Avoid short cuts. Walk where there are other people present.
6. Do not hitchhike or accept rides from strangers. If a driver asks you for directions, stay far enough away so that you cannot be pulled into the car. Do not pick up strangers.
7. If you are being followed when walking, change direction, cross the street and vary your speed. Go to a well-lit area or a place where there are other people. If followed by someone in a car, turn and walk in the other direction. Record the license number.
8. Park in a well-lit area and lock car doors.
9. If you need an escort to or from your car, call the Department of Public Safety, ext. 6222.
10. Report any suspicious activity or crimes to the Public Safety Office.

For more information on personal safety, contact the Department of Public Safety, located in Holloway Hall, room 022, ext. 6222.

Attention May '87 Graduates

The College's commencement exercises will be held on Saturday, May 30, at 10 a.m. at the Wicomico Youth and Civic Center. Details concerning graduation will follow at a later date.

Counseling Services

Counseling Services conducts walk-in hours from 1 - 3 p.m. Monday through Thursday. Anyone who wishes to see a counselor and has not seen one before, is welcome between those hours.

TV For Sale

13-inch color TV set, with remote control and TV stand. In perfect condition, only one year old. $150 or best offer. Contact Janine Kallgren-Miller at ext. 6895.

Weekend History Club Trip To Harper's Ferry

An overnight trip to Harper's Ferry, sponsored by the History Club, is scheduled for the weekend of April 24. The trip includes a visit to the Antietam battlefield. The vans depart from Maggs Circle at 6:30 a.m. sharp on Saturday, April 25, and return Sunday evening before 8 p.m.

The cost is $10 for transportation and motel bed (no single rooms). Please pay in the History Department office (Holloway Hall, third floor south) by 4 p.m. Wednesday, April 22.

For further information see Dr. Timothy Miller, or call ext. 6243.

SSC Cycling Club

Would you like the opportunity to explore Maryland's scenic and historic Eastern Shore? Come and ride with the SSC Cycling Club the next two weekends as it tours the "Old Iron Furnace" and other sights in Snow Hill. Meet at the Maggs Center bike rack on Saturday at 10 a.m.

Rock Climbing Trip

The Outdoor Club holds weekly meetings in Tawes 118 at 6:30 p.m. on Tuesdays to discuss upcoming trips. These will include a rock climbing trip in Great Falls Park, MD on the weekend of May 2. Meetings also include speakers on a variety of topics. Everyone is invited.

Teacher Educators Name "Ten" Number One In the Nation

Maryland's Teacher Education Network (TEN) has been named the best program to improve teacher education in the nation by the Association of Teacher Educators.

"My hat is off to the Department of Education, the University of Maryland, and the school systems for working together to create this award-winning program," Governor William Donald Schaefer commented in announcing the award.

"This is good news because it demonstrates that we are facing up to the task of building excellence into our schools, which is so important as we prepare Maryland for the 21st century," Schaefer said.

TEN is a program to improve mastery teaching skills in a collaborative effort among the Maryland State Department of Education, five colleges/universities and seven local school systems.

Participating colleges and universities are the University of Maryland College Park, College of Notre Dame, Salisbury State College, Coppin State College and Towson State University; participating school systems are Baltimore City and Anne Arundel, Baltimore, Howard, Wicomico and Worcester counties.

Leading a Life of Leisure

Keith Anderson always wanted his workplace to be as playful as possible. And, born in Spain and for 11 years a resident of the Philippines, he enjoyed the international life. Thus, his motivation for entering the Leisure Studies program.

Today, Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Roger Anderson of Salisbury, is in the second month of a three-month internship at Edsel Naval Station located between Aberdeen and Dundee in Scotland. A civilian working for the U.S. Navy, he is in charge of outdoor and indoor recreational activities.

A graduate of SSC at the conclusion of his internship, Anderson said before leaving for Scotland that if he performs well, he's been assured of a full-time position.

Since its inception in 1977, the Leisure Studies program at SSC has produced some 150 graduates. It currently numbers 40 to 50 majors, all of whom should be highly employable somewhere, if not to such exotic outposts as Scotland, then quite possibly right here on the Eastern Shore, a veritable leisure laboratory.

"I can put more people in jobs than I have people to place them," said Dr. Susan Cabral, chairman of the Leisure Studies Department. "That's part of the networking that goes on in any successful program."

The Leisure Studies program at SSC was initiated in 1977 through the efforts of Dr. K. Nelson Butler, now the vice president of Academic Affairs. Nine students completed the program in 1978, one of whom was John Terrell, now superintendent of Parks and Recreation for Wicomico County.

Dr. Keith Conners, who joined the Leisure faculty in 1976 and was department chairman for two years until his appointment as Dean of the School of Professional Studies last year, has watched the rise of leisure as legitimate discipline at SSC.

"The realization that leisure is a broad and multifaceted phenomenon that is relevant and important in all our lives still needs reinforcement at times," admits Conners.

Conners, in fact, experienced first hand someone initially discrediting the notion of leisure as an academic discipline.

"One of my neighbors is a doctor," said Conners, "and when he asked what I taught, and I responded leisure, he dismissed it as some sort of curiosity rather than a legitimate course of study."

"I then inquired how many boats he had in his backyard. He answered, 'four.' I noted he also had two four-wheel drive vehicles. Next, I asked why he had settled in Salisbury. He said because of the nearby outdoor activities. I had him."

"You've made one of the most important career decisions of your life based on leisure opportunities," I pointed out, and he readily agreed that leisure is indeed a legitimate discipline.

"We all have some part of our life wrapped up in leisure," continued Conners. "We may call it something else, like art, sports or music. We spend time, money and energy on it."

"And when we think of all the leisure services that are available, the majority are from the private sector," said Conners. "Therefore, there is a legitimacy to study it as a career opportunity."

And like Keith Anderson, Conners promotes the notion of finding a career vocation that you enjoy.

"There's nothing at all to be ashamed of by the word play," said Conners. "Characteristics of play separate higher from lower life forms. Making work as playful as possible is a good, healthy outlook. There is nothing wrong with working in an enjoyable, playful atmosphere."

The Leisure Studies Department is continuing to change and grow as leisure changes, according to Conners, changes in both the work ethic and what he characterizes as the leisure ethic.

Jobs identified with leisure run the gamut from selling four-wheel drive vehicles to Conners' doctor friend, to buying leisure lifestyle clothes at a sports apparel store, to paying $2.50 for a 50 cents beer at a nightclub.

From Toys-R-Us, to Sears Catalog to health-fitness operations, leisure associated businesses abound.

And the therapeutic use of leisure in health care, such as nursing homes and facilities for the mentally and physically disabled, is a field well removed from the retail and marketing worlds, but nevertheless a field of great opportunity to leisure graduates.

And, as Cabral points out, Wall Street has a whole group of stockbrokers who deal with nothing but leisure.

The leisure curriculum at SSC allows the student to play an active role in shaping his course schedule; to allow him the opportunity to prepare himself for the unique specialization of leisure that he is pursuing.

Each student make take five core courses and 18 credits in collateral areas chosen from several disciplines (Art, Business, Biology, Education, Communication Arts, Physical, Education, Geography, Philosophy, Psychology and Sociology). But, they also take 27 elective credits.

Then, of course, like Anderson, there are the final semester internships, which as Conners points out are not only an opportunity for a real life working experience while still in college, but in many cases a stepping stone to a real job after college.

"Some 40 percent of our students gain employment during their internship," said Conners, "and half get compensation of some kind during the internship."

It's the best of both worlds. Learning about how and why people play, and getting the inside track on a life of leisure yourself.

"Photoetchings: Uruguay"

An exhibit of the works of Luis Camnitzer, "Photoetchings: Uruguay," opens Saturday, April 18, at Artworks Studio Gallery on the corner of Main and Jefferson Streets in Berlin.

Camnitzer at less than one year escaped Hitler's wrath to grow up surrounded by the ugly tactics of an oppressive regime in Uruguay. Self-preservation spurred him into leaving that country for America in 1964, where he has been a professor of art at the College of New York, Westbury, since 1969. Camnitzer's work has been shown extensively throughout the world, and he is often contacted as an authority on Latin art for Art in America.

His concentration as a primarily conceptual artist has swung through the years to a charged blend of visual poetry.

The show opens with a reception for the public on Saturday, April 18, from 7:30-11 p.m. The show runs for the following three weeks from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. weekdays.

Women's Tennis Team Gets First Win

The women's tennis team won its first match of the season in three tries on Saturday as it defeated Trinity College 9-0 at Hartford, CT. Donna Midcap, Debbie Diedrick, Betsy Sprinkel, Kim Ford, Stacey Sims and Kelly Pfeiffer each won their singles matches while Midcap and Diedrick, Sims and Ford and Lisa Balliet and Kristen Saponaro won the doubles matches. The Sea Gulls did not lose a set during the match. Salisbury State hosts Virginia Wesleyan on Monday, April 20, at 3:00 p.m.

Lombardi Scores In OT for Victory

Linda Lombardi scored the winning goal just two minutes into overtime last week to lead the women's lacrosse team to a 10-8 win over Glassboro State in New Jersey. The goal was Lombardi's only score of the game. Sue Selig led SSC with four goals while Stacy Stem and Andrea Phillips each added two goals for the Gulls, 3-1. SSC dominated play as it outshot Glassboro 44-19. Lombardi and Phillips are tied for the team lead with nine goals on the season. After road games against Northwestern and St. Mary's, Salisbury returns home on Tuesday, April 21, to face Georgetown at 4:00 p.m.

Baseball Team Wins Five in a Row

The baseball team ran its record to 11-7 last week as the team won four games (the Gulls have a five-game winning streak). Pitching keyed three of the four wins as Mark Perry went all the way on the mound in a 12-2 win over Christopher Newport in Salisbury. Kevin Smith and Steve Smith each won games on Saturday as the Gulls swept a twinbill from St. Mary's on the road, 5-4 and 4-0. Steve Smith pitched a two-hitter in the 4-0 win. The offense exploded in an 11-10, 10-inning win over Wilmington on Friday at Sea Gull Stadium. Jeff Stokes provided the big blow as he rapped a two-out, bottom of the 10th, two-run double, scoring Chris Manouse and Greg Hook. SSC is back in action at home on Thursday, April 23, at 3:00 p.m. against Virginia Wesleyan.

Softball Team Takes Three of Four

Dawn Taylor pitched a pair of four-hitters and Terri Sharpless hurled a two-hitter as the women's softball team won three of four games last week. The Sea Gulls defeated Stockton State 4-0 and 5-0 as Taylor and Sharpless sparkled on the mound. SSC dropped a heartbreaking 3-2 decision in nine innings to Methodist in Salisbury but came back to win the nightcap 7-1. Terri Timmons slugged a two-out, seventh-inning homer in the opener against Methodist to send the game into extra innings, but the Gulls came up one run short. Karen Sipple had a pair of doubles in the second game to lead SSC back into the win column. Timmons and Sipple each had seven hits during the week and Taylor upped her record to 6-1. Salisbury hosts Glassboro State on Thursday and Virginia Wesleyan on Saturday in a pair of double-headers to highlight the week.

Men's Lacrosse Shutout

For only the third time (in 199 games) in men's lacrosse history, the Gulls shut out their opponent as SSC defeated Kutztown 19-0 on Sunday in Pennsylvania. Jim Sturgell led the way with seven goals and four assists while Mike Parks and Butch Marsh played excellent at goalie. The win was the second in a row for Salisbury as the Gulls defeated Stockton State 22-7. Greg Pasko had six goals while Tim Berquist passed for six assists (just one short of the school record). Salisbury, 7-5, hosts rival Washington College on Saturday at 2:00 p.m. at Sea Gull Stadium.

Men's Tennis Team Still Perfect

The men's tennis team remained perfect as the squad defeated Christopher Newport 9-0 and Averett 5-4. The two wins gave SSC a 10-0 mark. The match against Averett was especially exciting as six of the nine matches went three sets and the doubles team of David Gardner and Mike Horvath broke the 4-4 tie for SSC. Brian Ruppel is undefeated in singles play on the season with a 9-0 mark, followed by Peter Hall with an 8-0 mark. SSC has won 53 of 60 (88.3 percent) of its singles matches this year. SSC hosts the nation's fifth-ranked team and rival Washington College on April 21, at 3:00 p.m. The winner of that match will probably compete in the NCAA Division III national championship scheduled here in May.

Dr. Joseph M. Dailey

Dailey Named Coach

Dr. Joseph M. Dailey has been named associate professor of Physical Education and head football coach at Salisbury State College, it was announced recently by Dr. K. Nelson Butler, vice president of Academic Affairs.

Dr. Dailey, 46, who earned his Ph.D. in Physical Education from the University of New Mexico, has been an assistant professor of Physical Education and assistant football coach and head wrestling coach at Williams (MA) College since 1968.

"Dr. Dailey comes from one of the finest liberal arts colleges in the United States and brings with him a wealth of experience in both teaching and coaching to Salisbury State College," said Dr. Butler. "He will be a significant addition to the teaching faculty and to the Department of Physical Education."

"Dr. Dailey will work in tandem," continued Dr. Butler, "with our new Physical Education chairman, Dr. William Lide, in fulfilling the curriculum requirements of the department's majors and various teaching tracks. Dr. Dailey will be a particular asset in the areas of health and fitness and teacher certification, the latter due to his considerable teaching experience."

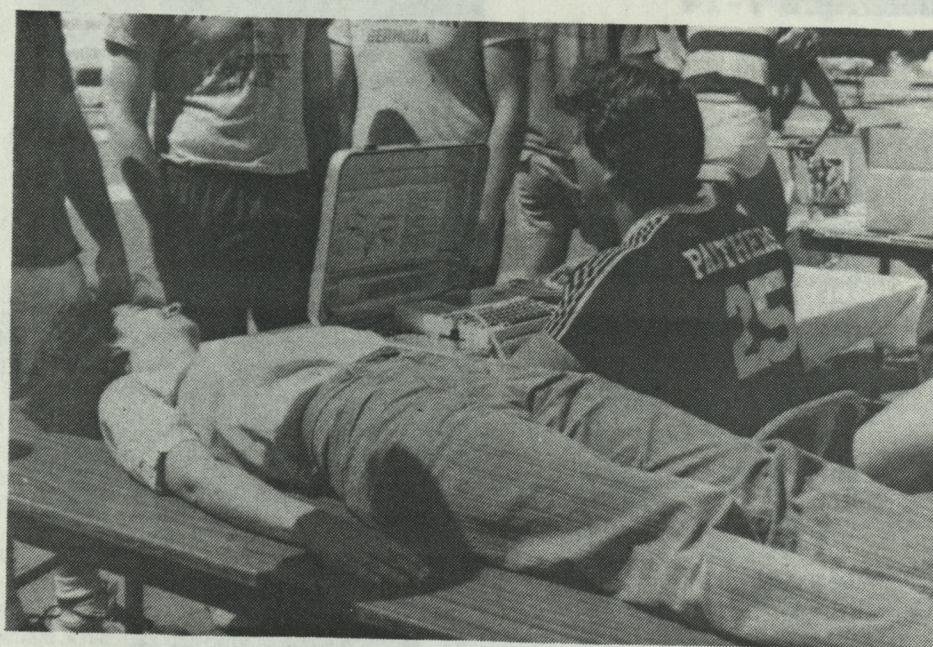

"Dr. Dailey's expertise and success in football will serve the institution well as we move forward in maintaining our very excellent varsity athletic program. He believes in excellence on the playing field as well as in the classroom."

"The maturity, expertise and experience Dr. Dailey brings to the academic programs at Salisbury State as well as the football program will enhance our Physical Education Department significantly."

Dr. Dailey earned his Ph.D. in 1986. He received his M.S. in Education Administration in 1972 from North Adams State College and his M.S. in Physical Education from Ithaca College in 1961. He received his B.S. in Physical Education from Ithaca in 1960.

In addition to his considerable teaching and coaching experience at Williams, Dr. Dailey was an assistant football coach as a graduate assistant at the University of New Mexico in 1983 and taught Physical Education at Navajo Indian Reservation in Window Rock, AZ while on sabbatical leave in 1979. He taught Physical Education and was head football and wrestling coach at Colonie High School in Albany, NY from 1966-1968 and at Smithtown High School in St. James, NY from 1962-1966.

He has served as president of both the Suffolk (NY) County Football Coach Association and the New England Wrestling Coaches Association.

A Salisbury State College student has her body fat percentage measured during last year's Wellness Day. This year's event, open to the public, is on Monday, April 27.

Wellness Day Good Fun

A non-traditional upbeat event geared to wellness and health promotion, preventive education, the College's third annual Wellness Day is Monday, April 27, from 10 a.m.-3 p.m. on Red Square. SSC and community organizations, once again, join forces to provide this educational opportunity to anyone who wishes to participate.

On-going events scheduled for Wellness Day include physical screening and evaluation (height, weight, blood pressure, vision, anemia testing, respiratory functioning, blood typing and body fat analysis), stress management, computerized diet analysis, immunizations, alcohol/drug education, AIDS education, safety education and the Seat Belt Persuader. Also planned are a fun run and a fun walk.

Barbecued chicken legs, mocktails and other foods will be available at minimal cost. In addition, Food Service has promised the world's largest fruit bowl.

Special events scheduled are an ROTC demonstration, a sports apparel fashion show by Schwinn (student models), a karate demonstration by Dane Hardin, Aerobics in Dance, student vocalist Lisa Jones, Owen Hooks on guitar, the Dance Company and Sunshine the Clown.

Participants in Wellness Day include the departments of Nursing, Physical Education, Medical Technology and Respiratory Therapy, as well as the Health Center, Public Safety, Intramural/Recreation Office, Blackwell Library, ROTC, Student Health Advisory Committee (SHAC), Disabled Student Union, Food Services, WSSC radio and the Ruth Powell Student Employee Organization.

Community organizations taking part include the Wicomico County Health Department, the American Cancer Society, Lower Shore Prevention Resource Center, Delmarva Health Center, The American Lung Association, the Blood Bank of the Eastern Shore, Peninsula General Hospital Food Services and New Beginnings.

Last year over 1000 people participated in the festivities. Wellness Day '87 is expected to be bigger and better.

For additional information contact Ann Patey, assistant director of the Health Center, 543-6262, or Phyllis Banks, Department of Nursing, 543-6403.

Gospel Choir Performs

The Salisbury State College Gospel Choir, sponsored by the SSC Black Student Union, performs in concert Saturday, April 25, at 7:30 p.m. in Caruthers Hall Auditorium. The 25-member choir celebrates its third anniversary with such groups as The M. E. Deal Gospel singers, The Veney Gospel Singers and The Voices of Excellence Gospel Workshop Choir present.

The Gospel Choir was founded by three undergraduate students, Alfred Coffield, Terri Reaves and Sharon Davis. These students combined their administrative knowledge, musical talents and experience to start the first black Gospel Choir ever at SSC. The first unofficial advisors of the choir came from the local community of Princess Anne: Thurron Hitchens, director; Cheri Doane; Jamie Green; Milton Maddox; Joyce Hitchen; Doreen Maddox; Sylvester Killgo, pianist; and Maurice James, base guitarist. Their enthusiastic leadership gave the choir the inspiration it needed in order to succeed as a new organization on campus.

On September 22, 1983, the SSC Gospel Choir was recognized by the Student Senate as an organization of the College. Presently the official advisors of the choir are Dr. O. J. Chapman, who is also the advisor of the Black Student Union, and Shilda Rodgers, a member of the Nursing faculty.

The members of the choir are devoted to spreading the Gospel through song. The choir has performed in many of the local churches on the Eastern Shore.

For more concert information contact any of the choir officers: Lecia Whittington, president; Laverne Whittington, vice-president; Princess Allen, secretary; Debbie Whittington, treasurer; Troy Niskey, chaplain; Jackie Freeman, publicity chairperson; and Anthony Dickerson, director, through the BSU, 543-6188.

Carving Competition

More than 700 artists will be competing for $70,000 in prize money later this month when the Ward Foundation's 17th annual World Championship Wildfowl Carving Competition gets underway in Ocean City.

The Ward competition, the largest juried carving championship in the world, will draw leading artists from the United States, Canada and several other countries. It will be held April 24-26 at the Ocean City Convention Center.

Major prizes available this year include a $20,000 purchase award for the best wood sculpture in the Decorative Lifesize category, $10,000 for the best in Decorative Decoy Pairs, $5,000 for Decorative Miniatures and $6,000 for the best entry in Natural Finish Sculpture, a new category this year.

There are four major divisions of competitions. World Class, which includes the awards mentioned above, is open to artists of the highest degree of skill. Open Class is also intended for artists whose work is of the highest level. Intermediate and Novice classes are for entrants of respectively lesser experience. The range of classes is designed to ensure that artists of different levels of skill can enter the competition and compete against other carvers of similar experience.

Judging will take place on Friday and Saturday, with presentations scheduled for 4 p.m. Saturday.

An auction of decoys, decorative carvings and other items of wildfowl art will be held at 1 p.m. Sunday.

As a prelude to this year's World Championship, a series of seminars on carving, painting and collecting decoys will be held on Thursday, April 23, at the Convention Center.

Admission is $5 per day for adults, $4 for senior citizens and $3 for students. Children under 12 are admitted free. A three-day pass is available for $12, and group tour rates are also available. For details contact the Ward Foundation.

Festival Help Needed

The Salisbury Wicomico Arts Council is announcing its participation in the annual Salisbury Festival to be held on May 2 from 10 a.m. - 5 p.m. on the Downtown Plaza. As in previous years, the Arts Council will organize "Arts on the Plaza" including booths for artists and craftspeople with original works to display and/or sell. Booths are still available by calling the Arts Council for an application at 543-ARTS or stopping by their office in the Wicomico Youth & Civic Center. Applications will be accepted until Friday, April 3.

The Salisbury Festival is the oldest and largest festival in the Delmarva area. Last year over 20,000 people attended and enjoyed a day of fun activities and food, made special by the numerous arts and crafts exhibits on display.

The Salisbury Wicomico Arts Council is seeking volunteers who are willing to support the Arts Council on the day of the Salisbury Festival May 2 by donating a few hours to help in the children's area, with the days performances and in many other fun areas. There is always plenty of work to be done to help the Festival be the success it always is.

For more information call the Arts Council at 543-ARTS.

Student Presents Paper

Christine L. Butler, a senior Geography major, presented a research paper entitled "The Estimation of Dot Numerosity on Dot Maps" at the annual meeting of the Middle Atlantic Division of the Association of American Geographers held at the University of the District of Columbia on March 21.

China Going Capitalist? Lecture on April 16

"Is China Going Capitalist? Economic and Political Reform in Modern China" is the title of a presentation by Dr. Harry Harding, senior fellow at The Brookings Institution, on Thursday, April 16, at 7:30 p.m. in Caruthers Hall Auditorium.

The lecture, part of the College's year-long cultural events series, "China: Tradition and Transformation," is sponsored by the Faculty Cultural Events Committee and the SSC Foundation, Inc. Like all programs in the series, the lecture is free and open to the public.

"In the 10 years since the death of Mao Zedong in 1976, the People's Republic of China has been enmeshed in an extraordinary program of economic and political reforms," said Dr. Harding. "The changes are evident in a host of small details: the T-shirts, blue jeans, make-up and jewelry worn by Chinese youth; the disco music that blares from radios and loudspeakers on Chinese streets; the television antennas mushrooming both from urban apartment complexes and from the homes of many suburban farmers; the bustling free markets selling meat, vegetables and clothing in China's major cities; the enthusiastic reception given to Western films ranging from The Turning Point to Rambo; the throngs of foreign tourists and businessmen in major coastal cities, filling modern new hotels managed by Sheraton, Holiday Inn and other international chains; and the fleets of imported Japanese cars, trucks and busses that are creating unprecedented traffic jams in Peking and Shanghai.

"These highly visible changes," continued Dr. Harding, "are symptomatic of a substantial liberalization in the Chinese political and economic system. The reforms of recent years have given society greater autonomy from the state, the economy greater autonomy from the plan, political and economic institutions greater autonomy from the Party, and intellectual and cultural life greater autonomy from doctrine.

"Moreover, even more radical changes are now being discussed in the Chinese press or being introduced on an experimental basis," said Dr. Harding. "These include the issuance of shares of stock in Chinese enterprises and the gradual redefinition of the role of the Party in Chinese political life.

"As of now, the reforms are not creating a democratic China, nor even a capitalistic one. But in creating 'socialism with Chinese characteristics,' the Chinese leadership is designing a new version of Marxism that, taken as a whole, is without precedent in the Communist world.

"I intend my lecture to offer a brief overview of the origins and content of the reforms, their successes and failures to date, their prospects after the death of Deng Xiaoping, and their implications for the United States," concluded Dr. Harding.

For more information on this and other "China" series programs, call 543-NEWS.

today: She could live without a husband, but not an income.

But she couldn't live without children. "The real enjoyment of my life has centered on children," she said before she retired in 1969. Her personal files, saved from the campus school, overflow with hundreds of pictures of her charges—on the softball field, in classes, dressed up for stage plays, with student teachers, in the College's sole ginkgo tree, feeding gold fish, angelic in Christmas choir robes, or children simply smiling tentatively with front teeth missing.

Riall once told Stewart, who sent her four daughters and son to the campus school, "Oh, Margie, you have such a wonderful family." "Pauline, you helped me rear my family," Stewart replied; in a sense Riall became a partner with parents in raising children, in some cases teaching the offspring of children she once taught.

In her later years, Riall would care for a friend dying of cancer, Bernice Brady; and then an ailing brother, who would come to live with her. With his death, all her blood relations were gone, and remaining friends and former students became her family and protectors. She died of cancer in Deer's Head Center, one day before her 87th birthday.

According to Dr. Maurice Bozman, chairman of the College's Education Department, and one of her colleagues and friends, she left three education gifts for incoming, outgoing and current students. The largest $100,000, is to the Beta Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma, an international society for outstanding women educators. Riall was a founding member of the lower shore chapter. "We were shocked and delighted, when we received the letter (notifying us of the gift)," Ann Shaheen, president of DKG said. The interest from the endowment is to be used for scholarships for area students studying elementary education at Salisbury State.

The interest from a $50,000 grant is to be given to the most outstanding elementary student teacher annually. This cash award will be presented at the spring Honors Convocation, which Riall attended religiously until a few years before her death.

Finally, $150,000 and the remainder of her estate has been earmarked for the E. Pauline Riall lecture series of the Salisbury State College Foundation, to bring world class educators to the College to share their ideas with students, faculty and the community.

"She really lived for SSC," Bozman said. "Her first love was for the campus school and College. . . . She was a quiet person."

Yet she continues to teach.

A Holiday of Band Music

The Salisbury State College and Community Bands combined for a special Holiday of Band Music Concert on Wednesday, April 22, at 8 p.m. in Holloway Hall Auditorium.

Of particular interest in the program is the vast variety of musical compositions to be performed. Ron Nelson's "Rocky Point Holiday" is a merger of classic and jazz styles written in honor of a seaside resort on the coast of Rhode Island. "Antonito" is a Paso Doble march indicative of the Spanish influence in and around the city of Antonito, CO. "Caccia" literally means a hunt or chase. Francis McBeth utilized the concept of a canon where a musical idea is quickly followed by repeated or similar statements of that idea in this contemporary composition.

The music of Vincent Persichetti is 20th century in its harmonic structure. His chorale prelude, "So Pure The Star," while using such harmony does so in a moderate fashion. Vaclav Nelhybel, the Czechoslovakian-American composer who recently spent time in Salisbury in conjunction with the Salisbury Symphony Orchestra and local string students, provides "Agon," a mysterious usage of the percussion, brass and woodwind families of instruments. Leonard Bernstein's contribution to the evening's concert repertoire is the overture of "Candide," a musical comedy adopted from Voltaire. There is a special intensity and vivaciousness which permeates this work.

The concert closes with William Walton's "Crown Imperial March," a special work commissioned for the coronation of Britain's King George VI in 1937. The majestic nature of this composition serves as a fitting conclusion to the holiday style of the entire program.

The concert is free to the public.

Weavers Exhibition

The Art Institute and Gallery is extending a "call for entries" to all area weavers for exhibition in Gallery II April 27 through May 22. This is an opportunity for weavers to come together to have their works on public display and to show the diversity of weaving in the area.

All woven techniques will be included from tapestry to loom weaving, back strap and inkle. Hand woven fabric made into garments or other useful articles will also be displayed.

A reception will be held Sunday, May 3, from 1-4 p.m. Entries will be accepted on April 25 from 9 a.m.-noon. For an entry form, call 546-4748 or visit the Art Institute and Gallery located at Route 50 and Lemmon Hill Lane in downtown Salisbury.

A one-man show by Sally Sweetland will be on exhibit in Gallery I. Presently on exhibition is "Flowers."

Senior Art Show

On Saturday, May 2, the Senior Art Class will "hang themselves," that is, their art work, in the College Gallery in Blackwell Library. The exhibition is a culmination of four years study by the students. Their work will be on display through May 21 and the exhibition opening coincides with the annual Salisbury Festival.

The show is mainly two dimensional works including paintings, sketches and photography, as well as some sculpture.

The exhibit is the finale of a three-credit senior seminar class in Art, lead by Jim Burgess, chairman of the Art Department. The students are required to work 15 hours for a department Art teacher, to become familiar with a particular aspect of the teacher's work, as well as create a portfolio and resume.

"I think it will be an exciting exhibition because these are an active bunch of students," Burgess said.

The 13 seniors featured in the exhibition are: Barbara Blaskovich of Edgewater Park, NJ; Barb Datz of Parsonsburg; Kim DeMartin of Ocean City; Tom Elliot of Chelmsford, MA; Cheryl Fear of Syracuse, NY; Sarah Norton of Bowie; Debbie Pearce of Seaford, DE; Wendy E. Ralston of Trumbull, CT; Mary Rex of Severna Park; Carol Shirkey of Annapolis; Tim Slattery of Hackettstown, NJ; and Lisa Strieb and Susan Womack, both of Salisbury.

The opening on May 2 is from 7-9 p.m. Admission is free. For further information call the Art Department or the College Gallery at 543-6271.

Elwell Publishes Article

Dr. Mary Ellen Elwell, associate professor Social Work Department, with a colleague Dr. Paul Ephross, from the University of Maryland School of Social Work and Community Planning, published an article on "Initial Reaction of Sexually Abused Children" in the February 1987 issue of Social Casework. The special issue of the journal is focused on child sexual abuse. The article was developed from Dr. Elwell's doctoral research.

On March 30 and 31 Dr. Elwell chaired the accreditation team representing the Council on Social Work Education to Eastern College in St. David's, Pennsylvania. The Council on Social Work Education is the body which reviews Social Work programs in higher education. The Salisbury State College Social Work program is accredited by CSWE.

At the annual program meeting of CSWE in St. Louis in early March, Dr. Elwell presided over a number of sessions sponsored by the Commission on the Role and Status of Women in Social Work Education, which she chairs.

'Tartuffe' Premieres

Religious hypocrisy, greed, seduction, scandal—if all of this sounds like recent headlines describing certain American TV evangelists, you're right. But the French dramatist Jean Baptiste Poquelin Moliere got there first. And on Friday, May 8, the Sophanese Players present Moliere's great comedy of religious hypocrisy, Tartuffe, for six performances in Holloway Hall onstage.

Although written some 300 years ago, Tartuffe is as up to date as CBN. When it was presented at the court of Louis XIV of France in 1669, it had a record run for its time. Earlier versions had incurred the wrath of the clergy, and was kept off the boards for five years. Moliere, in a heated defense of the play, claimed it was not a satire on religion, but on religious hypocrisy (perhaps as old as religion).

The action of Tartuffe centers on the household of Orgon, a rich middle-aged man with two grown children by his first wife. His second wife is attractive, young and clever. Like many men, no longer young in a young world, he goes through personality changes at mid-life, and Orgon turns to religion. He subsequently falls prey to the wily Tartuffe, a con-man masking as a holy man, who soon moves in, takes over Orgon's household, attempts to seduce his benefactor's wife and steal his estate. Much laughter later, all ends well.

Moliere is France's greatest dramatist and his comedies and farces, which include The Misanthrope, The Bourgeois Gentleman, The Doctor in Spite of Himself, Scapin, The School for Wives, and The Learned Ladies, are recognized masterpieces and performed regularly in theatres around the world.

The Sophanese version of Tartuffe is translated by Richard Wilbur, whose translations have been praised for their wit and humor.

Sophanese is the SSC student theatre club. Directing its production is Dale Whitzel, a graduate student in English who directed Children's folktales From Around the World, a popular touring production which played in schools throughout the lower Shore this year.

In the title role is Jeffrey Patterson, who appeared in You Know I Can't Hear You When the Water's Running and Of Mice and Men earlier this season. The duped Orgon is Maurice Thomas who has acted with the Tawler Dinner

Theatre, the Salisbury Community Players and the Shenandoah Summer Music Theatre where he was a member of its stock company. Tracy Heath portrays Elmire, his wife. Heath is making her SSC stage debut. A freshman Communication Arts major, she was active in her high school theatre at North Carolina H.S., and the Lady Caroline Players.

Tartuffe plays at Holloway Hall onstage at 8 p.m. May 8, 9, 14-16, and at 2 p.m. Sunday, May 10. Tickets are $4 general admission, $2 for students. For reservations call the theatre box office at 543-6228.

Gala Raises $10,000

The eighth annual Salisbury State College Foundation Gala Saturday night, April 11 raised over $10,000 for educational programs at the College, according to Dr. Bellavance.

Dr. Bellavance also acknowledged two major gifts the College has received recently. E. Pauline Riall, long-time Education Department faculty member at SSC who died last October, willed some $300,000 for scholarships and educational programs at Salisbury State.

Dr. Bellavance also recognized David Edwards of Cambridge for his contribution of $15,000 for Nursing scholarships and Dr. Robert Kinzie's $10,000 gift for the promotion of the visual arts.

The Gala attracted over 400 individuals supportive of the continued academic excellence of the College. The money raised will go to the Foundation which was established for the encouragement and enrichment of education at the College and is incorporated as a voluntary association of community leaders solely for education, charitable and scientific purposes.

The Gala chairman of the event, Diane Savage of Berlin, said, "It was a lovely evening. The dining area was tastefully decorated, the dinner and hors d'oeuvres were delicious and the music of Jim Zimemal and his Orchestra was first-rate."

"In particular," she said, "I would like to recognize the effort on the part of Mrs. Juanita Cochrane to obtain gifts for each of the Gala goers. Additionally, Gerry Patt's work on the set design and Jackie Cassidy's floral arrangements were elegant. The dinner prepared by the College Food Service was delectable and the program designed by the Public Relations staff was very attractive," she added. "I hope next year's Gala is as much fun."

Thanks to Students

I want to take this opportunity to express my gratitude to you for relinquishing the use of the Ruth Powell Dining Hall on Saturday, April 11, in order for the College to make preparations for the annual Salisbury State College Foundation Gala that evening. As you probably know the Gala is a fund-raising event which benefits all phases of College life. The affair was a fabulous success and I genuinely appreciate your cooperation. Again, my sincere thanks.

Sincerely,

Thomas E. Bellavance
President of the College

Diskette, Bake Sale

The National Association of Accountants sponsors a diskette sale and a bake sale on Tuesday, April 28, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Caruthers Red Square entrance.

Double-sided, double density diskettes are only $1.00 (or six for $5.00). Plus there are lots of goodies including cakes, cookies, brownies and muffins.

Escort Service

The Department of Public Safety offers an escort service during the hours of darkness to any person walking alone on campus and to nearby off-campus locations. Call 543-6222 or ext. 6222 from a centrex phone for the escort. An officer will meet you at your location and escort you to your destination. This service is provided to anyone who feels uncomfortable walking alone at night.

Lifeguarding Course

An American Red Cross lifeguarding course will be offered May 8-10. All interested in taking this course must be currently certified in advanced lifesaving, CPR and first aid. The cost of $25 includes the book. For further information, contact Rosie Barretta, aquatic director, ext. 6357.

Summer Work-Pool

Summer employment is available at Maggs pool as lifeguard and swimming instructors—current lifesaving is required. Water safety instructor certification preferred. Pay is $4.00 to $5.75 an hour depending on qualifications. Individual must be able to work starting June 1 through August 31.

Apply Campus Recreation Office or call Rosie Barretta, aquatic coordinator.

File Today for Student Loan

All students planning to apply for a Guaranteed Student Loan for the 1987-88 academic year must complete a Financial Aid Form and mail it to the College Scholarship Service in Princeton, NJ so that the analysis can be returned to the Salisbury State Financial Aid Office.

Loan applications cannot be processed until this information is received. If you have not already done so, file the Financial Aid Form immediately, as it takes three to four weeks for processing.

Communication Arts: Needs clerical help, must be a good typist; 10 hrs. a week.

Wildfowl Art Museum: Needs two movers to move equipment from campus to Ocean City on April 22, 23 and 26.

Tower Commission Report

Blackwell library has a copy of the Report of the President's Special Review Board (Tower Commission).

It is on reserve at the Circulation Desk.

Senior Art Show

On Saturday, May 2, the Senior Art Class will "hang themselves," that is, their art work, in the College Gallery in Blackwell Library. The exhibition is a culmination of four years study by the students. Their work will be on display through May 21 and the exhibition opening coincides with the annual Salisbury Festival.

The show is mainly two dimensional works including paintings, sketches and photography, as well as some sculpture.

The exhibit is the finale of a three-credit senior seminar class in Art, lead by Jim Burgess, chairman of the Art Department. The students are required to work 15 hours for a department Art teacher, to become familiar with a particular aspect of the teacher's work, as well as create a portfolio and resume.

"I think it will be an exciting exhibition because these are an active bunch of students," Burgess said.

The 13 seniors featured in the exhibition are: Barbara Blaskovich of Edgewater Park, NJ; Barb Datz of Parsonsburg; Kim DeMartin of Ocean City; Tom Elliot of Chelmsford, MA; Cheryl Fear of Syracuse, NY; Sarah Norton of Bowie; Debbie Pearce of Seaford, DE; Wendy E. Ralston of Trumbull, CT; Mary Rex of Severna Park; Carol Shirkey of Annapolis; Tim Slattery of Hackettstown, NJ; and Lisa Strieb and Susan Womack, both of Salisbury.

The opening on May 2 is from 7-9 p.m. Admission is free. For further information call the Art Department or the College Gallery at 543-6271.

Psychology Opening

Assistant professor position: Salisbury State College seeks applicants for a full-time assistant professor position starting September 1987. The position requires an earned doctorate. Experience and/or coursework in industrial-organizational psychology is required. Applicants should be prepared to teach undergraduate psychology, M.A. level courses in the area of industrial-organization, tests and measurements, research methods, and others according to qualifications. Directing M.A. students, undergraduate advising, research and college service are also expected. Complete application consists of current vita, official transcripts, evidence of teaching effectiveness, three letters of recommendation and a letter of application describing the applicant's qualifications. Application deadline is June 1, 1987, or until position is filled. Applications postmarked after June 1, 1987 will be screened only if position is not filled from applications postmarked on or before that date. Send application to: Coordinator, Dr. Bob Graff, Search and Screen Committee, Department of Psychology, Salisbury State College, Salisbury, MD 21801. (301) 543-6370. SSC is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. Qualified women, minorities and disabled persons are encouraged to apply.

Computer Services Monitors

The Department of Computer Services is seeking applications for student monitors for the fall semester. An applicant does not have to be a Computer Science major but should have exposure to either an IBM PC or compatible, Radio Shack Model IV or terminal connected to the Academic Vax 8300.

Applications can be obtained from the secretary of the Department of Computer Services in Caruthers Hall, room A-153, and should also be returned to the secretary. If you have any questions concerning the type of work you will be doing contact Kenny Kanarr at ext. 6740.

Blue Light Phones

Blue light phones have been installed at various locations on campus for your use. The number for Public Safety is ext. 6222. These phones are particularly useful to call for assistance, including stalled vehicles, escorts or any emergency.

Get to know the locations of these phones so you can take advantage of their convenience when you need one. The locations are: running track near St. Martin Hall; temporary parking lot, on the wall of Holloway Hall Annex; Caruthers Hall next to the parking lot; Devilbiss lot near Devilbiss Hall; and Dogwood Village.

Attention Sophomore Med Tech Majors

Applications for admission into the Medical Technology major are now being accepted. Deadline for admission is May 1. Application forms may be obtained from Mrs. Marylane McGlinchey, Hall Ed Center, ext. 6409.

Personal Safety Tips

These personal safety tips, compiled by the Department of Public Safety, apply when on campus as well as in the Salisbury area or wherever you may reside. The precautions may lessen the likelihood of becoming a victim. Increasing our awareness of crime prevention techniques may decrease the opportunity for a person to commit a criminal offense.

1. You are your own best protection.
2. Keep your door locked at all times. Don't unlock the door for strangers. Keep your first floor windows locked.
3. Walk in well-lit areas and stay near the curb, away from alleys, entry ways and bushes where someone could be hiding.
4. Do not walk or jog alone after dark.
5. Avoid short cuts. Walk where there are other people present.
6. Do not hitchhike or accept rides from strangers. If a driver asks you for directions, stay far enough away so that you cannot be pulled into the car. Do not pick up strangers.
7. If you are being followed when walking, change direction, cross the street and vary your speed. Go to a well-lit area or a place where there are other people. If followed by someone in a car, turn and walk in the other direction. Record the license number.
8. Park in a well-lit area and lock car doors.
9. If you need an escort to or from your car, call the Department of Public Safety, ext. 6222.
10. Report any suspicious activity or crimes to the Public Safety Office.

For more information on personal safety, contact the Department of Public Safety, located in Holloway Hall, room 022, ext. 6222.

Attention May '87 Graduates

The College's commencement exercises will be held on Saturday, May 30, at 10 a.m. at the Wicomico Youth and Civic Center. Details concerning graduation will follow at a later date.

Counseling Services

Counseling Services conducts walk-in hours from 1 - 3 p.m. Monday through Thursday. Anyone who wishes to see a counselor and has not seen one before, is welcome between those hours.

TV For Sale

13-inch color TV set, with remote control and TV stand. In perfect condition, only one year old. $150 or best offer. Contact Janine Kallgren-Miller at ext. 6895.

Rendine to Speak at Honors Convocation

The Honors Convocation Committee of the College Forum announces the beginning of a new tradition for Honors Convocation with the selection of an outstanding alumnus being invited to deliver the Convocation address.

Paul Rendine, vice president of Wheat First Securities, Inc. of Salisbury, will be the speaker this year. His address is titled, "Change and Progress."

Rendine received his B.S. degree in Business Administration from SSC in 1974. He graduated in 1984 from The Wharton School at the University of Pennsylvania completing the Securities Industry Institute. His campus and community contributions are both varied and noteworthy.

In January 1987 he was named to the SSC Alumni Board of Directors. He is currently the chairman of the Education Committee for the Salisbury Chamber of Commerce. He also serves as chairman of the Governor's Commission to Employ the Handicapped for the Lower Shore.

Honors Convocation is Friday, May 1, at 3:30 p.m. in Holloway Hall Auditorium. A reception for honor recipients immediately follows the ceremony.

Students to Evaluate Academic Advising System

During the week of May 4-8, a number of SSC students will have an opportunity to respond to a questionnaire on the College's academic advising system. The questionnaire will be distributed to about 50 spring semester classes that have been selected for a representative mix of majors and academic levels (freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors).

Between 1,000 and 1,200 students will participate in the survey. The multiple-choice questionnaire, which takes about 15 minutes to complete, will be administered by the instructors of the courses involved. Results of the survey will be used in the near future as part of the College's on-going effort to improve academic services for students at the College.

Baseball Games Postponed

The baseball games scheduled against Wesley and Wilmington were postponed last week. SSC, 11-7 and riding a five-game winning streak, hosts Virginia Wesleyan on Thursday at 3 p.m. at Sea Gull Stadium.

Internship With NFL Films

Ned Alton, a junior at Salisbury State College, has been awarded an internship with NFL Films in Mount Laurel, NJ.

Majoring in Communication Arts, Alton will get hands on experience in editing, mixing and processing film. Travel to many of the NFL games will be involved along with some camera work.

"To work with the nation's renowned sports film company, NFL Films, will not only enable me to learn, but will give me valuable experience in the communications field," said Alton, a native of Devon, PA. "I'll be looking forward to starting in August."

NFL Films employs 100 people and is an innovator in the field of sports highlight and game of the week shows. Alton will be working closely with the cable network ESPN and its coverage of the NFL.

Alton, who also did an internship in the SSC sports information office, will be one of three interns used by NFL Films next fall. He was chosen, along with the two others, among over 90 applicants.

Nursing Program Planning

Program planning begins Monday, April 20, for all Nursing and pre-Nursing majors. Faculty advisors request that no one phone the School of Nursing for appointments.

All advisors will post a schedule of appointments on their office doors in the Hall Educational Center, located on the corner of Locust Street and Waverly Drive.

BUAD Program Planning

Pre-registration for fall '87 classes is scheduled for April 20- May 1. Business Administration students must follow the procedure outlined on a special BUAD instruction sheet. Look for this special sheet in the pre-registration packet.

(Additional copies are racked outside HH-326). The instruction sheet will help prepare for pre-registration and will indicate whether one should attend a special BUAD pre-registration session or schedule an appointment with one's faculty advisor.

Voice Recital

The Music Department presents voice students Laura Schmidt, Patricia Congro and Pamela Kinnamon in recital on Tuesday, April 28, at 8:00 p.m. in Caruthers Auditorium. The three sopranos, students of Mrs. Norma Heyde, are accompanied by Dr. Jessie L. Fleming. Their diversified program includes French melodies, German Lieder, English and American folk songs, arias and duets from Mozart's "The Marriage of Figaro." The public is invited.

Naarup Recital

Douglas Naarup, baritone, is presented by the Department of Music in a senior voice recital on Wednesday, April 29. Dr. Ray Zeigler will be the accompanist. The program will consist of songs by Handel, Fauré, Wolf, Schubert, Ralph Vaughn Williams, arias from Mozart's "The Marriage of Figaro" and Gounod's "Faust." Everyone is invited to the program which begins at 8:00 p.m. in Caruthers Auditorium.

Hedeen Honored

Dr. Robert A. Hedeen, professor of Biological Sciences, will be an honored guest at the ninth annual Maryland Book and Author Luncheon to be held at the Tidewater Inn in Easton on April 25.

The luncheon, sponsored by Maryland Public Television and the Maryland Library Association, recognizes Maryland authors who have recently published books. Dr. Hedeen is the author of The Oyster: The Life and Lore of the Celebrated Bivalve (1986) and Naturalist on the Nanticoke: The Natural History of a River on Maryland's Eastern Shore (1982). Hedeen has been at the College since 1971.

Rock Climbing Trip

The final training session for the Outdoor Club's rock climbing trip on Saturday, May 2, will be at the regular meeting on Tuesday, April 28, at 6:30 p.m. in Tawes 118. The training session is required for all those going on the trip.

Outdoor Club meetings on Tuesdays at 6:30 p.m. continue to feature weekly presentation and planning for upcoming trips. After the rock climbing trip, there will be a canoe trip on the Pocomoke River on May 15 and 16. The trip will be easy to moderate, and everyone is welcome to participate.

Gospel Choir Performs

The Salisbury State College Gospel Choir, sponsored by the SSC Black Student Union, performs in concert Saturday, April 25, at 7:30 p.m. in Caruthers Hall Auditorium. The 25-member choir celebrates its third anniversary with such groups as The M. E. Deal Gospel singers, The Veney Gospel Singers and The Voices of Excellence Gospel Workshop Choir present.

The Gospel Choir was founded by three undergraduate students, Alfred Coffield, Terri Reaves and Sharon Davis. These students combined their administrative knowledge, musical talents and experience to start the first black Gospel Choir ever at SSC. The first unofficial advisors of the choir came from the local community of Princess Anne: Thurron Hitchens, director; Cherri Doane; Jamie Green; Milton Maddox; Joyce Hitchen; Doreen Maddox; Sylvester Killgo, pianist; and Maurice James, base guitarist. Their enthusiastic leadership gave the choir the inspiration it needed in order to succeed as a new organization on campus.

On September 22, 1983, the SSC Gospel Choir was recognized by the Student Senate as an organization of the College. Presently the official advisors of the choir are Dr. O. J. Chapman, who is also the advisor of the Black Student Union, and Shilda Rodgers, a member of the Nursing faculty.

The members of the choir are devoted to spreading the Gospel through song. The choir has performed in many of the local churches on the Eastern Shore.

For more concert information contact any of the choir officers: Lecia Whittington, president; Laverne Whittington, vice-president; Princess Allen, secretary; Debbie Whittington, treasurer; Troy Niskey, chaplain; Jackie Freeman, publicity chairperson; and Anthony Dickerson, director, through the BSU, 543-6188.

Philosophy Symposium Saturday

For American society to endure must its members share a common religious vision? Or is such a common vision contrary to the First Amendment and incompatible with modern pluralism? Questions such as these will be the focus of the seventh annual Spring Philosophy Symposium which this year is devoted to the topic "Religion and Politics: An Unholy Alliance?"

The symposium is on Saturday, April 25, in Caruthers 118, beginning at 9:30 a.m. The public is invited and there is no admission fee.

The symposium's opening address will be delivered by Dr. William Sullivan, who has played a significant role in the national debate now in progress concerning the relationship between religion and politics. He is the author of Reconstructing Public Philosophy and the co-author, with Robert Bellah, of Habits of the Heart.

Both books discuss the absence of public purpose and communal spirit from contemporary American life. Dr. Sullivan, who is a professor of Philosophy at LaSalle University, has spent the past year lecturing throughout the country on these topics.

Responding to Dr. Sullivan's presentation will be Dr. John Jacobson, professor of Philosophy and Classics at Washington and Jefferson College. Dr. Jacobson, who studied at St. John's and Princeton, enjoys a distinguished reputation as an undergraduate teacher.

Following lunch, which will be served at a very nominal fee, those attending the symposium will be invited to join SSC faculty in responding to and debating the presentation. Panelists will be Dr. Fran Kane and Dr. George Walsh of Philosophy, Dr. Mike O'Loughlin of Political Science and Dr. Ken Wilkerson of Communications Arts.

The symposium is co-sponsored by the Philosophical Society, the Honors Program, the Leisure Studies Department and the Political Science Club.

For more information on this call the Philosophy Department at 543-6426.

Holman Lectures on Taiwan

Dr. Evelyn B. Holman, superintendent of Schools for Wicomico County, lectures on "Taiwan: Republic of China" on Monday, April 27, at 7:30 p.m. in Caruthers Hall Auditorium. Dr. Holman received a Fulbright grant to study in the Republic of China during the 1986-87 school year.

The lecture, part of the College's year-long cultural events series, "China: Tradition and Transformation," is sponsored by the Faculty Cultural Events Committee and the SSC Foundation, Inc. Like all programs in the series, the lecture is free and open to the public.

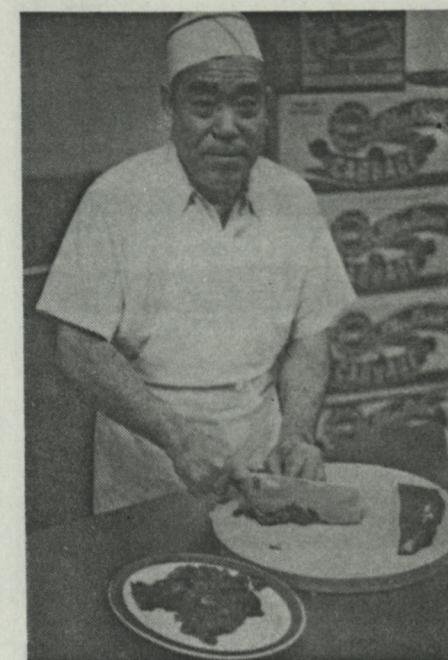

"In Taiwan," said Dr. Holman, "the culture of the past merges with a vibrant capitalism to make this island the fifth largest U.S. trading partner. The Republic of China, known as Formosa or 'beautiful island,' captures China's past and foreshadows the future. Contradictions collide, traditional and modern values clash, dialectical patterns emerge and are reflected in the schools, temples and family life. The entrepreneurial spirit, so attractive to United States businesses, spurs economic development and ties with the west which cause anachronisms: packaged cans of Coke offered to temple gods.

"Education mediates old and new and plays a role in home and social life," continued Dr. Holman. "With its attendant social status, education's tough examination system reinforces religious and philosophical beliefs having strong historical and cultural roots. But changes occur; girls passing the tests are obtaining better positions and challenging the traditional role of women.

"Such disparate activities as political campaigning, painting a picture, administering a school, burning incense in temples and embroidering symbols into wall hangings reflect cultural patterns important in educating and shaping the individual to fit his society," added Dr. Holman.

For more information on this and other "China" series programs, call 543-NEWS.

Chef Cheng-cheng Sun, of the Imperial Gallery

Chinese Cooking Demonstration

Cheng-cheng Sun, chef at the Imperial Gallery Restaurant in Salisbury, demonstrates techniques used in preparation of Chinese cuisine, on Sunday, April 26, and Sunday, May 3, at 3:30 p.m. in Devilbiss Hall Auditorium.

The demonstration, part of the College's year-long cultural events series, "China: Tradition and Transformation," is sponsored by the Faculty Cultural Events Committee and the SSC Foundation, Inc. Like all programs in the series, the lecture is free and open to the public.

Born in Mainland China, Sun has spent 35 years in the study of the culinary styles of the five regions in China, the northwestern Mongolian, the mid-land spicy, the northern Mandarin, the southern Cantonese and the Taiwanese styles.

As a veteran in the profession of culinary art, Sun never ceases to amaze the diners at his restaurant. "I don't follow any written recipe," said Sun, "I just continue to improvise to improve the taste, appearance and the fragrance of the food."

For more information on this and other "China" series programs, call 543-NEWS.

Holloway on Alumni Board

Mark Holloway, a 1975 graduate of SSC, was recently named to the SSC Alumni Association's Board of Directors.

Holloway is a realtor with Ahtes, Hanna McLaughlin. He is vice president of the Maryland Association of Realtors and a member of and past president of the Board of Local Realtors, who voted him this year's realtor of the year.

Holloway sits on the Junior Achievement Board and the Life Crisis Board in Salisbury.

"It's quite an honor to be on the SSC Alumni Association's Board of Directors," said Holloway, who co-chaired last May's Salisbury Festival. "I owe an awful lot to Salisbury State College for my training and education and this represents an excellent opportunity to give something back in return."

Appointed by the Executive Committee, Holloway's term on the Board of Directors will run through 1989.

'Businessman in China' Lecture

Sam Goldstein, president of Polsam, Inc., a footwear and leather goods import business based in West Chester, PA with a branch office in Hong Kong, delivers a lecture on "An American Businessman in China" on Thursday, April 30, at 7:30 p.m. in Caruthers Hall Auditorium.

The lecture, part of the College's year-long cultural events series, "China: Tradition and Transformation," is sponsored by the Faculty Cultural Events Committee and the SSC Foundation, Inc. Like all programs in the series, the lecture is free and open to the public.

Goldstein has been involved in importing footwear and leather from various parts of the world since 1952. He has worked extensively in Italy, Spain, France, Scandinavia and other European countries as well as Brazil, Argentina, Uruguay and other Central and South American countries. He presently is heavily engaged in the footwear and leather industries in Mexico and since 1980 has been pursuing business in China. He has made some 30-odd trips to The People's Republic of China and by comparison, has also traveled extensively in Taiwan, The Republic of China.

Goldstein's presentation regarding China will encompass the changes in China that he personally observed and experienced. Those changes relate to the country itself, the people and how they have progressed culturally, economically (living standards) and relating to their attitude toward business with the West.

"I have traveled throughout many of China's provinces," said Goldstein. "I have seen vast changes in their transportation system from the early '80s through the current day. The attitude toward Westerners and business situations varies somewhat depending upon the area in China in which one does business. There have been dramatic changes in the conveniences and accommodations for tourists and business people, all of which reflects upon the new China, a new attitude."

For more information on this and other "China" series programs, call 543-NEWS.

Psychology Profs Recognized

Dr. Robert Graff and Dr. George Whitehead, both of the Psychology Department, and Mike LeCompte, a graduate student in Psychology at SSC, recently received honorable mention recognition for the paper they submitted for the 1987 Association for Specialists in Group Work Research Award.

The title of their paper was "Group Treatment with Divorced Women Using Cognitive-Behavioral and Supportive-Insight Methods."

An awards banquet recognizing their contribution to group work through research will be held April 24 in New Orleans.

Women's Tennis Falls to 1-4

The women's tennis team lost both of its matches last week as Washington College defeated the Sea Gulls 6-3 and Goucher won an 8-1 decision. Debbie Diedrick, Stacey Sims and Lisa Balliet each won a singles match while Donna Midcap and Diedrick teamed to win a doubles match. Diedrick leads the team with three wins on the season. The team, 1-4, travels to Loyola on Saturday.

Men's Tennis Still Undefeated

The men's tennis team improved its perfect record to 11-0 last week with a 5-1 win over Haverford. SSC won five of the six singles matches as Scott Thornton, David Gardner, Peter Hall, Brian Ruppel and Mike Horvath each netted their respective opponents. The doubles matches were not played due to bad weather. Ruppel leads the squad with a 10-0 record followed by Hall at 9-0, Horvath 6-0, Gardner 10-1 and Buzzell 8-1. Salisbury hosts the Eastern States Athletic Conference Tennis Tournament on Saturday.

Shutouts Lift Softball Team

Two shutouts on Saturday lifted the women's softball team to a doubleheader win over Virginia Wesleyan. SSC defeated the Blue Marlins 1-0 in eight innings in the first game as Laura Fisher scored on a wild pitch in the bottom of the eighth inning for the game's only run. Terri Sharpless threw a six-hitter while striking out three batters. Dawn Taylor pitched a three-hitter in the nightcap and was aided by a solo homerun by Terri Timmons and a two-run double by Cathy Bryan. SSC lost earlier in the week 2-1 to Glassboro State. The Gulls, 16-7, are led by right fielder Karen Sipple, hitting .584. SSC hosts Washington College on Tuesday, April 26, at 3 p.m. in the final home contest of the year.

Gulls Lose to Washington Lax Team

The men's lacrosse team lost an 18-7 decision to Washington College on Saturday at Sea Gull Stadium. Greg Pasko led SSC with three goals while Jim Sturgell added two and passed for four assists. Mike Parks had 21 saves at goalie for the Sea Gulls, 7-6. Sturgell leads the team in scoring with 30 goals and 22 assists for 52 total points. The lacrosse squad plays Haverford on Saturday before returning home on Sunday to host Pfeiffer College at Sea Gull Stadium at noon.

Women's Lacrosse Team Wins Two of Three Games

The women's lacrosse team won two of three games last week, losing only to the nation's fourth-ranked Division I team, Northwestern, 16-4. SSC defeated the College of Notre Dame 16-8 and St. Mary's 19-6 to raise its record to 5-2. Linda Lombardi scored seven goals against Notre Dame and added five goals in the win over St. Mary's. Andrea Phillips also scored five goals in the St. Mary's win. Stacy Stern, who needs just one assist to tie the school record of 38 in a career (held by Claudia Hession), leads the team with 27 points (15 goals and 12 assists). Lombardi, who has 56 goals in not quite two seasons, leads the team with 22 goals on the season. SSC plays Division I Old Dominion on Thursday away.

SAE and Little Sisters Fight MS

Students Against MS (SAMS) Balloon Launch

The Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity and Little Sisters sponsor a balloon launch at the Salisbury Festival on Friday evening, May 1.

Students Against Multiple Sclerosis (SAMS) is a fund-raising and awareness program of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society. The campaign is aimed at creating an increase in the public's awareness for this mysterious disease of the central nervous system.

With over 170 clients to serve on the Eastern Shore and nearly 200 more being diagnosed each week nationwide, donations are needed to help fund research. Multiple Sclerosis often strikes young adults between the ages of 15 and 50, people who have just begun to build careers and families.

Students at the festival will be taking donations for the balloons. All the balloons will be launched simultaneously at 8:00 p.m. In addition to the launch, students will be selling limited edition SAMS/MTV Sweatshirts.

Come join in the fun and help the students "Bust MS." For additional information contact the Multiple Sclerosis Society at 543-0007.

Nursing Recruits Nurses

SSC's Nursing program ranked second only to the University of Maryland's in 1986 in the number of graduates among the eight baccalaureate Nursing programs in the state. SSC offers the only four-year baccalaureate degree program as well as the only master's program in Nursing on the Eastern Shore of Maryland.

While SSC continues to fare better than the national and regional trends project, the College is mounting a vigorous recruitment campaign to counteract an eight percent drop in Nursing student enrollments which occurred last year.

A national survey of enrollments in baccalaureate level Nursing programs conducted by the American Association of Colleges of Nursing found a 9.2 percent decline in full-time and part-time students at AACN member institutions from 1985-86 to 1986-87. On a regional basis, this survey found a 12.3 percent fall in the number of baccalaureate Nursing students in the southern region which includes Maryland.

According to Dr. Kenneth Green, of the University of California, Los Angeles, Graduate School of Education, from 1984 to 1986 there was a 33 percent decline in actual number of first time full-time freshman college students who express a desire to be a nurse.

"These enrollment trends are cause for serious concern," said Dr. Elizabeth Barfield, Dean of SSC's School of Nursing and Health Sciences, "not only because the baccalaureate degree nurse plays such an important role in the health care delivery system in this area—and nationally, but also because the Nursing profession offers so many opportunities."

Recent studies by the American Association of Colleges of Nursing and the American Organization of Nurse Executives document that a Nursing shortage exists, and that this shortage will become increasingly pronounced as the effects of declining Nursing enrollments are felt by the health care community.

The recently released findings of the American Organization of Nurse Executives (AONE) points out the present shortage being felt in the acute care setting. This study identified the 82.4 percent of all the hospitals responding to the AONE survey indicated vacancies in registered nurse positions. A direct correlation with size was found for vacancies, with 97.1 percent of all hospitals with 500 or more beds reporting registered nurse vacancies. Almost a quarter (24 percent) of the hospitals reported a vacancy rate of 15 percent or greater, indicating a severe need for registered nurses in these settings.

"Nurses educated at the baccalaureate and graduate degree levels have so many opportunities for interesting and rewarding work, increasing salaries and a great deal of variety in their professional options," said Dr. Barfield. "This is a marvelous time to choose a career in Nursing, or for practicing nurses to decide to continue their formal education."

For more information on the Nursing program, call 543-6401.

Illustration Exhibit At Gallery

"Contemporary American Illustration," an exhibit of works made by leading American illustrators for a variety of commercial purposes, is on display at the College Gallery through April 30.

The exhibition is a smaller version of the Society of Illustrators' 28th annual National Show which previously was on display at the Society of Illustrators Museum of American Illustration in New York City.

The exhibit at SSC features 40 of the original 650 pieces, which in turn were selected from over 8,500 entries nationwide.

"The Gallery's exhibit," said Dean Petersen, assistant professor of Art at SSC whose specialty is graphic design, "represents the best of the best of the larger exhibit. A wide variety of media is represented including watercolors, oils, acrylics and ink drawings."

John Witt, chairman of the exhibit, said, "This exhibition represents America's finest artists/illustrators, commissioned individually for a variety of objectives and working in a wide range of personal styles and mediums, whose collective work creates a unique total portrait of our society."

The Society of Illustrators was founded in 1901 to "promote and stimulate interest in the art of illustration, past, present and future." The early members included some of the major figures in American art: Charles Dana Gibson, N.C. Wyeth, Howard Pyle, William Glackens and others. They formed the nucleus of a growing organization dedicated to public service and a wider recognition of the illustrator's art.

On February 1, 1981, on the 80th anniversary of the founding of the Society of Illustrators, a step in a new direction was taken. After an extensive remodeling and expansion program, the Society's two galleries were renamed the Museum of American Illustration. This exhibition facility, along with the resources of the Society's Permanent Collection, now offers a wide variety of theme shows designed to focus on the rich history of American illustration.

The SSC Gallery is located on the second floor of Blackwell Library and is open Monday and Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., Tuesday and Thursday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Saturday and Sunday from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Admission is free.

For more information on the current or future exhibits, call the Gallery at 543-6271 or the College Center at 543-NEWS.

Funding for the Gallery is provided in part through grants from the Maryland Arts Council.

New Category at Carving Championship

A new world class competition category featuring natural finished wood sculpture is expected to greatly widen the scope of the Ward Foundation's annual World Championship Wildfowl Carving Competition, scheduled for April 24-26 at the Convention Hall in Ocean City.

While entries in the Ward Foundation competition have traditionally been realistic carvings of wildfowl, the new category will offer a chance for sculptors to compete in an interpretive, free-form category. Although this is the first year of the natural finish sculpture category, a large number of artists are expected to vie for the $6,000 top prize.

While traditional wildfowl sculpture involves meticulous attention to detail and lifelike painting, the new category allows no machine texturing or burning, no paint and no inserts or glued portions. According to the Ward Foundation rules, the pieces will be judged on sculpting techniques, artistic composition, interpretation of subject and difficulty of presentation.

The subject matter can be any wildfowl from the Ward Foundation's "official species" list, which includes songbirds, shorebirds, seabirds, upland game birds, birds of prey and waterfowl.

Judges for the competition will be William Koelpin, Walter Matia and William Webster.

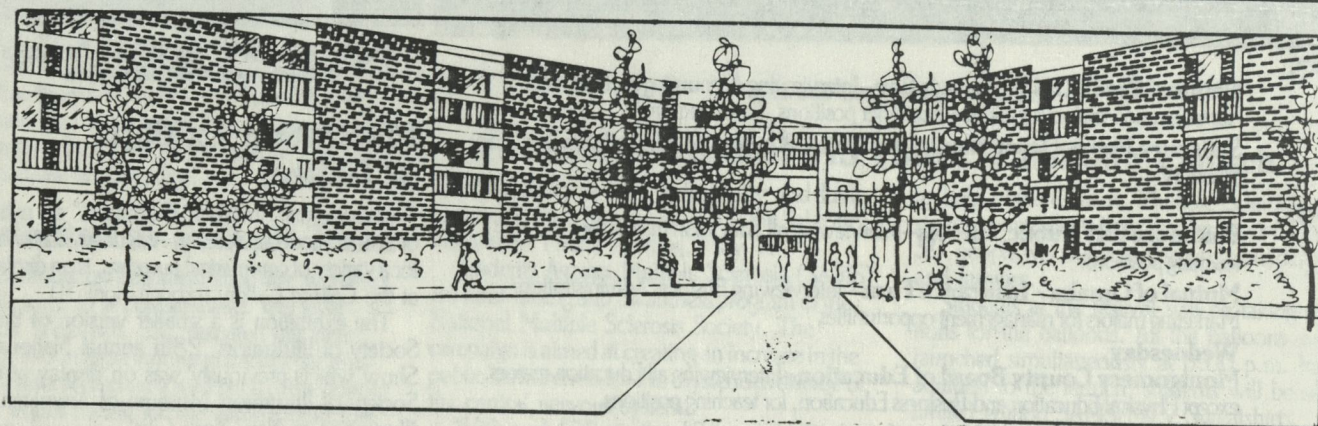

For more information, contact the Ward Foundation at 742-4988.

Gugerty Sets Track Record

Salisbury State's track team, its numbers reduced by injuries, continues to turn in impressive performances. The Sea Gulls travelled to Catholic over the weekend to compete against Division I and III competition in the Cardinal classic.

For the women's team, Kim Hatlee ran a personal best 60.48 in the 400-meter run, finishing fourth. Nancy Gugerty finished seventh in the 3000-meter run, but set a new SSC school record in the process. Her time of 11:10 broke the old record of 11:18 set by Kelly Hudson Gravenor.

Jim Sumstine led the men with a second place finish in the 800-meter run (1:56.6) and a sixth place in the 400 (50.8). Krah Plunkert ran his best race of the year to finish fifth in the 800 with a time of 1:57.4.

DEDICATION OF ST. MARTIN HALL SET FOR MAY 1

Salisbury State College formally dedicates St. Martin Hall, a 300-bed residence hall, at 11:30 a.m. on Friday, May 1.

"We are very proud of this new addition to the campus," said Dr. Bellavance. "It is not only a handsome building that adds to our total campus, but it was built in a remarkably short time allowing us to house more students on campus this year than at any other time in the history of the College."

The College houses 1,617 of its 3,789 full time undergraduate students, an increase in on-campus housing of 19 percent due to the opening of St. Martin.

St. Martin, with an all brick exterior, is located adjacent to Chesapeake residence hall, which borders U.S. Route 13. The new dorm features individual entrances, two room suites, each room housing two students. All rooms are air conditioned, and the first floor rooms are specially equipped to accommodate handicapped students.

Each of the three floors features a lounge, and the courtyard was landscaped to join aesthetically the new residence hall with Chesapeake residence hall.

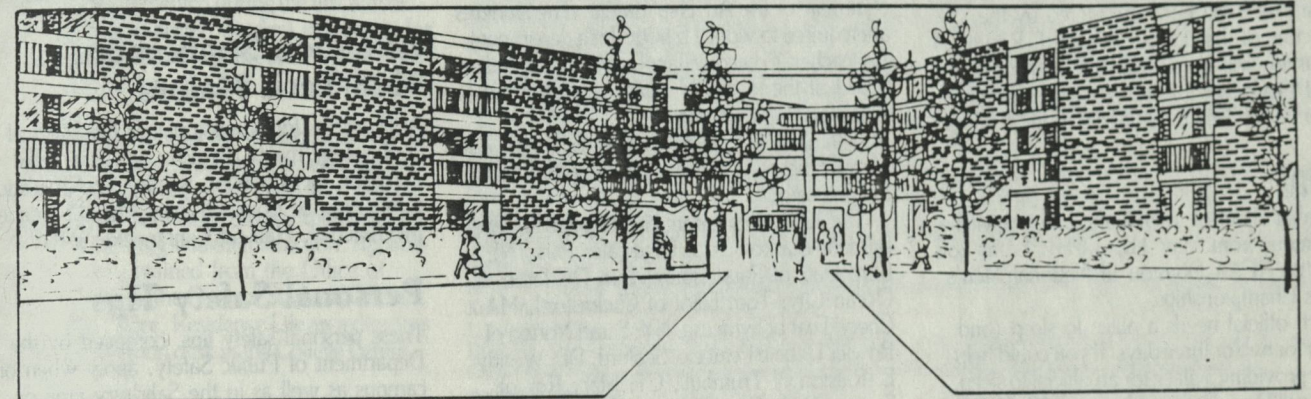

College Park Contracting, Inc. of College Park built the facility. The College has seven other residence halls housing 1,177 students plus 15 temporary modular homes (Dogwood Village) housing another 140 students.

Convocation is Friday

Some 300 outstanding scholars and student leaders will be honored at the 62nd Honors Convocation on Friday, May 1, at 3:30 p.m. in Holloway Hall Auditorium.

The Honors Convocation, which dates back to the founding of the College in 1925, this year will recognize students in more than 40 different areas of academic life. These awards reflect organizations as diverse as international honor societies to The Wall Street Journal to local patrons and clubs saluting civic leaders such as Sam and Marilyn Seidel and the late Doris G. Calcott.

Paul Rendine, vice-president of Wheat First Securities, Inc. of Salisbury and an SSC alumnus, will be the speaker this year. His address is titled, "Change and Progress."

Rendine received his B.S. degree in Business Administration from SSC in 1974. He graduated in 1984 from The Wharton School at the University of Pennsylvania completing the Securities Industry Institute. His campus and community contributions are both varied and noteworthy. In January 1987 he was named to the SSC Alumni Board of Directors. He is currently chairman of the Education Committee for the Salisbury Chamber of Commerce. He also serves as Chairman of the Governor's Commission to Employ the Handicapped for the Lower Shore.

The public is invited to the convocation. Seating is on a first come, first served basis in the 750-seat auditorium.

Here is a listing of awards: recognition of Dean's List Students, Phi Kappa Phi Initiates, Phi Eta Sigma Initiates, Departmental Societies Initiates and Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges; the

Frederick R. E. Durr Memorial, Doris Gay Calcott Memorial, Garland and Vivian J. Bull Nursing, and Sam and Marilyn Seidel Nursing Scholarships; and the Achievement Key, Campus Life, Student Senate Outstanding Senior, Honors Program, Art Department, Art Institute, and Gallery Scholarship, School of Business, Duane C. Residence Life—A Unique Experience

If you've been out of college more than a few years, chances are you don't recall the name of your freshman English professor but, if you lived in a residence hall on campus, you can vividly remember any number of experiences you had with your friends in the dorm.

What you may not have considered is what impact those experiences had on you and how they continue to affect you.

"Living on campus allows you to develop close friendships," said Warren Rice, 20, a junior Communication Arts major from Crofton, MD. Rice lived in Wicomico Hall his first two years before moving into St. Martin, the College's newest residence hall, last fall.

"It would be difficult to carry on close friendships living off campus," said Rice. "Living on campus, you're with your friends all the time: eating, studying, sleeping, and you're right in the middle of everything. I don't think I would be as involved in as many activities if I lived off campus. It's a great learning experience."

These learning experiences come at a very critical time in the maturation of college students. "Young people between the ages of 18 and

Students to Evaluate Academic Advising System

During the week of May 4-8, a number of SSC students will have an opportunity to respond to a questionnaire on the College's academic advising system. The questionnaire will be distributed to about 50 spring semester classes that have been selected for a representative mix of majors and academic levels (freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors).

Between 1,000 and 1,200 students will participate in the survey. The multiple-choice questionnaire, which takes about 15 minutes to complete, will be administered by the instructors of the courses involved. Results of the survey will be used in the near future as part of the College's on-going effort to improve academic services for students at the College.

Help!

A number of out-of-town tennis umpires will be on campus from May 10 to May 17 as SSC hosts the NCAA Division III National Men's Tennis Championships.

Each official needs a place to sleep (and bathe) for two or three days. If you could help out by providing a place for an official to sleep, please call Dave Parker at home: 749-4030; at his office; ext. 6147; or leave a message at the Computer Science Office; ext. 6020.

Escort Service

The Department of Public Safety offers an escort service during the hours of darkness to any person walking alone on campus and to nearby off-campus locations. Call 543-6222 or ext. 6222 from a centrex phone for the escort. An officer will meet you at your location and escort you to your destination. This service is provided to anyone who feels uncomfortable walking alone at night.

Summer Work-Pool

Summer employment is available at Maggs pool as lifeguard and swimming instructors—current lifesaving is required. Water safety instructor certification preferred. Pay is $4.00 to $5.75 an hour depending on qualifications. Individual must be able to work starting June 1 through August 31.

Apply Campus Recreation Office or call Rosie Barretta, aquatic coordinator.

File Today for Student Loan

All students planning to apply for a Guaranteed Student Loan for the 1987-88 academic year must complete a Financial Aid Form and mail it to the College Scholarship Service in Princeton, NJ so that the analysis can be returned to the Salisbury State Financial Aid Office.

Loan applications cannot be processed until this information is received. If you have not already done so, file the Financial Aid Form immediately, as it takes three to four weeks for processing.

Summer Jobs

Physical Plant: Needs six groundskeepers, air conditioning assistant, two maintenance men, plumber's assistant, electrician and 15 painters.

Food Services: Needs 25 people.

Housekeeping: Needs 15 people.

Central Stores: Needs a full-time stockman.

Maggs Gym: Needs a lifeguard and a water safety instructor. Advanced lifesaving and first aid required; WSI and CPR preferred.

Senior Art Show

On Saturday, May 2, the Senior Art Class will "hang themselves," that is, their art work, in the College Gallery in Blackwell Library. The exhibition is a culmination of four years study by the students. Their work will be on display through May 21 and the exhibition opening coincides with the annual Salisbury Festival.

The show is mainly two dimensional works including paintings, sketches and photography, as well as some sculpture.

The exhibit is the finale of a three-credit senior seminar class in Art, lead by Jim Burgess, chairman of the Art Department. The students are required to work 15 hours for a department Art teacher, to become familiar with a particular aspect of the teacher's work, as well as create a portfolio and resume.

"I think it will be an exciting exhibition because these are an active bunch of students," Burgess said.

The 13 seniors featured in the exhibition are: Barbara Blaskovich of Edgewater Park, NJ; Barb Datz of Parsonsburg; Kim DeMartin of Ocean City; Tom Elliot of Chelmsford, MA; Cheryl Fear of Syracuse, NY; Sarah Norton of Bowie; Debbie Pearce of Seaford, DE; Wendy E. Ralston of Trumbull, CT; Mary Rex of Severna Park; Carol Shirkey of Annapolis; Tim Slattery of Hackettstown, NJ; and Lisa Strieb and Susan Womack, both of Salisbury.

The opening on May 2 is from 7-9 p.m. Admission is free. For further information call the Art Department or the College Gallery at 543-6271.

Psychology Opening

Assistant professor position: Salisbury State College seeks applicants for a full-time assistant professor position starting September 1987. The position requires an earned doctorate. Experience and/or coursework in industrial-organizational psychology is required. Applicants should be prepared to teach undergraduate psychology, M.A. level courses in the area of industrial-organization, tests and measurements, research methods, and others according to qualifications. Directing M.A. students, undergraduate advising, research and college service are also expected. Complete application consists of current vita, official transcripts, evidence of teaching effectiveness, three letters of recommendation and a letter of application describing the applicant's qualifications. Application deadline is June 1, 1987, or until position is filled. Applications postmarked after June 1, 1987 will be screened only if position is not filled from applications postmarked on or before that date. Send application to: Coordinator, Dr. Bob Graff, Search and Screen Committee, Department of Psychology, Salisbury State College, Salisbury, MD 21801. (301) 543-6370. SSC is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. Qualified women, minorities and disabled persons are encouraged to apply.

Computer Services Monitors

The Department of Computer Services is seeking applications for student monitors for the fall semester. An applicant does not have to be a Computer Science major but should have exposure to either an IBM PC or compatible, Radio Shack Model IV or terminal connected to the Academic Vax 8300.

Applications can be obtained from the secretary of the Department of Computer Services in Caruthers Hall, room A-153, and should also be returned to the secretary. If you have any questions concerning the type of work you will be doing contact Kenny Kanarr at ext. 6740.

Blue Light Phones

Blue light phones have been installed at various locations on campus for your use. The number for Public Safety is ext. 6222. These phones are particularly useful to call for assistance, including stalled vehicles, escorts or any emergency.

Get to know the locations of these phones so you can take advantage of their convenience when you need one. The locations are: running track near St. Martin Hall; temporary parking lot, on the wall of Holloway Hall Annex; Caruthers Hall next to the parking lot; Devilbiss lot near Devilbiss Hall; and Dogwood Village.

Attention Sophomore Med Tech Majors

Applications for admission into the Medical Technology major are now being accepted. Deadline for admission is May 1. Application forms may be obtained from Mrs. Marylane McGlinchey, Hall Ed Center, ext. 6409.

Personal Safety Tips

These personal safety tips, compiled by the Department of Public Safety, apply when on campus as well as in the Salisbury area or wherever you may reside. The precautions may lessen the likelihood of becoming a victim. Increasing our awareness of crime prevention techniques may decrease the opportunity for a person to commit a criminal offense.

1. You are your own best protection.
2. Keep your door locked at all times. Don't unlock the door for strangers. Keep your first floor windows locked.
3. Walk in well-lit areas and stay near the curb, away from alleys, entry ways and bushes where someone could be hiding.
4. Do not walk or jog alone after dark.
5. Avoid short cuts. Walk where there are other people present.
6. Do not hitchhike or accept rides from strangers. If a driver asks you for directions, stay far enough away so that you cannot be pulled into the car. Do not pick up strangers.
7. If you are being followed when walking, change direction, cross the street and vary your speed. Go to a well-lit area or a place where there are other people. If followed by someone in a car, turn and walk in the other direction. Record the license number.
8. Park in a well-lit area and lock car doors.
9. If you need an escort to or from your car, call the Department of Public Safety, ext. 6222.

Student Orientation Courses Instructors Needed

The Office of the Vice President of Academic Affairs is accepting applications from students who wish to serve as instructors in the freshman orientation course.

Student instructors will work in tandem with orientation faculty to help freshmen and transfer students new to SSC make the transition to College life. The orientation course will consist of both classroom and experiential components and will be implemented during the first half of the fall 1987 semester. Student instructors for the course will receive training and a curriculum for use in teaching and will be paid a stipend of $200.

Student applications for positions as instructors should be at the sophomore level or above, have GPAs of 2.5 or higher, know the campus and its support services and have experience in activities promoting student interaction. Applications may be obtained from the Office of Academic Affairs, the Dean of Students Office, the Housing Office, Residence Life area directors and the information desk in the College Center.

Lifeguarding Course

Thomas Werts, from the national office of the American Red Cross in Washington, D.C., is teaching a special lifeguarding course the weekend of May 8.

The Red Cross is developing "a whole new series of water safety courses," Rosie Barretta, SSC aquatic director, said. "Lifeguarding the most difficult. As far as I know, it's the first time this course has been offered on the Eastern Shore. Barretta is teaching the three-day course, Friday-Sunday, May 8-10, with Werts. She expects it eventually will be required by law in many states for general lifeguarding certification.

Werts is head of the Instructional and Educational Division for Water Safety for the national Red Cross.

All interested in taking lifeguarding must be certified in Advanced lifeguarding, CPR and first aid. The cost is $30, which covers course fee, text and registration. Call the SSC Office of Graduate and Continuing Education at 543-6170, located in Holloway Hall for information. Registration information is needed by May 7.

Rotary Scholarship

An international scholarship is available to outstanding students at the College who are anxious to further international understanding and friendly relations among peoples of different countries. Both graduate and undergraduate scholarships are offered through the Rotary Foundation to cover virtually all the expenses associated with an academic year of study abroad.

The Easton Rotary Club is particularly interested in sponsoring outstanding students who are natives of Easton, and who are committed to the objectives of the scholarship program. Successful applications are typically students with an exceptional academic record, a strong interest in furthering international understanding and excellent public speaking skills.

Applications and further information may be obtained from Stuart M. Bounds, vice president of Academic and Administrative Services at Chesapeake College or from Michael Menzies of the Talbot Bank. Applications must be submitted to the Rotary Club of Easton by July 15, 1987. Should you have any questions, call Chesapeake College at 822-5400, ext. 510.

For more information call the Arts Council at 543-2787.

'Businessman in China' Lecture

Sam Goldstein, president of Polsam, Inc., a footwear and leather goods import business based in West Chester, PA with a branch office in Hong Kong, delivers a lecture on "An American Businessman in China" on Thursday, April 30, at 7:30 p.m. in Caruthers Hall Auditorium.

The lecture, part of the College's year-long cultural events series, "China: Tradition and Transformation," is sponsored by the Faculty Cultural Events Committee and the SSC Foundation, Inc. Like all programs in the series, the lecture is free and open to the public.

Goldstein has been involved in importing footwear and leather from various parts of the world since 1952. He has worked extensively in Italy, Spain, France, Scandinavia and other European countries as well as Brazil, Argentina, Uruguay and other Central and South American countries. He presently is heavily engaged in the footwear and leather industries in Mexico and since 1980 has been pursuing business in China. He has made some 30-odd trips to The People's Republic of China and by comparison, has also traveled extensively in Taiwan, The Republic of China.

Goldstein's presentation regarding China will encompass the changes in China that he personally observed and experienced. Those changes relate to the country itself, the people and how they have progressed culturally, economically (living standards) and relating to their attitude toward business with the West.

"I have traveled throughout many of China's provinces," said Goldstein. "I have seen vast changes in their transportation system from the early '80s through the current day. The attitude toward Westerners and business situations varies somewhat depending upon the area in China in which one does business. There have been dramatic changes in the conveniences and accommodations for tourists and business people, all of which reflects upon the new China, a new attitude."

For more information on this and other "China" series programs, call 543-NEWS.

Voice Recitals

The Music Department presents six voice students in a varied program of art songs, ballads and arias, on Wednesday, May 6, at 8 p.m. in Caruthers Hall Auditorium. Yvonne Fields, Carla Travers, Shawn Jemison, Pat Snyder, Janice Price and Robert Forester perform.

Accompanists for the recital are Dr. Jessie Fleming, Ginger Blackburn, Kari Andrews and Norma Heyde. Included in the program are a group of arias and a duet from Mozart's beloved Singspiel, "The Magic Flute," performed by soprano Janice Price and baritone Robert Forester.

Senior Music Recitals

Music majors Anne Ridley, a mezzo soprano and voice student of Norma Heyde, and Tom Savage, a trumpet student of James Anno, perform senior recitals on Tuesday, May 5, at 8 p.m. in Caruthers Hall Auditorium.

Soprano Janice Price, also a student of Mrs. Heyde, joins Savage in the Handel duet for soprano and trumpet, "Let The Bright Seraphim," from the oratorio, "Samson." Ridley is accompanied by Dr. Jessie Fleming and Savage is accompanied by Dr. Ray Zeigler.

Trumpet compositions, representing different stylistic periods, including concerti by Franz Joseph Haydn and contemporary composer, Knudage Rissager, songs by A. Scarlatti, G. F. Handel and Ernest Charles make up the varied program.

The public is invited without charge.

'Tartuffe' Opens May 8

Sophanes, the Salisbury State College drama club, presents Moliere's classical play, Tartuffe, as the final offering of the 1986-87 theatre season at the College. The play is directed by Dale Whitel, director of Children's Theatre at SSC.

According to Whitel, Tartuffe was chosen as the Sophanes production for several reasons. Tartuffe has a large cast, which gives many actors a chance to perform. Tartuffe also offers an opportunity to perform educational theatre. "Tartuffe is a fun show and we want to convey that to the audience... Our goal is to entertain," said Whitel.

Whitel said that he was also attracted to the challenge of presenting Tartuffe. "Motivating some of the actors to give 100 percent has proven to be demanding, according to Whitel. "The language is a big challenge," he said.

Whitel chose the 1963 translation by Richard Wilbur because it is "considered the best translation (of Tartuffe) for the stage." Moliere wrote the play in French couplets (a type of narrative poetry in which the last words of every two lines rhyme) and Wilbur was the first to translate Tartuffe without sacrificing either the couplets or the sense of the story.

Moliere wrote Tartuffe in 1663. His first tour attempts to present the play met with opposition from religious leaders who considered the play a satire on religion. Moliere intended the play to be a satire on religious hypocrisy. Only after changing the ending was the play permitted to be shown.

Tartuffe centers on the household of Orgon (played by Sean Thomas), a wealthy man with two grown children from his first marriage. His second wife, Elmire (played by Tracy Heath) is young, attractive and clever. Orgon, troubled by his lost youth, turns to religion for comfort.

At this point, Tartuffe (played by Jeff Patterson), a con man posing as a holy man, enters Orgon's life and his household. As the play progresses, Tartuffe attempts to seduce Orgon's wife and take over his estate. Eventually, the good king learns of Tartuffe's plot and has him arrested.

Other cast members include April Toadvine (Madame Pemelle), Kim Arthur (Filpote), Chris Cox (Damis), Tammy Brown (Mariane), Ned Alton (Valere), Darryl Dillard (Cleante), Susan Rogers (Dorine), Craig Pettonitti (Monsieur Loyal) and Cheryl Howard (Police Officer).

Dates for the show are May 8, 9, 14, 15, 16 at 8:00 p.m. and May 10 at 2:00 p.m. Tickets are $4, general admission; students, faculty and staff, with I.D., are free. For reservations call 543-6228.

Spring Formal

The Salisbury State Program Board invites all faculty and students to the Spring Formal, Saturday, May 9, beginning at 9 p.m.

The dance is being held at the Wicomico Youth and Civic Center. Tickets are available at the College Center information desk: $5/ single, $9/couple. Shuttle service will be provided, leaving from Maggs.

No alcoholic beverages will be permitted or sold at the event.

Pool Hours

Maggs Pool has added lap swim time and recreational swim time until the end of the semester.

Lap times are now Monday-Friday 6:30-7:55 a.m., noon-1 p.m. and Monday-Thursday 5-7:30 p.m.

Recreational swim time is Monday-Thursday, 7:30-9 p.m.

Closing Time

Effective Sunday, April 26, the College Center's closing hour is 11 p.m. daily.

Soviet Study-Tour

Imagine yourself this summer in the heart of Moscow, walking among the throngs in Red Square, marvelling at the towers of the Kremlin, visiting Lenin's tomb. As a participant in SSC's study-tour of the Soviet Union, all this and more can be part of an unforgettable summer.

On August 12, Salisbury State's study-tour will begin a 15-day odyssey, departing for Moscow, to cap a summer studying the contemporary Soviet Union. The course, Survey of the Soviet Union, will be offered jointly by the History and Political Science Departments. It may be taken for undergraduate credit in either department, for graduate credit in History, or on an audit basis.

During the seven week course, participants will study the land and the people of the USSR, the history of Russia and Soviet Union, Marx, Lenin and the Revolution, party and state institutions, current issues, the Soviet economy, Soviet culture and everyday life in the USSR, all as preparation for the tour itself. Participants will then be able to see for themselves and to increase directly their understanding of this fascinating country.

First stop on the tour is Moscow, the capital. This ancient city, hub of the Soviet system, is the ideal place to begin. Here, inextricably mixed are the institutions of the Soviet system and the tsarist heritage upon which it is built. The high walls of the Kremlin enclose not only the nerve centers of governments, the Supreme Soviet, but also magnificent tsarist cathedrals.

The sparkling cleanliness of Red Square is bordered by St. Basil's Cathedral, Lenin's tomb, the Kremlin itself and GUM, Moscow's unique department store. Nearby are the Bolshoi Theater and KGB headquarters. Museums, such as the Pushkin Museum and the Armory (home of the crown jewels) abound. Visits to these places cannot but help course participants understand more fully the heritage and workings of the country.

For a wider perspective, a tour of Moscow University, situated in the Lenin Hills, overlooks the older part of the city. The efficient, beautiful subway system whisks visitors quickly to such places as the All-Soviet Exhibit of Economic Achievements, the Olympic Stadium and the historically important Novodevichy Monastery, burial place of Khrushchev and other communist leaders. Of course there will be free time to stroll the streets, browsing, shopping, or simply drinking in the atmosphere of this intriguing city while gaining practical appreciation of what was formally studied earlier.

After a four-day sojourn the study-tour continues by overnight train to Kiev, capital of the Ukraine and the most ancient of all Russian cities where Christianity, still an important force in the culture and life of the people, first came to Russia 1000 years ago. There the group will see St. Sophia's Cathedral, Lavra Monastery, the Ukrainian Economic Exhibit and other important places in this city on the Dnieper River and gain another perspective on life in the Soviet Union. All-too-soon, though, the study-tour flies on to Leningrad, the "Venice of the North" where the Soviet system came into being 70 years ago.

The cost for this special study-tour is $1879, plus applicable tuition (approximately $170). This includes all transportation, all hotels and meals (except two), guided tours of the cities and all visa fees. For more information call or write Dr. Robert Berry, History (543-6248), Dr. Greg Cashman, Political Science (543-6247), or the Office of Continuing Education (543-6170) at Salisbury State College, Salisbury, MD 21801.

Winkeljohn Catching Up With Political Arena

Katherine Winkeljohn, in her own words, "Was never involved in anything remotely political. I hated politics. I wasn't even registered to vote."

Yet within a few months after she graduated from SSC in 1986, she was meeting cabinet officers, ambassadors, senators, even traveling in Marine One, the presidential helicopter.

Working as executive assistant to the White House director of Political Affairs, Ed Rogers, who oversaw White House strategy for the 1986 elections, she put in 17-hour days, serving as a liaison between the White House and Republican national election campaigns, and co-ordinated presidential travel for the election. "I don't get impressed easily, but when I first met the president, I was a little nervous," she said. "After awhile (though) he'd recognize my face and kind of wink at me."

Not used to working with professional politicians, "I had to do a lot of adjusting before I came here," she continued. "It's been hard." Even now, months later, she feels she is still playing "catch up."

How did an apolitical Business Administration major end up in politics? "Marketing was my first love in college," she said. While a student she was one of 20 selected nationwide for a Direct Marketing Educational Foundation Scholarship, which culminated in a Washington, D.C. seminar. And many of the business courses and principles learned in college, like quantitative and regressive analyses, demographics, even accounting, were immediately useful in deciding where to target political campaign resources, she said.

But she brought more than consumer-oriented skills to her political job. If she had been apolitical in college, she had not avoided public service. A volunteer worker for such activities as the state Wheelchair Games, a member of the College's Cultural Affairs Committee and an editor and prime mover for the College yearbook, she also was active in SSC Phonathon, a yearly activity which raises money for the Salisbury State Foundation, supporting scholarships and faculty research.

Ironically, not being locked into any one political ideology or group of candidates left her remarkably objective and clear-eyed about politics, another valuable asset.

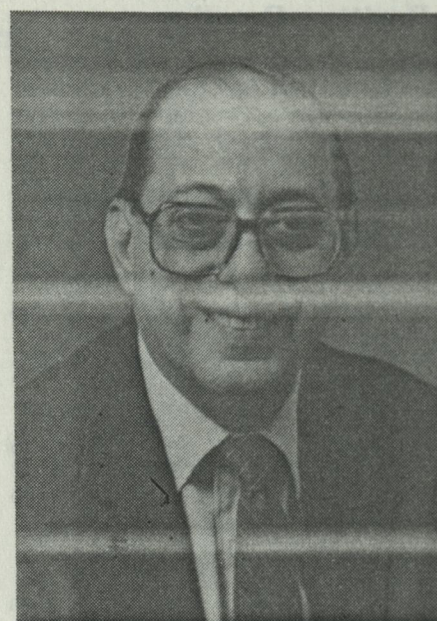

Earlier this year, she and her boss, Ed Rogers, left offices and jobs in the imposing Executive Office Building to work for the George Bush presidential campaign. I have no commitment, no husband or children," she said. "It's a perfect time to do it (work on national campaign)." Although she had been accepted at three law schools, including Georgetown University, she has taken deferred enrollment until 1988.

Currently she's wearing two hats in the Bush organization: executive assistant to the director for research, and special projects co-ordinator. Working with Lee Atwater, who at 34 years old is the youngest campaign manager among major presidential candidates, she will be concentrating on media research and communications. Most of the people in the Bush campaign are in their 20s, she says, supposedly "young and hungry." "The campaign, reportedly, is the best organized," she added.

To work at such a high level on a national presidential campaign "Is an opportunity I'll never have again." Though at age 23, anything is possible, she admits, a philosophy she credits to her teachers at Salisbury State. "Try it. You're going to make it. Try it... they'd tell me. The confidence and the trust the faculty instilled... gave me probably the best education I could have gotten. I learned so much, not just about business, but about anything."

"The faculty love what they do so much," she added. And obviously she does, too.

By the way, she now is registered and does vote.

Dr. M. Jerry Weiss

Education Lecture Series

Dr. M. Jerry Weiss, writer, teacher and recognized authority in both children's and adolescent literature, is this year's speaker for the Aimee and Raymond Dixon Distinguished Educator's Lecture Series.

The lecture is at 8 p.m. on Wednesday, May 13, in Caruthers Hall Auditorium. Admission is free and the public is invited. Dr. Weiss's topic is "Bringing Books and Children Together: Creative Approaches."

Distinguished Professor of Communications at Jersey City State College, Dr. Weiss has been honored by the National Council of the Teachers of English (NCTE) for "distinguished leadership, scholarship and service in the field of adolescent literature." He also received the Elliott Landau Award for outstanding teaching of children's and adolescent literature and awards from the College Reading Association (CRA) and the New Jersey Reading Association.

He has held offices with the New Jersey Reading Teachers Association, CRA, the International Reading Association and the NCTE. He has served as writer and consultant to University of Nebraska Television.

He has written books for both the elementary and college classrooms, plays, short stories and texts. He has contributed to numerous journals and written on teaching children's literature at the college level. He is a leading authority on getting children to become readers in school, getting them "hooked on books," according to Dr. Jack Wulff, of the Salisbury State Education Department.

"We are delighted to have such an authority on a critical issue—teaching today's child to read," Dr. Maurice Bozman, chairman of the Education Department said.

The lecture series is in memory of the parents of Mrs. Beulah Bartholomew, an SSC graduate in 1929 who was a career teacher herself.

"My parents' enthusiasm for education in general," said Mrs. Bartholomew, a Gaithersburg, MD, resident, "and their regular participation in school activities dictated a living, working memorial. Their interest in having their children associated with Salisbury Normal School (as it was known when Mrs. Bartholomew attended the College) and my subsequent teaching, together with my long-time love affair with the campus, made my decision (to fund the lecture series) fairly simple."

Easton Museum Exhibit

"Savory Suppers and Fashionable Feasts: Dining in Victorian America," an exhibition examining the rituals, practices and material culture of middle-class dining from 1850 to 1900, opens Saturday, May 2, at the Museum of the Historical Society of Talbot County and continues through August 23.

The exhibit's opening coincides with the 50th anniversary of the Maryland House and Garden Pilgrimage when 13 Talbot County homes, estates and gardens will be on tour Sunday, May 3. The Society's recently restored 1856 auditorium at 17 S. Washington Street will be headquarters for the tour.

Displayed in the auditorium, for the first time outside of the Henry Francis du Pont Winterthur Museum at Winterthur, DE, will be authorized reproductions from the Winterthur collections.

The Historical Society's Museum at 25 S. Washington Street in Easton, is open 10 a.m.-4 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday, Sunday 1-4 p.m. and closed Monday. Admission will be charged for the exhibit. For more information, call the Museum office at (301) 822-0773.

Australia/New Zealand Trip

There will be an interest meeting for students interested in touring and studying in Australia and New Zealand during Winter Term 1988.

The English Department and School of Nursing are planning to offer courses which will involve some pre- and post-travel work. Cost of the two-week trip, exclusive of course fees, is estimated at $2,750.

An interest meeting will be held on May 7 at 4:30 p.m. in the Nanticoke Room of the College Center. If interested but unable to attend the meeting or if you have questions, call Dr. Thomas L. Erskine at ext. 6450 (office) or 546-0848 (home) or stop by his office 349HH.

Jones Discusses Research

Dr. Thomas W. Jones, associate professor and chairman of the Biology Department, presented some of the results from his research on oysters during the meeting of the Atlantic Estuarine Research Society on Friday, April 24 at St. Michaels.

The title of his talk was "Phytoplankton Dynamics and Oyster Recruitment in Two Areas of the Choptank River During 1986."

For the last six years, Dr. Jones has been actively involved in research on oyster problems in the Chesapeake Bay. His main focus is on the biochemical quality of the food of oysters (microscopic algae) and how current pollution problems in the Chesapeake affect that biochemistry. His talk will present results from the first year of a two-year Department of Natural Resources grant which is studying the oyster populations in the Choptank.

Dr. Jones also holds the position of Visiting Associate Professor at the University of Maryland Horn Point Environmental Laboratories near Cambridge. In addition to his DNR grant, he is working there with Dr. Thomas Malone of that lab on a major National Science Foundation grant which is looking at the biochemistry of the water that flows out of the Chesapeake Bay onto the Continental Shelf.

B&E Raffle

The Business and Economic Society (Phi Beta Lambda) is holding a 50/50 raffle. Tickets are $1 each; the drawing is May 8 in the dining hall. The winner need not be present to win. Tickets may be purchased from any B&E member.

Skinner Poetry Winner

Jeffrey Skinner, part-time professor of English, has just been announced as a winner in this year's National Poetry Series.

The annual series, conceived of and initially funded a number of years ago by internationally famous novelist James Michener, each year chooses and oversees the publication of the five best books of poetry submitted to the contest. Skinner's book, titled A Guide to Forgetting, was chosen by the poet and fiction writer Tess Gallagher, and will be published in the spring of 1988 by Graywolf Press.

It's been a news-filled last few months for Skinner—early in February he learned that he had been awarded a Fellowship from The National Endowment for the Arts, a Federal agency which each year awards $20,000 grants to poets and fiction writers of exceptional talent and achievement. Winners are chosen from thousands of applications, on the basis of the quality of the work they submit.

Skinner's poems have appeared in many magazines, including The New Yorker, The Atlantic, The Nation, Yankee Magazine and Poetry. His first collection of poems, Late Stars, was published in 1985 by Wesleyan University Press. In 1986 he was awarded a grant from the Ingram Merrill Foundation and decided to leave his business position as vice president and general manager of Gleason Plant Security in Stamford, CT and move to Delaware to write full time.

The grant from The National Endowment for the Arts will allow him an additional year of uninterrupted writing time. He currently lives in Lewes, DE with his wife, Sarah, who is also a published poet, and their two young daughters, Laura and Bonnie.

Feminist to Speak

Sonia Johnson, who was excommunicated by the Mormon Church in 1979 for supporting the Equal Rights Amendment and who ran as the 1984 presidential candidate of the Citizens Party, will speak at SSC on Thursday, May 14, in celebration of International Women's Day.

The lecture, which is sponsored by the SSC Program Board and is free, is entitled "Feminism: The Centerpiece of the Puzzle" and begins at 7:30 p.m. in Caruthers Auditorium.

Dr. Johnson, who is the author of two books, From Housewife to Heretic (Doubleday Books, 1981) and the forthcoming Gone Out Of Our Minds: The Metaphysics of Liberation (Crossing Press), will be available for a question and answer period following the lecture, after which there will be a reception which is open to the public at the home of Donna Harrington.

For further information, call 742-1729.

Weaver Exhibit

The Art Institute and Gallery presents exhibit of "Weavings" by area weavers in Gallery II. The exhibit will show a diversity of weaving.

All woven techniques will be included from tapestry to loom weaving, back strap and inkle. Hand woven fabric made into garments or other useful articles will also be displayed. The exhibit will hang from April 27 through May 22 with a reception on May 3 from 2 to 4 p.m.

A exhibit by Sally Sweetland will be in Gallery I. Visit the Art Institute and Monet's Corner Gift Shop in downtown Salisbury or call 546-4748 Monday through Saturday from noon to 4 p.m.

Music Teaching Methods Studied by Ziegler

The manner in which Music will be taught both in local school systems as well as at SSC has been enhanced by the work done by Dr. Ray H. Ziegler, Jr., associate professor of Music, during his fall semester sabbatical.

"The leave provided me time to explore, develop and revise ideas," said Ziegler, "many of which will serve as springboards for future course development and revision. I have also been provided opportunities to broaden my outlook of fundamental issues of arts education and hope to explore, with other interested faculty, new possibilities for general education in the arts at SSC."

Ziegler became director of the Maryland Summer Center for the Arts in 1986 (a State Department of Education program) and his interest in and awareness of the fine arts broadened tremendously. Under his leadership, new junior and senior high school level courses were developed in film and video criticism (including structuring and shooting a short documentary), computer graphics and wind ensemble. An expanded version of an existing course, Music as a Creative Language, has been introduced at the junior high level. All of the work done in these areas has influenced new and existing courses developed for SSC.

He also directed the completion of the Maryland Music Curriculum Framework for which he served as consultant and editor. The final editing complete, the document goes to press within the next few months. It will be the framework around which local systems will build curriculum and will help in setting new standards for teacher preparation.

As an adjunct activity, he serves on the state task force which is writing the Fine Arts Curriculum Framework. This work began in the fall and will be finished in May. The document will contain guidelines for development of courses used to satisfy the new fine arts graduation requirement in Maryland.

Also under the auspices of the State Department, Ziegler and James Burgess chairman of the Art Department at SSC, recently completed a teacher in-service which assisted teachers in their preparation for the new curricular framework in art and music with specific regard to implementation of the goals on culture, history and aesthetic criticism.

Ziegler is in the process of directing an exhibit of approximately 100 representative art works from last year's Summer Center. They will be displayed during the month of May at the State House in Annapolis. It will be the first time an exhibit of this nature has been held at the State House. A gala opening will be held at 5 p.m. on Monday, May 5, with Governor William Donald Schaefer presenting a citation to Dr. David Hornbeck, State Superintendent of Schools. The citation will commend the State Department for its work with the Summer Centers Programs.

Additionally, Ziegler has composed several short choral pieces and has made considerable progress on A Time for Us (text by W.H. Auden), a large undertaking for voices, organ and electronic tape. Most of the work is in sketch form with a few sections nearing completion. He hopes to have the piece finished within the next year.

Rendine on Alumni Board

Paul Rendine, a 1974 graduate, was recently named to the SSC Alumni Association's board of directors.

Rendine is the vice president of Salisbury's Wheat, First Securities, Inc., office. He is a member of the Salisbury Chamber of Commerce and chairs the Governor's Commission to Employ the Handicapped for the lower Eastern Shore. Recently moving back to Salisbury from North Carolina, Rendine writes a column for the Salisbury Daily Times newspaper.

"I received a good education at Salisbury State College," said Rendine, who enjoys reading, painting and photography in his spare time. "Being on the Alumni Association's board of directors is a chance to give something back."

Appointed by the alumni at-large at its annual meeting in October, Rendine's term on the board of directors will run through 1989.

Hedeen Addresses IRP

Dr. Robert A. Hedeen, professor Biology, presented the program to the Institute of Retired Persons at its regular meeting on April 28.

Hedeen presented a lecture and slide show entitled, "The Mystery of the Marsh." The value of marshes in the overall ecology of the Eastern Shore is frequently overlooked as well as the numerous species adapted to them. The program considered how marshes and their inhabitants are vital to the well being of the Chesapeake Bay system.

Stovall Addresses IRS

Dr. Natalie Stovall, Psychology professor, addressed the Internal Revenue Service in Salisbury on Thursday, April 9. The topic of her presentation was "Performance Improvement."

Dr. Stovall is part of the SSC's Speaker's Bureau. The Speaker's Bureau offers area organizations several speakers discussing a variety of subjects. There is no charge for the service.

Any civic, service or educational organization desiring a speaker should contact the Public Relations Office at 543-6030.

Engler Speaking Engagement

Dr. Leo Engler, English professor, addressed the Historical Society of Worcester County on Friday, April 10. The topic of his presentation was "The Dialects of the Eastern Shore."

Dr. Engler is part of SSC's Speaker's Bureau. The Speaker's Bureau offers area organizations several speakers discussing a variety of subjects. There is no charge for the service.

Any civic, service or educational organization desiring a speaker should contact the SSC Public Relations Office at (301) 543-6030.

Heidler Article Published

Dr. David S. Heidler, assistant professor in the Department of History, has contributed an article to a five volume biographical dictionary recently published by Salem Press.

Heidler's article, which appears in Great Lives in History, American Series, examines and interprets the life of South Carolinian John C. Calhoun, the theorist behind South Carolina's Nullification movement in 1832. Calhoun was also Secretary of War in President James Monroe's cabinet, vice president in John Quincy Adams' and Andrew Jackson's administration, Secretary of State for President John Tyler, and a senator for South Carolina from 1832 to his death in 1850.

The biographical dictionary, published in March, has been designed to suit the needs of high school and undergraduate college students.

Spring Literary Festival

A young award-winning poet and his wife living in Lewes, DE; a New York writer whose startling prose has catapulted her to celebrity status among New York glitterati; and an established poet and Pulitzer Prize winner, help the College celebrate its Spring Literary Festival, now underway.

Poet Carol Frost opened the festival on April 27 with a reading of her own works.

Next, Tama Janowitz, whose Slaves of New York, a collection of short stories about life in the limousine lane, has captured the fancy of Manhattan's literary tribe, reads from her works on Monday, May 4. Janowitz has recently been featured in Interview and People magazines.

The following Monday, May 13, Jeffrey Skinner and his wife Sarah Gorham, will read. Both poets are extensively published and Gorham's work has appeared in magazines and journals including The Nation, Poetry Now and Antioch Review. She also is a Poetry Society of America award winner. Her husband Jeffrey Skinner, is one of five winners of the 1987 National Poetry Series. Each year five of the best volumes submitted to the contest are selected for publication. Skinner's book, A Guide to Forgetting, will be published in the spring of 1988. He has published in The New Yorker, The Atlantic and The Nation among others. A part-time professor at the College, he and his wife live with their two daughters, Laura and Bonnie, in Lewes.

Completing the series of visiting writers on Thursday, May 21, is Louis Simpson. This award winning poet and critic is one of America's most respected and highly honored poets. His volume of poetry, At the End of the Open Road, won the Pulitzer in 1964. He is equally known as a critic of modern verse. He has won the Prix de Rome, the Columbia University Medal for Excellence and the American Academy of Arts and Letters award in literature.

All of the readings are at 7:30 p.m. in the Social Room of Holloway Hall. Admission is free and the public is invited. The festival is sponsored by the English Department, the College Center and the Scarab, the student literary magazine.

Lt. Gov. S.B. Woo

Lt. Gov. Woo Here on May 11

Dr. S.B. Woo, Lieutenant Governor of Delaware, presents a lecture entitled, "The Chinese in America," on Monday, May 11, at 7:30 p.m. in Caruthers Auditorium.

The lecture, part of the College's year-long cultural events series, "China: Tradition and Transformation," is sponsored by the Faculty Cultural Events Committee and SSC Foundation, Inc. Like all programs in series, the lecture is free and open to the public.

In 1984 promoting high technology and international trade, the man who everyone jokingly asked "Woo Who?" became the lieutenant governor of Delaware. His victorious campaign was especially prestigious to Chinese-Americans all across the country. His earning that office marked the highest elected post held by a Chinese-American in the history of the United States. Lieutenant Governor Woo will share his thoughts and feelings on China, his birthplace, and on America, his home, during his presentation.

Shien Biau Woo, 48, a resident of Delaware for more than 19 years, is an educator and a scientist. He has been a faculty member at the University of Delaware since 1966, was the first president of Collective Bargaining Chapter of the American Association of University Professors (AAUP) at the university and was the first faculty member ever appointed to the University's Board of Trustees.

He was also the first Chinese-American elected to the National Council of the AAUP and later served on its executive committee. Governor Woo was born in Shanghai, China on August 13, 1937. He lived in Taiwan and Hong Kong before moving to the United States to study physics and mathematics. He received his Bachelor of Science degree, summa cum laude, from Georgetown College and his Ph.D. in physics from Washington University in St. Louis.

He has been married to the former Katy K.N. Wu for 21 years. The Woos have a son, Chih-I, and a daughter, Chih-Lan.

Woo has become, as he puts it, "an American by choice" and ran for Lieutenant Governor "because this country and the state of Delaware have given me so much. I want to pay back as much as I can through public service."

As lieutenant governor, he presently serves as president of the Delaware State Senate and chairman of the State Board of Pardon. He is also a member of the budget committee. In addition, the Governor has appointed him as co-chairman of the Governor's International Trade Council and chairman of the Governor's High Tech Task Force.

College Festival Participation

From colors to cakes to keeping in shape a variety of Salisbury State College organizations will join in the annual rite of spring fun known as the Salisbury Festival on May 1-3.

On Friday, May 1, the College will dedicate its new 300-bed dormitory, St. Martin Hall, at 11:30 p.m. Numerous area dignitaries and college officials will be in attendance to celebrate the College's ninth residence hall.

At 3:30 p.m. at Holloway Hall Auditorium the College will recognize some 300 students for their scholarly achievements at its annual spring rite, Honors Convocation. Paul Rendine, area businessman and SSC alumnus, will be the featured speaker.

At 5:30 p.m., the ROTC Color Guard will officially usher in this year's fifth annual Festival at the Friday Block Party at the Riverwalk. Also on hand will be the SSC Jazz Band to add to the festive atmosphere.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity and Little Sisters will sponsor a balloon launch to benefit the Eastern Shore Multiple Sclerosis Society at 8 p.m.

Roaming the area to entertain the children, as he will on Saturday, will be Sammy the Sea Gull, the mascot of the SSC Alumni Association. And, the Food Service Department will have a special food booth, as it will the following day.

The ROTC Color Guard will begin Saturday, May 2, events by raising the colors at both the start of the Chesapeake Challenge 10K and Ramblin' Raft Race at 10 a.m. and 10:30 a.m., respectively.

Additionally, the Nursing Department will help coordinate a Health Fitness booth. The Dance Company led by director Kathryn Martin will perform at various times downtown. The Children's Theatre led by director Dale Whitel will perform a series of international folktales.

Alpha Sigma Tau sorority will assist with children's face painting.

The International Club will sell German cakes. Student National Education Association members will assist various groups with children's activities.

There will also be lots happening on the campus itself on Saturday. The 21st annual Senior Art Show will be on exhibit in the College Gallery in Blackwell Library. In sports, the baseball team will square off with cross-state rival Frostburg State for a pair of games beginning at 12:30 p.m., while the men's lacrosse team will entertain Lynchburg at Sea Gull Stadium at 2 p.m.

That evening the Jazz Band will perform at Gator Aid, a dance benefiting the Salisbury Zoo.

On Sunday, May 3, the public is invited to the second of a two-part Chinese cooking demonstration, "Art in Wok," at 3:30 p.m. in Devilbiss Auditorium.

While all these organizations have been making preparations for the festive weekend, two students Laura Thomas and Doug Cooke from a Leisure Studies class have been busily writing publicity stories about the entire Salisbury Festival smorgasbord of activities.

For more information about SSC participation in the Salisbury Festival, call the Public Relations Office at 543-6030. For information about the Festival itself, contact the Salisbury Area Chamber of Commerce at 749-0144.

Chinese Cooking Demonstration

Imperial Gallery Restaurant, located in the Twilley Shopping Centre, Salisbury, has been named the "Health Food Center" by its patrons.

The men responsible for this new title are David Hu, the manager, and Cheng cheng Sun, the chef.

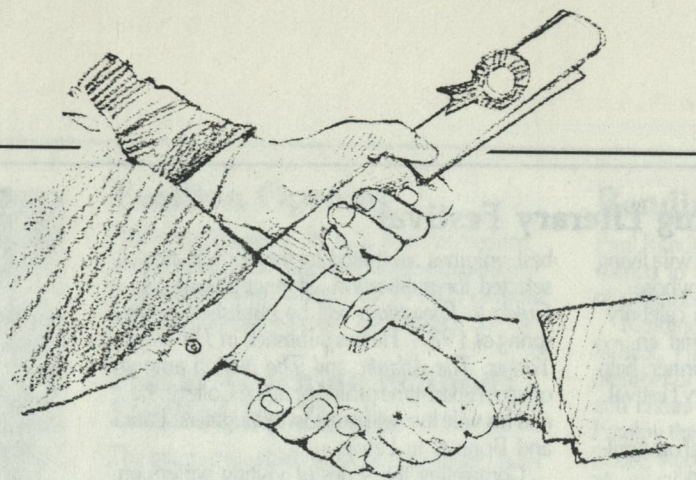

Sun will demonstrate the techniques used in preparation of Chinese cuisine on Sunday, May 3, at 3:30 p.m. in Devilbiss Hall Auditorium.

The demonstration, part of the College's year-long cultural events series, "China: Tradition and Transformation," is sponsored by the Faculty Cultural Events Committee and the SSC Foundation, Inc. Like all programs in the series, the demonstration is free and open to the public.

With a graduate degree in Sociology, Hu applies what he has learned to the daily running of this active restaurant. "I felt it is my duty to constantly read the available material on nutrition and health," said Hu. "Many of the customers who daily lunch at the restaurant or have dinner three or four nights a week depend upon meals served here for the bulk of their nutrition."

Sun, the veteran in Chinese cuisine, said, "Now I know why my ancestors lived to a ripe old age. Rice and tofu, the main stay of our diet, have almost zero cholesterol saturated fat."

For more information on this and other "China" series programs, call 543-NEWS.

1987 Commencement Information

Please Read Carefully

1. Commencement will be held at 10 a.m., May 30, in the Wicomico County Youth and Civic Center. No tickets will be required, but it is suggested that graduates limit their number of guests to no more than eight. All graduates are requested to form for processional at 9 a.m. in the side corridors adjacent to the main arena on the first floor of the Civic Center.

2. The Commencement speaker will be Dr. Nelson P. Guild, interim executive director, Board of Trustees of Maryland State Universities and Colleges.

3. Caps, gowns, master's hoods, nursing pins and caps will be distributed through the College bookstore beginning April 27. These may be retained by the graduates and need not be returned following the ceremony. Announcements may be purchased in the bookstore, but quantities are limited and will be sold on a first come, first served basis. Problems with caps and gowns will be corrected prior to the ceremony by the bookstore employees at the Civic Center, in Flanders Room No. 1 near the snack bar to the left of the arena entrances. Bobby pins, etc., will also be available there. The bookstore will close at 2 p.m. on Friday, May 29. Graduates must pick up the necessary items before 2 p.m. on that date.

4. The faculty marshals will give each graduate a 3x5 card containing his/her name as it appears on the program. This is to be given to Dr. Nelson Butler when you reach the stage, so he will know who you are and how to announce your name before you start across the stage.

5. Degree candidates who do not plan to participate in the Commencement Exercise must notify the Registrar's Office by calling 543-6150 no later than Friday, May 22. All graduates will receive a blank folder at Commencement, and all diplomas will be mailed approximately four weeks after the ceremony.

6. Faculty and staff are requested to form the processional at 9:15 a.m. in the Midway Room of the Civic Center. Faculty members are required to attend; those who are unable to do so should so inform their respective dean.

7. The first aid staff of the Civic Center will be on duty in the office on the right side of the foyer entrance just outside the main arena.

8. A brief reception for graduates and their guests will be held immediately following Commencement in the Midway Room of the Civic Center.

You will sit in Section 3 on the seating chart.

18. Dress Code

This is a formal academic occasion and should be viewed as such in dress and demeanor.

The academic robe is black and the recommended dress, therefore, is:

A. Women

1. Black dress shoes (or some other dark color) - no white or other light color.

2. Dress hose.

3. A dress which does not have a high neckline or stand-up collar. It should not show above the V-neckline and white collar on the robe.

4. No visible jewelry.

5. No flowers on the academic robe.

B. Men

1. Black dress shoes (or some dark color) - no sneakers or light color sport shoes with thick rubber soles.

2. Dark color socks - no white athletic socks.

3. Dress slacks, preferably a dark or neutral color.

4. Dress shirt, preferably white, or a light color.

5. Dress tie (four-in-hand tie with Windsor knot). (Shirt collar and tie will show above the V-neckline of the academic robe.)

6. Suit coat or sport coat will not be seen under the robe and is, therefore, optional (the Civic Center is air-conditioned).

7. No visible jewelry.

C. Both

1. The mortarboard (academic hat) is to be worn with the front point over the forehead below the front hairline, and so the flat board is parallel to the floor. (Not worn on the back of the head with the board pointing upward.) No decoration of any kind is to be placed on the mortarboard.

2. Candidates for the bachelor's degree should come into the auditorium with the tassel on the right, hanging near the right eye. After the degrees are conferred the tassel is shifted to the left side. The signal for shifting the tassel will be given by the President and Vice-President for Academic Affairs when they touch their mortarboards.

3. Candidates for the master's degree should place the tassel at the left front of the mortarboard prior to entering the auditorium and should not shift it.

4. Master's degree candidates will wear the robe, but will carry the hood over the left arm until they reach the stage, where it will be placed on the candidate.

22 are in a transitional period in their development, said Barry King, director of Residence Life, "entering the new experience of adulthood. It is during this period that they establish a system of values which affect their attitudes and behavior for the rest of their lives.

"It is a period characterized by searching, experimentation and change.

"The freedom to explore a pluralistic environment," continued King, and to make decisions for themselves is an important dimension in the growth and learning of students. They decide when to sleep, when to study, what to eat, and who to make friends with. Setting priorities and making decisions for which they are accountable is an important step in assuming responsibilities associated with adulthood."

Darin Slade, a junior Business major from Lexington Park, MD, who lives in St. Martin is particularly high on his new residence hall because its motel-style lessens the noise level, thereby enhancing his opportunity to study. But he feels generally students who live on campus have an advantage over those who don't because it's easier to take full advantage of SSC's highly accessible faculty.

"Living on campus," said Slade, 20, allows me to manage my time much better. And, that includes visiting a faculty member when I need to at the spur of the moment. Faculty offices are always just a five minute walk from my dorm."

Added Rice, "The library is also more accessible, especially on a compact campus like ours."

Typically residence life students are more active in all areas of campus life than are their commuter counterparts. Rice and Slade were both named to Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

A significant development of the past 15 years has been the effort by administrators to deinstitutionalize the living environment in residence halls. As buildings during this period have been constructed, renovated and refurbished, greater care has been taken to provide facilities and furnishings which are more personalized and aesthetically pleasing.

Greater personalization of the living environment has also occurred through staffing residence halls with professional and paraprofessional educators who are trained in such areas as counseling, human development, group dynamics, crisis intervention, administration and discipline.

"These staffs are able to provide the support and supervision necessary to respond to both individual and group needs," said King. "These services are of particular interest to parents," added King. "Both parents and students find the safety and security of living on campus attractive as well as the convenience of not having to worry about traveling and parking problems which plague commuting students on many campuses.

For many students, the college experience includes much more than pursuing a degree in their major field of study. Those who have the opportunity to live on campus are exposed to a broad range of learning experiences that will help them function effectively in adult roles in society.

And, "It's fun," said Rice of residence hall life. "Even the dining hall food is good."

Men's Lacrosse Team Wins Two

The weekend was sweet for the men's lacrosse team as the Gulls defeated Haverford 16-5 and Pfeiffer 20-11. The two wins raised SSC's record to 9-6 on the season. Against Haverford, Jim Sturgell and Greg Pasko each scored two goals while Tim Berquist passed for four assists. Three goalies—Mike Parks, Bill Collinson and Butch Marsh—had 22 saves between them. Sturgell was again the leader against Pfeiffer as he scored five goals and passed for three assists. Ron McGann added four goals while Mike Provenzano had three. Parks was excellent at goalie as he had 10 saves. The Gulls will close out the 1987 season on Saturday at 2 p.m. at Sea Gull Stadium against Lynchburg.

Men's Tennis Team Wins ESAC Title

Salisbury State won the 1987 Eastern States Athletic Conference Men's Tennis Tournament on Saturday in Salisbury. SSC won five of the six flights in the tourney as Tom Porter, Mark Buzzell, David Gardner and Peter Hall each won their respective singles divisions. Mike Horvath and Sam David won the number one doubles event. SSC gathered 30 points while Allentown had 12 and Cabrini and Wesley had eight points each. Earlier in the week, Washington College dimmed SSC's hopes of being in the NCAA Division III National Tennis Tournament (to be held in Salisbury during the second week of May). The Shoremen defeated the Gulls 8-1 with SSC's only win coming in the doubles matches as Buzzell and Brian Ruppel teamed to win. The loss ended an 11-match win streak (one short of the school record) for the Gulls.

Job Vacancies

Food Service Department has openings for the following: Dietary Worker I; Cook I; Food Service supervisor. Submit applications to the Personnel Office, HH 205, prior to May 8.

Kappa Delta Pi Installation

The Rho Eta Chapter of Kappa Delta Pi, a national honor society for Education, was installed on April 22.

During the ceremony Dr. J. Jay Hostetler, executive secretary of the National Kappa Delta Pi, presented the Chapter to Dr. Keith J. Connors, dean of the School of Professional Studies. Dr. Bellavance, Dr. K. Nelson Butler, vice president of Academic Affairs, and Dr. Maurice W. Bozman, chairman of the Education Department, welcomed the organization to the campus and congratulated the initiates.

Besides the installation ceremony, there was an initiation in which seven faculty members and 44 students became chapter members of the organization.

New officers were installed. Mary George is the newly elected president; Jennifer Givens, vice president; Susan Hancock, secretary; Dawn Scrivener, treasurer; and Louise Miles, historian/reporter. Faculty counselors are Dr. Barbara A. Townsend and Dr. Gerry Rossi of the Education Department.

Women's Lacrosse Team Gets Biggest Win Ever

Calling it the biggest win ever by a SSC women's lacrosse team, Salisbury State defeated Georgetown 12-11 last Tuesday in Salisbury. Andrea Phillips scored the winning goal for SSC with just over three minutes remaining in the game. Stacy Stem, who became Salisbury's all-time leader in career assists (39) during the game, tied the score at 11-11 at the 3:44 mark. Phillips and Stem each finished with three goals. Lisa Kallis had 11 saves for Salisbury while Niki Dorn added three. On Thursday afternoon, the Gulls traveled to another Division I school—Old Dominion University. However, the Gulls weren't as fortunate this time out as they were on the short end of a 14-6 loss. Phillips and Linda Lombardi each scored two goals for Salisbury, 6-3.

Wrestling Awards

DeWayne Harris was named the most valuable wrestler for the College wrestling team.

Harris, a junior from Caesar Rodney High School in Dover, was just one win away from being an all-American in the 142 pound weight class. He won two matches in the NCAA Division III national tournament in Buffalo, NY in March and led the Gulls to a 5-3 dual match during the season.

Two wrestlers—Teige McShane and Sean Fitzpatrick—tied for the most improved award. McShane, a junior from J.M. Bennett High School, placed fourth in the 126 pound weight class in the regionals while Fitzpatrick, a sophomore from Magruder High School in Rockville, MD, took third place in the regionals in the 177 pound class.

Baseball Team Extends Streak to Eight

The SSC baseball team won all three of its games last week, extending its winning streak to eight. Freshman pitcher Mark Perry opened the week with a six-hitter against Washington College. The Shoremen could only score an unearned ninth inning run as SSC won 6-1. Chris Manouse provided the offense with two hits and an RBI. On Thursday, one of the nation's top Division III teams traveled to Salisbury. The Gulls showed no hospitality to the Virginia Wesleyan Marlins as they won a 9-7 decision in 11 innings. Russ Smith sent the game into extra innings with a HR in the bottom of the ninth to tie the game 7-7. With another good freshman pitcher, Al Pritchett, on the mound, Virginia Wesleyan could not score while Devin Warwick rapped a two-run homer in the 11th for the win. The week's finale was played at Emmitsburg, MD against Catholic University due to a scheduling conflict. Kevin Smith went all the way on the mound for the Gulls as SSC came away with a 5-3 win. C.R. Murphy went 3-4 with a triple while Warwick drove in two runs. SSC, 14-7, hosts Frostburg State on Saturday at 12:30 p.m. at Sea Gull Stadium. A doubleheader between the two teams will be played as the Gulls close out the 1987 home stand.

Lt. Gov. Woo Lecture Culminates China Series

Dr. S.B. Woo, Lieutenant Governor of Delaware, presents a lecture entitled, "The Chinese in America," on Monday, May 11, at 7:30 p.m. in Caruthers Auditorium.

The lecture, part of the College's year-long cultural events series, "China: Tradition and Transformation," is sponsored by the Faculty Cultural Events Committee and SSC Foundation, Inc. Like all programs in series, the lecture is free and open to the public.

Lovelace Is NEH Scholar

While a student at the Stowe School, VT, where he graduated in 1982, Brad Lovelace remembers the student body being assembled by the faculty after a theft occurred at the school, and the group collectively sitting in silence for hours until one of the students finally stood and confessed. At that point, all in the room burst into applause—partially relief that the ordeal was over, but more importantly, giving support to the student who had confessed.

In the intimate atmosphere of the rural, isolated academy (enrollment numbered around 100) where everyone knew one another, the theft and confession would be carried by the offender the rest of his life. So would the forgiveness and encouragement the teachers and students offered.

"A heavy emphasis on community (action) was a policy at Stowe," according to Lovelace, at the same time, however, coupled with a rigorous outdoor program in the Vermont wilderness (including 250-mile hikes), which fostered self-reliance, he said.

For Lovelace, now a 22-year-old Philosophy major at SSC, his two years at Stowe created an ambivalence toward questions of individualism and community action. "Many of the teachers there seemed so radical to me that I became a conservative in comparison, pro-free enterprise, pro-individualism. But now..."

Now, Lovelace has been named a National Endowment for the Humanities (NEH) "Young Scholar," a prestigious award which will pay him to explore the relationship between community commitment and individual rights. Only 88 students were selected by the NEH from colleges and universities across the country; he is the first from Salisbury State ever to win such a prize, which includes an $1800 grant.

"Brad is very independent and creative and I think that's why he won this," according to Dr. Francis Kane, chairman of the Philosophy Department at Salisbury State. Kane (who has written for Commonweal Magazine and The New York Times) will serve as Lovelace's "guide" through an exploration of classical and contemporary readings which examine this topic.

"Like most Philosophy majors, Brad takes ideas seriously," Kane said.

He also is committed to truth: "Originally my motives were strictly financial," Lovelace admitted. "Last summer I worked as a roofer and made about the same amount of money as the scholarship. I'd rather be paid to read and work in an air-conditioned library."

But the project, which uses the U.S. Constitution to explore the eternal dynamic of community responsibility and individual prerogative, seems particularly apt for him and our society at this moment. In his research proposal he noted that French writer Alexis de Tocqueville, while visiting America in the 19th century, admired the frontier nation's emphasis on individual rights, but wondered if too much "rugged individualism" might lead to a disintegration of community. In 1987, a nation of millionaires and mentally disturbed "street people," stories of collapsing bridges and a decrepit national "infrastructure," air pollution, water pollution and neighborhoods destroyed by real estate profiteering, would seem to have proved de Tocqueville's premonition of disintegrating community ominously correct.

"This paper has a personal meaning for Brad and is not just a scholarly investigation," Kane said. "He's very strongly individualistic, but wondering. Personally, I think he'd be a very good graduate student."

SSC To Host NCAA Division III Tennis Championships

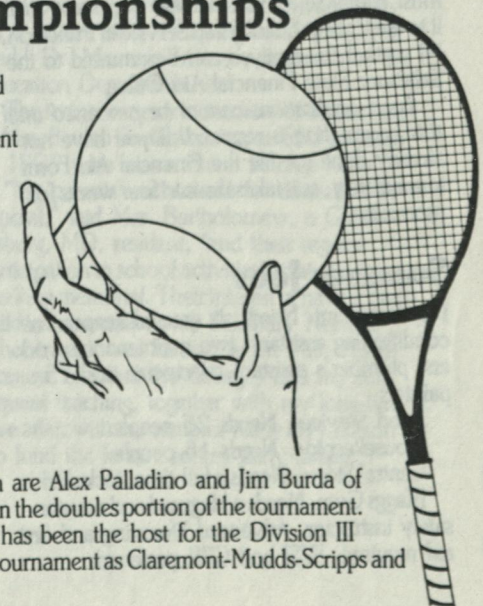

The nation's best Division III men's tennis players and teams will converge at Salisbury State College for the 1987 NCAA Division III National Tennis Tournament on May 11-17.

Eight teams—Washington College, Washington & Lee, Swarthmore, Rochester, Principia, Kalamazoo, Claremont-Mudd-Scripps and California-Santa Cruz—will vie for the team championship. Kalamazoo is the defending champion as it defeated Washington & Lee 6-3 last year at Claremont, CA.

Toby Clark of Principia is the favorite to win the singles championship as he comes into the tournament rated number one among the 64 participants.

Returning to defend their 1986 doubles crown are Alex Palladino and Jim Burda of Kalamazoo. Thirty-two doubles teams are involved in the doubles portion of the tournament.

This is the second time Salisbury State College has been the host for the Division III men's tournament. The Sea Gulls hosted the 1981 tournament as Claremont-Mudd-Scripps and Swarthmore shared the team title.

Students to Evaluate Academic Advising System

During the week of May 4-8, a number of SSC students will have an opportunity to respond to a questionnaire on the College's academic advising system. The questionnaire will be distributed to about 50 spring semester classes that have been selected for a representative mix of majors and academic levels (freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors).

Between 1,000 and 1,200 students will participate in the survey. The multiple-choice questionnaire, which takes about 15 minutes to complete, will be administered by the instructors of the courses involved. Results of the survey will be used in the near future as part of the College's on-going effort to improve academic services for students at the College.

Help!

A number of out-of-town tennis umpires will be on campus from May 10 to May 17 as SSC hosts the NCAA Division III National Men's Tennis Championships.

Each official needs a place to sleep (and bathe) for two or three days. If you could help out by providing a place for an official to sleep, please call Dave Parker at home: 749-4030; at his office; ext. 6147; or leave a message at the Computer Science Office: ext. 6020.

Escort Service

The Department of Public Safety offers an escort service during the hours of darkness to any person walking alone on campus and to nearby off-campus locations. Call 543-6222 or ext. 6222 from a centrex phone for the escort. An officer will meet you at your location and escort you to your destination. This service is provided to anyone who feels uncomfortable walking alone at night.

Senior Art Show

On Saturday, May 2, the Senior Art Class will "hang themselves," that is, their art work, in the College Gallery in Blackwell Library. The exhibition is a culmination of four years study by the students. Their work will be on display through May 21 and the exhibition opening coincides with the annual Salisbury Festival.

The show is mainly two dimensional works including paintings, sketches and photography, as well as some sculpture.

The exhibit is the finale of a three-credit senior seminar class in Art, lead by Jim Burgess, chairman of the Art Department. The students are required to work 15 hours for a department Art teacher, to become familiar with a particular aspect of the teacher's work, as well as create a portfolio and resume.

"I think it will be an exciting exhibition because these are an active bunch of students," Burgess said.

The 13 seniors featured in the exhibition are: Barbara Blaskovich of Edgewater Park, NJ; Barb Datz of Parsonsburg; Kim DeMartin of Ocean City; Tom Elliot of Chelmsford, MA; Cheryl Fear of Syracuse, NY; Sarah Norton of Bowie; Debbie Pearce of Seaford, DE; Wendy E. Ralston of Trumbull, CT; Mary Rex of Severna Park; Carol Shirkey of Annapolis; Tim Slattery of Hackettstown, NJ; and Lisa Strieb and Susan Womack, both of Salisbury.

The opening on May 2 is from 7-9 p.m. Admission is free. For further information call the Art Department or the College Gallery at 543-6271.

Psychology Opening

Assistant professor position: Salisbury State College seeks applicants for a full-time assistant professor position starting September 1987. The position requires an earned doctorate. Experience and/or coursework in industrial-organizational psychology is required. Applicants should be prepared to teach undergraduate psychology, M.A. level courses in the area of industrial-organization, tests and measurements, research methods, and others according to qualifications. Directing M.A. students, undergraduate advising, research and college service are also expected. Complete application consists of current vita, official transcripts, evidence of teaching effectiveness, three letters of recommendation and a letter of application describing the applicant's qualifications. Application deadline is June 1, 1987, or until position is filled. Applications postmarked after June 1, 1987 will be screened only if position is not filled from applications postmarked on or before that date. Send application to: Coordinator, Dr. Bob Graff, Search and Screen Committee, Department of Psychology, Salisbury State College, Salisbury, MD 21801. (301) 543-6370. Computer Services Monitors

The Department of Computer Services is seeking applications for student monitors for the fall semester. An applicant does not have to be a Computer Science major but should have exposure to either an IBM PC or compatible, Radio Shack Model IV or terminal connected to the Academic Vax 8300.

Applications can be obtained from the secretary of the Department of Computer Services in Caruthers Hall, room A-153, and should also be returned to the secretary. If you have any questions concerning the type of work you will be doing contact Kenny Kanarr at ext. 6740.

Blue Light Phones

Blue light phones have been installed at various locations on campus for your use. The number for Public Safety is ext. 6222. These phones are particularly useful to call for assistance, including stalled vehicles, escorts or any emergency.

Get to know the locations of these phones so you can take advantage of their convenience when you need one. The locations are: running track near St. Martin Hall; temporary parking lot, on the wall of Holloway Hall Annex; Caruthers Hall next to the parking lot; Devilbiss lot near Devilbiss Hall; and Dogwood Village.

Personal Safety Tips

These personal safety tips, compiled by the Department of Public Safety, apply when on campus as well as in the Salisbury area or wherever you may reside. The precautions may lessen the likelihood of becoming a victim. Increasing our awareness of crime prevention techniques may decrease the opportunity for a person to commit a criminal offense.

1. You are your own best protection.
2. Keep your door locked at all times. Don't unlock the door for strangers. Keep your first floor windows locked.
3. Walk in well-lit areas and stay near the curb, away from alleys, entry ways and bushes where someone could be hiding.
4. Do not walk or jog alone after dark.
5. Avoid short cuts. Walk where there are other people present.
6. Do not hitchhike or accept rides from strangers. If a driver asks you for directions, stay far enough away so that you cannot be pulled into the car. Do not pick up strangers.
7. If you are being followed when walking, change direction, cross the street and vary your speed. Go to a well-lit area or a place where there are other people. If followed by someone in a car, turn and walk in the other direction. Record the license number.
8. Park in a well-lit area and lock car doors.
9. If you need an escort to or from your car, call the Department of Public Safety, ext. 6222.
10. Report any suspicious activity or crimes to the Public Safety Office.

For more information on personal safety, contact the Department of Public Safety, located in Holloway Hall, room 022, ext. 6222.

Education Lecture Series Presents Dr. Weiss

Dr. M. Jerry Weiss, writer, teacher and recognized authority in both children's and adolescent literature, is this year's speaker for the Aimee and Raymond Dixon Distinguished Educator's Lecture Series.

The lecture is at 8 p.m. on Wednesday, May 13, in Caruthers Hall Auditorium. Admission is free and the public is invited. Dr. Weiss's topic is "Bringing Books and Children Together: Creative Approaches."

Distinguished Professor of Communications at Jersey City State College, Dr. Weiss has been honored by the National Council of the Teachers of English (NCTE) for "distinguished leadership, scholarship and service in the field of adolescent literature." He also received the Elliott Landau Award for outstanding teaching of children's and adolescent literature and awards from the College Reading Association (CRA) and the New Jersey Reading Association.

He has held offices with the New Jersey Reading Teachers Association, CRA, the International Reading Association and the NCTE. He has served as writer and consultant to University of Nebraska Television.

He has written books for both the elementary and college classrooms, plays, short stories and texts. He has contributed to numerous journals and written on teaching children's literature at the college level. He is a leading authority on getting children to become readers in school, getting them "hooked on books," according to Dr. Jack Wulff, of the Salisbury State Education Department.

"We are delighted to have such an authority on a critical issue—teaching today's child to read," Dr. Maurice Bozman, chairman of the Education Department said.

The lecture series is in memory of the parents of Mrs. Beulah Bartholomew, an SSC graduate in 1929 who was a career teacher herself.

"My parents' enthusiasm for education in general," said Mrs. Bartholomew, a Gaithersburg, MD, resident, "and their regular participation in school activities dictated a living, working memorial. Their interest in having their children associated with Salisbury Normal School (as it was known when Mrs. Bartholomew attended the College) and my subsequent teaching, together with my long-time love affair with the campus, made my decision (to fund the lecture series) fairly simple."

Tenure Track Opening In Computer Science

A tenure track position in the Computer Science Department will be open for fall 1987. Student Orientation Courses Instructors Needed

The Office of the Vice President of Academic Affairs is accepting applications from students who wish to serve as instructors in the freshman orientation course.

Student instructors will work in tandem with orientation faculty to help freshmen and transfer students new to SSC make the transition to College life. The orientation course will consist of both classroom and experiential components and will be implemented during the first half of the fall 1987 semester. Student instructors will receive training and a curriculum for use in teaching and will be paid a stipend of $200.

Student applications for positions as instructors should be at the sophomore level or above, have GPAs of 2.5 or higher, know the campus and its support services and have experience in activities promoting student interaction. Applications may be obtained from the Office of Academic Affairs, the Dean of Students Office, the Housing Office, Residence Life area directors and the information desk in the College Center.

Ulm Presents Paper

Dr. Ronald R. Ulm, professor of Psychology, presented a paper at the Southern Psychological Association Convention held in Atlanta, GA.

The title of the paper was "Alcohol consumption as a function of control over appetitive and aversive effects." The research involved work which Dr. Ulm is conducting in collaboration with psychologists at the University of Pennsylvania. Also, the same information was later presented to the Psychology Department at the University of Delaware under the title "Alcohol Drinking: The Tension-Reduction Hypothesis Reconsidered."

The exhibit ran from January to May 1.

Rotary Scholarship

An international scholarship is available to outstanding students at the College who are anxious to further international understanding and friendly relations among peoples of different countries. Both graduate and undergraduate scholarships are offered through the Rotary Foundation to cover virtually all the expenses associated with an academic year of study abroad.

The Easton Rotary Club is particularly interested in sponsoring outstanding students who are natives of Easton, and who are committed to the objectives of the scholarship program. Successful applications are typically students with an exceptional academic record, a strong interest in furthering international understanding and excellent public speaking skills.

Applications and further information may be obtained from Stuart M. Bounds, vice president of Academic and Administrative Services at Chesapeake College or from Michael Menzies of the Talbot Bank. Applications must be submitted to the Rotary Club of Easton by July 15, 1987. Should you have any questions, call Chesapeake College at 822-5400, ext. 510.

Soviet Study-Tour

Imagine yourself this summer in the heart of Moscow, walking among the throngs in Red Square, marvelling at the towers of the Kremlin, visiting Lenin's tomb. As a participant in SSC's study-tour of the Soviet Union, all this and more can be part of an unforgettable summer.

On August 12, Salisbury State's study-tour will begin a 15-day odyssey, departing for Moscow, to cap a summer studying the contemporary Soviet Union. The course, Survey of the Soviet Union, will be offered jointly by the History and Political Science Departments. It may be taken for undergraduate credit in either department, for graduate credit in History, or on an audit basis.

During the seven week course, participants will study the land and the people of the USSR, the history of Russia and Soviet Union, Marx, Lenin and the Revolution, party and state institutions, current issues, the Soviet economy, Soviet culture and everyday life in the USSR, all as preparation for the tour itself. Participants will then be able to see for themselves and to increase directly their understanding of this fascinating country.

First stop on the tour is Moscow, the capital. This ancient city, hub of the Soviet system, is the ideal place to begin. Here, inextricably mixed are the institutions of the Soviet system and the tsarist heritage upon which it is built. The high walls of the Kremlin enclose not only the nerve centers of governments, the Supreme Soviet, but also magnificent tsarist cathedrals.

The sparkling cleanliness of Red Square is bordered by St. Basil's Cathedral, Lenin's tomb, the Kremlin itself and GUM, Moscow's unique department store. Nearby are the Bolshoi Theater and KGB headquarters. Museums, such as the Pushkin Museum and the Armory (home of the crown jewels) abound. Visits to these places cannot but help course participants understand more fully the heritage and workings of the country.

For a wider perspective, a tour of Moscow University, situated in the Lenin Hills, overlooks the older part of the city. The efficient, beautiful subway system whisks visitors quickly to such places as the All-Soviet Exhibit of Economic Achievements, the Olympic Stadium and the historically important Novodevichy Monastery, burial place of Khrushchev and other communist leaders. Of course there will be free time to stroll the streets, browsing, shopping, or simply drinking in the atmosphere of this intriguing city while gaining practical appreciation of what was formally studied earlier.

After a four-day sojourn the study-tour continues by overnight train to Kiev, capital of the Ukraine and the most ancient of all Russian cities where Christianity, still an important force in the culture and life of the people, first came to Russia 1000 years ago. There the group will see St. Sophia's Cathedral, Lavra Monastery, the Ukrainian Economic Exhibit and other important places in this city on the Dnieper River and gain another perspective on life in the Soviet Union. All-too-soon, though, the study-tour flies on to Leningrad, the "Venice of the North" where the Soviet system came into being 70 years ago.

The cost for this special study-tour is $1879, plus applicable tuition (approximately $170). This includes all transportation, all hotels and meals (except two), guided tours of the cities and all visa fees. For more information call or write Dr. Robert Berry, History (543-6248), Dr. Greg Cashman, Political Science (543-6247), or the Office of Continuing Education (543-6170) at Salisbury State College, Salisbury, MD 21801.

U.S.—China Relations Is Topic of Lecture

Morton J. Holbrook of the Office of the Legal Advisor, Department of State, presents a lecture entitled, "U.S.—China Relations: Past and Prospects," on Thursday, May 7, at 7:30 p.m. in Caruthers Hall Auditorium.

The lecture, part of the College's year-long cultural events series, "China: Tradition and Transformation," is sponsored by the Faculty Cultural Events Committee and the SSC Foundation, Inc. Like all programs in the series, the lecture is free and open to the public.

Holbrook earned his law degree from Columbia University Law School in 1984 and is currently involved in issues regarding diplomatic privileges and immunities of foreign diplomatic missions in the U.S. and of U.S. missions overseas.

His previous work as a country officer with the Office of Chinese Affairs involved overseeing the conduct of governmental relations between the U.S. and the People's Republic of China.

As a past political officer at the U.S. Embassy, Beijing, China, his responsibilities in China included reporting and analyzing domestic and foreign policy developments there.

As an economic officer at the U.S. Embassy in Taipei, Taiwan in 1977, Holbrook prepared reports on Taiwan's economy.

In addition to taking courses in Chinese and Japanese law and international law, Holbrook has taken Chinese language training in Taichung, Taiwan.

Bosserman, Students Attend Career Day

Dr. Phillip Bosserman, professor of Sociology, took a group of SSC Sociology majors to a Career Day in Sociology held at the University of Maryland, College Park, recently.

Additionally, he spoke at the Laurel, DE library on Studs Terkel's Working on March 17 as part of a Delaware Humanities Council, National Endowment for the Humanities series on great books.

He was also recently elected to the board of directors of the Research Committee on the Sociology of Leisure of the International Sociological Association for a four-year term.

The President's Commission on Americans Outdoors recently published a set of papers which included his paper on Work and Leisure Relationships: A Review of the Literature. The National Forest Service has requested a copy of this paper for its Assessment for Outdoor Recreation and Wilderness to be presented to the U.S. Congress and the President and to be used to help formulate policy and budgets.

Also, the Maryland State Commission on Human Relations recently appointed him to a special task force for the Eastern Shore.

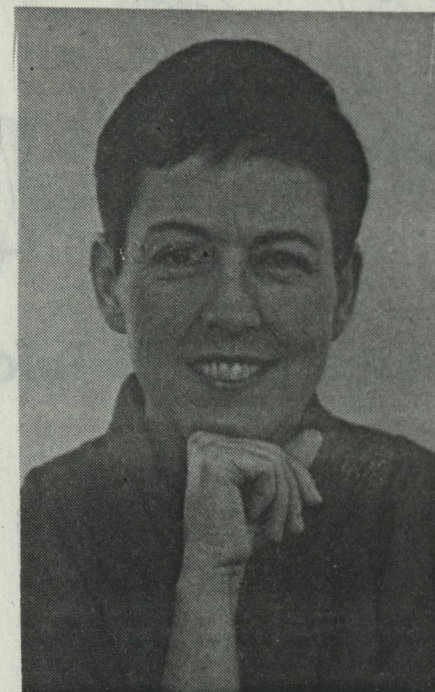

Whack 'n Hack

The third annual Whack 'n Hack golf and tennis outing for faculty and staff is on Monday, June 1, at Nassawango Country Club.

The golf tournament is once again a four-ball, best-ball scramble format. Report to the clubhouse no later than noon for scoring instructions and tee assignments. Tee off is 12:30 p.m. Prizes will be awarded for low team score (three low teams), long drive and closest to the pin.

Betty Crockett is handling arrangements for the tennis tournament and will contact all participants regarding scheduling.

The chicken and ribs dinner begins at 6 p.m. Bring a lawn chair. Costs are $20 for golf and dinner, $12 for tennis and dinner, and $10 for dinner only. The first 72 registrants receive a visor with the official Whack 'n Hack logo.

Sonia Johnson

Feminist Lecture

Sonia Johnson, who was excommunicated by the Mormon Church in 1979 for supporting the Equal Right Amendment, and who ran as the 1984 presidential candidate of the Citizens Party, speaks at the College on Thursday, May 14, in celebration of International Women's Day.

The lecture, sponsored by the SSC Program Board, is entitled "Feminism: The Centerpiece (sic) of the Puzzle." It begins at 7:30 p.m. in Caruthers Auditorium. Admission is free and the public is invited.

Johnson, who is the author of two books, From Housewife to Heretic (Doubleday, 1981) and the forthcoming Going Out of our Minds: The Metaphysics of Liberation (Crossing Press), will be available for a question and answer period following the lecture.

Johnson received her doctorate from Rutgers University in 1965, and for the next 15 years taught English and Education at universities in the United States and abroad. Catapulted overnight into national prominence after she was excommunicated, the Citizens Party chose her to be its presidential candidate in 1984. She made history in that campaign by being the first woman to run for president in this century and the first alternative candidate ever to receive primary matching funds from the federal government.

She has written for The Guardian, The Women's Review of Books, The Washington Post and USA Today. She also has appeared on "Donahue," "The Today Show," "Good Morning America" and "The Tomorrow Show." She lives in Arlington, VA.

A reception follows after her lecture. For further information, call 742-1729.

Facing the Work World

Lauder International is presenting a demonstration-workshop on Tuesday, May 12, at 4:30 p.m. in the Nanticoke Room of the College Center. The focus of this presentation will be skin care, facial grooming and make up for men and women as it applies to the daily work place.

Several participants will be selected as models for hands-on make overs. Everyone is invited to attend this free activity.

'Tartuffe' Opens May 8

Sophanes, the Salisbury State College drama club, presents Moliere's classical play, Tartuffe, as the final offering of the 1986-87 theatre season at the College. The play is directed by Dale Whitel, director of Children's Theatre at SSC.

According to Whitel, Tartuffe was chosen as the Sophanes production for several reasons. Tartuffe has a large cast, which gives many actors a chance to perform. Tartuffe also offers an opportunity to perform educational theatre. "Tartuffe is a fun show and we want to convey that to the audience... Our goal is to entertain," said Whitel.

Whitel said that he was also attracted to the challenge of presenting Tartuffe. "Motivating some of the actors to give 100 percent has proven to be demanding, according to Whitel. "The language is a big challenge," he said.

Whitel chose the 1963 translation by Richard Wilbur because it is "considered the best translation (of Tartuffe) for the stage." Moliere wrote the play in French couplets (a type of narrative poetry in which the last words of every two lines rhyme) and Wilbur was the first to translate Tartuffe without sacrificing either the couplets or the sense of the story.

Moliere wrote Tartuffe in 1663. His first tour attempts to present the play met with opposition from religious leaders who considered the play a satire on religion. Moliere intended the play to be a satire on religious hypocrisy. Only after changing the ending was the play permitted to be shown.

Tartuffe centers on the household of Orgon (played by Sean Thomas), a wealthy man with two grown children from his first marriage. His second wife, Elmire (played by Tracy Heath) is young, attractive and clever. Orgon, troubled by his lost youth, turns to religion for comfort.

At this point, Tartuffe (played by Jeff Patterson), a con man posing as a holy man, enters Orgon's life and his household. As the play progresses, Tartuffe attempts to seduce Orgon's wife and take over his estate. Eventually, the good king learns of Tartuffe's plot and has him arrested.

Other cast members include April Toadvine (Madame Pernelle), Kim Arthur (Filpote), Chris Cox (Damis), Tammy Brown (Mariane), Ned Alton (Valere), Darryl Dillard (Cleante), Susan Rogers (Dorine), Craig Pettinotti (Monsieur Loyal) and Cheryl Howard (Police Officer).

Dates for the show are May 8, 9, 14, 15, 16 at 8:00 p.m. and May 10 at 2:00 p.m. Tickets are $4, general admission; students, faculty and staff, with I.D., are free. For reservations call 543-6228.

Spring Formal

The Salisbury State Program Board invites all faculty and students to the Spring Formal, Saturday, May 9, beginning at 9 p.m.

The dance is being held at the Wicomico Youth and Civic Center. Tickets are available at the College Center information desk: $5/ single, $9/couple. Shuttle service will be provided, leaving from Maggs.

No alcoholic beverages will be permitted or sold at the event.

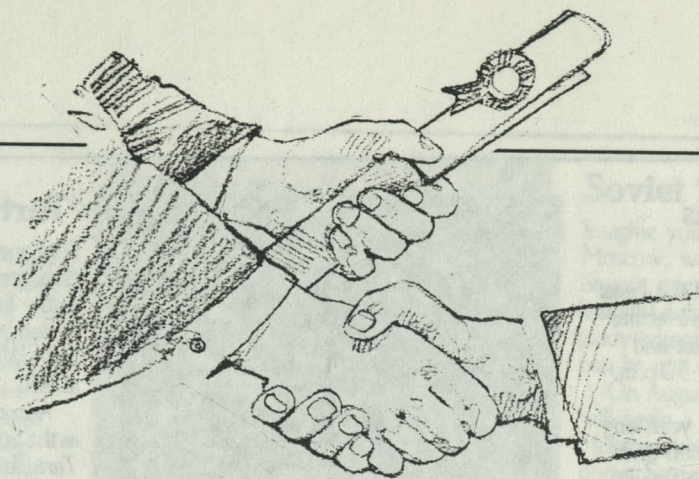

For more information call Lori Ann Kafer at the College Center, room 102, ext. 6197.

Pool Hours

Maggs Pool has added lap swim time and recreational swim time until the end of the semester.

Lap times are now Monday-Friday 6:30-7:55 a.m., noon-1 p.m. and Monday-Thursday 5-7:30 p.m.

Recreational swim time is Monday-Thursday, 7:30-9 p.m.

1987 Commencement Information

Please Read Carefully

1. Commencement will be held at 10 a.m., May 30, in the Wicomico County Youth and Civic Center. No tickets will be required, but it is suggested that graduates limit their number of guests to no more than eight. All graduates are requested to form for processional at 9 a.m. in the side corridors adjacent to the main arena on the first floor of the Civic Center.
2. The Commencement speaker will be Dr. Nelson P. Guild, interim executive director, Board of Trustees of Maryland State Universities and Colleges.
3. Caps, gowns, master's hoods, nursing pins and caps will be distributed through the College bookstore beginning April 27. These may be retained by the graduates and need not be returned following the ceremony. Announcements may be purchased in the bookstore, but quantities are limited and will be sold on a first come, first served basis. Problems with caps and gowns will be corrected prior to the ceremony by the bookstore employees at the Civic Center, in Flanders Room No. 1 near the snack bar to the left of the arena entrances. Bobby pins, etc., will also be available there. The bookstore will close at 2 p.m. on Friday, May 29. Graduates must pick up the necessary items before 2 p.m. on that date.
4. The faculty marshals will give each graduate a 3x5 card containing his/her name as it appears on the program. This is to be given to Dr. Nelson Butler when you reach the stage, so he will know who you are and how to announce your name before you start across the stage.
5. Degree candidates who do not plan to participate in the Commencement Exercise must notify the Registrar's Office by calling 543-6150 no later than Friday, May 22. All graduates will receive a blank folder at Commencement, and all diplomas will be mailed approximately four weeks after the ceremony.
6. Faculty and staff are requested to form the processional at 9:15 a.m. in the Midway Room of the Civic Center. Faculty members are required to attend; those who are unable to do so should so inform their respective dean.
7. The first aid staff of the Civic Center will be on duty in the office on the right side of the foyer entrance just outside the main arena.
8. A brief reception for graduates and their guests will be held immediately following Commencement in the Midway Room of the Civic Center.
9. The ROTC Commissioning Ceremony will take place at 2 p.m. in the Ruth Powell Dining Hall. The College community is cordially invited to attend.
10. The School of Nursing will hold a Pinning Ceremony on Friday, May 29 at 7 p.m. in Holloway Hall Auditorium.
11. Bachelor of Science candidates will assemble in the north corridor of the Civic Center (to the left when entering from the front doors and on the side nearest the Mall). Candidates with last names beginning with the

18. Dress Code

This is a formal academic occasion and should be viewed as such in dress and demeanor.

The academic robe is black and the recommended dress, therefore, is:

A. Women

1. Black dress shoes (or some other dark color) - no white or other light color.
2. Dress hose.
3. A dress which does not have a high neckline or stand-up collar. It should not show above the V-neckline and white collar on the robe.
4. No visible jewelry.
5. No flowers on the academic robe.

B. Men

1. Black dress shoes (or some dark color) - no sneakers or light color sport shoes with thick rubber soles.
2. Dark color socks - no white athletic socks.
3. Dress slacks, preferably a dark or neutral color.
4. Dress shirt, preferably white, or a light color.
5. Dress tie (four-in-hand tie with Windsor knot). (Shirt collar and tie will show above the V-neckline of the academic robe.)
6. Suit coat or sport coat will not be seen under the robe and is, therefore, optional (the Civic Center is air-conditioned).
7. No visible jewelry.

C. Both

1. The mortarboard (academic hat) is to be worn with the front point over the forehead below the front hairline, and so the flat board is parallel to the floor. (Not worn on the back of the head with the board pointing upward.) No decoration of any kind is to be placed on the mortarboard.

2. Candidates for the bachelor's degree should come into the auditorium with the tassel on the right, hanging near the right eye. After the degrees are conferred the tassel is shifted to the left side. The signal for shifting the tassel will be given by the President and Vice-President for Academic Affairs when they touch their mortarboards.

3. Candidates for the master's degree should place the tassel at the left front of the mortarboard prior to entering the auditorium and should not shift it.

4. Master's degree candidates will wear the robe, but will carry the hood over the left arm until they reach the stage, where it will be placed on the candidate.

Lifeguarding Course

Thomas Werts, from the national office of the American Red Cross in Washington, D.C., is teaching a special lifeguarding course the weekend of May 8.

The Red Cross is developing "a whole new series of water safety courses," Rosie Barretta, SSC aquatic director, said. "Lifeguarding the most difficult. As far as I know, it's the first time this course has been offered on the Eastern Shore. Barretta is teaching the three-day course, Friday-Sunday, May 8-10, with Werts. She expects it eventually will be required by law in many states for general lifeguarding certification.

Werts is head of the Instructional and Educational Division for Water Safety for the national Red Cross.

All interested in taking lifeguarding must be certified in Advanced lifeguarding, CPR and first aid. The cost is $30, which covers course fee, text and registration. Call the SSC Office of Graduate and Continuing Education at 543-6170, located in Holloway Hall for information. Registration information is needed by May 7.

Women's Tennis Closes Season With Victory

The SSC women's tennis team defeated UMES 9-0 last Wednesday afternoon in Salisbury to end the 1987 season. Debbie Diedrick, Betsy Sprinkle, Kim Ford, Kelly Pfeiffer, Stacey Sims and Lisa Balliet each captured wins in the singles matches while Kristen Saponaro and Balliet, Simms and Diedrick and Ford and Sprinkle were winners in the doubles matches. Diedrick led the team with five wins in seven matches on the season while Pfeiffer had four wins. Led by first year head coach Helen McFarlin, SSC finished the season with a record of 3-4.

Men's Tennis Team Has Best Season Ever

By winning its last two matches of the season last week, the SSC men's tennis team finished the year with a 13-1 mark—the best record ever in the sport's history at Salisbury. SSC defeated St. Mary's 9-0 and Glassboro State 6-3 last week. Brian Ruppel and David Gardner finished the season with 12 wins each in doubles play to lead the team while Peter Hall added 11 wins and Mark Buzzell had nine. Tom Porter and Hall teamed to share the honor for the most doubles wins (seven) with Gardner and Mike Horvath. Salisbury State hosts the NCAA Division III National Tennis Tournament beginning May 11 and running through May 17. Eight of the top teams in the country will visit Salisbury along with 64 of the top players.

Plunkert, Hatlee Head SSC Track Team

Krah Plunkert and Kim Hatlee led the men's and women's track team this past weekend at Mt. St. Mary's in the Mason-Dixon Conference meet. Plunkert placed fifth in the 800-meter run in a personal best of 1:56.9. Hatlee set a school record in the 200-meter run, 26.6 seconds. She also ran the 400-meter run in 59.7 seconds.

Berquist Set Men's Lacrosse Mark

Tim Berquist, a junior from Towson, set a new SSC single game mark of eight assists on Saturday as the men's lacrosse team defeated Lynchburg 20-6 at Sea Gull Stadium. Berquist, who finished the season with 48 assists, broke Jeff Douglass' mark of seven assists in a game. Douglass accomplished the feat in 1974 against Western Maryland. Leading the Gulls in goal scoring against Lynchburg was Jim Sturgell and Mike Provenzano with four goals each. Greg Pasko added three goals for Salisbury, which ends the season with a 10-6 mark. Sturgell, a senior from Deale, led the Gulls in scoring with 42 goals.

Baseball Teams Wins DH Over Frostburg

Ricky Collett, a junior from Glen Burnie, pitched a three-hitter in the opener and Russ Smith, a sophomore from Westminster, rapped a two-run single in the second game to lead SSC, 16-9, to a double-header win over visiting Frostburg State 4-0 and 12-11. Collett, 3-1, struck out three batters and got some hitting help from Chris Manouse and Jeff Stokes, each with scoring doubles. In the second game, SSC trailed 10-6 going into the sixth but came up with six runs in that inning to take a 12-10 lead. Smith delivered the big blow with the two-run single to put the Gulls on top. Greg Hook had three hits in the second game while Devin Warwick, Randy Collett and Stokes each added two hits. Earlier in the week, SSC's eight-game winning streak came to a halt as Glassboro State defeated the Gulls 16-3 and Christopher Newport upended the Gulls 8-6. Head coach Deane Deshon now has 390 career victories in 24 years at the Sea Gull helm.

Women's Softball Team Gets NCAA Bid

The women's softball team was selected Monday morning as one of 16 participants in the 1987 NCAA Division III national women's softball tournament. The Sea Gulls, 19-9, play number one seed Trenton State, 40-3, at Trenton, NJ this weekend in a best two-of-three series. Trenton defeated the Gulls twice early this season by scores of 3-1 and 11-0. Salisbury was 3-2 last week at it defeated Washington College 12-2 and the University of Southern Maine 2-1 and 6-2. The nation's third-ranked team, Eastern Connecticut State University, blanked SSC twice by scores of 2-0 and 4-0. Senior Dawn Taylor paces the Gulls with a 9-3 pitching record while sophomore Terri Sharpless has a 6-3 mark. Karen Sipple and Terri Timmons are both hitting around the .400 mark for head coach Dawn McCrumb, who has a 55-25 record in three seasons at SSC. SSC plays Trenton at 4 p.m. on Friday; the second game is Saturday at noon. The third game, if necessary, will follow the second game on Saturday.

Sports Editor Needed

The Campus Recreation Department needs an editor for the Intramural Notebook. The Notebook gives bi-weekly updates of intramural sports teams and SSC sports clubs. Pay for the position is $400 per semester.

No experience is required. For more information, call Terry Estep or Marlene Maloney in the Campus Recreation Office at 543-6350.

Outdoor Club Meeting

The Outdoor Club will be holding its weekly meeting in Tawes 118 at 6:30 p.m. on Tuesday, May 12th. Club meetings include discussions on upcoming trips, and speakers on a variety of subjects. This week's meeting will include a discussion of the upcoming canoeing trip on the Pocomoke River on the weekend of May 15th. Everyone is invited to attend.

Maurer Named Pizza Hut All-American

Bill Maurer, a junior from California, was recently named a Pizza Hut football all-American. Maurer was third in the nation in punting with a 41.4 yards per game punting average and continually put the opposing team in poor field position with his booming kicks. He had 15 punts inside the 20-yard line in 56 tries. Maurer also scored 82 points (second on the team), kicking nine of 13 field goals and 55 of 60 extra points. He ended the season with 32 consecutive PATs—an SSC school record. Maurer was named to the Pizza Hut second team as a punter and was also an Honorable Mention all-American earlier this season on The Football News team.

Women's Lacrosse Team Ends Season With Two Wins

The SSC women's lacrosse team defeated Frostburg State and Sweet Briar by identical 8-6 scores over the weekend at Frostburg. The two wins give the Gulls an 8-3 record for the year. Stacy Stem, an all-American for the Gulls, finished her career with 63 goals and a school record 40 assists for a total of 103 points, second to Kathy Fegan's all-time total of 107. Sue Seling led SSC in the win over Frostburg with four goals while Stem added three.

Art Department Sponsors Raffle for Scholarship Fund

The Art Department is sponsoring a raffle of Eastern Shore art. Hundreds of dollars worth of original work by local artists have been donated. Proceeds for the raffle will go to the SSC Art Department scholarship fund.

Works are donated by Grover Cantwell, Beth Fusaro and Ron Lambert. The first prize is a 27 1/4 x 22 1/2 inch framed print titled "Southward Bound" by Cantwell, with framing by The Gallery, Court Plaza.

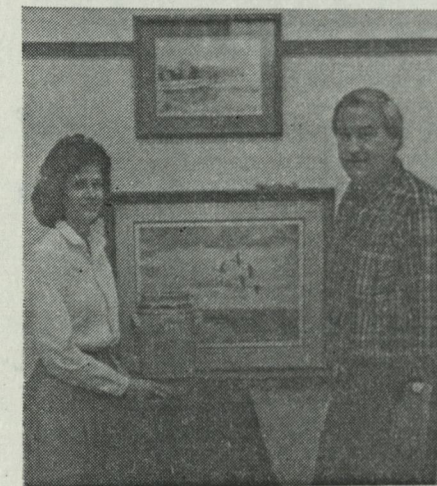

Cantwell is a native of Maryland's Eastern Shore, who resides in Salisbury and is proprietor of The Gallery. In 1986 he won the Maryland State Ducks Unlimited Sponsor Artist contest with a watercolor titled "Eastern Shore Delight" a typical setting of a lighthouse and Canada Geese on the Chesapeake Bay.

Currently he is chairman of the Wicomico County Chapter of Ducks Unlimited and supporting member of the other lower Shore chapters; vice president of the Salisbury Wicomico Arts Council; Firemen's Historical Foundation of Delmarva; board member of the Ward Foundation, Art Institute and Gallery; and active member of the Ocean City Art League and Rehoboth Art League. He has exhibited widely in Maryland, Virginia, Delaware and Pennsylvania winning several awards.

"The Eastern Shore has given me a great opportunity to study first hand the abundance of wildfowl and their natural surroundings," he said.

Second prize is from potter Beth Fusaro of Salisbury who has contributed a large crockery piece in an early American style, titled "Salisbury, MD 1987."

Mrs. Fusaro received a Bachelor of Arts in Spanish and French at the University of South Florida, a Bachelor of Arts in Liberal Arts/Ceramics at SSC, a teaching certificate from Kokusai Ikebana Gakuin, Tokoyo and has participated in numerous post graduate courses in ceramics, Spanish and English. She has attended numerous workshops in clay under nationally and internationally known ceramics such as David Leach (son of the legendary Bernard Leach) and Toshiko. She has exhibited widely in numerous one and two person shows on the Eastern Shore and has received a number of awards for her excellence in the pottery craft.

Living in Taiwan in the early 1970s, Mrs. Fusaro's long-time interest in ceramics was rekindled. This "Oriental" influence (simplicity and beauty) is reflected in the Eastern Shore flavor of her pottery.

Mrs. Fusaro said, "To have something beautiful, well designed and functional is what I strive for. The pieces I created reflect my interest in the quietness of nature and the uncluttered simple life." Her works may be found at The Gallery, Court Plaza and Salisbury Art and Framing.

Third prize is from Ron Lambert who has contributed an original framed Eastern Shore watercolor landscape. Lambert received his Bachelor of Arts degree in Art from SSC in 1986. He has exhibited locally since 1984 and has received numerous awards in art and campus life. Lambert was invaluable to the SSC Art Department as the president of Phi Kappa Art fraternity. He is an artist in the purest sense.

His work reflects the crispness and beauty of the Eastern Shore. The original piece donated is one of a series and will not be duplicated. This prize is particularly important due to the fact that Lambert was one of the original founders of the Art Department Scholarship Fund in 1984. The frame for the painting has been donated by Salisbury Art and Framing.

In addition, there will be a "Mystery Piece" for fourth prize.

Artists are currently displaying their work at The Gallery and Salisbury Art and Framing. The display of prizes may be seen at The Gallery, Court Plaza.

Donations for tickets are $1 and may be purchased in Salisbury at the following locations: Art Express, Art Institute and Gallery, City Florist, Dam Yarn Shoppe, Frames Etc., Frame Factory, The Gallery, Salisbury Art and Framing, SSC Art Department and Salisbury Wicomico Art Council.

The drawing will be held at the SSC Art Department on May 21 at 3:30 p.m.

For further information contact the Art Department at SSC, 543-6270 or 543-6273.

Salisbury Symphony Here May 22

The Salisbury Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Dr. Thomas G. Elliot presents its second annual spring concert on Friday, May 22, in Holloway Hall.

The orchestra was founded in January 1986, and is comprised of 57 musicians from all over the Eastern Shore, Annapolis, Baltimore and lower Delaware.

The spring concert includes works by Mozart, Pachelbel, Glazounov and Arslanian. Featured pianist, Linda Cockey, performs the Concerto for Piano and Orchestra in A minor by Edvard Grieg. Ms. Cockey is a faculty member in the SSC Department of Music.

Tickets for the concert are $5.00 for general admission and may be purchased at the Salisbury State College Center, the Salisbury Wicomico Arts Council Office in the Civic Center, or at the door.

The concert begins at 8:00 p.m.

Bank Underwrites WSCL

WSCL-FM, Delmarva's first full service classical music and news station, has received enthusiastic corporate support even before broadcasting begins at the end of May. Peninsula Bank has announced a program underwriting grant to be awarded to the new station, which can be heard at 89.5 FM.

Peninsula Bank, a regional banking institution, has agreed to provide $5,000 to fund some of the production costs of week-day evening broadcasts of "All Things Considered." This award winning nightly news and public affairs magazine was first aired on May 3, 1971 by National Public Radio. It is broadcast live via satellite from 5 p.m. to 5:30 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Co-hosts of "All Things Considered" are Renee Montagne and Robert Siegel. The program features newscasts on the half-hour, business and economic reports, profiles and interviews with news makers, science and health reports, human interest and arts features, and book, music, film and theatre reviews.

"All Things Considered" relies on NPR reporters in the Los Angeles, Washington, D.C., New York and Chicago bureaus as well as producers for national and regional stories. Daily reports from the BBC, coordinated through NPR's London editorial office and a worldwide network of free-lance reporters, provide in-depth and up-to-the-minute coverage of foreign affairs.

The program also features regular analysis and commentary on a variety of topics from contributors such as Daniel Shorr; political commentator Cal Thomas; poet and editor Andrei Codrescu; and storyteller Kathryn

Blue Light Phones

Blue light phones have been installed at various locations on campus for your use. The number for Public Safety is ext. 6222. These phones are particularly useful to call for assistance, including stalled vehicles, escorts or any emergency.

Get to know the locations of these phones so you can take advantage of their convenience when you need one. The locations are: running track near St. Martin Hall; temporary parking lot, on the wall of Holloway Hall Annex; Caruthers Hall next to the parking lot; Devilbiss lot near Devilbiss Hall; and Dogwood Village.

Personal Safety Tips

These personal safety tips apply when on campus as well as in the Salisbury area or wherever you reside. The precautions may lessen the likelihood of becoming a victim. Increasing our awareness of crime prevention techniques may decrease the opportunity for a person to commit a criminal offense.

1. You are your own best protection.
2. Keep your door locked at all times. Don't unlock the door for strangers. Keep your first floor windows locked.
3. Walk in well-lit areas and stay near the curb, away from alleys, entry ways and bushes where someone could be hiding.
4. Do not walk or jog alone after dark.
5. Avoid short cuts. Walk where there are other people present.
6. Do not hitchhike or accept rides from strangers. If a driver asks you for directions, stay far enough away so that you cannot be pulled into the car. Do not pick up strangers.
7. If you are being followed when walking, change direction, cross the street and vary your speed. Go to a well-lit area or a place where there are other people. If followed by someone in a car, turn and walk in the other direction. Record the license number.
8. Park in a well-lit area and lock car doors.
9. If you need an escort to or from your car, call the Department of Public Safety, ext. 6222.
10. Report any suspicious activity or crimes to the Public Safety Office.

Applications may be obtained from the Office of Academic Affairs, the Dean of Students Office, the Housing Office, Residence Life area directors and the information desk in the College Center.

Voice II Recitals

The Music Department presents students of Voice Class II in recitals on Monday, May 18, and Wednesday, May 20, in the Musical Arts Center at 8 p.m.

Accompanists are Judy Gray and Mrs. Norma Heyde. The programs consist of German Lieder, Art songs from different musical periods and Broadway musical excerpts.

Collegium Performs

The Salisbury State College Collegium will be presented in performance on Friday, May 15, at 8 p.m. in Caruthers Auditorium. The Collegium, under the direction of Dr. Nancy Cooper, is a select group of 12 singers who perform music written prior to 1750.

The program includes music of the English Renaissance and German Baroque periods and revolves around the Lent and Easter season. Motets by Farrant, Byrd and Tallis will be presented a cappella, and the featured work, Johann Sebastian Bach's Cantata #4, "Christ Lay in the Bonds of Death," will be performed with a small string ensemble. The four-member group is made up of members of the Salisbury Symphony Orchestra.

The SSC Collegium is in its third semester and has performed throughout the Salisbury areas at such events as the Pemberton Hall Colonial Fair and the Salisbury Festival. Membership in the group is by audition only, which allows the ensemble to maintain a high level of musicianship.

The concert is free and open to the general public.

3 at 'Happy Times'

Three Salisbury State College faculty members recently spoke to the "Happy Times" at the Wicomico Youth and Civic Center in Salisbury. Dr. Andrew Hepburn, Communication Arts professor, addressed the group on April 20. The topic of his presentation was "Masks in Theatre." On April 27, Dr. Leo Engler, English professor, spoke on the dialects of the Eastern Shore; and on May 4, Dr. Thomas Elliot, chairman of the Music Department, presented Judy Gray, the department accompanist, playing Chopin.

Hepburn, Engler and Elliot are part of the Salisbury State College Speaker's Bureau. The Speaker's Bureau offers area organizations several speakers discussing a variety of subjects. There is no charge for the service.

Any civic, service or educational organization desiring a speaker should contact the SSC Public Relations Office at 543-6030.

Bosserman to Present Paper

Dr. Phillip Bosserman, professor of Sociology, has just received an invitation to attend and present a paper at a conference organized by the National Centre for Culture and the Society for the Dissemination of Scientific Knowledge of Hungary. The subject of the conference is "The Impact of Modernization of Life Style and Culture in Free Time." The sessions will be held at Salgotarjan, June 9 to 12.

The paper's title is "Free Time and Lifestyle Expressions of the Age Cohort Born 1944 to 1964." During his stay in Hungary he will be the guest of the Research Institute for Culture of the Hungarian Academy of Sciences.

Concert Choir Performs Sunday

The College Concert Choir presents a varied program of solo and choral music on Sunday, May 17, at 8 p.m. in Holloway Hall Auditorium. Dr. Ray Zeigler, associate professor of Music, is the choir's director. The concert is free.

Early music includes music by a motet by Palestrina and Handel's "O Lord, We Put Our Trust In Thee." Kari Andrew sings Il Mio Belforo by Benedetto Marcello. The concert continues with music in the 19th century Romantic style with Dvorak's "Many a Song," Clement's "Flower of Beauty" and Hugo Wolf's "Verborgtheit" with Douglas Naarup, baritone soloist.

Folk tunes from England, Scotland and the United States include "Come, Gracious Spirit," "Shenandoah" and Vaughan Williams's arrangement of "The Dark-Eyed Sailor." These are followed by one of America's unique contributions to music, the spiritual. "I'm Goin' to Sing" and "There Is a Balm in Gilead" represent two favorites which are followed by William Martin's complex arrangement of "Great Day." Lawrence Purnell, David Cherry and Laura Schmidt are featured soloists.

Kemner's "Ezekiel" is a featured part of the program. The work consists of an introduction and seven parables from the Book of Ezekiel. The parables are from those the prophet used to warn the people of Israel of impending disasters should they not return to the Lord. The accompaniment consists of an electronically synthesized tape in a quasi-jazz style.

The concert closes with "No One's Perfect," a parody on choral singing by Rodby with Randy Ashcraft and Laura Schmidt as soloists.

Heidler Presents Paper

Dr. David S. Heidler, assistant professor in the Department of History, presented a paper before the fifth Citadel Conference on the South in Charleston, SC, on April 9. The conference, hosted by The Citadel, The Military College of Charleston, was attended by scholars in Southern history from 28 states and from three foreign countries.

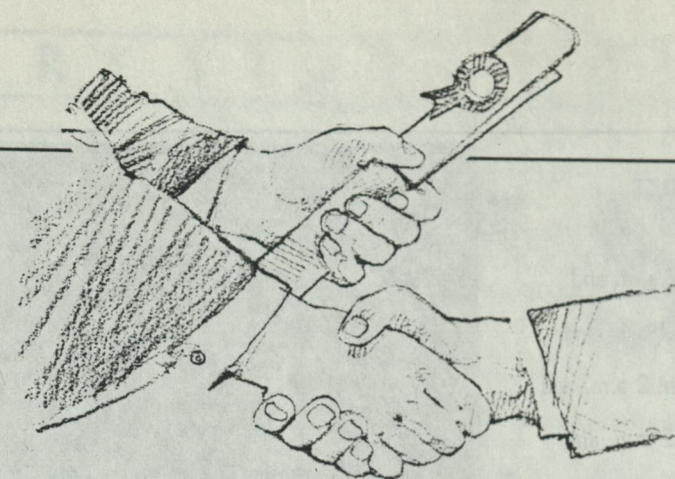

Dr. Heidler's paper, entitled "The Imperfect Union: Antebellum Southern Perceptions of the United States Constitution," examined the question of why the Confederate States of America adopted in 1861 essentially the United States Constitution as its instrument of government.

Dr. Heidler will teach a two-semester sequence in American constitutional history in the 1987-88 academic year.

Regional Conference For Foster Parents Held

On Saturday, May 2, an all day regional conference for foster parents and foster care staff was held at the College. The conference, attended by 100 participants, was jointly sponsored by the State Social Service Administration, the Social Work Department at Kennedy Institute for Handicapped Children and the Salisbury State Social Work Department.

The keynote address was presented by Frank Blanton, acting executive director of the Social Services Administration. Participants attended workshops before and after the luncheon where awards were given to foster parents with years of serving needy children. One of the popular workshops on "Foster Parenting Sexually Abused Children" was presented by Dr. Mary Ellen Elwell, associate professor, SSC.

1987 Commencement Information

Please Read Carefully

1. Commencement will be held at 10 a.m., May 30, in the Wicomico County Youth and Civic Center. No tickets will be required, but it is suggested that graduates limit their number of guests to no more than eight. All graduates are requested to form for processional at 9 a.m. in the side corridors adjacent to the main arena on the first floor of the Civic Center.

2. The Commencement speaker will be Dr. Nelson P. Guild, interim executive director, Board of Trustees of Maryland State Universities and Colleges.

3. Caps, gowns, master's hoods, nursing pins and caps will be distributed through the College bookstore beginning April 27. These may be retained by the graduates and need not be returned following the ceremony. Announcements may be purchased in the bookstore, but quantities are limited and will be sold on a first come, first served basis. Problems with caps and gowns will be corrected prior to the ceremony by the bookstore employees at the Civic Center, in Flanders Room No. 1 near the snack bar to the left of the arena entrances. Bobby pins, etc., will also be available there. The bookstore will close at 2 p.m. on Friday, May 29. Graduates must pick up the necessary items before 2 p.m. on that date.

4. The faculty marshals will give each graduate a 3x5 card containing his/her name as it appears on the program. This is to be given to Dr. Nelson Butler when you reach the stage, so he will know who you are and how to announce your name before you start across the stage.

5. Degree candidates who do not plan to participate in the Commencement Exercise must notify the Registrar's Office by calling 543-6150 no later than Friday, May 22. All graduates will receive a blank folder at Commencement, and all diplomas will be mailed approximately four weeks after the ceremony.

6. Faculty and staff are requested to form the processional at 9:15 a.m. in the Midway Room of the Civic Center. Faculty members are required to attend; those who are unable to do so should so inform their respective dean.

7. The first aid staff of the Civic Center will be on duty in the office on the right side of the foyer entrance just outside the main arena.

8. A brief reception for graduates and their guests will be held immediately following Commencement in the Midway Room of the Civic Center.

18. Dress Code

This is a formal academic occasion and should be viewed as such in dress and demeanor.

The academic robe is black and the recommended dress, therefore, is:

A. Women

1. Black dress shoes (or some other dark color) - no white or other light color.

2. Dress hose.

3. A dress which does not have a high neckline or stand-up collar. It should not show above the V-neckline and white collar on the robe.

4. No visible jewelry.

5. No flowers on the academic robe.

B. Men

1. Black dress shoes (or some dark color) - no sneakers or light color sport shoes with thick rubber soles.

2. Dark color socks - no white athletic socks.

3. Dress slacks, preferably a dark or neutral color.

4. Dress shirt, preferably white, or a light color.

5. Dress tie (four-in-hand tie with windsor knot). (Shirt collar and tie will show above the V-neckline of the academic robe.)

6. Suit coat or sport coat will not be seen under the robe and is, therefore, optional (the Civic Center is air-conditioned).

7. No visible jewelry.

C. Both

1. The mortarboard (academic hat) is to be worn with the front point over the forehead below the front hairline, and so the flat board is parallel to the floor. (Not worn on the back of the head with the board pointing upward.) No decoration of any kind is to be placed on the mortarboard.

2. Candidates for the bachelor's degree should come into the auditorium with the tassel on the right, hanging near the right eye. After the degrees are conferred the tassel is shifted to the left side. The signal for shifting the tassel will be given by the President and Vice-President for Academic Affairs when they touch their mortarboards.

3. Candidates for the master's degree should place the tassel at the left front of the mortarboard prior to entering the auditorium and should not shift it.

4. Master's degree candidates will wear the robe, but will carry the hood over the left arm until they reach the stage, where it will be placed on the candidate.

Lacrosse Winners Named

Jim Sturgell, Alan Abe and Steve Kline were honored for their contributions to the men's lacrosse team as announced by head coach Joe Rotellini.

Sturgell, a senior co-captain from Deale, was named the team's most valuable player for the past season. He led the team with 42 goals and 74 points and was second on the squad with 32 assists. His leadership during the 10-6 season was an inspiration to his teammates.

Abe, a senior from Severna Park, was awarded the Charles B. Clark award, an honor which goes to the best all-around player. Abe had six goals and five assists as a midfielder during the year.

The unsung hero award went to Steve Kline, a senior from Fallston. Kline played midfield for the Sea Gulls and scored three goals. His excellence stickwork helped the team to many of its 10 wins.

Women's Softball
Beaten in NCAA Division III Tournament

The women's softball team lost both of its games in the 1987 NCAA Division III National Tournament last weekend as host Trenton State defeated the Sea Gulls 2-0 and 11-1. SSC lost the opening game on Friday by the two-run margin despite a one-hitter by Terri Sharpless. Trenton scored the first run via a walk and an error and the second by a single, a walk and a thwarted run-down situation. SSC outhit the Lady Lions three to one in the contest. The second game of the best two-of-three series was all Trenton past the fourth inning. With the score tied at 1-1 in the bottom of the fourth, Trenton scored three runs to take a 4-1 lead. The Lions added one run in the fifth and broke the game open with six runs in the sixth. Terri Timmons tripled and scored on Debe Clark's single for SSC's only run. The Sea Gulls finish the year with a 19-11 record. Trenton, ranked number one in the nation with a 42-3 mark, travels to Willimantic, CT for the six-team finals.

Baseball Team
Wins ESAC Title

The baseball team won the Eastern States Athletic Conference title on Thursday as it defeated Spring Garden College 6-3 in Philadelphia. Salisbury, winner of the South Division with a 3-0 mark, got good pitching from Ricky Collett and a solid hitting attack led by Bruce Matthews (3-3 with one RBI). After winning the ESAC title, the Sea Gulls closed the 1987 season by splitting a twinbill at York College. York won the first game 11-6 but SSC came back to win the nightcap 11-4. Kevin Smith went all the way on the mound for Salisbury in the second game while Greg Hook rapped a three-run homer. Devin Warwick, a senior playing in his final game at SSC, went 4-5 while Matthews had three RBIs with two hits and Russ Reeling had two RBIs with two triples. Salisbury ended the season with an 18-10 record.

The Institute of Retired Persons recently donated money for computer equipment and software to Salisbury State College. Shown from left are: Ed Vickers, director of the SSC Conference Planning Office; Dr. Darrell Hager, dean of Graduate Studies and Continuing Education at SSC, receiving a check for $4,000 to purchase the equipment; Jack Lynn, president of IRP; and Robert Sterling, member of both IRP and the SSC Foundation Inc.

Faculty Celebrates 'Legworks'

Three members of the College faculty are participating in a fine arts celebration this Saturday evening, May 16, at the Berlin Art Work Gallery.

Dance Company director Kathryn Martin will perform a solo work, while John Wenke and Jeffrey Skinner of the English Department read from their own writing in "Legworks," an evening of short works, said Dana Orth, Gallery owner and curator.

They are celebrating the opening of an exhibit by Ithaca, NY, artist Laurel Hecht. In her exhibit Hecht also has included a video performance piece with performers from the Mischief Mime Company of Ithaca.

"The night promises many surprises," Orth said, with live music, and refreshments. The opening is scheduled from 7:30-11 p.m. with performances beginning between 8 and 9 p.m. A donation of $2 is requested. Art Works Studio is located on the corner of Jefferson and Main Streets in Berlin. Call 641-0100 for further information.

Baker on Board

Edgar Baker, a 1971 graduate, was recently named to the SSC Alumni Association's Board of Directors.

Baker is a lawyer for Seidel and Baker in Salisbury. He is currently president of the Board of Trustees of the Wicomico County Free Library, secretary of the Salvation Army Advisory Board of Directors and member and past master of the Wicomico Lodge 91.

A.F. and A.M.

"I appreciate the honor of being named to the Board of Directors of the Alumni Association," said Baker. "I look forward to assisting and working with the other board members."

Appointed by the Executive Committee, Baker's term on the Board of Directors will run through 1989.

Temu With 7th Graders

Caroline Temu, an international student from Tanzania, East Africa attending SSC, addressed the seventh grade geography students at the Snow Hill Middle School on May 5 and 7. The topic of her presentation was a comparison of school systems and lifestyles of students middle school age in Tanzania and the U.S.

Temu is a junior majoring in Chemistry at SSC. Her father works for the United Nations in New York City.

Temu was a guest speaker for the Salisbury State's Speaker Bureau. The Speaker's Bureau offers areas organizations several speakers discussing a variety of subjects. There is no charge for the service.

Distinguished Faculty Awards Announced

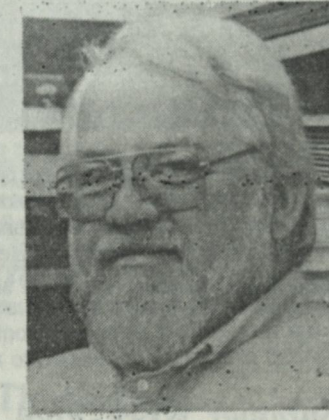

Dr. Jerome A. Miller

Dr. G. Raymond Thompson

Karen Weaver

James M. Welsh

Dr. Jerome A. Miller, Dr. G. Raymond Thompson, Karen Weaver and James Welsh have been named the recipients of the 1987 Distinguished Faculty Awards by the Faculty Welfare Committee.

"These awards demonstrate these faculty members' outstanding ability to teach plus their significant accomplishments in community service and scholarly endeavor," said Dr. Phillip Bosserman, chairman of the Faculty Welfare Committee.

Undoubtedly an important reason for recognizing Jerry Miller, a professor of Philosophy, was his prize winning essay, "The Way of Suffering: A Reasoning of the Heart." Miller was awarded $5,000 for his essay which was in competition with over 150 others which came from scholars in North America, England, and Australia. "Even more important," noted a colleague, "this brilliant essay is so accessible to the ordinary layman," the mark of a scholar whose primary mission is teaching. The essay developed out of his courses at the College. "Jerry has long held the reputation as one of the finest teachers on this campus," said Bosserman. "His sections of Philosophy are always crowded and student evaluations are uniformly praiseworthy."

In addition to the scholarly achievement of the prizewinning essay were his contributions to the respected periodical, Modern Age and the acceptance by Georgetown University Press of his manuscript, The Geography of Crisis, to be published in the near future.

In community service, Miller served as advisor to the Philosophical Society, organized the Spring 1986 Symposium on "The Crisis of Meaning in the Modern Age," and is a member of the Forum Curriculum Committee. He participates in a faculty discussion group which considers classic works such as Hegel and Marx, and those of contemporary thinkers like Sullivan and Bellah.

G. Ray Thompson, professor of History, is "absolutely outstanding," according to the evaluation of his chair and his students. He has been able to receive these accolades when he regularly has 400 enrolled in his classes each academic year.

"He is a tireless advisor of students," said Bosserman, "regularly taking them and others on bus trips to the Metropolitan Museum, the National Gallery in Washington and elsewhere. His work on the Delmarva Historical Archives Center is helping turn that facility into what will eventually be to the credit of Salisbury State College."

"His truly exemplary service on committees of the College Forum such as Space Utilization, Honors Convocation and Cultural Affairs—the latter planned the extensive Year of China—merits special attention," continued Bosserman. He is the co-advisor to the History honor society and has served the History Club.

"Within the wider community," said Bosserman, "he seems to draw upon a well-spring of limitless energy enabling him to sit on the Delmarva Advisory Council, the Administrative Board of the Asbury United Methodist Church, the Workshop for Long Range Planning for the College at the Pasadena Conference, and numerous other civic, school and church activities."

Karen Weaver, an assistant professor of Physical Education, accomplished something that no other member of the faculty has ever accomplished—the national NCAA Division III field hockey championship.

"This may seem reason enough to honor Karen Weaver with a Distinguished Faculty award," said Bosserman, "however, other qualities make her especially deserving."

Weaver propounds the academic philosophy consistent with Division III athletics.

"Student-athletes on her teams," said one of her players, "learn that they are students first and athletes second. They also learn that they are responsible for ownership of their academic lives. The effect of this is that every hockey player always does her work carefully, conscientiously and on time."

"At Saturday Open Houses," one administrator noted, "I have observed Karen speaking with prospective students who are interested in field hockey. She invariably underscores the academic side of college life, stressing that student-athletes who 'just want to get by' academically will not be welcome on her team."

"It seems to me" the administrator continued, "that this sort of up-front stating of values is an extremely important part of Karen's success as a coach. The student-athletes know from the start that they are expected to work as hard being students as they work being athletes. This attitude may actually have been a motivating factor in their brilliant successes on the playing field this year and in previous years."

James M. Welsh, an associate professor of English, is a scholar-teacher who epitomizes the liberal arts professor. "His student evaluations," wrote Dr. William Zak, chair of the English department, "are the most flattering reviews of his teaching I have seen since I've been in the chair."

His service to the College has been outstanding: two well-organized trips to England for study abroad, serving both College and community people; over a half-dozen arts interviews on camera for WBOC, featuring SSC faculty in arts productions on campus; the organization, promotion and operation of the International Film Series; and work on the College Promotions Committee and the Curriculum Committee within the department.

His record of professional activities and publication is prodigious. He continues to edit the Literature/Film Quarterly—more often than not single-handedly. He published over a dozen short pieces on film in various journals; and his bibliographic study of the cinema of Peter Watkins, published by G. K. Hall, appeared in September.

He also reviewed an introductory textbook of cinema studies for Holt, Rinehart, and Winston. A column, "Periodically Yours," Welsh originated in 1978 for American Classic Screen magazine, was picked up in 1986 by Filmviews Quarterly, published in Melbourne, Australia, by the Australian Council of Film Societies. All of which makes him the only international columnist on campus.

Psychology Opening

Chemistry Students Graduate School Bound

Four senior Chemistry majors will be entering graduate programs in the fall.

Three of the students will be entering the Chemistry graduate program at the University of Delaware and have been awarded teaching assistantships with stipends of $8,400 plus tuition waiver.

Alison Simms of Vienna, MD and Kimberly Dryden of Delmar, DE will be pursuing Ph.D. degrees in biochemistry, while John Burbage will be working toward his Ph.D. degree in analytical chemistry. Burbage has also been awarded a 1987 summer research fellowship at the University of Delaware involving chemical analysis by mass spectrometry.

Barbara Schweitzer, a native of Gaithersburg, MD has been awarded a teaching assistantship in Chemistry with a stipend of $7,800 plus tuition waiver at the University of Colorado. Her present plans are to pursue a Ph.D. degree in environmental chemistry.

Buyse Nominated

Theresa (Terri) R. Buyse, a junior from Rockville, MD was nominated for the 1987 GTE/CoSIDA Academic All-America At-Large Team.

Buyse was a member of the 1986 SSC national championship field hockey team and also played for the women's lacrosse team in the spring. She started 20 of the 21 field hockey games during the past season and scored five goals as a midfielder. A regional all-American in 1986, Buyse has six goals in her three-year career.

Majoring in Geography, Buyse was also nominated for the U.S. Achievement Academy Academic All-American award for the past year. She has been a Dean's List student twice and is a member of the Geographic Honor Society.

Buyse is the first athlete at SSC to be nominated for the GTE/CoSIDA Academic All-American Team. To be eligible for the award, an athlete must be a starter or valuable performer for his/her sport and have at least a 3.2 cumulative grade point average.

Employee Picnic

The classified employees picnic is on Friday, June 5. It will have a Chinese theme in keeping with activities and events that have taken place at the College this year. If you have suggestions for the picnic, please tell someone on the committee so it can be discussed at a planning meeting.

Committee members for this year's picnic are Shirley King, Charlotte Ganoe, Linda White, Lorraine Pollitt, Barbara Keene, Norma Polk, Grady Armstrong and Mary Gene Jenkins, chairperson.

Phi Kappa Phi Initiates Thirty-Eight

The 13th annual initiation ceremony of the College's chapter of the National Honor Society of Phi Kappa Phi was recently held on campus. Thirty-eight students, including six juniors and 32 seniors, were inducted into this prestigious interdisciplinary society. Invitation to join is among the highest academic honors which the College bestows. All members are within the top five percent of their class.

As part of the ceremony, Dr. Nelson Butler, vice president of Academic Affairs, addressed the students and their guests on the topic of opportunities. Dr. Butler pointed out that, clearly, the new members had made good use of the opportunities which had been made available to them. He suggested that these talented students continue to strive toward goals which they have selected for themselves (in a dedicated fashion). In so doing, they would create new opportunities for themselves and others.

As part of the program, special awards for meritorious service to Phi Kappa Phi were presented to Dr. Augustine DiGiovanna, past president, and Dr. Richard Lindenberg, secretary of SSC's chapter. Also introduced was Dr. Bellavance.

The newly inducted members are juniors Krista Bell, Rodney Davis, Shuna Harmon, Judy Johnson, Lori Leggs and Raed Muslimani.

SSC Hosts Tennis National Championships

Toby Clark of Principia (IL) College won the singles title while Alex Palladino and Jim Burda of Kalamazoo (MI) College teamed to win the doubles crown in the NCAA Division III Men's Tennis National Championships at the College on Sunday afternoon.

Kalamazoo College defeated Washington & Lee University 6-3 to win the team championship for the second consecutive year earlier.

Clark, the tournament's number one seed, lost the opening set 6-2 to Palladino, the number two seed. However, Clark battled back to take the next two sets 6-3, 6-4 to win the singles championship.

The victory by Clark gave him two singles championships as he also won the title two years ago. He becomes the first player ever to win two singles titles in Division III men's tennis.

Palladino and Burda, the tournament's number one seeded doubles team, defeated Frank Hinman and Paul Scholtz of Claremont-Mudd-Scripps (CA) College 7-6, 2-6, 6-2 for the doubles championship. It was the second year in a row that Palladino and Burda have won the doubles title. With the victory the pair becomes the first team ever in Division III men's Tennis to win two championships.

Kalamazoo, which defeated the University of Rochester 7-2, and Washington College 5-4 earlier in the week to move into the finals, won five of the six singles matches to clinch the title over Washington & Lee.

Alex Palladino started the Kalamazoo win streak with a 6-3, 6-3 singles win over Robert Haley. Bobby Matthews tied the match at 1-1 for Washington & Lee with a 6-4, 7-6 win over Jim Burda. But it was all Kalamazoo after that as Jack Hosner defeated David LacLeod 6-0, 6-3; Rick Verheul downed Roby Mize 6-3, 3-6, 7-6; Tim Hufler netted Chris Wiman 7-6, 1-6, 6-4 and Dave Borski beat John Morris 7-6, 5-7, 6-3.

Washington & Lee, which also lost the title last year to Kalamazoo by a 7-2 score, won two of the three doubles matches.

The victory by Kalamazoo gave the Hornets four team championships (1976, 1978, 1986, and 1987) which is the most ever in Division III men's tennis. Head coach George Acker has guided Kalamazoo to all four titles.

The third place title in the tournament was won by Washington College, a 5-4 winner over California-Santa Cruz. Fifth place was won by the University of Rochester by a 5-4 score over Claremont-Mudd-Scripps while Principia College defeated Swarthmore 5-4 for seventh place.

Mock Jury Trial

Two English Composition 101 classes taught by Ms. Nan Hayes recently performed a mock jury trial. The trial was used as a method of learning argumentation.

To prepare, students had to do extensive research not only in the library, but also in the community as well. The trial was based upon a fictitious story written by three of the class members. Grades were based on papers written pertaining to the trial and the performance of the students based upon their research of evidence supplied and how they applied it to their stand.

Position Announcement

Salisbury State College invites applications for a 12-month counselor position in the College Counseling Services and Programs division.

Responsibilities include individual and group counseling for personal, educational, vocational and interpersonal concerns; outreach workshops and programs; faculty/staff consultation; crisis intervention and aftercare; and counseling and advising minority students regarding adjustment to campus life.

Barlage Recital

The Music Department will present soprano June Barlage in a recital on Monday, May 25, in the sanctuary of the Wicomico Presbyterian Church.

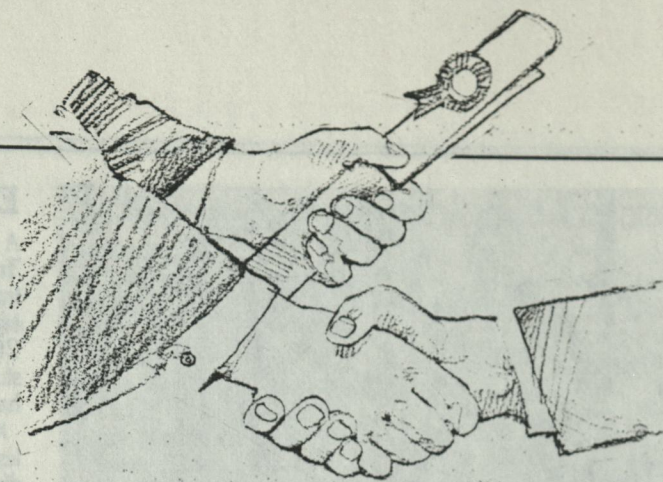

Dr. Ray Zeigler, associate professor of Music, will be the accompanist and Ellie Buchness, flutist, will assist in the program. The program will be comprised of Lieder by Brahms, early English songs and a group of sacred songs for which Zeigler will play organ accompaniments.

The public is invited. Admission is free.

Heyde Adjudicator

Norma Heyde of the Music Department was an adjudicator for the Washington, D.C. Rosa Ponselle International Vocal Competition preliminary auditions at American University recently.

One singer from 19 candidates was chosen by the panel of six judges to compete in the semifinals, to be held at Lincoln Center's Alice Tully Hall in New York City in November. The final competition will follow, also at Alice Tully Hall in November.

1987 Commencement Information

Please Read Carefully

1. Commencement will be held at 10 a.m., May 30, in the Wicomico County Youth and Civic Center. No tickets will be required, but it is suggested that graduates limit their number of guests to no more than eight. All graduates are requested to form for processional at 9 a.m. in the side corridors adjacent to the main arena on the first floor of the Civic Center.

2. The Commencement speaker will be Dr. Nelson P. Guild, interim executive director, Board of Trustees of Maryland State Universities and Colleges.

3. Caps, gowns, master's hoods, nursing pins and caps will be distributed through the College bookstore beginning April 27. These may be retained by the graduates and need not be returned following the ceremony. Announcements may be purchased in the bookstore, but quantities are limited and will be sold on a first come, first served basis. Problems with caps and gowns will be corrected prior to the ceremony by the bookstore employees at the Civic Center, in Flanders Room No. 1 near the snack bar to the left of the arena entrances. Bobby pins, etc., will also be available there. The bookstore will close at 2 p.m. on Friday, May 29. Graduates must pick up the necessary items before 2 p.m. on that date.

4. The faculty marshals will give each graduate a 3x5 card containing his/her name as it appears on the program. This is to be given to Dr. Nelson Butler when you reach the stage, so he will know who you are and how to announce your name before you start across the stage.

5. Degree candidates who do not plan to participate in the Commencement Exercise must notify the Registrar's Office by calling 543-6150 no later than Friday, May 22. All graduates will receive a blank folder at Commencement, and all diplomas will be mailed approximately four weeks after the ceremony.

6. Faculty and staff are requested to form the processional at 9:15 a.m. in the Midway Room of the Civic Center. Faculty members are required to attend; those who are unable to do so should so inform their respective dean.

7. The first aid staff of the Civic Center will be on duty in the office on the right side of the foyer entrance just outside the main arena.

8. A brief reception for graduates and their guests will be held immediately following Commencement in the Midway Room of the Civic Center.

9. The ROTC Commissioning Ceremony will take place at 2 p.m. in the Ruth Powell Dining Hall. The College community is cordially invited to attend.

10. The School of Nursing will hold a Pinning Ceremony on Friday, May 29 at 7 p.m. in Holloway Hall Auditorium.

11. Bachelor of Science candidates will assemble in the north corridor of the Civic Center (to the left when entering from the front doors and on the side nearest the Mall). Candidates with last names beginning with the letter A through Michael Little will report to Drs. Bozman and Shaffer and will line up alphabetically along the inside wall, facing east (the rear of the building). You will sit in Section 1 on the seating chart.

Candidates for the B.S. beginning with David Logan and going through the letter Z will report to Drs. Hedeen and Engler and will line up alphabetically along the windows facing west (the front of the building). You will sit in Section 6 on the seating chart.

12. The Bachelor of Arts candidates will assemble in the south corridor of the Civic Center (to the right after you enter the front doors on the side nearest the Park). Candidates with last names beginning with the letter A through Tammy Payne will report to Drs. Basehart and Delpaz and will line up alphabetically along the south wall (away from the main arena), facing east (the rear of the building). You will sit in Section 2 on the seating chart.

Candidates for the B.A. beginning with Charity Phillips through letter Z will report to Drs. Connors and St. Martin and will line up alphabetically between the main arena and the Midway Room facing the main arena and along the east wall (toward the rear of the building). You will sit in Section 3 on the seating chart.

13. Bachelor of Arts in Social Work candidates will assemble in the south corridor of the Civic Center (to the right after you enter the doors and on the side nearest the Park). 18. Dress Code

This is a formal academic occasion and should be viewed as such in dress and demeanor.

The academic robe is black and the recommended dress, therefore, is:

A. Women

1. Black dress shoes (or some other dark color) - no white or other light color.
2. Dress hose.
3. A dress which does not have a high neckline or stand-up collar. It should not show above the V-neckline and white collar on the robe.
4. No visible jewelry.
5. No flowers on the academic robe.

B. Men

1. Black dress shoes (or some dark color) - no sneakers or light color sport shoes with thick rubber soles.
2. Dark color socks - no white athletic socks.
3. Dress slacks, preferably a dark or neutral color.
4. Dress shirt, preferably white, or a light color.
5. Dress tie (four-in-hand tie with windsor knot). (Shirt collar and tie will show above the V-neckline of the academic robe.)
6. Suit coat or sport coat will not be seen under the robe and is, therefore, optional (the Civic Center is air-conditioned).
7. No visible jewelry.

C. Both

1. The mortarboard (academic hat) is to be worn with the front point over the forehead below the front hairline, and so the flat board is parallel to the floor. (Not worn on the back of the head with the board pointing upward.) No decoration of any kind is to be placed on the mortarboard.

2. Candidates for the bachelor's degree should come into the auditorium with the tassel on the right, hanging near the right eye. After the degrees are conferred the tassel is shifted to the left side. The signal for shifting the tassel will be given by the President and Vice-President for Academic Affairs when they touch their mortarboards.

3. Candidates for the master's degree should place the tassel at the left front of the mortarboard prior to entering the auditorium and should not shift it.

4. Master's degree candidates will wear the robe, but will carry the hood over the left arm until they reach the stage, where it will be placed on the candidate.

ROTC Commissioning

The senior ROTC cadets will be commissioned as second lieutenants at 2 p.m., on Saturday, May 30, in the Salisbury Room of the Ruth Powell Dining Room. The public is invited.

According to Major Thomas Y. Hiter, officer-in-charge of the Military Science Department said of this year's class: "These young people, young officers, have devoted four years to arrive at this day. Now as college graduates, they are about to enter a period of service to their country and its people. They have become national leaders . . . commissioned officers responsible for the defense of this country and the lives of the men and women they lead."

"Such responsibility requires the very best," Major Hiter went on to say. "And these new officers are just that. They're smart, strong, and dedicated. I admire them and I'm proud of them."

The variety of branches reflect the flexibility of training received. The following cadets will be transferred to the following branches: Donna S. Thomas, military intelligence; Glen A. Biddle, field artillery; Henry H. Pittman, transportation; James D. Toner, medical service; Paula E. Hayman, signal corps; Robin A. Colburn, medical service; Robert C. Frick, engineer; William K. Freeman, infantry; Dyan L. Thom, transportation; Edward A. Welch, quartermaster; Jacqueline A. Kent, medical service; John H. Bratton, transportation; Richard R. Parker, military police; and Robert M. Soper, ordnance; and Richard Felgenhouer, who will be branched next year.

Four English Majors Receive Scholarships

Four students majoring in English at the College, two from Salisbury, have won major scholarships at universities with significant writing and English programs.

Sandra Hart Christian of Salisbury, a senior, has won full tuition and stipend worth some $10,000 a year to Ohio University, where she will teach and work toward her Master of Arts degree in Creative Writing.

"Admission to the Creative Writing program is quite competitive," said creative writing professor Dr. Michael Waters of the SSC English faculty.

Christian has published in Tar River Poetry, Poetry Miscellany and Memphis State Review. She won the Brent Scholarship from the Salisbury Wicomico Arts Council in 1985 and 1986 and the Lewis Hess Award for Creative Writing in 1986. She is co-editor of Scarab, the SSC literary magazine, and a member of Lambda Iota Tau, the English honor society.

Michelle Gibson, a senior from Preston, also has received an assistantship from the Ohio University English Department. "I had no idea I'd be going to graduate school when I came here," she said. "The English Department teachers at Salisbury have been fantastic." OU is home to the Ohio Review, one of the best literary journals in the country, Waters said. Many of the teachers there are published including Wayne Dodd and Daniel Keyes, whose Flowers for Algernon was adapted into the movie Charly, which garnered actor Cliff Robertson an Oscar. "It's nice that Sandy and Michelle's work was good enough to get them in—that pleases me," Waters added.

Charles Hill Jr. of Salisbury, a graduate student, is one of seven selected nationwide for Carnegie Mellon University's Rhetoric program. Located in Pittsburgh, Carnegie Mellon also has a national reputation for excellence. Hill, who will be working toward his Ph.D. degree, has been awarded a teaching assistantship with full tuition and stipend, valued at $15,000 a year.

Hill, who graduated from Parkside High School and also earned his B.A. from Salisbury in 1985, is one of the first graduates of the College's new Master of Arts in Writing program, which focuses on the teaching of writing. "It's a brand new field," Hill said, one he enjoys exploring. He won the Lewis Hess Award in Creative Writing as an undergraduate, and wrote for the Flyer, the student newspaper. He is a graduate fellow and assistant director of the College's Writing Center.

Sean Cox, of Bradenton, FL, a fellow student with Hill in the master's program, also has been offered an assistantship to Florida State University. Cox will be working on a Ph.D. in Creative Writing. "SSC's composition program looks as good as any (I've researched elsewhere)," Hill said. "That we (Sean and I) both found positions says something for it. . . ."

"Ph.D. programs in writing and rhetoric are cropping up across the country," said Dr. Connie White, director of SSC's Masters in Writing program. "Our students have an edge over someone graduating with just an English degree" when applying to such Ph.D. programs, she believes.

Education Competency Tests

A special testing session will be given on Tuesday, June 2 from 9 a.m. - noon. For transfer students or students who have a legitimate reason for not taking the Education 200 course this semester. The tests are not for students who have taken Education 200 and have failed one or more of the tests.

Students who wish to be included in the testing should check with Alvah Constantine, director of Field Experiences, prior to the test date. Only students who must have the tests in order to enroll in methods courses should apply.

Athletic Training Workshop

The College will be one of the national sites for the 1987 Cramer Athletic Training Workshops this summer, said SSC trainer Pat Lamboni.

"The experience gained by attending a Cramer Athletic Training Workshop will make you a more valuable member of your school's athletic staff," said Lamboni. "Whether you're a coach, physical education teacher, school nurse, college student or student trainer, the Cramer workshop is designed to meet your needs."

Workshop participants can expect to gain valuable knowledge from a combination of classroom and laboratory sessions conducted throughout the 3 1/2 day sessions (July 5-8 at Salisbury State). Lectures cover anatomy, common injuries and emergency procedures and include the use of visual aids and demonstrations. The workshop participants will spend more than half their time in laboratory sessions, where they practice fundamental taping and wrapping techniques.

"For coaches and students on any level interested in athletic training, the Cramer Athletic Training Workshop is a must," said Lamboni. "The SSC workshop is designed to teach the basics of athletic training."

For more information, contact the SSC Athletic Training Department at 543-6355.

Albums Available

According to Andy Esham of Maintenance, the following albums, tapes or CDs are available at The Gospel Shop and Jack's Religious Gift Shop: Palette, Spectrum/The Colours Sampler, The Harvest-Solo Piano, A Time for Peace/Ivory Sessions, A Time for Joy/Reflections in Guitar, Prisms, The Hidden Passage, Timeless/Hymns in Colour, The Gift/A Colours Christmas and The Wind and Wheat-Guitar with Phil Keagy.

Students, faculty and staff may have heard some of them during the spring break canoe trip to Florida.

Dear SSC Volunteers:

On behalf of the organizers, officials and the athletes, I would like to express my sincere thanks to all of you who helped to make the 1987 Maryland Wheelchair Games a big success.

Hosting the Games is an honor and pleasure, but only because of the tremendous effort put forth by the people who freely give their time and energy for the service of others.

Again, many thanks.

Sincerely,

Grady Armstrong

Handley Chairman of Maryland Public Radio

At its formative meeting in March, Maryland Public Radio elected WSCL manager, Mark Handley, as chairman. WSCL is the public radio station based at the College and goes on the air this week.

This spring the managers of public radio stations throughout the state met for the first time to explore issues they might have in common and to initiate cooperative efforts concerning those issues. Before the day-long meeting was over, they had established an agenda of common concerns and decided to form a new association with the mission of furthering the goals of public radio in Maryland.

At that meeting of Maryland Public Radio (MPR) a small steering committee was elected and given the mandate to seek state funding for public radio similar to that now provided for public television. Handley was elected chairman.

The steering committee of Maryland Public Radio, acting on behalf of the entire group, met in April with representatives of the Maryland Public Broadcasting Commission and informally proposed a partnership with the television group. The Commission oversees the state's multi-million dollar annual support of Maryland Public Television. The MPBC has no historical involvement in supporting public radio stations or any radio programming in the state.

Ross Jones, chairman of the MPBC, invited the radio group to submit a detailed proposal for consideration by the full commission later this spring.

Maryland Public Radio hopes to use the proposed funding to meet three needs in public radio in the state, according to Handley. Funds are needed to create an interconnection system for the stations, to create new statewide news and music programs and to allow local stations to enhance their local program services to their communities.

Of the 46 states in the U.S. which have public radio stations operating in them, 43 provide some direct state funding to public radio stations. Three states, including Maryland, provide none.

There are an estimated 20 states with some type of public radio network or association. Nationally, there are about 300 stations eligible to receive federal funding.

Alumni Tap Murdock

Ellen Murdock, a 1984 graduate, was recently named to the SSC Alumni Association's Board of Directors.

Murdock is the Eastern Shore Representative for U.S. Senator Paul Sarbanes and is very familiar with the towns, people and byroads of the Shore. She is president of the Wicomico Senior High School PTA and is active with the Addiction's Advisory Council and Wicomico Democrats Club.

Murdock and her husband, Mike, recently returned in order to raise their two daughters, Stacey 16, and Allison 15, in Salisbury.

"I had the opportunity to go back to Salisbury State to finish my degree when I was in my mid 30's," said Murdock, who enjoys needlework, aerobics and racquetball in her spare time. "SSC helped me with my education and I'm glad to be able to do something for the school."

Appointed by the Alumni at-large at its annual meeting in October, Murdock's term on the Board of Directors will run through 1989.

Scholarship Awards To Exceed $450,000

Private contributions have brought the amount of money awarded for scholarships this fall at the College to over $450,000—almost double the amount from last year.

And school officials expect these scholarship winners to contribute to the quality of student life on campus. "They will be leaders," said M.P. Minton, dean of Admissions.

Nearly 70 new students have accepted scholarships ranging from $4,000 to $20,000 over a four year period. Many, with Scholastic Aptitude Test scores in the 1200s and 1300s (out of a potential 1600), rank in the top 10 percent of all incoming college freshmen throughout the nation.

More important than test scores, however, said Minton, is student performance in and out of the classroom. Many of the new scholarship winners not only have high grade point averages (several are potential high school valedictorians) but are involved in both extracurricular activities as well as work part-time jobs. "The high school record is the best indication of performance in college," Minton said, "because it indicates a behavior pattern. It shows an ability to control energy, accept responsibility and make a commitment."

One of the recipients from Prince Georges County, for example, has SAT scores of 1250, an academic average of 3.71, plays varsity softball, is a member of the National Honor Society, the Spanish Honor Society, her parish youth group, the field hockey club, the Distinguished Honor Roll, was named a Rotary Young American, a Knights of Columbus scholarship winner and was captain of her school's cheerleaders.

Another student from Baltimore is a recommended National Merit scholar, a member of her junior and senior class councils, a Student Government Association representative, a math tutor, takes advanced placement Pascal and calculus, has 1300 SATs and works at Montgomery Wards.

Black Student Union Holds Banquet

The Black Student Union recently announced its officers for the new academic year. Lyle Grandison of Baltimore was re-elected president for a second term. Marcus Harley, a freshman from Seat Pleasant, has been elected vice president. Secretary is Cheryl Allen of Washington, D.C. Treasurer is Gina Payne of Temple Hills. Roslynn Scott of Landover is publicity director.

The announcement of officers was made at the fourth annual BSU awards banquet held on campus this past Saturday. About 70 people attended. Two awards, including $50 gifts, were presented to Grandison and outgoing secretary, Laverne Whittington, of Marion Station. Whittington had served as secretary for three years. Grandison is the first BSU president to be re-elected in the 13 year history of the organization.

Dr. Chester Hedgepeth, dean of the School of Arts and Sciences at the University of Maryland Eastern Shore, was guest speaker. Special guests included President and Mrs. Thomas Bellavance, Vice President and Mrs. Nelson Butler and Major and Mrs. Thomas Hiter. Dr. Oscar J. Chapman and John Fields are advisors for the BSU.

A critical factor in getting these top caliber students here has been the Franklin P. Perdue Business School name and money, Minton said.

Although SSC receives less state support per student than most Maryland colleges, because of private funding from Franklin P. Perdue, some $220,000 will be distributed to 23 Perdue Scholars over the next four years. "We've had a whole year to tell students majoring in Business about the quality of the Perdue School and the scholarships that are available," Minton said. Because there are fewer 18-year-olds out there, we're competing with many outstanding universities and private schools for the brightest and best. We've done well."

Students are coming from high schools which have never sent their graduates to SSC before, some from New York, others from private schools.

In all, six mid-Atlantic states and most of Maryland's counties are represented. The most popular majors among these freshmen scholars are Business, Pre-Engineering, Mathematics, Physics, Chemistry, Communication Arts and Education, the latter enjoying a revival.

Besides Perdue Scholars, another 40 students are dividing over $160,000 in various college scholarships. The Shock Independent Oil Company (SICO) is offering $28,000 to seven students. And, the College will soon award five four-year $10,000 Nathan Foundation scholarships to prospective students.

These scholarships don't tell the whole story of next year's admissions, however. The awards are based on both academic averages and SAT scores. "We (also) have some very solid students who are coming who have high SAT scores or excellent high school records, but not both. They may not be on scholarship, but they're still exceptional additions to our community," added Minton. "Obviously, I'm biased, but I think this is becoming an increasingly exciting place to go to college."

Murray Presents Paper

Dr. Laura Murray, assistant professor of Biology, recently traveled to Sapelo Island, GA to attend meetings and present a paper at the University of Georgia Marine Science Laboratory. The paper, titled, The Effect of Epiphytic Colonization on the Growth and Distribution of the Seagrass Thalassia testudinum in a Mexican Lagoon, was based on research in a Mexican estuary and involved scientists from several U.S. and Mexican universities.

Attending the meeting were scientists from the universities of Maryland, Georgia, Virginia, South Carolina and Louisiana State.

Dillon Discussion Leader

Tom Dillon, instructor of Computer Science, is one of four featured discussion leaders at the week-long workshop of the Pennsylvania Association of Students Councils (PASC) from July 18 through the 24 at Lebanon Valley College near Gettysburg, PA. His topic is "Organizing for Effective Student Government and Leadership."

Dillon has been active in student leadership training and conducting workshops in leadership, group dynamics and organizational skills for the past five years with the PASC. He is also active with the National Association of Student Councils, serving as the transportation advisor for the national convention in Pittsburgh, PA in June 1985.

Philosophy Club Donates To Joseph House

As a farewell gift to the local community for the academic year, students at the College, through the Philosophy Club, have donated more than $500 to Joseph House, a service house for the needy.

Philosophy Club members asked students to fast for a day and donate the money otherwise spent on food, to the poor.

"It's important to give up something for something you believe in," said Anna Davis, student president of the Philosophy Club. "And fasting gave us a personal understanding of what it means to be hungry. I hope it will help people to be more sympathetic to those who are [hungry]."

"And I think it's important that students do something for the general community. As students, I feel we don't just come here [to Salisbury] for four years, take and leave, but we have an obligation to put back, to give what we can."

Davis, from Glastonbury, CT, with fellow club members John Parks, from Smith Island, and Holly Chiasson, from the Berlin area, made personal appeals to all 16 Philosophy classes as well as manned tables in campus classroom buildings, asking students to contribute.

"They were responsive to the idea," Davis said. "We got a really good reaction from students, who donated one to 20 dollars each."

According to Dr. Francis Kane, chairman of the Philosophy Department and advisor to the club, "This is the second year in a row they've held such a drive. Anna gives a great speech to the classes about our social obligations as students, philosophers and citizens. It forces the kids to look outside of themselves, which is good."

"And it was totally a student project, from first to last," he added.

Joseph House, located at 411 North Popular Hill, provides food and financial assistance and operates a small soup kitchen, according to Sister Mary Anne of the Little Sisters of Jesus and Mary, an order which manages its programs. The order is affiliated with St. Francis de Sales Roman Catholic Church.

Sea Gull Club Gives Hockey Rings

The Sea Gull Club entertained the field hockey team, family members and guests at a festive banquet held in the Ruth Powell Dining Hall recently. The occasion was to honor and recognize the team for winning the 1986 NCAA Division Field Hockey National Championship. The achievement was the "first" team national championship in Salisbury State College history.

During the evening the team was honored in numerous ways. A bronze plaque, from the SSC Faculty Forum was presented by Dr. Thomas Bellavance, president of SSC, to the team for its excellence on the athletic field. In addition, a resolution from the Maryland Senate was received from former State Senator Joseph Long and read to the team and guests. As a surprise, a banner with the words "Salisbury State Field Hockey Team National Champions, Division III," will be displayed in the Maggs Activity Center along with the bronze plaque, the resolution and the team picture plaque which was presented from the Sea Gull Club. Club Vice President James Smith and Dr. Bellavance presented championship rings to each team member and coach Karen Weaver.

The keynote speaker, Weaver, gave a short presentation titled "Excellence-Both On and Off the Field."

Seniors Are Off to Grad School

A quick poll of advisors reveals that some 50 seniors are planning to begin graduate school this summer or fall. Many of these students (listed below) are winning scholarships to places like Carnegie-Mellon and the University of Virginia Law School.

Also included here are advisors and departments responding to the Public Relations survey to date. PR looks forward to hearing from others. Stories are being written on all these outstanding students, and to them and their teachers, thank you and congratulations, including: Geography and Regional Planning advisor Calvin Thomas; seniors Valerie Birch, Kimberly Felty, Tracey Greene, Joseph Heard, Sheri Sanzone, Lee Watson, Kay Williams and 1985 graduate Sharon Harris.

Social Work advisors Marvin Tossey and Mary Ellen Elwell; seniors Clarence Fiedler, Joyce Bell, Katherine Callahan, Lori Holland, Steven McKinley, Theresa Pierce, Susan Seling, Barbara Williams, Karen Danforth, Kevin Hanger, Thelma Price and LaShon Banks.

Miller Speaks to Medical Society

Dr. Timothy Miller of the History Department recently spoke at The Hellenic Medical Society of New York on "The Birth of the Hospital in the Byzantine Empire," a prototype of today's hospital.

Said Miller: "The ancient Hellenic heritage, the city environment, the Christian church, the monastic movement, Roman law, the imperial Miller's address will expand on issues he raised in his recent book, The Birth of the Hospital in the Byzantine Empire, published by Johns Hopkins University Press.

Nelson P. Guild Is Commencement Speaker

Nelson P. Guild, for 16 years president of Frostburg State College and now interim executive director of the Board of Trustees of Maryland's State Universities and Colleges, will address the graduating class of Salisbury State on Saturday, May 30, at the College's 64th commencement ceremonies.

Guild also will receive an honorary Doctor of Humane letters degree.

Commencement begins at 10 a.m. in the Wicomico Youth and Civic Center. The public is invited.

As interim executive director of the state board of trustees, and as a board professor, he has worked closely with the trustees and all the college and university presidents in assisting in growth and development.

At Frostburg State, where he was dean before becoming president in 1969, he served as chairman of the Lay Advisory Board of Sacred Heart Hospital in Cumberland; on the board of directors of the Regional Education Service Agency of Appalachian Maryland; president of Frostburg Rotary Club; and chairman of the administrative and finance committees for the Frostburg United Methodist Church. He has been honored for his humanitarian work with the Brotherhood Award by the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

He also was board member, then treasurer, of the Association of American Colleges.

A Phi Beta Kappa graduate of the University of New Hampshire, he earned his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from The Pennsylvania State University where he also taught. Assistant, then associate professor of Government at Hamilton College, NY, he also taught at nearby Colgate University.

As a congressional Fellow of the American Political Science Association, he was assigned to Congressman James G. O'Hara (Democrat-Michigan) and Senator Hubert H. Humphrey (Democrat-Minnesota). And with Kenneth Palmer, he has co-authored Introduction to Politics: Essays and Readings.

Born in Keene, NH, he and his wife Margaret have two grown sons.

Lambda Iota Tau Inductees

Five students were inducted this spring into the Delta Psi chapter of Lambda Iota Tau, international honor society for students of literature. This year's inductees and their papers are: Lori Anne Beste, Intimations from Being in Accord with Beauty: A Synthesis of "Ode on a Grecian Urn" and Keats' Letters; Joanne Renee Farley, Hemingway's Spanish Influence; Gail M. Samis, Shelley on Life; Denise C. Speicher, Prince Hal: The Making of a King; and Joanne Slike, A Critique of M. H. Abrams' Natural Supernaturalism.

To be eligible students must be English majors, must have completed at least 54 hours of course work with a grade point average of 2.76 overall, and must have completed at least 12 hours of literature in the SSC English Department with a 3.0 average in the major. (These 12 hours must be in addition to English 101 and 102.) Students who qualify have to submit initiation papers before they are inducted.

Linda Cockey, featured pianist at the Salisbury Symphony

The Salisbury Symphony Here May 22

Under the direction of Dr. Thomas G. Elliot, the Salisbury Symphony presents its second annual spring concert on Friday, May 22, in Holloway Hall.

Tickets for the concert are $5.00 for general admission and may be purchased at the Salisbury State College Center, the Wicomico Arts Council Office in the Civic Center, or at the door. The concert begins at 8:00 p.m.

Waters Named to Post At Sweet Briar

Dr. Michael Waters of the English Department has been named Margaret Banister Writer in Residence at Sweet Briar College, VA, for the coming academic year.

He will teach one writing seminar in the fall and two in the spring at the Writers Workshop Building.

Sweet Briar's English Department has an excellent reputation.

"I hope to get a lot of writing done there. It's a Wordsworthian setting," Waters said. With a student body of approximately 600, Sweet Briar has a 3600 acre campus on what at one time was a plantation. With extensive woodland, its own dairy, separate lakes for fishing and swimming, a riding academy where students can board their horses and a bookstore which also sells crystal, Waters anticipates an interesting change of pace for the coming year.

"I'll have no responsibilities other than teaching the seminars, which will allow me time for a new project," he said.

Waters, who has an international reputation in poetry, most recently read in Iraq and wrote about his trip in The World and I which also published three of his poems.

He and his wife Robin return to Greece this summer, where Waters will continue writing.

Seidels Present Apple II To Education Department

Sam and Marilyn Seidel of Salisbury recently donated an Apple II computer, printer and two disc drives to the Education Department.

"This generous gift will allow us to expand our capabilities, integrating computers into the educational experience of our students," said Dr. Maurice Bozman, chairman of the Education Department. "Elementary Education teachers in particular must be conversant in computers."

"The computer can be used for demonstration purposes in the classroom," continued Dr. Bozman. "Students can also use it for review and tutorial purposes."

Jennifer Duhe, a daughter of the Seidels, is an Elementary Education major at the College. She cited the Education Department's need for a computer to her parents who in turn made the subsequent gift to the College.

Bode to Receive Doctorate Of Humane Letters

Carl Bode, who has written on subjects ranging from Henry David Thoreau to Lefty Driesell, receives an honorary Doctorate of Humane Letters from the College on Saturday, May 30, at its 64th commencement.

Bode is perhaps best known to Marylanders for his columns in the Baltimore Evening Sun. As a prolific literary and cultural historian, biographer and poet, he has written or edited a score of books on popular culture, poetry and leading American writers including Thoreau, H. L. Mencken and Ralph Waldo Emerson, among others.

He was founder and first president of the American Studies Association and the Mencken Society; president of the Thoreau Society and the Popular Culture Association; and chairman of the Maryland Arts Council and the Maryland Humanities Council.

He has been honored with fellowships from the Ford Foundation, the Newberry Library and the Guggenheim Foundation. A former cultural attache to the American embassy in London, he is an honorary fellow of the Royal Society of Literature, United Kingdom.

A contributor to the Encyclopedia Britannica and Americana, his books include The Young Mencken, Antebellum Culture, The American Lyceum, Ragged Dick and Struggling Upward, The Sacred Seasons (poems) and The Man Behind You (poems).

Born in Wisconsin, he earned his Ph.D. from Northwestern University and taught at the University of California, Los Angeles, before joining the English faculty at the University of Maryland in 1947. A distinguished teacher, he has served as visiting professor at the Claremont Colleges, the University of Wisconsin and Stanford University.

Fusaro to West Point

Dr. Bernard Fusaro of the Mathematical Sciences faculty has been appointed Visiting Professor of Mathematics at the U.S. military academy, West Point, for 1986-87.

"Your selection is a testimony to the great esteem in which you are held as a teacher, scholar and administrator in the academic community in general and mathematics in particular," Lt. General David R. Palmer, superintendent of West Point wrote Fusaro.

Fusaro is a recognized leader in the field of applied mathematics education. He founded the National Mathematical Competition in Modeling (MCM) a contest for undergraduates now in its fourth year.

Fusaro lectured on "Who Invented the Computer?" at West Point last October and was impressed by what he saw.

"I had a stereotypical view before I went there. I thought of it as (strictly) a military establishment. I had this image of a box. Instead, it was very academic, very professional. I was impressed by the discipline. It wasn't your usual service experience. They had order and discipline, not as ends in themselves, but for a purpose."

"Mathematical modeling bridges the worlds of the scientist and the engineer," Fusaro said, and has important practical applications, from environmental planning to wildlife preservation.
